Manufacturing and mining are the real sources of fruitful production, and poor indeed will we be if neglectful of them. In this connection somewhat, Col. R. B. STANLEY MATTHEWS, THE COM PACT AND VOTE.

The New York World contains a long article written by its Washington correspondent giving a clearer insight into the circumstances connected with the elevation of Stanley Matthews to the Supreme Court Bench than we have seen. It has been long known that Matthews is Jay Gould's Judge, and that it was Gould's money that placed the wily Ohioan on the Supreme Bench. For years the country has known something of the corrupt methods used but the whole of the shameful story of political intrigue and corruption has not been given. According to the correspondent of the World the sum of $300,000 was paid by Jay Gould and Huntington, to carry Indiana in 1880, for Garfield, and the conditions of this large gift that Garfield should apwere point Matthews to the Bench. This was the disgraceful compact. Matthews morally was wholly unfit for the place. He was known to the country as being a fellow of easy conscience. He was mixed up with the rascally rape of Louisiana and Florida in 1876, and he was known to be the special friend and champion of railroad kings and lobby lords.

Those interested in this shameful compact and who wish to see the evidence of it must turn to the World. They will find that President Arthur and ex-Senator Platt, of New York, were not ignorant of the disgraceful scheme.

There is not the slightest doubt of two things in connection with the corrupt bargain and sale: first, that Stanley Matthews by reason of corruption and immoralities was utterly unfit for the place; and second, that there was a regular bargain between Garfield and Gould. This bargain was known when Matthews was appointed to the Supreme Bench and confirmed.

The interesting thing, is to know how such a disreputable fellow could have been confirmed. It was a pro always a great supply of trees. If the waste continues for fifty years upon the scale that has marked the last hundred years the climatic changes will be so great and the areas of drought will be so extensive that tree planting will become an imperative necessity, unless the people shall be content to have sterility and poverty. It is true there are vast forests, but it is equally true that vast forests have been swept away by the remorseless slayer. The census of 1880 is a corrective of fallacious calculations. Intelligent congressmen should study it, and governors and legislators should give due attention to its lessons.

Let it be borne in mind that there are sections that have no trees and can never have any. The census gives this area at 300,000 square miles. This great district must remain uncultivated or its supply of timber must come from other sec tions.

How much lumber is now required think you to supply the demands of the country? The figures are placed at eighteen billions of feet (board measure) and this destroys at least three millions of acres of forests every year, with an upward tendency. In an article in the Current we find some statistics that illuminate the subject. It says:

"The last report of the Chicago Board of Trade made the estimate that in the past thirty years over thirty billions of feet of lumber had passed through the Chicago markets;--a sum quite beyond human comprehension. Over ten millions of acres of land were devastated by forest fires during the census year. About one hundred and fifty million cords of wood are each year consumed for fuel in the United States. requiring the denudation of over three mil lions of acres of the average forest area. Thus from these three sources of consump tion alone, nearly sixteen millions of acres of forest lands. or about twenty-five thousand square miles, are annually required to be destroyed. Estimating the resources of the forests of California, Washington Territory and Oregon at four billions of feet, a liberal figure, and comparing this estimate with the figures given by the Tenth Census, as representing the annual con-sumption of wood for the lumber interests of the two States and Territory which are stated at over six hundred and fifty millions of feet, it will appear that these apparently interminable and giant forests to which we are accustomed to look with such security and satisfaction, would, in the absence of renewal, from this source of consumption alone, disappear in sixty-five years."

It is also instructive to know what

It is pleasant to know that the South is not overdoing the business of seeking office. Thus far the North leads. The New York Times says of the comparative modesty of our section:

"The 'clamorous South' thus far exists in the imagination of the Northern editor. The South, taken as a whole, does not now seem to have sent as many office seekers to Washington as New York and Illinois alone. The reason is clear enough. The Democratic party in the South has not been based as much upon the spoils as the same party in the North."

We have taken the trouble to go over a long and interesting letter in the Augusta Chronicle from its staff correspondent, and to cut out here and there paragraphs to which we have given headings of our own. Wethink the reader will find the extracts enjoyable-perhaps suggestive. INTERESTING WASHING-

TON ITEMS. What an Intelligent Correspondent Notes.

From J. R. Randall's Letter in Augusta (Ga.) Chronicle.

WHAT IS SAID OF THE CABINET. I think the general and proper tendency is to allow the President and his advisers time to shape a policy before reviewing what is only experimental, but there are keen observers who fancy that they know thoroughly what it all means. They say that Cleveland represents the power, wealth and financial domination of the East, and has fashioned his Cabinet accordingly. Mr. Bayard is the intellectual embodiment of the monetary ideas of great capitalists. All of his intimacies are in that direction. Mr. Manning is a National Bank officer. Mr. Vilas was, up to a recent period, retained counsel for the Land Grant Railway Monopoly of Wisconsin, where the road is freed from real estate tax for ten years, but not so with the man who purchases an acre of it. Mr. Whitney is very near to the Standard Oi Company's interests, and also been legal adviser for large corporations. Mr. Endicott represents Massachusett's blue-blood, and not the masses of the Old Bay State. Mr. Lamar and Garland are credited with being in entire accord finan-

A GAME OF "FREEZE OUT."

It is said that an Alabama delegation, largely composed of Colonels and Judges, brevet and genuine, marshalled by Gen. Joseph Wheeler, met with scant satisfaction when trying to have some assurance from the President about turning out carpet-bag office-holders in that State. If this be true, it does not necessarily mean that there will be no clean sweep in Alabama and the South, but rather portends that the President will not be hurried by fussy Generals and importunate, not to say hungry delegations. I would not be surprised if he played a game of "freeze-out" with the swarm of office-seekers now here or on the way. In such a contest he will, in the main, prove victorious.

AN ORGAN NOT NEEDED. Some curiosity is expressed as to a newspaper organ. The Post is on the ground, but Mr. Cleveland may not care to make it an authoritative medium. Surprise is felt at the report that an organ has been started in New York, and that George Gould-son of Jay-is one of the principal stockholders! Mr. Cleveland may dispense with journalistic organs, just as he abandoned manuscript in delivering his inaugural address.

A SAD HERO.

Poor Gen. Grant! He has lived too long for his fame. I am content, like many other to see him on the retired list; but what a spectacle he now presents, toothless, withered, duped and hapless, bargaining with a professional buffoon for the sale of his book and juggling to get his son as a side show to Mark Twain? How has the mighty fallen!
