Dr. Temple, Bishop of Exeter, ha been transferred to the Bishopric of London, made vacant by the death of Dr. Jackson.

An unsuccessful attempt was made to blow up a house in New York with dynamite. It is suspected that it was the work of some discharged hands.

We have received a piece of instrumental music entitled the "Show er of Emeralds." It is well printed, and was written by Mrs. G.M.Smith, of Wilson, in this State.

At last a leading New York Theatre, the Union Square, has taken the initiative in cutting prices. They have been far too high ever since the war. Everything else has fallen, why not theatre tickets?

John Morrissey, who was engaged in the recent outrages in London, accompanied by a woman, has arrived in Paris. A banquet to celebrate the diabolism of the 24th of January is to be held in Paris.

We neglected to note that the barbers have held a Congress at Vienna. The New York Times says:

"At this Congress matters of interest to barbers were discussed, and it is believed that a code of conversation was adopted which will lead up more skillfuily to the sale of tonic than does the ordinary conversation of barbers."

The New York Herald refers to Senator Bayard and his followers as "Democratic fools." The tone of the press of this country has not improved in thirty years. Offensive words are much more frequently used now than they were when a cowhiding or shooting was the price of such an indulgence.

Even the Boston Post concedes that Mr. Cable has made a mistake, and it evidently thinks that he is not the man for a reformer. It says:

'In fact, new and brilliant and attractive as are the literary structures which he has erected, they are virtually worthless so far as furnishing any practical lessons is concerned. When, therefore, he undertakes to build strictly with facts and conditions as they are, he is on new ground, and even in the North his conclusions are received with considerable qualification.'

Bradstreet's reports for last week 394 failures in the United States. Of these the South furnished as follows: West Virginia, 2; Maryland, 3; Alabama and Tennessee, 4 each; Arkansas and Kentucky, 5 each; Louisians and North Carolina, 6 each; South Carolina, 8; Mississippi, 9; Virginia, 11; Georgia, 15; Texas, 22. Those from North Carolina were:

"Mocksville-W. B. Clement, general store, assigned; Rocky Mount-J. H.Odom, general store, assigned; Wadesboro-W. T. Moss, general store, failed; Weaverville-M. W. Robertson, general store, assigned; Wilmington—M. M. Katz, dry goods, assigned; W. J. Rosenthal, shoes, assigned."

We regret to see, but are not surprised, that the dynamite deviltry has brought forth bitter fruit. In London 40,000 Irish are without work and 10,000 have been discharged since the explosions. It is a pity that the innocent should be made to suffer for the guilty. It was so in the case of the women and children who were injured by the infernal explosives; and it is so in starving the innocent Irish. Assassination and violence generally can produce only suffering in the end. The New York Times takes this view of it:

"The chief practical result of 'frightening the English' is likely to be the starying of some thousands of the Irish. This looks harsh and unjust, and indeed it is; but it is none the less natural. Any Irishman in London who informed upon a dynamiter would hold his own life by a precarious tenure, and it is not to be wondered at that Englishmen do not care to have people un-der this intimidation about them."

Henry Ward Beecher has planned a campaign for Free Trade. He is President of the Brooklyn Revenue Reform Club, a new organization of his own. A special from New York dated January 31, says:

"The membership has just been recruited from the immediate adherents of Beecher. The vice president and factorum is Thomas G. Sherman, famous as the managing counsel in the scandal trial; and other of Plymouth leaders on the new roll are, H. C. Claffin, Gen. C. D. Christenson, Frederick W. Hinrichs, Deacon John Howard, Horace E. Deming and the Rev. Charles

"The first public move was an address by David A. Wells. But Beecher himself is preparing to do some of his ablest speak-ing on the subject. He said: This will likely be my last political fight, and I go. into it to win.'"

It is as astonishing how the patriotic utterances of ex-President Davis over the Liberty Bill sent from Philadelphia to New Orleans stir the bile of the regulation Radical editor. They abuse him daily for not bowing down and worshipping the Northern Baal and when he gives expression to broad, patriotic sentiments then the whole pack-Blanch, Tray and Sweetheart-open and such a noise the little malignants make. As the STAR said recently the assaults upon Mr. Davis are not only unmanly, ungenerous and unjust, but they are mean and spiteful and disgusting.

Speaker Carlisle has been interviewed concerning his visit to Mr. Cleveland. He is reported in the New York World as saying:

"It was the first time I had met him, and was forcibly impressed with him. He is man of force, conviction and of strong common sense. After all, that is the only kind of sense worth having. Of course i would not be proper for to repeat just what was said last night in the conversation between Mr. Cleveland and myself. We talked generally of matters of party policy, but, of course, we talked also of men. There are many prominent men in the party with whom Mr. Cleveland has just become acquainted, and there is a large number of others whom he has not met. He asked my opinion of many of them and

Preliminary Investigation in Relation to the Recent Shooting of John Turner, Colored. The case of Charles Geyer, colored, charged with the felonious shooting of John Turner, colored, on the night of Thursday, Jan. 22nd, was up before Justice Hall yesterday morning. The defendant was represented by counsel, Mr. A.G. Ricaud appearing in his behalf, who stated that the accused would waive an examina-

The Court stated that it would hear the evidence of the prosecuting witness, in order to determine what sort of bond would be required. Turner, the wounded man, who hobbled to the stand with the aid of a stick, was then sworn, and testified to the effect that about 10 o'clock on the night in question he had started to his home in the extreme eastern section of the city, near the old entrance to Oakdale Cemetery, when, as he reached the neighborhood of Chesnut street and Macumber's alley, he discovered an individual apparently engaged in watching his movements. The man went out Chesnut street. and at its intersection with Ninth he was joined by a crowd, coming from the direction of Princess street. Witness stopped at McDougall's corner, and presently a man left the crowd and approached him, but finally turned and went back before reaching him, when a seeming consultation took place. The crowd finally started out Chesnut street, and he went off through the open lots in the direction of the City Hospital, and soon discovered that the crowd was still following him. Arriving in the neighborhood of his home. and having been warned that harm was meant him, he ran from his pursuers, jumped his fence, and started to go into his house, when he concluded to first go around the corner of it and reconnoitre. Here he was confronted by the men he had been fleeing from, one of them being slightly in advance of the others. He said "heigho!" and the man responded with the same salutation, and then immediately fired upon him. The first shot was followed by another in quick succession, and then still others, until balls were whistling around his head at a terrible rate. He said the moon was shining bright, he could see the man distinctly, and he was certain he was Charles Geyer. He also recognized his voice Geyer companions, numbering about fifteen, were some steps behind him, and he had no doubt he could have recognized some of them but for the fact that the accused fired upon him so quickly that he didn't get a chance to get a good look at them. In the midst of the firing he fied for his life, having already received a severe wound in his thigh, and concealed himself in the swamp between the two cemeteries, where he remained until 7 o'clock next morning.

At the close of Turner's testimony the defendant, Charles Geyer, was put under the same bond of $400 (previously required of him) for his appearance at the approaching term of the Criminal Court, which was duly furnished.

There was a large crowd of colored people in attendance, principally composed of members of the Labor Union, it having been alleged that Turner was shot because he refused to connect himself with that organization

A Queer Couple,

A white woman, accompanied by a little girl, represented to be her daughter, has been going the rounds of the city for the past two or three days, seeking assistance. She gives her name as Sikes, and says she is from Philadelphia, though she was born and raised in "Jersey." The girl, who is about ten or twelve years old, and not altogether unprepossessing, is a curiosity. Her mother says one of her arms is paralyzed. She nurses the afflicted limb very assiduously at times, while ever and anon a new whim will seize her and she will commence beating it against whatever object may be nearest to her. She also beats her head against the wall at times, and altogether acts so strangely that anyone noticing her would feel inclined to believe that she is possessed of an evil spirit. When these fits come upon her she is also very impertinent to her mother, while at other times she seems very amiable and kind towards her. The girl, who goes by the name of Lizzie Sikes, pretends to tell fortunes. Taken all in all, the mother and daughter are the queerest couple we have encountered in a long time. They say they are going from here to Charleston.

It is thought not improbable that the boss chicken thief has lately broken into jail, and that this fact accounts for the almost entire absence of complaints from from such depredations durin the past week. The idea is that some prisoner incarcerated in the county jail on another charge may be the identical marauder. Astro

PRESIDENT'S REPORT.

On motion adjourned.

Gentlemen:-At the expiration of another year we meet at this our thirty-second annual meeeting of the Seamen's Friend Society, to consider its interest and to devise the best method to extend its usefulness. It is with great regret and heartfelt sorrow that we miss from his accustomed place one of our members, who has been wont to meet with us year by year in the past, to encourage us by his example and precept, and who was always a steady and earnest worker in the interest of this Society, and one of its firmest friends, but who "has passed over the river and now rests from his labors." I refer to the late Alexander Sprunt, in whose death not only this Society was bereft of an useful member, but the mercantile circles of an upright, honorable business man, and this community of a valuable citizen. It is fit and proper that we should acknowledge the protecting care of our Heavenly Father, that so many of us are still spared to enjoy a measure of health and to meet each other around this

I much gratified to state that, during the past year, besides meeting our current expenses, we have been able to pay four hundred dollars on the bonded debt of the Society, and that there is a prospect during the coming fiscal year of a still further reduction of that debt. We acknowledge the generous donation from the parent society in New York, through its Treasurer W. C. Sturges, of the sum of four hundred dollars, which has enabled us to retain the services of our Chaplain. It has been thought best, in order to preserve the building, that some repairs should be made to the lower floors and the iron front and doors should be painted, and the committee in whose charge the Home has been placed have contracted to have the work done, and it will doubtless tend to the preservation of the property, besides adding to its appearance. For a detailed condition of the finances of the Society you are referred to the report of the Treasurer. Capt. Christensen, the keeper of the Home, will report to you of his work, and the Chaplain Rev. J. B. Craig, will submit a statement of his labors among the seamen | who have visited our port during the past year. Respectfully submitted,

GEO. R. FRENCH, President S. F. Society. SEAMEN'S FRIEND SOCIETY IN ACCOUNT WITH GEO. R. FRENCH, JR., TREASURER.

WILMINGTON, N. C., Feb. 2, 1885. To the Wilmington Seamen's Friend Society. GENTLEMEN:—In submitting my report as your Chaplain, you are aware of the difficulties that are in the way of success, some of which we hope to overcome in the near future; yet I am not discouragedhave seen some good results from my labors. I have visited two hundred vessels, some of them repeatedly, as in my judgment I deemed it necessary; and as a means of accomplishing good, I have distributed 8,264 pages of tracts in the various languages; also, fifty copies a month of the Sailor's Magazine, given by the Parent Society. I have also visited the Marine Hospital regularly, read the Scriptures and prayed with and for the sick, and endeavored to do good in every possible way. I am glad to say that I have reason to believe my labors have not been in vain, but have been blessed of God to the salvation of some souls. Some have died that I think have gone to rest from their labors; others have cone out again to meet the storms of old ocean; but I trust with such impressions on their minds and hearts as shall eventually bring them to Christ, that they may be saved in the home of the good. I am encouraged to work when I remember that God has said my word shall not return to me void, but accomplish that whereunto I have sent it." This work cannot be too highly estimated when we consider the class of men who are its real beneficiaries.

Respectfully submitted, J. W. CRAIG, Chaplain.

The "Hercules"

Is the name given to a powerful self-pro pelling steam hoisting machine and piledriver recently constructed at Capt. Skinner's ship yard. It is equipped with a hammer weighing 2,500 pounds for driving and a large steam pump for sinking piles in sand. The hoisting machinery or "stump puller" is a double seven-by-twelve engine with double friction drums. The propeller engine is single, twelve by-eighteen cylinder. The Hercules was built by Messrs. S. W. Ferris and Capt. Skinner, and is to be used in constructing fetties and removing obstructions from the Wateree, Santee and other rivers, in South and North Carolina, under the direction Capt. Bixby, U. S. Engineer.
