The Morning Star

Not forever on thy knees
Be before the Almighty found;
There are griefs the true heart sees,
There are burdens thou caust ease—
Look around.

Not long prayers, but earnest zeal, This is what is wanted more; Put thy shoulder to the wheel, Bread unto the famished deal From thy store.

Not high sounding words of praise
Sing to God 'neath some high dome;
But the fallen haste to raise,
And the poor from life's highways Bring thou home.

Worship God by doing good;
Works, not words; kind acts, not creeds.
He who loves God as he should Makes his heart's love understood By kind deeds.

-Sheltering Arms. TIS NOT ENOUGH.

OPIE P. RHAD.

Tis not enough to worship God alone, Deep in the closet of a hidden nook; Tis not the low, self-abnegated groan That reads aright the great self-giving

Love born in darkness shrinks from honest In secret misers hug their sordid gain; A Christian is of brightness, not of night-A smiling Abel, not a frowning Cain.

RELIGIOUS MISCELLANY.

-Chicago Current.

- "The transition is easy," says Bishop Littlejohn, "from heresy in doctrine to heresy in morals.'

—The Methodist Episcopal Church has 97 Conferences, and includes 25,000 clergy and 1,820,000 members. - In South Carolina there are 185

Presbyterian churches, 98 ministers, 12,-946 communicants, 3,009 baptized noncommunicants. — Old Gurnell advises preachers not to attempt to feed their people "with a spoon too large to go into their mouths."Evangelical Messenger. - There was a decrease of 893 in the membership of the Kentucky Conference last year. A correspondent aptly says: "Explain it as you may, here is a tear spot in our history."

- Mr. Spurgeon, reviewing the latest sermons of Dr. David Swing, of Chicago, states that the bulk of all that is beautiful in them is borrowed, and expresses pity for the people who listen ing.—Canadian Baptist.

- The Portsmouth Times of the the 4th inst., says: "Rev. Leo Rosser, D. D., pastor of Central M. E. Church, is engaged in preparing for the press his 'Revival Sermons for Forty Years.' They will be published in four volumes.

- Mr. Spurgeon, in a recent ser-mon, said: "It was the glory of the Moravians that all their members were missionaries; and such ought to be the glory of every Church. Every man, woman and child in the Church should take part in the battle for Jesus." This is the true spirit of the gospel.

- It is getting to be a serious question what are we to do with our increasing army of sore-heads. They are capable of doing immense damage. In politics, one sore head has been said to have determined a Presidential election. In society, one sore-head has been able to sow discord which years have not healed. In the Church, they are obstructing and hindering in no small degree the cause of God.—Church Record.

- I heard of an old farmer who had taken a paper for years without making a return. At length a bill was presented to him. He gazed at it in great astonishment, and then indignantly exclaimed: "Look a-here, I've been supportin' this here paper for eight years, and never had nothin' of this kind poked at me before; now you can jist scratch my name off your list; I won't support you no longer," and, boiling over with virtuous indignation, he stalked away .- Methodist Protestant. - The habit we condemn is the love of change in order to gratify the restless and feverish passions for something new and exciting, and we condemn it be-cause it is founded in whim and caprice, in a love of sensational excitement, and in those hurtful emotions of which the old St. John of Ephesus designated so graphically as the lust of the eye and the pride of life. No doubt the "writ of ejectment" has its uses, but when the writ is served as a morbid pleasure in having a new face in the pulpit and hearing a new style of pulpit elocution, it is a sore evil, the inevitable ten-dency of which is to vulgarize the pulpit.—

Richmond Advocate. — A life that is both great and good is one of the most invaluable of instructors to man. In its character it is godlike. In its measure it is an exemplification of practical nobility. It is duty teaching by example. Above all, it is an exhibition of excellency that helps the wise and faithful soul to a better appreciation of that one per fect character—the character of Him who is the source of all greatness in the creature the maker of man, moral nature and allthe one who is infinitely great in every at-tribute that is embraced in absolute greatness. Hence a truly noble life proclaims the excellency of God and points to him. Buch a life was that of Bishop Pierce. It abounded in finished morals for all who wish to be noble, successful and useful.-Rev. Dr. Mangum.

- If a man was evolved as to his animal structure from the lower animals, then we should have this state of things: a being with the form of a man, standing erect, with no hair on his body, with human hands, with the organs of speech, with a brain-case of about 85 cubic inches capacity (three times that of the gorilla). Now we cannot suppose this brain case to be empty. The brain must have been there. And, therefore, the Reason—the rational nature. So that it is preposterous to talk of man being evolved as to his body to the exclusion of his mind. The braincase is contrived for a rational principle. It is a house which had to have a tenant. It is a house which had to have a tenant.

And so we might go on of the whole structure of man—it is all patterned for intellectual life. What would man have done without a mind and with no natural covering to his body? He could not have made clothes. What would he have done against the wild beasts of the fields without weapons? It was his mind that protected him. What would have become of his young, so long in maturing? You cannot, therefore, separate the physical and the intellectual man. They are parts of a whole, and go in combination.—Central Presbyterian.

— A proud parishioner once said to a stranger: "Ha' ye heard Mr. Cham'ers? He's the lad to mak' the rafters roar." That man had felt the truth better than he That man had felt the truth better than he could tell it. No mere roaring of the rafters was it, when the broad scholarship, the deep insight, the sturdy common sense, and the "blood earnestness" of Chalmers poured themselves together down from his pulpit. Thought so clear, utterance so vivid, illustrations so home felt, that cottage patriarch trations so home-felt, that cottage patriarch could comprehend; that profound diction so lofty, illustration so gorgeous, that literati and nobility, aristocracy of intellect, hung breathless upon his lips; thought so evangelical, language so biblical, explana-tion so patient, persuation so tender, that hearers of all ranks felt themselves listenhearers of all ranks felt themselves listening to an ambassador of God, in Christ's stead beseeching them to be reconciled to God. This was the preaching of Chalmers; and the Chalmers who could preach so was the paster who gloried in belonging to no rank in society, because he belonged to all ranks; who systematised his parochial work with mathematical precision, and fulfilled it with a diligence and persistence which pervaded every district and every street, and reached every parent and child and person in every home.

POLITICAL POINTS.

- The real fun will begin when the mugwumps begin to hold the tail of the Democratic tiger.—Indianapolis Sentinel. - If Ben Butler had been loaded into a cannon and fired out to sea he couldn't have passed out of sight quicker,

—Detroit Free Press — Fourteen thousand people have been thrown out of employment in Fall River, Massachusetts, causing a loss of about $70,000 a week.—New York Truth, — As Mr. Blaine is engaged in the study of history he may find the words of Mirabeau of some interest: "I could have saved France could I have made the people believe I was virtuous."—Providence Journal, Rep.

- Perhaps Mr. Blaine hasn't read his own book. If he will do so he will find some admiring references to an expression which the author ascribes to Seward, "Equanimity in defeat."—Louisville Courier Journal.

- Hailing from the northeast corner of the Union, Mr. Blaine's sectionalism is naturally of an extreme type, but the rest of the country seems to prefer a Northern man from the more cosmopolitan and liberal-minded State of New York.—Balt.

- Mr. Blaine was serenaded last night at Augusta, and waved the bloody shirt with vigor in response to the compli-ment. It is to be regretted that so able a statesman should select for his winding sheet this ancient and unsavory habiliment.

— Wash. Post, Nov. 19.

- From the tone of the Republican journals of the country the atmosphere of the various newspaper offices seems to be consonant with the feeling expressed in that jovial old hymn:

"My thoughts on swful subjects dwell-Damnation and the dead.' -Buffalo Courier.

PITH AND POINT.

Whatever remains of a correct dramatic taste in England or America is more largely due to the healthful, ennobling and ever-present influence of Shakespeare than to any other cause. - The Current.

- A blameless person is all very well in a book, to point a moral or adorn a tale, but in real life he is distinctly disagreeable because he is so different from every one else.-F. Harold Williams, in London Society.

- Mr. Gladstone, writing to the Rev. W. Wright, acknowledging the re-ceipt of the latter's work on "The Empire of the Hittites," takes occasion to say:
"The gradual building up of primitive history is, in my eyes, to the full as interesting and as fruitful a process as the extension of physical science, which attracts a thousandfold more attention."

- The common schools are the stomachs of the country in which all people that come to us are assimilated within s generation. When a lion eats an ox, the lion does not become an ox but the ox becomes lion. So the emigrants of all races and nations become Americans, and it is a disgrace to our institutions and a shame to our policy to abuse them or drive them away.—Henry Ward Beecher.

CANTANKEROUS ORGAN GRINDERS.

- "Mr. Blaine made a magnificent speech at Augusta," said Attorney General Brewster;— Wash. Cor. Phil. Press. - Mr. Blaine's bold and powerful speech at Augusta flashes a vivid light on the true character of the Southern Democratic triumph.—Phil. Press.

- The masterful speech of James G. Blaine accurately delineates the present political situation and sounds the key-note of future Republican policy. - Easton Free

- This is no swan song of Mr. Blaine. There is no sign of despair or desperation. The speech rather has the sound of the swoop of the eagle's wings. Towering in his strength, he speaks with the power of sterling manhood. He marks to the line the course of the future.—Phil. News, (Handy's Paper).

The STAR is decidedly one of the best papers in the State, as bright and newsy as ever. Long life to it.—Salem Press. The Wilmington STAR has entered on its twelfth year—as good a paper as any people should want.

- Charlotte Democrat.

The Wilmington STAR has entered on its twelfth year. As a daily journal of news it stands "up head."—Concord Register. The Wilmington Stas has entered its twenty-fifth volume. There is no better paper published in the State.—Lenoir Topic. The Wilmington STAB has entered upon its thirteenth year. It is one of the best papers in the State.—Warrenton Gazette.

The Wilmington Star has entered its thirteenth year. It has become one of the leading papers of the South.—Oxford Torchlight. The Wilmington STAR is not only one of the best edited papers in the State, but for freshness of news and typograpical appearance cannot be beaten.—Jackson Reporter.

The Wilmington STAR is one of the very best papers in the South, in every department from ty pography up to editorial ability and independence.

Petersburg (Va.) Index-Appeal. The Wilmington (N. C.) Morning Star is a mod-el newspaper. Indeed, we think we do not exag-gerate its merits when we say it is the newsisst (secular) paper published in the South.—Richmond (Va.) Religious Herald.

The Wilmington STAR has now entered upon its thirteenth year and twenty-fifth volume. One of the best conducted and edited papers in the South and, as a North Carolinian, we are proud of it.—

We like the STAB because it is thoroughly reliable, candid, fearless, and so well and ably edited newsy, spley, and in fact a perfect newspaper. Long may the STAB twinkle.—Mt. Airy Visitor. Although at the head of the press in this State in all that makes a paper valuable to the reader, still it continues to improve. It is a STAR of the first magaitude. May its lustre never wane.—
The Free Will Baptist.

The Star is so well and favorably known in this section of the State, that we can say nothing of which its thousands of readers do not already know. It is in every respect one of the best dai lies in the South.—Robesonian.

That magnificent beaming STAE has completed its twenty-second volume. It is one of the most brilliant, erudite and sparkling dallies south of the Potomac. The system in the get up of the paper surpasses them all.—Tarboro Southerner.

The Wilmington Star has entered on its twelfth year. It is a most excellent newspaper, well edited, a compendium of all the news of the day, and an honor to its city, to North Carolina and to North Carolina journalism.—Charlotte Observer. The Wilmington Star is now taking the regular midnight Associated Press reports, and has besides increased the amount of its reading matter. The STAR is an excellent paper. Its prosperity is not surprising since it is so deserving.—Charlot's

The Times cannot say a word too good for the Wilmington Star. It has just reached one of its many birthdays. As a newspaper it is a favorite with the State press and is sought after by the people. Long and prosperous life to it.—Reidsville Times

The Wilmington Star, we are pleased to notice, still continues on the high road to success. We esteem the Star very highly, regarding it as one of the very best of our exchanges, and consider it the peer of any journal published in the South.—Oxford Free Lance. Why is it that all the papers with the name of Star are such bright little journals? The Wilmington (N. C.) Star, the Washington Star, the Fredericksburg Star, New York Star, for example. There must be something in a name after all.—Bichmond (Va.) State.

The Wilmington STAR has entered uponits 12th volume, and we are pleased to notice still continues on the road to success. We esteem the STAR very highly, regarding it as one of the very best newspapers that comes to this office. Its news columns are always a little fuller than those of any other of our exchanges, and its editorial deartment is conducted with much ability.—Mcranter Plade.

Humble in its beginnings, as was inseparable from an enterprise begun amid the wreck of fortune that attended the collapse of the Southern Confederacy, the Sran has steadily "waxed" until it now became resplendent in the full glow of a constantly brightening prosperity. As a never per it has few equals, and no superior, for appropriate selection and judicious arrangement, and we are proud to rank it among our most accepta ble exchanges.—Hillsboro Recorder.

The Wilmington Morning Star has entered upon the thirteenth year of its existence, and we take this opportunity to congratulate it upon its prosperity and deserved popularity. The remarkable success of the Star is due to its strict attention to business. The boast of the Star (rightfully too) is that it always has the news, and this is the first thing in journalism. Otherwise the paper is all that the term of "good newspaper" implies, and its corps of editors and reporters are thoroughly educated newspaper men. May the healthy, moral influence of the Star never be retarded, and may its genial enterprising proprietor enjoy many more happy years of usefulness,—Goldsboro Messenger.

For several years I have used no other Hair Dressing than the Xanthine, which had been warmly recommended to me by a friend who had tested its value. It has, in my experience, accomplished all that is claimed for it as a wholesome preserver and restorer of the natural color of the hair, and a thorough preventive of dandruff.

L. C. JONES,

Superintendent

F. W. CLARK, General Fassenger Agent, Almost a Miracle! RKABLE STORY.

days ago a gentleman of high standing in Atlanta met Dr. J. Bradfield on the street, and related the following, in which all ladies are deeply interested

"For the second months my wife has been an interest feed from womb trouble, cessation of men second. I have tried everything I could hear of in the way of medicine, and have had several of our best physicians attending her, to one of whom, (calling him by name) I paid one hundred and sixty-three dollars. Instead of improving or getting any relief, she gradually grew worse, and I had almost given up hope, and really did not believe she would ever get up from an invalid's bed; but a friend of mine who knew of the case suggested the use of and although he stated that he knew of a similar case being cured by it, and endorsed it highly himself. I was so discouraged I did not believe it would do her any good; but as a last resort I bought a large bottle of it and she began taking it, and from the very first a marked change took place. She begun to improve rapidly, her appetite returned, her whole system was built up, and to-day she is as well and sound as ever in her life, and I am under life-long obligations to you and your remedy, for it undoubtedly saved her life;" and he added. "I wish every lady in the world so afflicted would try it, as I know it will cure them."

We Claim and can Prove Beyond a Doubt. By the highest and most undoubted testimony:

That this Remedy will cure all womb troubles. That this Remedy will cure leucorrhose or whites. That this Remedy will restore the menstrual functions.

That this Remedy will stop excessive monthly flow
That this Remedy will relieve painful menstru-That this Remedy will build up the system as a That this Remedy will cure all female disorders.

"CHANGE OF LIFE." If taken during this period, so critical, it stands without a rival.
