Last week "took the cakes." Bradstreet's reports 448 failures in the United States against 203 in 1882. The week before was very bad at 366. The South furnished its full share: Lousiana, 3; West Virginia, 4. Arkansas and Virginia, 5; Maryland, 6; Kentucky and North Carolina, 9; Alabama and Mississippi, 9; Georgia, 11; Tennessee, 14; Texas, 21. North Carolina's failures were : Greenvile -W. S. The Baltimore American, Rep., says with too much of truth;

"Democratic support is never lacking when a big river and harbor appropriation bill is up. Democratic support will be given to the Blair Educational bill-or any bill that carries Federal money into Democratic States. They are ready to spell nation with a big N when an appropriation is in the background. There are, it is true, some old-fashioned Democrats who stand on the question of principle, but there are mang who go in 'for the old flag and an appropriation.'"

To see Southern Democrats splitting on State Rights and clamoring for High Protection is enough to excite the risibles of a cast-iron man.

Senator Saulsbury wants all partisan office-holders to go. Senator Bayard in his speech before the Jackson Democratic Association in Washington on 8th January, said:

"It was the Jacksonian theory that the Government of the United States found neither copartners nor rivals for itself among its own citizens. This was not the theory which had built up the system of a protective tariff, which had for its underlyng principle the doctrine of class legislation. If men were not firm enough to resist this doctrine, if they were not penetrated by the truth which one Grover Cleveland [applause] seemed to have been penetrated by, that all public office was a public truet, they could not comprehend that for which Andrew Jackson struggled."

BURGLARIES.

Narrow Escape of One. Who had Four Balls Sent After Him in Rapid Suc-

Yesterday morning, about 3 o'clock, a burglar entered the residence on Seventh street, between Chesnut and Mulberry, occupied by Mesers. Charles Keene and J. J. Hopkins. Entrance was effected through a rear window, the burglar having crawled across a bed occupied by a gentleman boarder named C. F. Carroll. Having successfully entered, he next secured a pocket book from a table at the side of the bed containing a little less than $3 in money, but left a gold watch and other articles. Leaving Mr. Carroll's room, he next brought up at that occupied by Mr. Keene, wife and child. Mr. K. had just been up to wait upon his child and was dozing off when he heard the door knob of his room gently turned. His eyes were wide open in an o instant, and in another the form of a man had revealed itself in the room. It took Mr. K. but a moment to spring to the mantlepiece and clutch a pistol, wrapped in a handkerchief, which was quickly unwound, but in the meantime the man had dashed from the room and through the back door into the yard, thence through the alley and into the street, just as he reached which Mr. Keene got to the front door, when, as the burglar darted in the direction of Chesnut street, he opened fire upon him, discharging his weapon four times in rapid succession, the fifth barrel missing fire. Mr. Keene says the man was of ginger-cake color, and that he would know him if he were to see him again. The same night the residence of a widow adv by the name of Mrs. Heines, in Macumber's alley, was entered by one or more burglars and ransacked, and we hear that Mrs. H. was chloroformed by the scoundrels. It was not known at last accounts what was taken. Entrance was effected through a window in the upper

Ordination of Deacons. The ordination of Messrs. W. A. French and James H. Taylor, to the responsible office of deacons, took place at the First Baptist Church on Sunday morning last, The pastor, Rev. Dr. Pritchard, preached a sermon appropriate to the occasion, taking his text from the third chapter of the 1st Letter of Paul to Timothy, dwelling particularly upon the office, qualifications and duties of a deacon, thoroughly analizing the subject and presenting it in all its phases, showing that the duties of a deacon, when properly discharged, were all-important to the welfare and progress of the Church and the advancement of its membership in the divine life. At the conclusion of the sermon Senior Mitchell were designated to conduct the descons-elect to their places in front of the pulpit, and Rev. Mr. Pritchard, father of the pastor; Rev. J. B. Barlow and Rev. G. S. Jones, were requested to come forward and act as a Presbytery. The solemn and impressive ceremony of ordination by prayer and the laying on of hands was then performed, and appropriate prayer. to the fact that Deacon Taylor was the son of a deacon who had long and faithfully served the Church in Fayetteville, and that Deacon French was both the son and grandson of a deacon.

Mr. Frank Maunder, residing on Fourth street, just north of the bridge, has some fine blooded stock, and upon calling in at his place a few days since we were surprized to find such a thorough arrangement for their comfort and welfare. The cow house is a neat structure, nicely painted, and the stalls, which are provided with wooden floors, look as clean and comfortable almost as a room in a dwelling. Each is provided with every convenience, and each cow knows her own stall as well as a person would know his or her own room. In the summer the sides and ends, which are hung on hinges, can be thrown up, solas to give free circulation to the air. Much attention is given to the cleanliness of food and water, the latter of which is supplied by the water works through a pipe which leads to a reservoir in the yard, which is kept scrupulously clean, being washed out once every day. The consequence is that the cows, which are large and beautiful, give plenty of milk of the finest quality.

RIVER AND MARINE.

Snnday afternoon Abram Mosely, colored, who lives on the corner of Thirteenth and Princess streets, missed one of his chickens and was looking for it, when he came across a place where the earth bore evidence of having been recently disturbed, a few few feet from Macumber's ditch. He ran his cane down into the earth and found the soil very loose, and at last the stick touched some object which resisted its further progress. Visions of pots or boxes of buried gold and silver went flitting through his mind and made him so nervous that he called another man to share his good fortune, if it should prove to be such, or his disappointment, if such should be his fate. The two went to work and soon unearthed what proved, instead of a box of buried treasure—a tiny coffin containing the body of an infant. Shocked by what he had discovered, Mosely hurried to the City Hall and lodged information with Chief of Police Brock, who soon afterwards rode out in search of Coroner Jacobs, who, not being at home, was finally traced to Mt. Olive church, corner of Second and Dawson streets. Taking him in his buggy they went to the spot, viewed the remains, left a man to watch them and then left word with Gibson, the city undertaker, to bring the body in and keep charge of it until yesterday morning, which he did. In the meantime the news had spread, and adja-

WHO IS MRS. WINSLOW?—As this question is frequently asked, we will simply say that she is a lady who for upwards of thirty years has untiringly devoted her time and talents as a female Physician and nurse, principally among children. She has especially studied the constitution and wants of this numerous class, and, as a result of this effort, and practical knowledge, obtained in a lifetime spent as a surse and physician, she has compounded a Soothing Syrup for children teething. It operates like magio—giving rest and health, and is, moreover, sure to regulate the bowels. In consequence of this article Mrs. Winslow is becoming world-renowned as a benefactor of her race; children certainly do here up and bless her; especially is this the case in this city. Vast quantities of the Soothing Syrup are Dally sold and used here. We think Mrs. Winslow has immortalized her name by this invaluable article, and we sincerely believe thousands of children have been saved from an early grave by its timely use, and that millions yet unborn will share its benefits, and unite in calling her blessed. No Mornar has discharged her duty to her suffering little one, in our opinion, until she has given it the benefit of Mrs. Winslow's Soothing Syrup Try it, mothers—TEX IT NOW.—Ladies' Visitor, New York City.
