-HENRY VIII., Act 3 Scene 2.

THE REBELS OF 1884.

New York World, Dem. The two essentials of Republican government are honest elections and submission to the will of the ma-

Mr. Blame and his managers did their best to prevent an honest election by resorting to bribery, fraud and intimidation to control the result. Now that they are defeated, they refuse to accept the decision of the people.

Corruption having failed to accomplish its object, contention takes its place.

While confessing themselves beaten on the face of their own returns, Mr. Blaine and his friends lack the decency to submit gracefully to the will of the people.

They must submitt at last, either voluntarily or by the power of the law, made inexorable by the fierce and consuming fire of public wrath. But they manifest a stubborn, revolutionary spirit of resistance.

They charge "fraud on the Democracy now that they are beaten on the figures. They want to introduce the Packard, Kellogg and Wells Returning Board rascalities into our counties. They seek get to obscure partisan Judges all over the State to interfere with the count by mandamus. They call into service the men who helped to manipulate the great fraud of 1876. They pin their faith to Noah Davis in this city, whose blind and bitter partisanship is a disgrace and a scandal to the Bench. They invoke the unscrupulous assistance of George Bliss who, with the cessation of Republican rule, loses profitable Star Route fees and stil more profitable "settlements" witl public robbers. They stretch out their hands to Evarts, whose conscience is loaded with the crime and whose pockets are loaded with the profits of a former theft of the Presidential office.

On what pretense do the Blaine brigands thus seek to fight the will of the people? They allege that "changes" have been made in some of the districts, although their own returns give Cleveland a plurality.

Beaten on figures, they fall back on frauds. They pretend that the Democrats contemplate cheating in the count.

BLAINE CONSPIRATORS.

New York Times, Rep.

Mr. Blaine would no doubt be quite willing to take by theft and fraud that great office which the voters of the United States have decreed that he shall not have, and nothing but fear will deter the precious set of conspirators in this city who are casting about for some means of setting aside the verdict of the ballot from attempting to carry out their evil purposes. But their growing timidity is shown by the changed tone of their pronunciamentos.

. They now profess to seek only the ascertainment of the true result of the vote, and their newspaper organs give visible proof of increasing prudence and waning hope in the balanced and cautious tone of their remarks. The fact remains, however, that the National Committee's statement, on their belief, "that Mr. Blaine has a plurality of several hundred votes" in this State, is so grossly and palpably false that the public safety demands that they be watched just as burglars would be watched who had been overheard declaring their intention to "crack" a bank.

When the vote of a State has been cast and lawfully counted, and the footings have been reviewed a dozen or a score of times, as we have no doubt is the case in every county in this State, the result is peaceably accepted by all law-abiding men. Mr. Blaine and Mr. Elkins, it seems, are not law-abiding persons. They propose to use the laws for their own behoof against the public good, and to make the courts, if they can, a part of the machinery of this conspiracy. The people of New York and of the Nation can afford to await with perfect calmness the disastrous failure of this iniquitous at-tempt to steal the Presidency; but the enterprise is, all the same, a very dangerous one for those engaged

OUR STATE CONTEMPORARIES.

It would be fortunate for every Southern State and town if the appointive offices should every one be given to men who do not seek them. The danger of the Democracy, and to the Democracy, is its hunger. If unsuccessful lawyers and ward politicians are to be rewarded with the "spoils," it will be poor satisfaction to the country. The successful people of the land are fortified with the belief that of all men President Cleveland will be the last (in section as his personal influence can extend) so far as his personal influence can extend) in recognizing the hunger of the South as the heart of the South.—Raleigh Chronicle.

Last Tuesday's election unmistakably proved that the colored people do not possess any gratitude to the Democratic party for the blessings and benefits bestowed upon them by that party. They voted almost as one man—in a solid body—against the candidates of the party that had done so much for them. Although the white people have built asylums for the afflicted col-ored people, and year after year have taxed themselves to educate the poor colored children, yet the colored voters array them-selves at every election in solid opposition to their benefactors. This has been going on so long that many white tax-payers begin to think that a period has been reached when "forbearance ceases to be a virtue," and are seriously considering the question of stop paying out their money for people who do not appreciate their kindness.— Pittsboro Record.

Inflammatory Rheumatism. I was attacked last winter with inflammatory rheumatism of severe type—my first serious illness since 1876. I had various kinds of treatment with only temporary partial relief. After seven weeks I was reduced in weight 35 pounds, had no strength or appetite, and was growing weaker every day. In this connection I began Swift's Specific, and in three days began to improve and in three weeks I was free from disease and up attending to my regular business. My appetite returned and I rapidly regained my flesh. I have waited this long to be certain that my cure was and it has entirely disappeared, and I am in better health than for years. It is the best blood remedy in the world.

T. H Morgan, Oglethorpe, Ga., Aug. 25, '84, Rheumatism 20 Years! I have been a sufferer from rheumatism for twenty years, at times with almost intolerable pain. I had the best medical treatment, and took all sorts of medicines, but without relief. Being reduced almost to a skeleton, and not being able to walk even with crutches, I was induced to try Swift's Specific, and it acted like a charm, and I am entirely relieved. Have thrown away my crutches, and am in excellent health. I believe Swift's Specific will cure the worst cases of rheumatism.
