Its editor ranks with the ablest men in the State, and while we do not always see alike, we hold his abilities, learning and skill with the pen in the highest regard. It is a pleasure to say this, because it can be said with candor and truth.

Rev. Dr. Philip Schaff, President of the American Revision Committee, was born in Switzerland, and not Germany, as we had supposed. He was 66 years old on the 1st of January last. He was educated at Stutgart, Tubingen, Halle and Berlin. He came to the United States in 1844. He is a very able man as well as a ripe scholar. His Commentaries and History of the Christain Church rank high. He lectured in Wilmington in 1881.

The catalogue of the University of North Carolina for 1884-'85, the nineteenth year, shows Honorables, D. D.'s and LL. D.'s in the Faculty which, we must suppose, is a sign of great learning and great parts. There are twelve acting Professors at present with seven new ones to be elected. In addition to these there are three Instructors, a new office, we take it. There were 230 matriculates during the year. Of these a considerable number were county beneficiaries paying no tuition. The principal business block of Lansing, lows, was burned to the ground yesterday morning. Loss $100,000; insurance $60,000.

Most Successful Affair-The Result of the Raffling-The W. L. I. Booming a col hasa leal to life when its We publish elsewhere a card of thanks from the members of the Company to the ladies and the citizens generally. The receipts, as far as we can learn, will exceed $300 00. This is certainly gratifying, and shows that a great deal of work was done. Too much praise cannot be bestowed upon Mrs. Kate DeR. Meares for the management of these entertainments, nor upon the committee who so ably assisted her.

At the raffle, the beautiful sofs pillow on exhibition at "Central Park," was won by Mr. Edward S. Tennant. A magnificent basket of flowers was won by Mr. T. W. Strange, and the handsome shield of flowers, with the initials of the Company gracefully worked in it was won by Capt. J. W. Harper, our genial friend of the Passport,

The proceeds of the festival will probably be added to the surplus fund of the Dempany; and eventually, with money thus made, the members intend building an armory. We trust they may accou plish this end, for their present armory is not sufficiently large to accommodate the increasing membership, and cannot be used at all as a drill room. Go shead, boys, and see what you can do.

Bold Attempt at Burgiary.

A bold attempt was made to burglarize the grocery store of Mr. F. A. Newbury, on Mulberry, between Front and Water streets, last night, about 12:30 o'clock, which would have been successful but for the prompt action of Policeman Marsh Walker and others, Policeman Walker first detected the scoundrel, who had removed both sashes from the back window of the store, and being unable to force an entrance on account of the iron bars, was ripping off the weather boarding with an axe. Walker called to his assistance Policemen R. Grant and Thomas Williams, who were soon joined by Capps and Everett, of the police force, and then pommenced a lively chase after the burglar, during which time several shots were fired at him by the different policemen, and which resulted in his capture under a small outhouse by Capps and Everett.

The man is a thick set negro, about twenty years old, and gives his name as John Anderson, and says he just arrived here yesterday from Savannah, Georgia. On his person were found a five-barreled pistol, a bottle of chloroform and a silk handkerchief, showing that he was fully prepared to take advantage of any one b should meet in the store.

Temple of Israel-Monteflere Medal At the Centennial anniversary of the birth of the venerable Hebrew, Sir Moses Monteflore, at the Temple of Israel in this city, in Octobersiast, it was decided to award a Montefiore medal each year to the most proficient scholar in the Sunday school attached to the Temple. The annual examination of the school took place last Sunday, and yesterday morning, at the Temple of Israel, the medal was awarded to Master Benedict Kahnweiler, the presen tation being made by Rev. Dr. Mendelsohn superintendent of the school. At the same time sixteen other prizes were awarded, mostly in the shape of books, to pupils who had shown proficiency in various studies.

The medal referred to is a handsome silver one, something larger than a half-dollar, and bears the inscription on one side: "Sir Moses Monteflore-Sunday School Prize of the Congregation Temple of Israel, Wilmington, N. C.;" and the reverse: "Awarded to Benedict Kahnweiler. 1885-

Any further information relative to the first Sabbath school will be appreciated by him. Mr. Poisson desires this information for the purpose of replying to a letter which he has received, propounding these questions for a short history of Sabbath schools which a gentleman of another town in our State has under preparation. Mr. Poisson applied to two of our old citizens, over sixty five years of age, for the information, and was informed he would have to interview some one older than themselves to know when the first Sabbath school was established in Wilmington, and he has adopted the medium of the press for obtaining the necessary information.

The time of this Court yesterday was taken up in hearing what is known as the case against the "shop lifters," the colored women accused of the larceny of a large number of articles of dry goods, clothing, shoes, hats, etc., from various merchants of this city. The parties arraigned were Mary McNeill, Mag. Fisher, Sophia Fisher, Lizzie Riley and Jane Holden.

The State was represented by Mr. Solicitor Moore, Mr. James T. Elliott and Mr. J. C. Davis: the defence by Messrs. Russell & Ricaud and F. H. Darby.

The Court room was thronged all day by people anxious to hear all the details of this important and interesting case.
