THE MORNING SI

VOL. XXXVI.--NO. 52.

WILMINGTON, N. C., FRIDAY, MAY 22, 1885,

Frank Mayo has made a great hit sermon before the Theological class this year. Prof. Heitman makes a splendid as Nordeck, the title role of the play written by himself and John G. Wilson. It was suggested by a German novel. The New York Times praises it and praises Mayo's acting. It says:

"Mr. Mayo's return to our stage would lave very welcome earlier in the year, for he is an energetic, experienced, and finely equipped actor, somewhat rugged in his nanner, as befits his character in this play and some others associated with his name, but gifted with an agreeable presence and strong personal magnetism. Mr. Mayo is, in short, an actor who ought to be seen more frequently in the metropolis. As Waldsmar Nordeck he is picturesque, manly, and even heroic. He loves deeply, and his love is lasting; he hates fiercely, but his hate is not deep-rooted. The actor's man-agement of Waldemar's strong scenes with his mother was capital, and he presented altogether a gallant and impressive figure."

Gustave De Paetz, an actor in New York, has just died of cancer the throat and pharynx. His case is said to have been like General Grant's. Dr. Gerleth says there are a dozen similer cases in that city that he has never known one to be cured, and that he has no doubt at all that the improvement in General Grant's condition is only temporary.

The catalogue of Davidson College for the scholastic year shows 98 matriculates. There are nine members of the Senior Class. Seven States are represented. There are seven Professors, among them William J. Bingham, a familiar name to North Carolinians. North Carolina furnishes 65 students. This is a well deserving college, and it does a good work for the South.

STATE MEDICAL SOCIETY.

DURHAM, N. C., May 19 .- The North Carolina State Medical Society convened to-day, Dr. W. D. Mc-Duffie, President, calling the meeting to order at 12 m. Prayer was offered by the Rev. W. S. Davis.

James S. Manning, Esq., delivered the address of welcome, extending to the Society the hospitalities of the town in a brief speech, appropriate and excellently expressed.

The committees on Credentials and Finance were announced by the President.

Dr. Wood offered a resolution, the object of which was to place the Society's requirements of membership in full accord with the latest legislative enactments. It was adopted.

The evening session opened with the President's address. Dr. Mc-Duffie's theme was "The Raising of the Standard of the Medical Profession by Exercising Great Care in the Reception of Applicants." He advocated the rejection of all persons not possessing the mental qualities in a strong degree. The address was terse and suggestive, and so well was it appreciated that a special committee was appointed to consider action upon its main features.

Dr. Thomas Hill read a good common sense paper upon "Ragweed." The session adjourned at 5.15 p. m. The attendance is large, one hundred and sixty members answering to roll-call, and some ninety members have reported since. Twenty new members were admitted to the Strong interest prevails, and the meeting is the largest and most enthusiastic ever held.

Last Saturday night the stores on Middle and Pollock streets were crowded to a late hour, making the clerks pay for all the rest they had obtained on "blue Monday." Commodore Parks, President of the New Berne & Beaufort Canal Company, came in on the Shenandoah yesterday, and returned by the same steamer. From him we learn that the dredging machine, which has been working in the canal since December, 1881, has been ordered to Norfolk to be rebuil and converted into a boom dredge, and that the company will proceed no further with the work until the government shall have opened up the Clubfoot and Harlowe approaches to the canal.

No event in Raleigh has for years created such deep and universal regret. The cause of the rash act is unknown, but as Mr. Crow had an attack of paralysis some time since, his friends think it may have had an injurious effect on his shot, which ended his life, about half-past 12 o'clock (Thursday night), as the report of a pistol was heard in that direction about that hour by the people in the neighborhood of where the deed was committed. and also by others.

Criminal Court.

The case set for trial yesterday was that of the State vs. John Carver, a colored youth, between 15 and 16 years old, charged with the murder of Walter Johnson on the night of the 28th of March last, by striking him on the neck with a rock. Our readers are all familiar with the case and the testimony before the coroner. The evidence yesterday was substantially the same as that before the coroner, all show ing that an assault, twice repeated, was made upon the accused by Johnson, and showing that there had previously existed no animosity between them. The prisoner also proved an excellent character.

This evidence was heard by the court for the purpose of fixing the sentence, the counsel for the accused having previously agreed to a verdict of manslaughter. Counsel also announced that they could bring up further extenuating facts and claims for leniency, if necessary, and the prisoner was remanded to await the same

Destruction of the Steamer "John Dawson" by Fire-Loss Estimated at hed a note bur sorbyit

The well known river steamer John Dawson, R. P. Paddison captain, was destroyed by fire Wednesday morning last at the wharf at Maultsby's Point on Black river. The first intelligence of the disaster was brought to the city yesterday by Hayes Jones, colored, but he was unable to give any particulars. Last night, however, letter from Capt. Paddison was received at the STAR office, giving an account of the accident. Capt. Paddison says: "About 11 o'clock this (Wednesday) morning, while the steamer John Dayson was at the wharf as Maultsby's Point, she caught fire from the smoke-stack, and despite all efforts by officers and crew, she was burned to the water's edge. We succeeded in souttling the hull, and sunk her is about eight feet of water. The John Dawson was built four years ago, expressly for the Black river trade; and as a passenger, freight and towing boat was exactly suited to all requirements. She cost $5,500, and when burned was worth fully that amount." It is presumed here that there was no insurance on the boat, as Capt. Paddison makes no mention of it in his letter. Fortunately, there was no freight on board. The Dawson was built by Capt. Paddison at Point Caswell; Messrs. Hart, Bailey & Co., of Wilmington, constructing the machinery. Under the command of her popular captain she was a great fayor ite among river people.

Competitive Dritt - Victory Perches Upon the Banner of the "Pony Four"-Award of Prize for Best Shot at Target, &c.

Wednesday night, about half-past clock, the Light Infantry Company was marched up stairs into the hall, where the competitive drill was to take place between the "Pony Four" and Corporal Haney's 'Four." After the Company had been put through the manual it was brought to a rest and the contending "Fours" fell out in accordance with command and took their positions in front of the judges' stand.

The drill was started with Corporal Haney's "Four," and when they concluded they were greeted with much applause by the crowd. The "Pony Four" followed and from the start seemed to draw upon the sympathies of the crowd on account of the remarkable accuracy and skill displayed by them. Upon concluding they were greeted with tremendous cheers.

The drill now being at an end the judges, consisting of Cols. Cantwell and Jones and Lieut. F. A. Lord, prepared their report but before announcing the same they stated the result of the target shooting on the west side of the river, and the prize was awarded, Col. J. L. Cantwell presenting the same to Sergeant Harriss in a very graceful and appropriate speech; the recipient being called to the front for that purpose. The judges then announced the result of the competitive drill, the championship being awarded to the "Pony Four."

It should have been stated in the proper place that choice of position was contended for and won by the "Pony Four."

The "Pony Four" consisted of Sergeant Harriss and Privates Willson, Gerken and Hedrick, and Corporal Haney's "Four" of Corporal Haney and Privates Beery, Hoop er and Cronenburg.

Mr. J. R. Turrentine, one of Wilmington's popular, progressive and enterprising provision brokers, has leased a telegraphic wire between this city and Chicago and New York for the exclusive benefit of himself and customers, thus getting the reports of the markets directly and instantaneously, the same as if he were in telephonic connection with those from whom the information is obtained, there being no liability to the delays which often prove inconvenient and some times disastrous.

These reports come from the Board of Trade in Chicago and from the Cotton Exchange in New York. In addition to the regular reports, there is sent every afternoon, at the close of business in the cities named, what is known as "market gossip," giving an insight into the business done during the day. Foreign reports by cable are also forwarded as fast as received. This will be a matter of great convenience to those who avail themselves of its benefits, and speaks volumes for the enterprise of Mr. Turrentine.

In this connection we would further state that a commodious room above the business office, northeast corner of Dock and South Water streets, has been neatly fitted and handsomely furnished as a reception room for Mr. Turrentine's customers, being provided with tables, chairs, etc., in addition to which a black board is now being put up for the posting of the market reports as they come in.

There are two entrances to the reception room, one from the outside of the building and one from the inside.

An invitation is extended our merchants and others, by advertisement elsewhere, to call at Mr. Turrentine's office to-day, between the hours of 11 and 1 o'clock, when he will "tell them all about it."

Wm. Garrison, the colored boy who wa arrested at the Carolina Central depot Wednesday morning, charged with acting disorderly in and about the trains, had a hearing before Mayor Hall yesterday morning, and was sent below for five days.
