EVENING EDITION.

It is said, but whether authorita-

YOUNG MEN IN OFFICE.

tively or not we are not told, that President Cleveland intends to bring the young men of the country forward-men of ability and vigor who have but little if any reputations in the political world as yet. We like this. Age ought not to be considered, but qualities. If there is a young man of twenty-five in the Democratic party who has the mental furniture, the intellectual grasp, the genius for government that an older man has we do not see why his age should exclude him. No man should be chosen to office simply because he is young and virile and gives promise that after awhile he will be some thing. This applies, too, to old men. An honored gray-head should not be given a high position simply because he is dignified, solemp, pompous, stupid, and old. If he has no experience, wisdom, ability, physical and mental, he ought not to be selected.

William Pitt was at the head of the British Government at the age of twenty-four, and at a time of great national peril and responsibility. Napoleon was the hero of Europe before he was thirty. Alexander conquered the world before he was thirty. Hannibal had achieved immortality by the time he was thirty. Alexander Hamilton was a distinguished soldier before he was twenty-two and a great party leader by the time he was thirty-five. John Randolph had great distinction as an orator before he was twentyseven years of age. Macaulay made a splendid reputation as a writer before he was twenty-five, and was distinguished as a debater by the time that he was thirty-two. Byron was world famous before he was twenty-five. Keats died before he was twenty-five and his poetry will glorify the English language as long as it is known and read. The world is full of examples of great achievement in every department of human endeavor by the young. Shakespeare wrote his greatest plays before he was forty-five.

It is true that many of the great est men of the world developed later. Milton did his greatest work when he had passed middle-life. He published his "Paradise Lost" when he was aged fifty-seven. Cæsar was a great soldier only after he had passed his forty-fifth year. Robert E. Lee became immortal when he was nearly or quite sixty. But as a rule men have done their greatest work by

So we like the idea of recognizing marked ability in the young men. If ard, Cox, Wallace, Gorman, Hewitt, Gaston, Garland, Tucker, Vance, Lamar, Morgan, Hancock, Coke of Texas, and so on, then they ought to be honored. Age, we repeat, should not enter into office, but character and capacity. Put true men, honest men, incorruptible men, able men, industrious and faithful men and sincere Democrats in office, and do not stop to see whether they are thirty or seventy. Mr. Gladstone is seventy-five, and he is the greatest statesman in England. Von Moltke is eighty-four and he is the greatest soldier in the world. Von Ranke has passed his eightieth year and he is possibly the greatest living historian, and is still at work. But Henry Buckle died at thirty-nine and Lecky was famous before that age had been reached.

Among the editors of the country there have been very distinguished men among the young. Joseph Gales, of the National Intelligencer, was a great political power before he was forty. Horace Greeley exerted a wide influence before he was forty. Henry J. Raymond was at the head of his profession by the time he was thirty nine. Roger A. Pryor had a national reputation as an editor by the time he was twenty-eight, John M. Daniel was the greatest Southern editor before he was thirty-five. Some men are dull at thirty and duller at sixty. So it is not age, but brains and character that make men.

We vigorously repudiate the Darwinian Evolution theory of the origin of the human race, but we will take a better view of it after having read the following from Bill Arp, a Presbyterian ruling elder, by the way. He profoundly and wisely says:

"I think the new doctrine of evolution that has got into the Church is a right fair compromise, for it maintains that while old father Adam evoluted from a monkey, old mother Eve didn't. She was made all of a sudden and all at once, pure and beaucestors, and I reckon that is the reason why woman is to this day so much better than man. There is no gorilla blood in her—no taint of the brute or the beast to crop out like it does in a man. What a pity that she was yoked on to such a fellow as Adam."

Just so, Mr. Bill. Did not the first Red man when interrogated in the Garden about the eating of that bitter apple try to dodge the issue, to skulk behind the woman, and like a coward place her in the front Hear this child of the gorilla saying to the Lord God: "The woman whom thou gavest to be with me, she gave me of the tree and I did eat.' We do not believe that any newly married man in these latter times would have "gone back" on his sweet-heart in that unmanly way.

Napoleon had a poor opinion of history. He thought it was all false. From the "Croker Papers" it seems that the great English Duke, who defeated the Emperor at Waterloo. had a rather poor opinion also of the truth of history, or at any rate of the accuracy of accounts of battles. He did not believe that history could be true. He said it was simply impossible to tell the truth concerning any battle. He says he told Jomini this. He held that a battle "was like a ball-that one remembered one's own partner, but knew very little what other couples might be about. * * So that besides almost inevitable inaccuracy, there was the risk-indeed the certainty-that you could not tell the whole truth withont offence to some, and perhaps satisfying nobody." He also said that "all troops ran away"-at some time; but "all he cared about was whether they would come back again." He said "he always had a succession of lines for the purpose of rallying fu-

The friends of the Lowell Bank rupt act seem resolved to push it through if they can. Boston, New York and other business centres are moving in the matter. It is certainly a subject of much importance and it will be probably thoroughly discussed in Congress. Merchants, bankers and others believe that such a law is a necessity. It will be remembered that the bill passed the Senate last session. It is doubtful if it will come up in the House during the short session. We hope the law will be no bid for rascality, but will be so well guarded as to prevent frauds like those that abused the last bankrupt law and made it a trap for honest men. Shut up all avenues to fraud and rascality.

The World's Exposition at New Orleans is now open to the continents and islands. It is a great occasion. It will be visited by many tens of really is and can do. Good will come of this grand Exposition. Kindly feelings will be cultivated. A larger interchange of business will follow, and in the end both sections will know each other better.

Even Don Cameron is being suspected as to his fidelity to Protective principles. The Philadelphia American, the blindest of the blind in the matter of true political science, in its issue of the 13th says:

"Mr. Cameron has no right even to ask an election unless he stands squarely with the Protection Republicans. It is now time to ask. Does he do so? It was stated upon the authority of his own avowals that if he had been in the Senate when the Mexican Treaty was under consideration he would have voted to confirm it. Since then it has been reported from Washing-ton that he is among those who cannot be counted on to oppose the abominable treaty with Spain. It is said, further, that he cannot stand with the radical Protectionists in reference to these treaties."

But as there is no danger that the Spanish Treaty will be ratified Mr. Cameron need not to be specially under the ban of the American on that account. It is not believed in Washington that the Treaty stands any showing. We do not suppose the Democratic Reformers can stomach it, and from the above extract it looks as if it was particularly offensive to the Protectionists.

Bradstreet's reports for last week 316 failures in the United States against 165 in 1881. Worse and worse. The South is showing more failures than possibly ever before. Of those reported, Maryland and Virginia reported 2 each; Louisiana, South Carolina and West Virginia 3 each; Mississippi 4; Alabama and Arkansas 5 each; Kentucky and North Carolina 6 each; Tennessee 9; Missouri 12, and Texas 19. Here are those from North Carolina:

"Harlow-D. W. Morton & Son, millers and general store, assigned. Jamesville— W. L. Sexton & Co., general store, reported assigned. Kinston—Meacham & Edwards, general store, assigned to Park Nunn. New Berne-C. B. Hart & Co., hardware, failed. signed. Swansboro-J. A. Pittman, general store, assigned."

Sr. Louis, December 12.-It has developed that the letter from Jeff Davis captured and read by General Sherman, was addressed to Governor, now Senator Vance, as hinted some days ago in Washington dispatches.—Philadelphia News, Rad. Organ.

Wrong again. Sherman simply lied. No such letter as he described was captured. Davis's letter has been published to Senator Vance, and the latter has published a letter on the subject that appeared in yesterday's STAR. The old Bummer who burnt Atlanta and Columbia has been run down. He told a shameful falsehood on Wade Hampton, and now he is lying upon and slandering ex-President Davis. That is all, honey.

It is reported from Washington that it is something wonderful to see the number of letters from place-hunters that are pouring into the laps and hats of the members of Congress. There is one comfort-they are not obliged to answer. But won't there be a row when the 999 hungry fellows are turned off and only one fellow obtains a teat to hang to? Blessed is the man who expecteth little for he shall not be disappointed.

Ab, thou son of York, why wilt thou slander thine own people? Tyre does not tire in misrepresenting the white people of North Carolina. He is telling it up North that he was elected but counted out. Shame! Shame! Oh Tyre, Tyre!!

Dare to be true. Nothing can need a lie, The fault that needs it most grows two

CURRENT COMMENT.

-- The Maine Superintendent of Schools in his late report puts the number of children in the State of school age at 213,877, while the number of the different pupils attending school during the year was but 146,-916. The attendance upon the pubhe schools of Mr. Blaine's State, therefore amounts to less than 69 per cent. as against 65 per cent. in South Carolina, and at the present rate of increase the Southern State will soon outstrip the Northern one in percentage of attendance. This will come about all the sooner because the ratio of attendance in Maine is diminishing pretty steadily, having sunk from 72.2 per cent. of the whole school population in 1878 to only 68.7 per cent. in the last year. It will thus be seen that the white children in South Carolina are sent to school much more generally than the white children in Maine, and that the Democratic government of South Carolina already provides facilities for the education of negro children which secure an attendance nearly as large as that for the almost exclusively white schools of Maine. - Brooklyn Union, Rep.

- It is melancholy to see that the present embarrassments of industry are to be increased by the closing of the flint glass establishments at Bellaire, O., which throws out of employment about 2,000 men.

— New York Tribune, Rep. Organ.

Upon this text we have a brief dissertation on the firm exercision of the firm exercision.

of Republican tariff legislation these Bellaire establishments were unable to accumulate the necessary "pros-perity" to tide over a season of depression. Ever since the assassination of Garfield we have had in this country a steady shrinkage of values and a tendency to "over-produce." All this occurred under laws framed by the Republican party-laws guaranteed to insure prosperity. What was the matter with them?-N. Y.

MORE CABINET GOSSIP. A Few Important Points that Seem to be Definitely Bettled.

Special to the N. Y. World. ALBANY, December 13 .- It may now be accepted as a fact that Senator Bayard can have a place in President Cleveland's Cabinet if he so desires, and it is altogether probable that he will accept the offer. It was at first supposed he would be given the portfolio of State, but his tastes and experience run rather in the line of finance, and he will therefore in all probability be the next Secretary of the Treasury. Mr. William C. Whitney will certainly be the New York representative in the Cabinet. Rumor has given him the post of Attorney General, for which he is thoroughly fitted, but that will probably be given to Senator Garand, and Mr. Whitney will take the Secretaryship of the Interior instead. The South seems to be entirely united on Senator. Garland as a member of the Cabinet and his appointment will be out of deference to the wishes of that section and because he is eminently fitted for the place. Bayard, Whitney and Garland are almost certain to become members of President Cleveland's Cabinet. They are all Democrats of the strict school, and their high personal character will no doubt be acceptable to even such exacting censors of public and private life as Dr. Ball himself.

Hendricks and McDonald. Indianapolis Letter in Cincinnati Enquirer.

For weeks the Republican papers have been actively engaged in circulating the story that Mr. Hendricks would not be pleased if Mr. McDonald should go into the Cabinet. I know both gentlemen intimately, and know that Mr. Hendricks would rather have seen McDonald President than to have been Vice President himself. And if Mr. Hendricks should have been President, Mr. Mc-Donald would have been in his Cabinet. Mr. Hendricks is not jealous of any man who lives. He believes in himself, and does not think that any inferior man can overshadow him, and he is great enough to want his equals to fill the public offices. If Mr. Cleveland should ask Mr. Hendricks to name a Cabinet officer, he would at once propose Mr. Mc-

OUR STATE CONTEMPORABIES.

Is Mr. Holden, with all his genius, fitted for the task? Throughout those trying times W. W. Holden was a conspicuous figure on the stage of North Carolina politics. While the State was undergoing the agonizing process of reconstruction, he was placed at the head of its Executive Depart ment. Clothed with this high authority, Gov. Holden could have become an angel of mercy to the wretched people of North Carolina, made destitute by the cruel ravages of war, torn by internal dissensions, oppressed by organized bands of robbers and marderers. Did he rise up equal to the occasion? Let us draw the veil of charity. Gov. Holden was charged with high crimes, impeached, shorn of his power and retired in disgrace. We do not believe in hounding a man to death—in crusing a fallen foe. But we doubt if Mr. Holden, with all his tact and brilliancy, is equal to the task of recording the events of North Carolina history during a period which the consensus of, just opinion agrees that he, of all men, was most instrumental in marking with infamy.—Elizabeth City Epicon

We do not believe that the State would be any better served or would have any better talent or brains in its service were the salaries ten times what they are. We believe we would secure the same talent and brains were the pay half what it is now is, but that is no reason why these men should not receive sufficient compensation for their labor. We hope the next Legislature will increase their salaries to an amount sufficient to remunerate them for the labor done. - Kinston Free Press.

The system needs reforming from the Courts of Justices of the Peace up to the Supreme Court, which latter Court is reported to need, more Judges. Justice de layed is not justice at all. As the Consti-tution requires a speedy trial of all persons charged with criminal offences, so should all actions involving the rights of property &c., be adjusted promptly by the Courts. Courts were instituted for a wise purpose and it is unfortunate when suitors are compelled to wait for a term of years before obtaining a trial. Let the next Legislature consider. — Washington Gazette.

Mrs. Smith's Case, and what the Rev Mr. McKinstry has to say About it.

To the Public: I have been a fearful suffer, To the Public: I have been a fearful sufferer for fifteen years, most of the time with what has been called Eczema or Salt Rheum, Psoriasis and Lepra, and the like, and have always been told that there was no cure for me, and have been so discouraged that I had as soon die as live I have been so badly afflicted sometimes that there was not the smallest spot from the crown of my head been so badly anneced sometimes that there was not the small st spot from the crown of my head to the soles of my feet that was not diseased and to the soles of my feet that was not diseased and as red as crimson It would commence in small white spots, which had a silvery appearance, but were not deep, but if I attempted to heal them or soon after their first appearance, they would bern and run together until there was a complete dry, red scale, which would become so infilmed as to crack and look fiery and angry, and the burning sensation would be almost intolerable.

I was at times so lame that I could scarcely get about, and could not dress myself without assistance. I have tried many remedies and have paid $100 in a single instance to a physician, have sistance. I have tried many remedies and have paid $10 in a single instance to a physician, but have ever obtained only temporary relief. Although helped for a time, I soon relapsed again to be as badly troubled as ever, and during the winter of 1881 and 1882 I suffered so much as to be entirely discouraged. Last June, however, I was advised by Elder and Mrs. L. C. Mckinstry, was advised by Elder and Mrs. L. C. Buffalo Lithia Water FOR MAI ARIAL POISONING

USE OF IT IN A CASE OF YELLOW PEVEL

DR. WM. T. HOWARD, OF BALTIMORE, Professor of Diseases of Women and Children in the University of Maryland. Dr Howard attests the common adaptation this water in "a wide range of cases" with that of the far-famed White Sulphur Springs, in Green-brier county, West Virginia, and adds the follow.

"Indeed, in a certain class of cases it is much superior to the latter. I allude to the abiding debility attendant upon the tardy convalescence from grave acute diseases; and more especially to the Cachexia and Sequels neident to Malarious Fevers, in all their grades and varieties, to certain forms of Atonic Dyspepsia, and all the Affect tions Peculiar to Women that are remediable at all state from what mineral waters I have seen the great est and most unmistakable amount of good accrue is the largest number of cases in a general way I would unhesitatingly say the Buffalo Springs, in Mecklenburg county, Va."

DR. O. F. MANSON, OF RICHMOND, VA., Late Professor of General Pathology and Physical logy in the Medical College of Virginia: "I have observed marked sanative effects from the Buffalo Water in Malarial Cachezia, Antonic Dyspepsia, some of the Peculiar Affections of Wo-men, Anamia, Hypochondriasis, Cardiac Paipitations, &c. It has been especially efficacious in Chronic Intermittent Fever, numerous cases of this character, which had obstinately withstood the usua remedies, having been restored to perfect health in a brief space of time by a sojourn at the Springs. DR. JOHN W. WILLIAMSON, JACKSON, TENN. Extracts from Communication on the Therapestic Action of the Buffalo Lithia Water in the "Virginia Medical Monthly" for February, 1877.

"Their great value in Malarial Diseases and Sequelae has been most abundantly and satisfac-torily tested; and I have no question that it would have been a valuable auxiliary in the treatment of the epidemic of Yellow Fever which so terribly afflicted the Mississippi Valley during the past summer. I prescribed it myself, and it gave prompt relief in a case of Suppression of Union, in Yellow Fever, and decidedly mitigated other discovery. tressing and dangerous symptoms. The patient recovered, but how far the water may have contri-buted to that result (having prescribed it in but a single case) I, of course, cannot undertake to say. There is no doubt, however, about the fact that administration was attended by the most benefi-
