EVENING EDITION

TO EQUALIZE TAXATION.

Some time before the General Assembly met many of our best State exchanges discussed intelligently the most important and difficult question-how to make the property owners pay alike-how to equalize the burdens of taxation and prevent · one section or county from shirking burdens that belonged to it and how to prevent other counties from paying in excess of what was really their duty. The Pittsboro Record was pointed and forceful in what it said of this abuse, and insisted that there should be a Board of Equalization established. The Record held:

"More men, swear to lies in listing their property than in doing any-thing else, and not only that but they think it no sin, but look upon it as something smart. A man in one county is compelled to pay more taxes on the same quantity and quality of land than another man in an adjoining county. The same kind of a horse or mule is valued much higher in some counties than in others." There is no doubt that the Record was within bounds in saying this. To cheat the State seems to be regarded by a large class of listers as an act quite akin to honor and possibly to religious duty. But it is a great wrong when the people of one county are made to pay too much taxes because the people of another county pay too little taxes. It is just such a violation of justice and fair dealing as ought not to be allowed to continue if there can be devised any plan by which it can be prevented. The great duty of the Legislature is to make an effort in this direction. If it is only tentative, let it be made. There is neither "rhyme nor reason" in permitting a great and acknowleged evil to continue from year to year without any serious effort being made to remedy it. The valuations of property in North Carolina are extremely unequal. That is a fact. Shall this outrage continue? What say the enlightened members in the Legislature?

Every man who owns property should be made to pay his equitable proportion of taxation. There should be allowed no dodging here. Giving in false returns ought to be punished at law severely. Why should A be taxed on all he has and heavily when B is only taxed on half he has? Why should Cabarrus or Mecklenburg or Richmond county pay twice as much tax on the same kind of property that is paid by New Hanover or Camden or Craven? We do not know how it is in the countres named, but we select them merely for illustration. Why should not land of equal fertility be taxed the same in two counties? Why should horses and mules and other property be so much more highly taxed in some counties than in others? Such is the fact.

Is there no remedy? Must these always? Can not legislation do any thing to cure this long running sore on the body politic? Will the present Legislature do as little as its predecessors have done in this direction and leave a crying evil to keep on crying forever? Must the burden-bearers forever bear the excessive burdens whilst the shirkers shall be permitted to keep on indefinitely shirking and perjuring themselves Is there no balm in legislation? Are there no resource, no invention in the men of these times?

We are glad to know that one of the members has a bill before the Finance Committee the object of which is to ascertain the true mar ket value of visible property and to equalize the burdens of taxation thereon. We have read the bill and we are glad to be able to say that it moves in the right direction. It strikes us that the bill will accomplish a great deal if it becomes a law in correcting a great and manifest evil. It may not be perfect. That can only be known after due trial. But it is intelligently drawn and if carried out properly, and no law is efficient unless executed, it must do great deal in the way of fixing the true market value of property in each county and in simplifying the difficult process of equalization. There may be some defects in the bill that a closer examination would reveal, but it impresses us after such an examination as we have found time to give it, as being a very great improvement on anything thus far attempted in North Carolina in correcting the glaring inequalities of the present poor system.

It is not desirable to have laws that are dead letters. It is not desirable to encumber the statutes with useless laws or inoperative laws. If a law be a good law let it be enforced; if it be a bad law let it be repealed. If the law against carrying concealed weapons is a needed and good law let it be thoroughly executed. If it can not be so executed then it should be repealed as it will act only against conscientious and law-abiding citizens whilst bullies and bruisers and assassins will go armed to the teeth. The following from our esteemed contemporary the Raleigh Visitor, puts the matter about right:

"We do not hesitate to say that this law is openly and defiantly violated in hundreds of instances, while its enforcement is an exception. Now we contend that the present General Assembly should either make provision for the enforcement of the law or repeal it. As it stands, it does not appear to operate with much impartiality. We believe that this will be attested by many who have noted the subject. We do not, of course, wish to be understood as opposing this or any other law having for its object the suppression of crime or the preservation of morals. We only contend that where such a statute is enacted, there should be some supplementary provision looking to the certainty of its enforce-who was caught napping at Shiloh and many of his men were bagged, is lecturing in Chicago upon the battle in which he seems to have told what he did not know of the battle of Shiloh. He confirms Grant's literary twister and so changes the facts that old soldiers who participated in the fight would not be able to recognize the time or place. Sam Weller said a dexterous pieman could so make a "weal pie" out of "kittens" that the "very piemen himself" could not distinguish. Prentiss and Grant can so pervert facts that participants at Shiloh conclude that they are talking of some other fight. Prentiss has such a regard for the historic verities that he says, as reported in the Inter-Ocean:

"His men were not surprised in their tents or at breakfast, but when the attack came were in line of battle and had advanced to meet the enemy.'

The New York World thinks Gen. Wolseley "a popinjay," but the English people think him their greatest soldier. We suspect the Northern papers are led to depreciate the English commander because of his wellknown high opinion of Gen. Lee and his poor opinion of Gen. Grant. A year or so ago we saw an expression of opinion of Lord Wolseley as to Lee. He regarded him as the greatest soldier he had seen. But in this opinion he is not singular among his countrymen. Col. Freemantle has some such opinion. Another soldier, whose name escapes us just now, who was regarded as the highest authority in war matters in England, in a paper in Blackwood's Magazine, gave it as his opinion that Lee was one of the three great captains of the English race-Marlborough and Wellington being the other two.

A writer in the University Magazine says that "the Old North State has never had a truly great editor." This is true. We take it he is judging by the highest standard. There are distinguished critics who contend injustices and inequalities continue that the world has not had more broadcloth suit only enhances her than six or eight great men. But this is too exalted a standard. But judging other North Carolinians by the standard of the University Magequal truth: North Carolina has never had a "truly great" man; has never had a "truly great" man of science, or a "truly great" teacher or a "truly great writer," or a "truly great" college, or a "truly great" any thing. But it is growing and after awhile it will produce some son who may be able to measure with the world's "truly great" men.

Mr. Edwin Arnold has still another critic who, like Mr. Wilkin son, does not regard his productions as either of great poetic or ethnological value. A writer in the Philadelphia American says of Mr. Arnold: "We never have met with a careful student of poetry who finds the book even readable. They all see in it a very clever imitation of Mr. Tennyson's style by an imperfectly cultivated wriver, who has no ear for the cadence of genuine poetry, and no fine sense of the poetical uses of language. The decision of such a scholar as Rhys Davids that it is not a picture of the Buddhist faith at any stage in its development, but merely an eclectic assemblage of such points in the teaching and life of Buddha, from all kinds of sources, as pleased Mr. Arnold, is still more decisive against the claim of the book to be an exhibit of what this great faith is."

The newspapers are now wrestling with some knotty questions. One is how to pronounce Khartoum. The English papers give it Kartoum, Khartoum, Kartoom, Khartoom or Khartum. Another one is whether an apostle of dynamite should be called dynamiter, dynamiteur or dynamitard. The Philadelphia Record gives its voice for old fashioned "assassin." By the way, dynamite is not pronounced, as we are told, as it is more generally pronounced, dinamite, but dyn-amite.

A Mrs. Dr. Warner has made her debut at Paterson, N. J., as Lady Teazle in Sheridan's comedy of "School for Scandal." She is said to be a really beautiful woman. Her remarkable. But Mrs. Langtry did not at first do much and still she made a fortune.

THE PERIODICALS.

Wake Forest Student for February contains an article by L. N. Chappell, entitled "Geology, the Earth's History," and papers by T. J. Simmons, Rev. N. B. Cobb, and others. The editorial department is well filled. In an editorial on the "Purity of the Press," the Senior Editor, Mr. A. T. Robertson, is pleased to say: "It ought to be said, however, that the North Carolina press is notably free from anything of the kind, (impurities) especially is this true of the Wilmington STAR." This monthly has steadily improved until now it has no rivals among the publications in Southern colleges. Price $1.50.

Babyhood for February is a contribution in the direction of throwing light upon the physical, mental and moral well being of little children. This is an excellent publication and is worthy of all who are in terested in a sound development, of babyhood. Price $1.50 a year. Address 18 Spruce Street, N. Y.

CURRENT COMMENT.

— Your average politician is a man of many snares and faces, and he is around and about Cleveland's New York headquarters in all his gorgeousness and variety. Newspaper readers must, therefore, expect a world of lying, professional and otherwise. The Courier-Journal can only promise to give the floating rumors for what they are worth, which, in reason, cannot be much. We have an active agent under orders to miss nothing .- Louisville Courier-Journal, Dem.

- But faithful are the wounds of a friend, and when their counsel is unheeded friends can best attest their faithfulness by accepting the facts cheerfully and striving determinedly to make the best of a difficult situation .- N. Y. Sun. With regard to the beautiful sentiment herein struggling for expression we can have only the most tender sympathy. Were it not for the Sun's grammar, the apothegm might be commended for use in schools. But in our day it will not do to corrupt the taste of the rising generation by a careless use of pronouns. How would it do to insert the above sentence in the Civil Service lists, and then wager the competitors that they couldn't tell whether wounds best attest their faithfulness when they give counsel or only when they accept facts?-N. Y. World, Dem.

A NEW WASHINGTON

Letter in the St. Louis Globe Democrat There is a new beauty in society this season over whom all are raving. She comes from the land of Mrs. Langtry, and this Mrs. Horace Helyar, wife of the new Secretary of the British Legation, is a blonde of the purest and fairest Saxon type. She is a young woman, tall, slender and graceful, and the pink and white of her perfect complexion is as delicate as an infant's. She has a pretty mouth, dazzling teeth and an aristocratic little nose, while with her blue eyes goes a mass of fine, crinkly hair, as bright as spun gold. With her perfect skin she can wear pearl by daylight, stand any kind of a cross-light or reflection, and her favorite gray delicate coloring. Mrs. Helyar has been greatly admired from the start and when the season is in full sweep and the beauty is seen in her jewels and ball toilets the city will be ringazine and this may be said with ing with the praises of the young English woman.

Raleigh Chronicle's Report. SENATE. WEDNESDAY, Feb. 11. PETITIONS.

Mr. Troy, from Grays Creek township, Cumberland county, against the repeal of the Stock Law, also a counter petition from the same township relating to the same matter.

Mr. Mullen, from a citizen of Hali fax county (representing two hnn dred thousand acres of land) praying for a stock law, to include the entire county within its provisions.

The following bills were introluced and referred or disposed of as follows:

Mr. Mullen, bill to prevent live stock from running at large in the counties of Halifax and Warren.

Mr. Cooper, bill to amend chapter 241, laws 1883 and other acts and to make certain the completion of the Western North Carolina Railroad to Murphy, in Cherokee county.

Mr. Boykin, bill to secure better drainage of the lands in Goshen

Swamp. Mr. Cowan, bill to authorize the commissioners of Columbus county to levy a special tax. Mr. Conner, bill to enable foreign Security Companies to do business in this State.

By same, bill to facilitate giving bonds required by law. UNFINISHED BUSINESS. At the instance of Mr. Simmons the rules were suspended and the bill to convey to Lake Landing Canal Company any interest of the State in said canal, was taken up, and passed its several readings.

On motion of Mr. Winston, the rules were suspended, and the bill to incorporate the Oxford and Clarksville Railroad Company was taken up, amended at his instance, and passed its second reading. SPECIAL ORDER.

Bill to enable Railroad and other Transportation Companies to extend their lines and to aid in the construction of other Railroads, came up.

Mr. Means moved that the bill be recommitted to the committee on Finance in order that they may comply with specific instructions from the Senate, which was lost. Mr. Twitty submitted an amend-

To endorse Messrs. Fowle and Jarvis both, the one for Solicitor General and the other for a Cabinet position, is to demonstrate precisely how not to do it. And yet this is what the Legislature did. - Goldsboro

Up to this time the Legislature seems to have done but little except make rhetorical exhibitions to the gallery. A large proportion of the membership is usually made up of young men who have the pardonable vanity of wishing to be heard.—Elizabeth

Not only this, but the Blair bill does not places on the statute book a law to grant so much yearly to the State for school purposes for a period of, I believe, eight years. And this money will be collected from the people yearly, just as the current expenses of the government are collected from the tariff and internal revenue. The bill is undemocratic, unconstitutional and ought not to receive the support of a Democratic House in its present shape.—Hon. W. H. Kitchin in Scotland Neck Democrat.

This question was asked in a recent lawsuit concerning a man who had acted unpleasantly. The answer was, "he was so cross that when he called up the cows at milking time it made the milk sour."

A young man named John Naves, living near A young man named John Naves, living near here, had an eating cancer on his face, which had eaten away his nose, part of his cheek, and extended up nearly to his eye. It was one of the most angry eating sores that I had ever seen this throat finally became involved to such an extent that he could only swallow liquid food. After using all the remedies without checking the mayages of the eating cancer, his general health. ter using all the remedies without cheesing the ravages of the eating cancer. his general health was broken down, he was confined to his bed, and thought it to be only a question of time about his death from the cancer. I put him on swift's specific as a last resort, and he began to improve with the first dose. His general health improved at once, and rapidly; his throat got well: the ravages of the cancer were according to the state of the cancer were according to the cancer improved at once, and rapidly; his throat got well; the ravages of the cancer were soon stopped; it began to heal around the edges; and after a few months treatment with S S. Snatched from the Grave.

Mrs. Sarah E. Turner and her mother, Mrs. J E. Brown, for nineteen years residents of Humboldt, Tenn, make the following statements as to the merits of Swift's Specific Mrs. Turner's case is well known in that community. She says "I was afflic ed tor two or three years with Eczema and Erysipelas combined. My while sys Eczema and Erysipeias combined. My white sys-tem was broken down, my strength and appetite gone, and I became as helpless as a child, being lifted fr m piace to place by my friends. I was treated by the best physician in the community with lodide of Pota h and the o her usual reme dies for such cases. I was given up to die by my friends My sufferings were beyond description and I had lost all hope of recovery. Last Jannary I was induced to try Swift's specific having received a pamphlet from the company detailing its merits. The first half doz n bottles had the effect to bring back hope to my heart, and the thought of being well again brought joy and gladness to the household I have taken altogether 24 bottles The sores have all healed up and disappeared; my strength has returned, and I am able to do all kinds of house work. Swift's specific, I honestly believe, snatched me from the grave, and I do not know how to be gratefu enough for my recovery.

MRS. SARAH E. TURNER." I know that S. S. S. has saved my daughter's life. She was the most wretched looking object that I ever saw when she commenced taking it, being perfectly helpless. I thank God that we ever heard of it. It has saved my child. MRS. P. E. BRYAN. Humboldt, Tenn., Oct. 1, 1884.

Buffalo Lithia Water

FOR MAI-ARIAL POISONING. USE OF IT IN A CASE OF YELLOW FEVER

DR. WM. T. HOWARD, OF BALTIMORE, the University of Maryland.

Dr. Howard attests the common adaptation of this water in "a wide range of cases" with that of the far-famed White Sulphur Springs, in Green-brier county, West Virginia, and adds the follow-"Indeed, in a certain class of cases it is much superior to the latter. I allude to the abiding debility attendant upon the tardy convalescence from grave acute diseases; and more especially to the Cachexia and Sequelsi neident to Malarious Fevers, in all their grades and varieties, to certain forms of Atonic Dyspepsia, and all the After tions Peculiar to Women that are remediable at all by mineral waters. In short were I called upon to state from what mineral waters I have seen the great est and most unmistakable amount of good accrue in the largest number of cases in a general way I would unhesitatingly say the Buffalo Springs, in Mecklenburg county, Va." DR. O. F. MANSON, OF RICHMOND, VA.,

"I have observed marked sanative effects from the Buffalo Water ir Malarial Cachezia, Antonic Dyspepsia, some of the Peculiar Affections of Women, Anomia, Hypochondriasis, Cardiac Palpitotions, &c. It has been especially efficacious in Chronic Internittent Fever, numerous cases of this character, which had obstinately withstood the usual remedies, having been restored to perfect health in a brief space of time by a sojourn at the Springs."

Extracts from Communication on the Therapeutic Action of the Briffalo Lithia Water in the "Virginia Medical Monthly" for February, 1877.

"Their great value in Malarial Diseases and Sequelos has been most abundantly and satisfactorily tested; and I have no question that it would have been a valua le auxiliary in the treatment of the epidemic of Yellow Fever which so terribly afflicted the Mississippi Valley during the past summer. I prescribed it myself, and it gave prompt relief in a case of Suppression of Urins, in Yellow Fever, and decidedly mitigated other distressing and dangerous symptoms. The patient recovered but how far the water may have contributed to that result (having prescribed it in but buted to that result (having prescribed it in but a single case) I, of course cannot undertake to say. There is no doubt, however, about the fact that its administration was attended by the most beneficial way its a
