Think of it now! Almost every person has some form of scrof-ulous poison latent in his veins. IN TIME TO COME.

BY EBEN E. REXFORD.

The flowers are dead that made a summer By wayside nooks and on the sunny And with regret, these hearts of ours grow As sometimes all her heart's will.

We loved the blossoms, for they helped to brighten The lives so long with wearying toil and care, Hopes and dreams forever help to lighten The heavy loads we bear.

How like the flowers, whose transient life is ended, The hopes and dreams are that, for one brief hour,

Make the glad heart a garden bright and splendid About love's latticed bower, One little hour of almost perfect plea-

A foretaste of the happiness to come, Then sudden frost—the garden yields its treasure

And stands in sorrow, dumb Oh, listen, heart! The flower may lose its Beneath the touch of frost, but does not

In spring it will repeat the old, sweet Of God's dear by and by.

In heaven, if never here, the hopes we The flowers of human lives we count as Will live again. Such beauty cannot And heaven has no frost.

RELIGIOUS MISCELLANY.

-- The Virginia Conference will meet in Lynchburg on the twelvth of No-

-Six members of the South Carolina Conference have died the present year-a heavy loss. - If Christians lived nearer to God, they would have no difficulty in loving one another. - Texas Advocate.

- The problem of life is often solved by the simple law of self-denial. Many a life has been made a miserable failure because it undertook to grasp more than its capacities could provide. Selfdenial is not, then, alone essential in order that we contribute to the happiness of

- An Italian Protestant woman was once asked to prove that the Bible was the Word of God. She was confused; she could not answer. Suddenly she asked her questioner, "How do you know there is a sun in the sky?" "I feel its warmth and see its light." "Just so," answered the woman, joyfully; "the Bible enlightens and warms my soul."

- Dr. Bourland tells us in his let-ter that the preachers have ceased this year "preaching about science, falsely so called, and have preached repentance and faith, and regeneration and a holy life, and upon hell and beaven." These were themes discussed by Christ when on earth, and no preacher will ever be wiser than the Master. He knew the moral wants of man and provided the supply. Let the preachers give the people the gospel, and reviva.s will never leave our ministry.—Texas Advocate.

— Don't use a "pulpit tone" in preaching or praying. "Holy English" is abominable as a vehicle for the beautiful truths of the Gospel. Don't mumble, or mince, or mouth the Gospel, but speak forth the words of God with an open mouth and a free tongue. Why should the preacher drive sensible people away from him and the Bible by reading and speaking from the pulpit as if he were an ecclesiastical automaton, instead of a sensible man with a warm human heart and a voice and tone not like a machine, but like a Christian man.

-Evangelical Messenger. - A minister was giving a brother minister an account of a rather remarkable revival which had occurred upon his charge. The brother minister became much interested in the glowing story, and asked how many were received into the church. "Oh," said the first, "we did not receive any into the church, but we turned seventeen out." Perhaps there are churches in which it would be a true sign of a revival of religion if, by some means, they could muster courage enough, and con-science enough, to expel the unworthy.—

Western Christian Advocate. — The analogy between the bee hive and the Church is lost in the drones. There is no provision for such a class in the system of Christ. Religion is life and activity inspired by "faith which works by love." For this activity there are innumerable opportunities. However obscure the life, however lowly the station, however insignificant the talents with which we are endowed, the obligation is ever upon us to use them all in the service of Christ and for the salvation of the world. For the love of Christ constrains us to such devotion. It leaves us no choice. It lays us under an obligation, more sacred than law itself, to live unto Him that loved us and gave Himself for us. The Cross is not a burden, but a magnet. It attracts the heart and controls the life of all who feel its power. An unfruitful faith is a contradiction. A useless Christian is an abortion. Paralysis in the soul that has been raised from the dead by the grace of Christ, and invested with spiritual immortality, is a condition that gives the lie to every page of his glorious gospel.—Richmond Chris-

- Something is lowering the moral standard of many men in this country. Whether it is the disregard for the Sabbath, or a love of money, or a love of the world; whether it is the result of the example of many of those who have come to us from Europe, or of the scepticism im-ported from European scholars, whatever may be the cause, the fact is becoming more evident that the moral sense of thousands among us has been weakened and perverted. Crime abounds among all classes and in every part of the country. There is a great deal of virtue, and also a great deal of vice. There is much genuine piety and much piety that is strongly tainted with worldliness, and there is a large amount of impiety. What to think of these times it is not easy to decide, but it is plain that these are not times when those who love truth and virtue and godliness, who desire to promote the true happiness of their fellows and to have happiness and peace themselves, can afford to cease their cries to God for a blessing upon his Word, or their advocacy of reformative agencies, or their activity in opposing and reproving vice.—Christian Intelligence.

Pump, Pump, Pump.

Your heart is the busiest pump in the world, pumping all the time; never stopping until you die. It pumps blood, Every four minutes all the blood in your system passes through your heart. Blood is the vital fluid. Impoverish it and you die, the land wou are hearty and joy-Invigorate it, and you are hearty and joy-ful. There must be iron in the blood, or you are pale and puny. Brown's Iron Bit-ters is the most efficient preparation of iron; gentle, powerful and reliable.

I had various kinds of treatment with only temporary partial relief. After seven weeks I was reduced in weight 35 pounds, had no strength or appetite, and was growing weaker every day. I have had rheumatism for forty years, and have been relieved with a few bottles of S. S. S. I consider it a God send to the afflicted. J. B. WALLER, Thomson, Ga, Ang. 16, '84.

I have been a sufferer from rheumatism for twenty years, at times with almost is tolerable pain. I had the best medical treatment, and took all sorts of medicines, but without relief. Being reduced a most to a skeleton, and not being able to walk even with crutches, I was induced to try Swift's Specific, and it acted like a charm, and I am entirely relieved. Have thrown away my crutches, and am in excellent health. I believe Swift's Specific will cure the worst cases of rheumatism.
