A pious correspondent of the New York Sun, a paper that cannot tell a lie and keeps a "cat," says "mugwump" is the name of a bat or an owl to be found in the swamps of this State. He gives the following as a current song:

The mugwump roosts in the hollow log, The sagwag sits in the tree; Whenever I hear the hogwig sing My heart is sad in me.

Whenever the snagpop toots his toot To the wail of the minwag hen. And the mikfunk chirps in the stilly night. You bet I'm lonely then.'

This is a favorite ditty heard at night in every cabin. But that correspondent will have to sharpen his "hatchet." It is rather dull at present.

The St. Louis murder fills the papers. It was not W. H. Lennox Maxwell who was killed, but he is suspected of killing a man by the name of Preller. A special from

St. Louis says: "As soon as Preller arrived Maxwell was seen associating with him, and the two were so well dressed that they were taken for wealthy English tourists. Maxwell is now missing, and the theory of the police is that he murdered Preller for money and then wrote the words noted for the purpose of leading the detectives to believe that it was a political murder. It is believed by those who have studied the tragedy closely that Dr. Maxwell chloroformed and killed Preller on Sunday evening, April 5th. It is known where he bought the drug, and his bearing upon that occasion, was actable. On the next day he disguised himself by changing his beard and buying clothes which would make him look like a Yankee, and since April 6th no man in St. Louis has seen him."

The fourth annual report of the condition of the Association was presented and made a healthy and prosperous exhibit. The report shows the net capital to be $97,571 84, and the net profit during the past year is $7,484 04. The cash account shows that $47,192 41 were received and paid out. When completed this road will connect Marion, N. C., with Charleston Georgetown, S. C., the route being from Marion to Rutherfordton, thence to Gaffney City, thence to Chester, thence in the direction of Georgetown, nearing which place a branch line will be laid out to Charleston. The proposed route is covered by several railroad charters, all of which are to be merged into one, and the line operated under a single company. The road between Marion and Gaffney City is to be built by the Massachusetts and Southern Construction Company, an organization consisting mostly of Boston men, with a capital of $250,000. - The railroad men in this city Saturday had a curiosity to talk about in the shape of an old plough that was going through some place on the Cape Fear & Yadkin Valley Railroad to the New Orleans Exposition. It was a specimen of the farming implements of seventy-five years ago, the plough having been made in 1810. In shape it slightly resembles the ordinary plough of the present day, having straight handles and a straight stock. The plough-share a diminutive piece of iron, is nailed "flat footed" on the beam, and a wooden fly is provided to throw the dirt aside.
