has been allowed to hold office when it was possible to get a Republican held by negro Republicans. It strikes of any color or character to fill it. Now that the Republicans are turned out they are suddenly converts to the theory that rewarding friends is a great indecency and outrage. The tain Republicans in office, we must believe, after their time has expired, simply because they attended to business and did not steal anything as far as is known. Even the great "mugwump" organ in New York, the Times, has candor and sense enough to say: "Moreover, taking the great body of the service with what is notoriously the history of the Republican party, and the kind and degree of partisan service exacted from its office holders, it may fairly be doubted whether a pretty thorough change, if made deliberately and carefully, with a resolute desire to get the best men attainable from the opposite party, would not, on the whole, be a good thing. The service is not now and has not for a generation been on a business basis. If the President shall un dertake to fill vacancies as they occur with eally competent men he will have a hard time of it, but so far as he succeeds it will be no service to reform to criticise him because the competent men are Democrats."

To show the aggressiveness, the impudence of the Republicans of the Massachusetts League type, it is only to be remembered that they are setting up claims as soon as this that President Cleveland will be unfaithful to his pledges and to Civil Service Reform if he puts Democrats in the places of honest and faithful Republicans whose terms have expired by limitation. Mark that.

THE WAR OUTLOOK.

In our comments yesterday upon the reported back down of England we said it was too soon to discuss the terms of the treaty. It turns out that it is not known to the British Government that Russia has made any demands like those indicated and

Democrats in the South to places as that a Reform Administration would do well to examine carefully into the matter from this standingpoint: how many negroes in the South have held office and what proportion has proved dishonest or incapable? We doubt if civil service

THE LATEST NEWS Well-to-do, low districts. and healthy people, past middle age, disease affects the entire system, and FROM ALL PARTS OF THE WORLD the change of tissnes called "cancer" is merely the local manifestation. It is of no use to remove the ulcerated part, as it gives at best only temporary relief. The disease goes on all the same and at last kills. Neither the knife nor the plaster can effect a cure. Of course we hear every day of the cure of cancers, but what are cured are not cancers. They are tumors of various kinds, bad enough in their way, but not cancers. We may as well accept the unwelcome truth that at present there is no known remedy for cancer. The only thing the victim can do is to settle his affairs and accept temporary relief.

Continued Improvement in his Condi tion-Strong Hopes of his Recovery Expressed-The Family Happy Over the Great Change.

[By Telegraph to the Morning Star.] NEW YORK, April 17, 8.80 A. M.-Gen. Grant has had a very refreshing sleep. He says he had rested better than for many night, and feels strong enough to get up and dress for the day. He has taken nour-ishment without pain in swallowing, and has not since midnight been disturbed by coughing. Pulse and temperature un-changed. GGO. F. SHRADY, M. D.

changed. NEW YORK, April 17.-Gen. Grant's progress toward convalescence for the past two days has been truly phenomenal. His physicians now openly express their opin-ion that he will recover. At midnight Dr. Shrady went on duty. A light was raised in the General's room for a few moments and then lowered, in which way it remained throughout the remaining part of the hight. The doctor said he was prepared for any change, but did not anticipate any at present, though it would be premature to say that the General was out of danger. He felt very hopeful of the future.

Mr. H. O. Bratty, an old companion i arms, had an interview with the General, who conversed freely with him on old times.

Senator Chaffee, who went into the house at 7.80, desires it to be understood that he did not mean to say that the Doctor did not know what was the matter with the General, but that they might be mistaken in their diagnosis. The General is doing well.

Mr. Jesse Grant came out at 10, and said his father was doing well and looked as strong as yesterday. About the medical discussion he knew nothing, but was inclined to think that the original bulletins in relation to the cancer were correct.

Mr. J. H. Beach called and saw Mrs. Grant. He says the whole family are delighted and feel happy over the general change.

WILLIATION, M. U. FRIDAY EVENING, APRIL 17, 1885. EVENING EDITION A NEW DEMAND UPON THE PRES-

IDENT.

The Massachusetts Civil Service Reform League has taken another step in its demands. It will not be satisfied if the President shall allow faithful Republican officials to remain in office until their term expires. But it demands that Republicans shall be re-appointed to places which they have filled with fidelity and honesty. Here is their deliverance:

"We deem this a fit occasion for expressing our belief that the reasons which prevent the removal of officers 'during the terms for which they are appointed on partisan grounds and for the purpose of putting in their places those who are in political accord with the appointing power'shall apply with equal force against appointments for political reasons when the terms of such officers expire, and we earnestly hope that the precedent established in the case of Mr. Pearson will govern all similar cases, and that merit and competency will be recognized by the re-appointment of all competent and faithful officers who have not used their official position for partisan purposes."

If Mr. Cleveland was to listen to such a declaration as this he would literally in the North have ninetenths of the offices filled to the end of his Administration with the same fellows who have been swinging on to the public teat for a quarter of a century. There are 111,000 officeholders, it is said. It is fair to suppose that not more than 25,000 are rascals. Even in the South, we may suppose, not more than one-third of the officials are rascals, if so many So the Reform League, composed of Republicans, we may believe almost entirely, are in favor of retaining their party friends under a Democratic Administration. What sort of a Democratic Administration would that be that ran the Government with officials of the opposing party in the main? It is clear that the appointing of Pearson has given to the Civil Service Republicans hope and joy, as that person is no more honest or efficient in office than thousands of other men in his party.

The Republican League is really setting up a theory that would cripple the Democratic Administration from the start. If Mr. Cleveland

England has made no authoritative announcement of a willingness to concede an inch of territory. Not only is this denied by the British Prime Minister, but the story of peace talk on the part of the Czar is also denied by Mr. Gladstone. What the real condition of affairs is remains unrevealed at this present writing. In the mean time England is pushing her preparations for war with all possible vigor. Mr. Gladstone is displaying a wise course thus far. Whilst not desiring war, he is preparing for the worst There are some indications-hints they may be-of an alliance between England and Turkey. It strikes us that an armed neutrality would be best for Turkey. That country is so near to Russia and can be invaded with so much success that it would be safest for it to keep out of the war altogether. It is known that the Turkish Ambassador in London has been closeted with Mr. Gladstone. If Lord Palmerston or Lord Beaconsfield was living and at the head of the Government there would have been war before this. Surely, it is better to have a cautious, calculating, peace-loving Prime Minister than one of the other sort.

"North Carolina papers are quarrelling about their State Legislature and accusing each other of desiring its constitutional abolition. No one will pretend to say that the average Legislature is not above improvement, and in some States even abolishment might not be the most dangerous step. What system of legislation these papers would introduce none has yet suggested but it is not unlikely that they agree upon the general principles that no laws are beter than bad ones, and in that they will be upheld."-Phil. Times, Ind. Rep.

There is trath and error mingled in the above. There is no paper in North Carolina that advocates the "constitutional abolition" of the State Legislature. The STAR was erroneously charged with some such purpose by two of its contemporaries but it never published a line that authorized this inference. The STAR promptly disclaimed such a purpose. It, however, did venture to say that three able, patriotic, pure North Carolinians-men of large experience in legislation and perfectly familiar with the laws, institutions and needs of the State, and thoroughly trained any that Congress ever placed upon the Statute books. Under that law the colored people are entitled to equal accommodations for equal price, and they obtain these accommodations without question or hindrance. There are no separate cars for the colored people on the railways. They who pay first-class fare ride in the first-class cars, and they who pay second-class fare ride in the second-class cars. There are but few colored people usually in the first-class cars, because the colored people prefer the cheaper secondclass. There is no friction or unpleasantness about it, and it is rarely that any serious inconvenience arises from it. It would be preferable, perhaps, to have separate cars for the white people and colored people. The point we desire to make is, that the equal accommodation which Mr. Cable pleads for has actually been given to the colored people in South Carolina since 1868. It is the same way in the street cars. - Charleston News & Courier.

----- And again, in our professed admiration of learning and culture, do we not all know that genius and talent are valued chiefly for the money they bring; and that most of us have no respect whatever for education as such, or for educated men, except so far as successful in getting money? The money standard rules, and practically mest of us accept it, so that the smart man, and not the wise man, is the hero of our applause. We profess to admire merit. We utter glowing words about old-fashioned virtues and exact honesty and integrity, and nevertheless our secret hearts glorify the men who have gained prosperity and position by trampling truth and honor in the dust.--Rickmond Advocate.

PARNELL AND THE PRINCE

New York Times.

It is to be hoped that whoever instigated the visit of the Prince and Princess of Wales to Ireland is satisfied with the result of his cunning device. The result of it thus far is a showing that the Prince, who is to be the titular King of Ireland, can permeate that island in peace only by the kind permission of the actual King of Ireland, Mr. Charles Parnell. That is the only moral to be drawn from the performance. Even the influence of Mr. Parnell has not sufficed to prevent serious riots. The loyal masses at Mallow were prevented from expressing what the Poet Laureate once described as "their loyal passion for their temperate Kings" by the troops and the

The Smallest Republic. Temple Bar.

The little Republic of San Marino is inclosed in the Kingdom of Italy. San Marino owes its foundation to a hermit of that name, born in Dalmatia in the fourth century, and who went to Italy to work as a mason at the rebuilding of the walls of Rimini. Its territory covers about twenty-two square miles. The population numbers 8,500 souls, and the capital. San Marino, has 1,200. It is perched on the summit of a mountain called Mount Titan, or the Giants, which sometimes leads to this little State being termed the Titan Republic. The Republic has an Order of chivalry, created in 1839, under the name of the Order of San Marino. The motto is "Libertas." When Italy became a Kingdom Napoleon desired to preserve this small State intact. "It is a rare sample of a Republic to

New York Stock Market - Weak and Lower Under Effect Pacific Was News-Large Selling by the Bears.

[By Telegraph to the Morning Star.] NEW YORK, Wall Street, April 17, 11 A M.-The stock market was weak again at the opening this morning, on more pacific war news from Europe, and there was large selling by the bears. British consols were quoted at 965 this morning, a gain of 11 per cent. Most of the prices were 1 to 1 per cent. lower than they closed last evening, Lake Shore and Jersey Central showing the heaviest decline; but Grangers, Lackswanna and Union Pacific were down # per cent. The opening prices were low-est for Pacific Mail and Lake Shore, while the remainder of the active list made further declines of 1 to 1 per cent., Lackawanna selling down to 106, and Jersey Central fell 1 per cent. to 35. The decline was checked within fifteen minutes after the opening, and during the next fifteen minutes the early losses were recovered, and prices generally were a shade higher than t the opening. After 10.30 the market became extremely dull and manifested a weak tendency. Prices at 11 o'clock were generally 1 to 1 per cent. higher than at the opening.
