'We well know that he needs no monu ment. His grand figure will loom up in history, though this generation pass away and leave no sign of its appreciation of his virtues and his greatness. But the men among whom he lived, moved and earned immortality; the people whose cause he illustrated by his prowess and vindicated by his noble Christian life and heroic death the surviving soldiers of the brigade, divis-ion and corps whom he led and loved, and whose names are linked with his to immortal renown, should not go down to their graves without leaving some enduring me-morial of their affection for him, and their admiration for his splendid achievements

Anderson, the subject of yesterday's address, the portrait being set in a heavy border of evergreens. Below this portrait, a a pendant, was Gen Anderson's sword, surrounded by a garland of bay leaves, resting against red and white streamers, while on either side rose flags of a desig somewhat similar to that of the Confed somewhat similar to that of the Confederate battle flag. Red and white streamers, entwined, ran to the right and left from the upper part of the portrait, resting as pictures representing Lee and Jackson on the battlefield. The speaker's stand, close to the footlights, was draped with a Confederate battle flag, which has had its "baptism of fire." Attached to this were two of the guidons borne by the gallant Fourth of the guidons borne by the gallant Fourth North Carolina, General Anderson's old command. luding to the services in the various churches of that city on Sunday, by members of the Baptist Southern Convention, has this to say of the paster of the First Baptist church in this city:

"Dr. Thomas H. Pritchard, of Wilming ton, N. C., gave a large congregation at the Second Presbyterian church, Sunday morn-ing, a rare treat in the shape of a discourse on the sins of the tongue. Dr. Pritch-d said that when the system is out of ar the doctor comes to the patient to feel e pulse and look at the tongue. So the morni coating of the tongue shows the spiritual tene of the system. The propagation of slander and the habit of fault-finding were divisions of the subject which he enforced with apt illustrations and power. He showed how absurd and ridipower. He showed how absurd and ridi-culous common rumor, and alanderous re-port did grow, and how easily character could be undermined by an idle or mali-cious word. He explained the fault-finding spirit in corrupting children and plead for sympathy and prayerful interposition with erring children.

"Dr. Pritchard is a preacher of great power. His discourse was a smooth-flow-ing, forceful talk; yet so somet and im-pressive as to attract earnest attention, and at times so eloquent and attening as to sway the strongest feelings."

The Convention meets next year at Montcomery, Ala., Rev. J. B. Hawthere, D. D. to preach the annual sermon, with Rev. W. H. Wharton as alternate.

The Presbyterian, of this city, says: "On Saturday, 9th inst., the house of worship at Point Caswell, for the Moore's Creek church, was dedicated by an appropriate sermon from Rev. Colin Shaw. On Sunday Rev. K. McDonald was installed pastor. Rev. A. McFadyen preached the sermon and delivered the charges, to pastor and people. The attendance was unusually large, and the whole occasion was edifying and thoroughly enjoyable."

The Rev. Alexander Sprunt was installed pastor of Henderson church on the 10th. Rev. Dr. Charles Phillips presided and propounded the constitutional questions and charged the pastors Rev. H. T. Darnell preached the sermon and charged the people. The church was well filled, as it gation was very close.

A Church in Pender County Robbed of an Organ.

On Wednesday or Thursday night of last week, as we learn from a letter from Mr. J. R. Bannerman, of Bannerman's Pender county, some thief drove up to Mt. Williams' Church and stole the organ, which was spirited away and no trace can be discovered of it, or clue to lead to the detection of the perpetrator. The party effected an entrance by driving up to a window at the rear of the church, hoisting the same from the wagon, and going in and unbolting the door, through which the organ and stool were removed. The theft was not discovered until Sunday morning, when the teachers and pupils assembled for Sunday School, and then, on account of the rains that had fallen in the meantime, it was impossible to track the wagon from the church. The whole of that section has been scoured for some trace of the stolen instrument, but without gaining the slightest clue.

Stealing an organ out of a church is something new under the sun." We should not be surprised to hear next that the church itself had been spirited away. There is evidently somebody in Pender particularly fond of music, or else he has scruples against "machine music" in a

Since the above was written we learn that on the Monday following the theft of the organ the thief actually returned to the church for the key of the instrument, A colored girl saw a while man looking for something about the building, and finally he told her that he was looking for a key which he pretended he had lost. He failed to find the key, as it was in a place of concealment inside the church.
