quite three millions first and last who were in the fight against the South, it is estimated that it would require a thousand million dollars to meet this expense. But this charlatan has other schemes quite as absurd as those mentioned. A special to the New York Times from Washington says of him: "Some years ago he introduced one which proposed to turn the waters of the Gulf of Mexico back through a canal to the Gulf of St. Lawrence, without much regard to mountain chains or great lakes or expense. Ribald Senators and outsiders called it a bill to make water run up hill. He has also introduced a bill to stop the manufacture everywhere in this country of whiskey-a bill which will not pass at this session. On St. Valentine's Day he introduced another which appears to have escaped notice. It is a bill 'to promote thrift and to assist the people to preserve themselves from sinking into or remaining in the dangerous and degraded hand to-mouth condition of absolute and direct dependence upon current wages.' This is the political Will-o-the Wisp that Southern Democrats are following in his wild, unconstitutional measure to tax the people that the Federal Congress may go into the school teaching business in the States. ### COUNTY ROADS.

A leading member of the State Senate, in a letter to us of 'the 23d inst., writes concerning the Legislature and the public roads as follows:

"By the way I notice your remark about the roads. I think that you, unintentionally, do us some injustice. I know that many gentlemen here, like myself, desire to do something for the improvement of our public roads, but by reason of the varied soil. climate and topography of the State, as well as the different conditions of our population in the East and the West, it is exceedingly difficult to frame any statute suitable to all sections of the State. My own opinion is that the matter should be left to the courts of each county, and that many convicts who are now confined in the jails or in the Penitentiary should be used on the roads. Capt. Alexander, of Mecklenburg, a gentleman of much intelligence and information, has drawn a bill to provide for his county, and several of us propose to avail ourselves of this act. I find that it is exceedingly difficult to deal satisfactorily with all of the questions coming up. I think the members of the General Assembly are endeavoring to do their duty but feel that their work will be incomplete."

It affords us pleasure to publish the above although it was not written for the STAR. This paper has not the slightest desire or intention to do injustice to the Legislature. We know something of the difficulties under which it labors. If it will only grapple with the most important questions and let the less important ones be considered when there is nothing else to do this paper will make no complaints. An effort to meet the needs of the hour and to satisfy public expectation will go for much even though the work should prove comparatively inefficient and unsatisfactory. Experience is a good teacher, and after a law is tried it can be seen where the defects lie and the next Legislature can remedy it. - There is much force in the opinion of our correspondent that owing to the varied conditions of the people of different sections it is difficult to frame a general law. But we are well satisfied that the only practical, efficient plan for securing the very much needed good county roads is - by taxation. Two years ago the STAR discussed this matter and gave some instructive facts and figures to show what a vast saving there would be in time and money if good roads were constructed. The argument was partly based on taxation as a and vehicles are the men to keep roads in repair. These men are usually those who own the real estate lying along the roads and adjacent thereto. There is no fairness and justice in forcing men by law to work for the benefit of others when they are not interested.

What is needed are roads equal to those in Pennsplvania-equal almost to Tennessee turnpikes. To secure these a better system than any proposed in North Caaolina will have to be adopted. The Alexander plan would no doubt secure better roads, but when the snows and rains of winter came they would probably be as impassable as ever. It will be seen that a great deal of labor and responsibility is thrown upon the Justices of the Peace-gratuitous work at that. Supervisors of roads are to receive small compensations, &c. Now to construct roads sensibly, judiciously, scientifically there must be competency and experience. How many men have the needed qualifications to superintend the construction of roads? How many men know how to drain them? The Alexander plan, it strikes us, is only a makeshift. Of course it is better than no plan, but it will not give the State the firm, smooth roads absolutely necessary. THE SPECIAL TAX BONDS.

The STAR said recently that there was a growing sentiment in favor of wiping out the repudiating action of the State. We did not mean that the STAR favored the paying of the infamous Special Tax bonds. The position of the STAR has always been that a State is bound to pay its honest debts if it is able-that the principles that apply to Commonwealths as to indebtedness and moral obligation are the same that apply to private individuals. The State ought to pay every cent it honestly owes, compromised debts and all, just as soon as it can do so without distressing unnecessarily the taxpayers. But paying the rascally tax bonds than an infamous and irresponsible Legislature issued-a Legislature

"And so dim have the old party shapes and party issues become that it is conceivable that he might pass four years in the White House without once being called upon to weigh the differences between 'strict' and 'loose' construction."-New York Times, Rep.

"'Tis true, 'tis pity, pity 'tis, 'tis true." The Democrats for the most part have become about as "loose" constructionists as the Republicans are. The Government of the fathers is now changed into a grand guttapercha instrument and can be stretched to cover any enormity, any wrong, any violation, and demands of the Omnific Congress. The "strict" constructionists-that is, the men who really regard the spirit and letter of the Constitution-are now considered mere sentimentalists and
