Judge Bond is in Richmond, Va., and he has decided that coupons will pay all Virginia taxes.

The Detroit (Michigan) bar adopted highly eulogistic resolutions concerning Mr. G. V. N. Lothrop, Minister to Russia.

Editors are in bad luck in the North. At Governorsville, N. Y., a member of the Salvation Army gave W. Johnson, a newspaper correspondent, a severe whipping.

The two Washington newspaper correspondents who have been debarred from the White House because of their references to Miss Cleveland and her brother, are Charles A. Hamilton, of the Buffalo (N. Y.) Express, and J. A. Truesdell, of the St. Paul Pioneer Press.

Rev. Sam Jones is a Methodist preacher, born in Alabama, and belongs to Georgia by adoption.

Good. The Independents are squealing. The Philadelphia Times has been standing up to the President with great tenacity, but it is weakening.

Has the President weakened? Has he consented to a relaxation of the rule he began with, and are the spoils after all to go to the victors?

Mr. George R. Lynn, of Winston, has assigned. Asheboro Courier: The oat crop in this county will hardly be worth cutting.

High Point Enterprise: Ex-Sheriff J. H. Hill, of Forsyth county, died near Germantown Tuesday morning, aged 67 years.
