EVENING EDITION REPUBLICAN PLANS AND THE PRESIDENT ELECT.

SATURDAY EVENING, Nov. 22, 1884

Senator Cameron, of Pennsylvania. is said to have a plan by which he hopes to thwart President Cleveland's purposes and desires, and to so clog the wheels of his Administration as to effectually prevent any substantial and/desirable progress For some days we have seen notifications served of such a purpose. It is reported that he has been telling numerous Republican politicians how this may be done, and that thus the Democratic Administration for four years may practically prove a nullity. We apprehend that there will be difficulties in the way of the tricksy Pennsylvanian and his allies in the disreputable scheme. A special from Washington to the New York Times, dated 18th, says:

"Although the story is a manifestly absurd one, it appeared in a Republican newspaper that is extensively read, and it has been heard by many people who be-lieve it. To those persons who know the President it will not be surprising to learn that he treats the report as absurd upon its face. He doubts the truth of the report, se far as it credits Senator Cameron with making the President a party to any plan to deprive his successor of any privilege which may belong to him of constructing his own Administration. President Arthur has been on the best of terms with the Sen-ate as a body. * * It has been suggestad that many Republicans now in office whose terms will not expire until after Cleveland's inauguration will seek reappointment before the time when they would naturally go out, in order to insure their offices for four years. The President cannot fall in with this plan without immediate

It strikes us that if the Republican Senate should undertake to prevent the new President from appointing his friends to office that it would with obstacles in its own We must believe that not all of the Republicans would undertake to obstruct the President in doing what he regarded as right and proper, and what had been the course among his predecessors in office. We must suppose that a large and respectable element in the Republican party in the North would not approve of such a factious and unjustifiable course. It would further re-Senators would fail to prevent the President from appointing many Democrats to office.

The Senate will probably be Republican during President Cleveland's entire term. The N. Y. Sun

"Mr. Cleveland will be handcuffed, po-litically, from the day he is sworn into of-fice. He cannot send ministers abroad or make appointments at home without the sanction of a body whose majority is now soured by defeat for the first time in a quarter of a century."

We shall not believe until we see ungracious partisan attempt made to obstruct and prevent the selection of party friends by the President that all of the Republicans in the Senate will be a party to such a censurable course. It would be such a conspicuous exam- reduction come at once.

ple of spite and partisanship that the good sense and fair dealing of the best Republicans would recoil from it. Such a course of folly and vindictiveness would so disgust as to destroy the majority in the Senate. The Boston Post says of the rumor of proposed Republican ugly dealing: "Probably there would not be a Repubican Senate after that any longer than it appointments than we thought entirely would take the people to get at their un-faithful servants. The Democrats, when they have had the Senate, have sometimes been more accommodating in the matter of commendable. Without Democratic sup-port as improper a nomination as that of stanley Matthews to the Supreme Court bench could not have been confirmed. In the recent campaign the Democrats were charged with having indorsed Mr. Blaine because they interposed no obstacles to his confirmation as Secretary of State. The Democrats have believed in showing due courtesy in all instances and leaving the responsibility with the appointing power, unless for reasons with which politics and party had nothing to do."

There never was a much worse vote given or a greater stretch of courtesy made than when a few Southern Senators voted to place the venal, trading, pliable, purchased Matthews on the Supreme Bench. We hope that Republican Senators will never vote for the confirmation of such a smart rascal whoever may send in the nomination. A pure, incorruptible, just and able Supreme Court is an absolute necessity if American institutions are to be perpetuated and the liberties and rights of the people are to be maintained.

SECRETARY MCCULLOCH AND RE-DUCTION.

President Arthur during the campaign selected Mr. McCulloch for the Secretaryship of the Treasury. He had before filled that office with great ability, and he is now some 76 years of age. He is a distinguished authority in this country on economic questions, and is an open advocate of Free Trade. Whilst Jim Blaine was making his unfair, one-sided harangues in favor of a High Protective Tariff and deluding the ignorant and trusting classes to whom he addressed himself in Indiana, Ohio, Pennsylvania, West Virginia and elsewhere, President Arthur, of the same party, was found selecting for the most responsible financial position in the Government a distinguished Free Trade advocate.

We are now told that this selection of Secretary McCulloch means something. It is given out from Washington that the Secretary of the Treasury will recommend in his report to the Congress a substantial reduction of the present High War Tariff. We trust the rumor will turn out to be correct. We hope to see the High Tariff severely razeed until it reaches the standard required by the Constitution of the United States. We hope the Democrats at least will attempt to carry out the Chicago platform.

Referring to the rumor concerning the Secretary of the Treasury the Philadelphia Record says:

"This would be consistent not only with the policy of President Arthur but with the principles which Mr. McCulloch advocated when Secretary of the Treasury in the ad-ministration of President Johnson. Since it is acknowledged that the taxation is excessive, why should the country wait for relief until another Congress meets a year from this time ? If the election of Cleveland and Hendricks means anything in regard to the public policy it means that the people are in favor of removing the heavy axes from the raw materials of industry and the necessities of life.
"But it is said that the majority in the Senate will oppose a revision of the tariff. That is an old story, and its truth can be ascertained only upon trial.

If President Arthur should make the same recommendation it would be very curious if there were not any Republican Senators to be found of similar views. If the very much needed reduction should be made, and in accordance with the spirit and intent of the Chicago platform it would not only be a great blessing to the country in the end, but it would take the Tariff from the field of politics and for a long time to come there would be no occasion for its discussion. The Record wisely says:

"It is time that the country's great in-terests of trade should cease to be subordinated to the interests of parties. By uniting in the passage of a tariff law that is urgently demanded for the relief of capital and labor quire the Senate to sit all the time | the Republican Senate and the Democratic during Cleveland's four years, or the House will equally share in the popularity measure. If this legislation is delayed for another year the depression in trade and the obstructions to the flow of currency will be prolonged, and the existing mischiefs will be aggravated."

Why should the present high taxes be kept up? They are not needed. In the Treasury there is now four hundred millions of surplus, more than enough to pay the ordinary expenses of the Government for two years. Why pile in more surplus upon this great surplus, thus depleting the pockets of the people and actually robbing them under the forms of law? - There can be no good reason given for the continuance of a system that takes tens of millions from the people that are not needed and that go only to swell a vast and accumulating surplus. Let LET THE PEDERAL MARSHALS GO

If there is one thing that should be attended to at an early day above all other questions by the Congress when it meets, it is to get rid of the infamous system of having Federal Marshals at the elections. It is a great abuse and should be abated. The Boston Herald refers to it as "a bad relic of the arbitrary Reconstruction legislation." The South has long suffered under the most infamous and dangerous system. In Ohio men were murdered and the rights of freemen invaded by these minions of a bad law. It is surely high time that this despicable system was done away with. It has only worked harm and the multitudinous deviltries that have marked its duration are enough to call forth a united effort upon the part of every true Democrat in the Congress to wipe it out. There is very great danger in this system. It has wrought great mischief, and as long as it lasts it is a menace to liberty and to the freedom of the ballot. It ought to go. The Boston Post says with timely force:

"If we are to continue a people at once free and sovereign; if we are to dwell under form of government that shall be republi can in fact as well as in name, there mus be an immediate check put on recent tendencies and an entire obliteration of those methods and agencies that have made free expression of the popular will at the polls impossible in too many instances. In other words, the deputy marshal system should be abolished, and the threatening hand of Federal power withdrawn from those appointed places at which the people in their sovereign capacity meet to declare their convictions and express their prefer-

Our North Carolina delegation wil not be recreant in this matter. They know full well what an evil and curse it is, and they will not fail to strive to purge a system that has given so much unjust power to the Republican party; that has been so violative of the spirit and genius of our free institutions; that has been an irresponsible arm of power to rawe and brow-beat freemen, and that is not even sanctioned by the

THE ASSOCIATED PRESS.

The New York Journal of Commerce, in answer to a correspondent on the 7th inst., gave a brief history of the Associated Press that has been copied into the papers without credit. It was not new, but it imparted information. It said in part

"The New York Associated Press is composed of seven papers, viz.; The New York Journal of Commerce, Herald, Times, Tribune, Express, Sun and World. When Mr. Jay Gould owned a controlling interest in the World, and Mr. Hurlburt represented it in the Association, the following gentle-men in behalf of their respective papers, viz., Mr. Charles A. Dans of the Sun, Mr. Whitelaw Reid of the Tribune, Mr. Hurlburt of the World, and Mr. Cyrus W. Field burt of the World, and Mr. Cyrus W. Field of the Mail and Express, by a bare majority of one vote, and against the earnest protest of the Herald, Times and Journal of Commerce, who were in the minority, reorganized the management, appointing Messrs. Dana and Reid, and Dr. Hoamer of the Herald and Executive Committee, together with two members of the Western Press, and giving them new powers in the business of the Association. They appointed a new general ment from the West, Mr. William Henry Smith, and Mr. W. H. French was appointed his assistant. The editor-in-chief of this paper is president of the organization, and for 35 years has been active in the conduct of its affairs. * *

The recent election returns appear to have been collected under the entire supervision of the editor of the Tronne. The partisan character of the service is most painfully apparent, and we do not believe that the other members of the Association will quietly superitted with the Association will quietly superitted with the service of the Association will quietly superitted with the service of the Association will quietly superitted with the service of the Association will quietly superitted with the service of the Association will quietly superitted with the service of the Association will quietly superitted with the service of the Association will quietly superitted with the service of the Association will quietly superitted with the service of the Association will quietly superitted with the service of the Association will quietly superitted with the service of the Association will quietly superitted with the service of the Association will quietly superitted with the service of the Association will quietly superitted with the service of other members of the Association will qui etly submit to lose the good name of the body in any such fashion."

The partisan character of the re turns and the infamous frauds perpetrated by Reid and his tools are disgrace to the country as well as great outrage upon the people at large. It furnishes a great reason why there should be a telegraphic service under the control of the people. If the Government or a fellow like Jay Gould controls it there is always danger to the interests of the country as well as to the liberties of every citizen.

The Charleston News and Courier does not believe the South ought to be very pertensions in seeking high offices at the hands of the incoming Administration. It does not seem to believe that any Cabinet appointments will be given to the South. It

PURINTER. "We no more expect that the Attorney-General will be appointed from the South than that the Secretary of War will, and the Southern States will be at no disadvan-tage in that respect. The trouble is not so much with the laws as with the administramuch with the laws as with the administra-tion of the laws; and, with Federal officers of high character in the different Southern States, it will make little difference who the Attorney General is, so long as he has the requisite ability and experience. In-deed, we think that an Attorney General taken from the North or West could ac-complish more for the Southern States. complish more for the Southern States, in the way of reform, than a Southern man

Blaine, in his villainous speech at Augusta, that is being so generally and sharply denounced by Democratic and Independent Republican papers in the North, made a severe attack upon the States in the South ally furnished 430,000 soldiers to the Federal army to fight against their people, and which they did. These States are Maryland, Missouri, West Virginia, Tennessee and Kentucky, They were not with the South but against the South, we deeply regret to know. If these 430,000 troops could have filled Lee's and Joe Johnston's and Albert Sidney Johnston's armies the war would have ended in 1862 with the battles around Richmond. These five States fought the Northern battles but are not be trusted now because they voted for Cleveland. What a poor fool is Blaine!

The Chicago Inter-Ocean, Radical Horn-Blower, is delighted with Blaine's vote in the Northwest. I gives the figures as follows:

"In Kansas Garfield had a plurality of 61,731. Blaine's plurality is 63,346. In Pennsylvania Garfield had a plurality of 37,286. Blaine's plurality is 80,000. In Ohio Garfield's plurality was 34,267, and Blaine's is 31,802. In Illinois Garfield's plurality was 41,716, and Blaine's is 25,142. In Iowa Garfield's plurality was 78,059, and his majority 45,000. This year there was a Fusion ticket in the field, and Blaine has a majority over the combined opposition of nearly 20,000."

GENIUS AND VERSATILITY Mr. Cable Exhibits Both and Mark Twain Something Rise. New York Times. I hour

A numerous and enthusiastic audience assembled in Chickering Hall last evening to listen to readings from the writings of Mr. Samuel L Clemens-who prefers to be known as "Mark Twain"-and Mr. George W. Cable. The gentlemen who read were the gentlemen who had written. The management, in its newspaper advertisements, spoke of the entertainment as a "combination of genius and versatility," but neglected to say which of the gentlemen had the genus and which the versatility. Some of those who were present last evening may have felt justified in coming to the conclusion that Mr. Cable represented both these elements, while Mr. Clemens was simply man, after the fashion of that famous hunting animal one-half of wich was pure Irish setter and the other "just plain dog." Mr. Cable was humorous, pathetic, weird, grotesque, tender, and melodramatic by turns, while Mr. Clemens confined his efforts to the ridicule of such ridiculous matters as aged colored centlemen, the German language, and

It became evident early in the evening that the gentleman who conceived the plan of bringing these two readers together had a marvelous faculty for grasping the sublimest possibilities of contrast. The audience appeared, however, to enjoy the sensation of dropping abruptly down-ward from such delightful people as Narcisse, Ristofalo, and Kate Riley to such earthy creatures as Huckleberry Finn.

Mr. Randall and Democratic Policies. New York Tribune, Rep

A number of journals are commenting upon Mr. Randall's statement of Democratic policy as if it were important, and probably a foreshadowing of Gov. Cleveland's course. This is singularly unreasonable. Mr. Randall was never one of those who favored Cleveland's nomination. The Ohio idea as to the tariff was his idea. and Randall was his ideal candidate. Right enough, too; if the party meant to resist its free trade tenden cies at all Randall was precisely the man to nominate for that purpose. But Mr. Randall's ideas are not those of his party. He represents a strong, determined and capable minority, but still a small minority. With his aid the Republicans may hope to resist mischievous legislation in the House.

OUR STATE CONTEMPORARIES.

With respect to the tariff we find, to begin with, that Mr. Morrison is reelected to Congress from Illinois, and that Mr. Converse, who failed of renomination in Ohio. is succeeded by Mr. Onthwaite, a revenue tariff Democrat. Mr. Morrison, it will be remembered, was the leader of the majority in the 48th Congress chosen by the caucus of the Democratic members. His bill to reduce the present infamous tariff, also approved by the Democratic caucus, was defeated by the treachery of Mr. Converse and his renegade companions. But, lest it may be thought that the renomination and reelection of Morrison and the retirement of the traitor Converse are the result of accident, it will gratify the people who suffer from the monopolists tariff to know that a review of the whole field throughout the Union conclusively sustains the inference drawn from the constituents of Messrs. Morrison and Converse.—Fayetteville Ob-

Times of general depression are apt to generate more or less dissatisfaction. It is not human nature to be satisfied. Even those placed in the most favored circumssances often take up the idea that a change would be better in their cases, even if it be to their own hurt. Men, and especially young men, in a restless state, are disposed to act hastily, and are far from being in condition to think properly and for their best interests. And on sober reflection, they see and acknowledge the mistake, and it may be the greatest mistake of their life. It is always well to look ahead. move cautiously, consider the consequences, before we take any steps that might prove greatly to our disadvantage.—Chadbourn

Buffalo Lithia Water

USE OF IT IN A CASE OF YELLOW FEVER. DR. WM. T. HOWARD, OF BALTIMORE, Professor of Diseases of Women and Children in

Dr. Howard attests the common adaptation this water in "a wide range of cases" with that of the far-famed White Sulphur Springs, in Green-brier county, West Virginia, and adds the follow-

"Indeed, in a certain class of cases it is much superior to the latter. I allude to the abiding debility attendant upon the tardy convalescence from grave acute diseases; and more especially to the Cachexia and Sequelsi neident to Malarious Fevers, in all their grades and varieties, to certain forms of Atonic Dyspepsia, and all the Affections Peculiar to Women that are remediable at all by mineral waters. In short, were I called upon to state from what mineral waters I have seen the greatest and most summistabable arrownt of good accrue in est and most unmistakable amount of good accrue in the largest number of cases in a general way I would unhesitatingly say the Buffalo Springs, in Mecklenburg county, Va."

DR. O. F. MANSON, OF RICHMOND, VA., ate Professor of General Pathology and Physio-logy in the Medical College of Virginia: "I have observed marked sanative effects from the Buffalo Water in Malarial Cachexia, Antonic Dyspepsia, some of the Peculiar Affections of Women, Anomia, Hypochondriasis. Cardiae Palpitations, &c. It has been especially efficacious in Chronic Intermittent Fever, numerous cases of this character, which had obstinately withstood the usual remedies, having been restored to perfect health in a brief space of time by a sojourn at the Springs."

DR. JOHN W. WILLIAMSON, JACKSON, TENN. Extracts from Communication on the Therapeutic Action of the Buffalo Lithia Water in the "Virginia Medical Monthly" for February, 1877.

"Their great value in Malarial Diseases and Sequelae has been most abundantly and satisfactorily tested; and I have no question that it would have been a valuable auxiliary in the treatment of the epidemic of Yellow Fever which so terribly afflicted the Mississippi Valley during the past summer. I prescribed it myself, and it gave prompt relief in a case of Suppression of Urine, in Yellow Fever, and decidedly mitigated other distressing and dangerous symptoms. The patient recovered, but how far the water may have contributed to that result (having prescribed it in but a single case) I, of course, cannot undertake to say. There is no doubt, however, about the fact that its administration was attended by the most beneficial results."

Springs now opens for guests.

ADVERTISE IN Merchant and Farmer,

PUBLISHED WEEKLY AT MARION, SOUTH CAROLINA

It has a large and increasing circulation in the heart of the Pee Dee country, the best Cotton section of the two States.

It is a desirable medium of communication with both the Merchants and Farmers of this section, and particularly with those of Marion and Mariboro Countles. It is therefore the paper for the Business Men of Wilmington.
