Result of an Investigation of the New Orleans Postoffice-Great Inefficiency and Irregularity—The Postmaster's Son Charged with Stealing Letters. [By Telegraph to the Morning Star.]

Washington, Angust 7.—The special commission which has been investigating the condition and management of the New Orleans postoffice submitted its report to Orleans postoffice submitted its report to the Postmaster General to-day. Commissioners Burt, Dice and Abels say in the report that they found the facilities of the office ample, but the force employed inefficient through lack of proper training. Organization or discipline, they say, does not exiss in the office, nor does any system of promotion based upon individual merit, and they add that they found every thing arranged apparently more for the personal convenience of clerks than for the necessities of business. They say that the postties of business. They say that the postmaster possesses little or no knowledge of the actual work of the office, and that he makes little or no effort to inform himself of the necessities of the service; rarely visiting the working floor and seldom consulting with his subordinates; also, that while too much ought not to be expected of the assistant postmaster, in view of his comparatively recent appointment, yet they feel constrained to say that his selection for the place was unwise, because of his inferior judgment, lack of discretion and inability to maintain discipline. They say, further, that they found the mailing division without organization or discipline; mail matter, especially newspapers, being badly handled and delayed. That they found that no accounts had been kept of mail sacks, which latter in many cases were besacks, which latter in many cases were being unlawfully used by persons other than employes; they (the commissioners) having found 140 of them in junk shops, and others used as cotton packages or made into hammocks. They express the opinion that the want of energy on the part of the chief of this division is in part owing to the railure of his superiors to support him. They say, also, that the office of the collection clerk, with a salary of $900, has been held for some time past by Geo. W. Merchant, son of the postmaster, who has rendered very little service, his work having been done by the cashier, and they add that this office is entirely unnecessary and should be abolished. They report having found an employee carried on the rolls as "porter detailed as detective," who ren-dered no service himself, but who had hired an old colored man at $8 per month to do a little sweeping, that being the service which called for the employment of a porter; and they recommend that this office as well as that of chief porter be abolished. They also recommend that the title of the official now known as "Secretary and Auditor" be changed to Official Secretary, and that the salary of the office be reduced from $1,500 to $1,200 per annum. They recommend increase in the salaries of certain clerks aggregating $1,100 per annum, and a reduction aggregating $2,450. They also report having made inquiries relative to depredations on the mails, at this office, and the failure of the postmaster to report them; and say with respect to this branch of their investigation that it was found that just before their visit fifteen letters addressed to M. A. Dauphin had been abstracted from the mails in the office, under such circumstances as point conclusively to the son of the postmaster as the person who stole them. When the facts were reported to the postmaster he obtained possession of and burned certain fragments of missing letters, and thereby destroyed important evidence against the guilty person; but that he afterwards promised to exclude his son permanently from the office.

A Desperate Fight with Winchester Rifles and Bowie Knives-All the Combatants Killed or Fatally In-

(By Telegraph to the Morning Star.) Sr. Louis, Aug. 7.—A dispatch from Fredonia, Texas, says: A desperate fight occurred ten miles north of this place on Monday evening, in which one man was killed and three men were mortally wounded. Samuel Faulkner and Henry Allen met two brothers named Woodall on the road and attacked them with Winchester rifles. The party dismounted and fought from behind their horses. Nearly fifty shots were exchanged. Allen was shot through the heart at about the fifth round, one of the Woodalls was shot in the shoulder and neck and disabled. The other Woodall and Faulkner then closed with bowie knives and a fearful combat ensued, in which Woodall was stabbed just below the heart. Faulkner then turned to look after his dead companion Allen, and as he did so he received a bullet in his breast from the pistol of the elder Woodall, who was lying on the ground with his neck and shoulder split open. Faulkner may possibly recover, but both the Woodalls will die. The fight was the result of an old feud which originated in Arkansas, where all the men once lived. Both parties were going to a camp meeting when they met.

On both these days, Capt. Gore says, he found himself eighteen miles away from where he ought to have been, and the steering compass was practicall useless on account of weather disturbance He suggests that the case must have been the same with the compasses of the Amsterdam, and thus caused her to go ashore.
