The talk now is to nominate Judge Thurman for the Governorship of Ohio. We doubt if he would accept, but if he were to do so he would rally his party to the old flag and perhaps beat the enemy. But of that there is considerable doubt.

The following awful account of a battle comes by way of the Atlanta

"A dispatch from Hobacolentzikschienheuner announces that the Russian and Afghans have had a battle. The very able Russian commander Aberstroskypauyer, had the gable end of his name shot off, and an eminent Russian Colonel was severely mashed in twenty-six syllables. Such are the horrors of war."

Miss Folsom, the young woman said to be affianced to the President, is quite pretty and engaging, according to description. Here it is:

She is a winsome, comely maiden, with a downy olive complexion, large slumbrous dark eyes and black hair. She has infinite grace in every movement, and has won many admirers by her gentle courtesy as well as by her peerless beauty. Standing in repose in a simple drapery of white alba-tross cloth, she looked an ideal impersonation of artless loveliness."

Adjutant General Drum says of the English as fighters, according to "The English soldiers, said Gen. Drum, are the finest in the world. I make no exception. A regiment of Englishmen is the finest body of soldiers ever gotten together,

"I do not believe that the English troops can be beaten by any nation. They love fighting. They are men of high intelligence and their officers are plucky fellows. The weak feature of the English army at present is the absence of any staff system. They have no regular staff as we have in our army. No officer is trained up to hold an executive position."

Ex-President Arthur will return to the practice of the law and will form a connection with his old law partners, Knevals and Ransom, of New York City. England is making and has made extensive naval preparations. She has secured a fleet of fast cruisers, and the construction of more torpedo boats will be pushed. A dispatch from London savs: "The list of the Atlantic steamships under English control, which have been secured for Government uses in view of war, at present embraces the Arizona and Alaska, of the Guion line, the Oregon, Elruria, Umbria, Servia and Aurania, of the Cunard line, the City of Rome, of the Anchor line, and the America, of the National line. Besides these the China clippers Sterling Castle and Austral, of the Oriental line, have been chartered."

Saturday it was thought in London that the dispute between Russia and England had reached its final phase in diplomacy. The British Government had assumed a most determined position.

Here is another item concerning the Richmond murder. A special to the World, dated the 11st inst., says:

"Detectives who have been in King and Queen county, the home of Cluverius, say that they have secured testimony identifying with much certainty the watch-key found near the old reservoir after Fannie Madison's death as having belonged to Cluverius. If this point is established, it will show that Cluverius had been inside the reservoir grounds, presumably on the night of the girl's death, and that the key was torn from his watch-chain, in all probability, in a struggle with her.
"The detectives also say that witnesses will testify to the fact that his hands were badly scratched on March 14th. It is not known whether the State has made a microscopic examination for human cuticle under the girl's finger nails. "Evidence has been found in King and Queen county that Cluverius was in Richmond on the day of the girl's death."

Russian agents are very active in trying to buy up the best steamers and the fastest going vessels. Even in England they have had the impudence to try to make such purchases. The following from London, dated Saturday, throws light upon the recent Russian movements:

"Letters from St. Petersburg, mailed at Berlin in order to escape the Russian censorship, charge the Russian Minister of War with having sent orders to Gen. Komaroff at about the end of February to bring on a conflict with the Afghans, and state that Gen. Komaroff started from Merv with reinforcements for Pul I-Khisti and took advantage of a favorable opportunity to make an attack soon after his arrival at Housebreaking and Robbery.

The thieves have recently manifested a decided partiality for things pertaining to the worldly possessions of Messrs. W. E. Davis & Son. They broke into his fishhouse again Sunday night. They tried to prize open the door, but it had been secured so fast that they could make but little impression upon it, and they finally resorted to the expedient of tearing the weatherboarding off. Two boards were loosened and broken off, and the robbers entered through the aperture, helped themseves to the fishermen's rations to the extent of about $15, took as many fish, and other articles as they wanted, and pulled all the papers out of the pigeon holes, in their search for money, and scattered them promiscuously about the room. As a lot of cooked crabs was found in front of the safe, and it was known that none were left in the house Saturday night, it is supposed that the thieves had intended to eat their lunch in the office, but got frightened and departed in such haste that they forgot their "grub." It is supposed that these robberies are committed by river thieves, who enter at the back of the house

Fifth Street Methodist Revival. The wonderful revival in the Fifth Street Methodist Church, instead of decreasing in interest, actually seemed Sunday night to be taking a fresh start. Up to that time there had been 295 conversions and 247 additions since the commencement of the revival, which, added to the 18 previous accessions, makes the total additions 265 since the 1st of January, when Rev. Mr. Tuttle assumed the pastorship. During the past week the young male converts made the pastor a present of a new suit of clothing, from head to foot, costing from $60 to $65, as a slight token of their appreciation and esteem. The meeting continues for the present.

The fire commenced in No. 8, which had just been charged, the cap being off. When the fire was noticed by Mr. Bowden he ordered the cap on immediately, but the order was not executed promptly, when Mr. Bowden attempted to put it on himself, in which he failed, besides getting his hands burned to a bilater, and his face scorched. The fire then speedily got under good headway and spread rapidly. Soon a dense volume of black smoke was wafted over the city by a slift northwest breeze and the alarm of fire was sounded, which brought out the department, but it was not deemed advisable to

The glue house was believed at one time to be in imminent danger, and everybody over there went bravely to work rolling barrels of rosin from the intervening space. The heavy smoke blown across the river carried with it blazing particles which were deposited on the buildings and in the yards lining the river front. By this means fire was communicated to the premises of the Wilmington Compress and Warehouse Company, the Messrs. Chadbourn's mill and Messra. Morton & Hall's distillery. In each case, however, the fire was quickly extinguished by the aid of yard hose. Smoke continued to rise from the ruins during the day.

Much sympathy is felt for Mr. Bowden in the severe loss he has sustained, as well as on account of the personal injuries he

A Destructive Fire.

The large hardware and crockery establishment of Messrs. Giles & Murchison, on North Front street, was destroyed by fire yesterday evening.

It is not known how the fire originated. About 7.30 o'clock, scarcely half an hour after the stores had been closed for the night, dense smoke was discovered issuing from the basement through the iron grating in front of the building. An alarm was quickly given and the Fire Department of the city was soon upon the ground. The flames, however, had in the meantime spread rapidly, and in a short time the whole of the interior of the large building was a seething mass of flame. There were scores of crates of crockery in the basement, where the fire apparently originated, and the straw and other inflammable material used for packing afforded ready fuel for the spread of the flames. The well-directed efforts of the firemen, however, kept the fire confined to the interior of the building, and at no time during the progress of the confiagration was there any danger of adjacent property burning. The building is a large three-story brick structure with iron front. The first floor and basement were occupied by Messrs. Giles & Murchison, and the rooms on the upper floors as sleeping apartments by several gentlemen. Messrs. Giles & Murchison carried a large stock of hardware and crockery, but very little of which was saved. It was reported that they had insurance upon their stock for about thirty thousand dollars, which it is thought would not cover their loss.

The building is ewned by Col. K. M. Murchison, of New York, and is said to be insured for $12,000.

There are strong suspicions that the fire was of incendiary origin. At the time for closing the doors of the building, about 7 o'clock in the evening, one of the clerks went with the porter to lock the rear basement door. They were unable to find the key, and another one of the clerks was called, and after close search the key was found upon the floor and the door was locked; the three men afterwards passing through the basement, without detecting the presence of fire. Very shortly after this the fire broke out. The gentlemen who were first present after the alarm, sent one of their number round to the rear basement door, who, upon trying it, much to his surprise found it unlocked. The interior then was in flames. This singular circum. stance leads to the supposition that the place was deliberately fired; probably by some miscreant who had secreted himself in the basement for the purpose of plunde ing-the establishment.

WHO IS MRS. WINSLOW:—As this question is frequently asked, we will simply say that she is a lady who for upwards of thirty years has untiringly devoted her time and talents as a female Physician and nurse, principally among children. She has especially studied the constitution and wants of this numerous class, and, as a result of this effort, and practical knowledge, obtained in a lifetime spent as a nurse and physician, she has compounded a Soothing Syrup for children teething. It operates like magic—giving rest and health, and is, moreover, sure to regulate the bowels. In consequence of this article Mrs. Wins-low is becoming world-renowned as a benefactor Vast quantities of the Soothing Syrup are DAILI sold and used here. We think Mrs. Winslow has immortalized her name by this invaluable arti-cle, and we sincerely believe thousands of chil-dren have been sayed from an early grave by its timely use, and that millions yet unborn will share its benefits, and unite in calling her blessed. No MOTHER has discharged her duty to her suffering little one, in our opinion, until she has given it the benefit of Mrs. Winslow's Soothing Syrup' Try it, mothers—TRY IT NOW.—Ladies' Visitor, New York City.
