STATE DENTAL CONVEN-

Charlotte Observer.

The eleventh annual meeting of the North Carolina State Dental Association was convened in the rooms of the Chamber of Commerce, in this city. yesterday morning. The meeting was convened with the President, Dr. J. H. Durham, presiding, and Dr. T. M. Hunter Secretary. The following members of the Association responded to the roll call: Drs. V. E. Thrner, B. H. Douglass, M. A. Bland, J. H. Durham, C. J. Watkins, J. W. Hunter, E. L. Hunter, T. M. Hunter, S. P. Hilliard, J. E. Matthews and W. H. Hoffman. The minutes of the last annual meeting were read and

A resolution was adopted to the effect that in future, the Secretary of the Association be not required to advertise the meetings of the Board of Examiners.

Dr. E. L. Hunter offered a motion in writing to amend article 12, section 1, of the bylaws of the association, and the amendment was adopted. The amended section reads: "No member of this association shall receive a student in his office to be instructed in the art and science of dentistry, for a shorter period than two years prior to attending lectures, and shall require of every student a promise to persevere in his studies until he has received the degree of Doctor of Dental Surgery of a regularly chartered Dental college." A resolution was adopted that any member of the association who violates the above section, shall be expelled from the association.

AFTERNOON SESSION. Two new members, Drs. J. F. Griffith and H. C. Herring, appeared and answered to the roll call. The entire afternoon session was devoted to the reading and discussion of papers submitted by the standing committees. Reports were read upon the subjects of Dental Education. Physiology, Pathology and Therapeutics, Dental Chemistry, Mechanical Dentistry, and Operative Dentistry.

O. G. Parsley, Sr.

On the 80th of September, in the year 1830, a young man but twenty-four years of age rode into Wilmington on horseback, to seek his fortune. Without acquaintance and with but one friend, he yet so bore himself during a long and active life as to acquire and retain the esteem and confidence of the entire community, and may be counted happy to have lived to nearly four score years without a blot upon his name. Calmly and peacefully, this man passed to his rest on the evening of the 3rd inst., and O. G. Parsley, Sr., sleeps with his fathers. Mr. Paraley was born in Onslow county, near Swansboro, February 25th, 1806, For a short time he was at school in Raleigh, then removed to New Berne and was employed as chief assistant in a store of general merchandise. While thus engaged, the late Gov. Edward B. Dudley sent for him to come to Onslow county and settle up the estate of his father, who had recently died. When the estate was settled, the Governor, who was then doing business with the late P. K. Dickinson, under the firm name of Dudley & Dickinson, in this city, offered him a position in their office, which he accepted, and became for the remainder of his life a citizen of Wilmington. He remained with that firm for two years, when they dissolved; Mr. Dickinson connecting himself with the late Capt. Gilbert Potter, in the steam saw mill business. Subsequently Mr. Parsley purchased Mr. Dickinson's interest and the firm continued the milling business under the name of Potter & Parsley, until the latter retired and commenced on his own account, in which he was very successful, amassing a large fortune and being at one time the largest owner of real estate in the city. Prior to the war he was for many years President of the Commercial Bank of Wilmington, and managed its affairs with great skill and success, for he was an able

He was an active and earnest advocate of internal improvements, and subscribed liberally to all schemes which would advance the interests of his native State-for he was a true North Carolinian in every fibre of his nature—was a Director, and a very efficient one, in the Wilmington & Manchester Railroad, and at one time President of that corporation, and was a prominent director in many other corporations, always attending strictly to the duties required of him. He had the confidence of the people in an eminent degree, which was exhibited in his election to the Mayoralty of the city whenever he would consent to serve. This was strikingly exhibited in the election for city officers which took place in January, 1856, perhaps the most aerimonious local election which has ever taken place in Wilmington. He was elected Mayor, with the following named gentlemen as Commissioners: Isaac Northrop, Geo. Davis, T. M. Gardner, Wm. Sutton, Levi A. Hart, and Henry P. Russell. He was reelected the next year and again in 1863.

Mr. Parsley was emphatically a self made man, the architect of his own fortunes, and went to the business of life with a determination that overcame all difficulties, and the success that crowned his efforts attested the accuracy of his judgment. He possessed a remarkably well balanced mind and a temperament so evenly adjusted that success could not disturb his equanimity nor reverses depress him. Active, energetic and enterprising, thoroughly honest and self-reliant, his actions were governed by what he believed to be right, and as his conscience dictated so he acted, regardless of any clamor that might be raised by the ignorant or malicious. He was a liberal man and charitable to the poor and needy. No one, at all deserving, ever applied to him for assistance and was refused, and it was his pleasure to remember those who were struggling to succeed and to aid them by his advice and counsel. his purse and the use of his name. He was a true man in all the relations of life, doing his duty faithfully in the many positions of honor and trust which he was called upon to fill, for his integrity was never questioned nor his word ever impeached.

For more than half a century he has been one of our most prominent citizens. identified with our town and with every interest that could increase its prosperity, and goes down to the grave at the ripe age of four score years, universally esteemed and without a blot upon his name.

Mark the upright man, for the end of that man is peace.

A DESPERADO.

Apprehensions in Brunswick on Account of the Alleged Escape of a Noted Desperado and His Threats of Vengeance - The Result of Inqui-

We learn that a good deal of excitement and alarm has existed in certain portions of Brunswick county recently on account of reports to the effect that the notorious W. H. Swain alias "Dink" Swain was at large and had been seen skulking around in the neighborhood referred to. Swain was tried for murder in 1875, but escaped the gallows. In the following year he was sent to the penitentiary from New Hanover county for stealing geese. Upon his discharge he returned to Brunswick, a fullfleged demon incarnate and entered at once upon a career of crime, compared with which his former achievements; as a general thing, were but trifles. Highway robbery then became his profession, and for time success crowned his efforts. Finally, however, he stole a mule from a Mr. Daniels in Colleton county, S. C., and shortly afterwards a horse from a Mr. Flowers, of Bladen county, N. C. Sheriff E. W. Taylor, of Brunswick, got on his track, but he finally succeeded in effecting his escape, and for twelve months nothing was heard of him or his whereabouts. Then he came back to his old haunts and was again seen skulking about the country. seeking what he might devour or steal. In the midst of his wanderings he stopped one night at the house of Sim Garrison, his brother in law, and before morning the house was surrounded by seventeen determined men and Swain was brought forth a captive. Shortly afterwards he was sent to Bladen county to stand trial for stealing Mr. Flowers' horse. In the meantime, however, he was sent to South Carolina under a requisition to-answer to the charge of stealing Daniel's mule. Recently the reports referred to at the outset the people were under so much dread from the threatened vengeance of Swain that they were talking of leaving the county. Swain had sworn that upon the first opportunity he would be revenged upon all who were concerned in his capture, or had taken part in any proceedings against him. To quiet the apprehensions of these people Sheriff Taylor recently wrote to the sheriff of Colleton county, at Walterboro, asking him what had become of Swain, and received a reply to the effect that he was tried in March for mule stealing, convicted and sentenced to five years in the State

There were some curious facts in connection with the late terrible drowning disaster. Mr. J. P. O'Sullivan, who assisted Capt. Williamson in the effort to rescue the drowning persons, says Mr. Charles Williams' child was first rescued and taken to the shore, and then his own child was passed to him. Little George' Winn was next rescued. By this time the others had disappeared. The last seen of Mrs. De-Stefano she was holding her hands above the water. Half an hour after the drowning took place, and while Capt. Williamson and Mr. O'Sullivan were searching for the bodies, little Jimmie Winn was discovered floating. He was taken to the house on the hill, and Mr. O'Sullivan says he rubbed the body vigorously with brandy, trying to resuscitate it, but his efforts were in vain, although the body seemed to possess a certain degree of warmth. About an hour and a half after the accident the body of Olivia Winn, aged 11 years, was also found floating in like manner, but she was cold in death, and any effort at resuscitation was deemed useless. We learn that there was a mistake as to Munson Winn's age. He was only 10 years old. Little Jimmie was between 4

Former Wilmingtonian Burned

The Charlotte Observer chronicles the burning, on Monday morning last, of the residence of Mr. R. B. Hartsfield, in that city. He was awakened about half-past 1 o'clock in the morning by a suffocating smoke, and found flames breaking through the walls into his room. Snatching up his clothes he leaped from a window to the roof of the front porch, thence jumped to the ground. At this time the flames were pringing up from the roof of the dining room attached to the rear of the house, and were rapidly enveloping the main roof of the house. The alarm brought out the entire fire department, and as the blaze illuminated nearly one-half of the city there was no difficulty in locating the direction of the fire. The building was badly damaged. There had been no fire about the house since Mr. Hartsfield's family had dinner on the Saturday last, as they left that afternoon for Wilmington and Mr. Hartsfield had been boarding out. The fire was probably the work of rats. It caught under the roof over the dining room. Mr. H.'s furniture was insured.

WHOLE NO. 5839

Base Ball-Goldsbore vs. Seasides. The Goldsboro club, accompanied by four professionals, arrived last night on the 10 o'clock train, and will cross bats with our boys at the Seaside grounds this afternoon, at 4 o'clock.

The Goldsboro club, as constituted at present, makes the strongest team that ever visited this place, and if the Seasides hold them in check and keep their score down. they deserve the congratulations of all. That there will be no schild's play this afternoon all who visit the grounds can testify, as an opportunity is offered all lovers of the sport to witness a very fine game by two good nines. Goldsboro has strengthened her battery by employing Williams of the Henderson team. This throws Frank, the former catcher, to third base. It is rumored that Chapman, late pitcher of the Oxford's, will hold the bag at second for. them. This report is denied, but Chapman is here, and it in conjectured he comes to play. Then there are Higgins and Lee, two names not at all familiar to the ball players who have four times faced the batteries of the Goldsboro boys, and always with success. But four names-Pearsall, Royal, Thompson and Draughon-are recognizable as former members of the Goldsboro nine, and these four are about the best that ever wielded the ash for the honor of the ball players of our sister city.

The Seasides intend to stand by the rules of the N. C. Association, and play only the quota of professionals allowed by these rules. They have joined the Association to stay, and intend by hard playing to stand with the best clubs in the State, and to deserve success if they do not gain it. Beery, their first baseman, is lame at present, and Rosenthal will do the honors there. If "Rugge" plays as he did when on the tour, no fears need be entertained of improper management on the "first."

Bacon, the old pitcher of the original Seasides, will take care of "short," and there are none better qualified to do it: Carmichael will hold "second," and Empie will take "left"; Waddell centre, and Robinson right field. Ed. Moore will still hold "third." Our home nine is not weak, and some good playing can be expected.

Goldsboro and Wilmington have always gotten along well with each other, and the Seasides hope that the Wilmington audience will throw prejudice for the home team aside long enough to cheer all good plays made by their opponents. They never had any too much excitement over them when they were away, and they can appreciate a friendly cheer when given. Go to see the game. "Ball to the bat!"

Death of a Young Wilmingtonian. A telegram was received here yesterday announcing the death of Mr. Edgar Lee. son of Mr. R. E. Lee, of this city, at Greensboro, where he had just graduated from · a business college. He was taken with pneumonia, and his mother was about leaving for his bedside, when, on Wednesday, she received a telegram to the effect that he was better, when she relinquished her purpose. Yesterday morning the intelligence came that he was dead. He was about 18 years of age and had only been sick two or three days. The body is expected here to-day, when it will be taken to the old family burying ground, at Sugar Loaf, on the Cape Fear river, in Bladen county. The bereaved family have the sympathy of the community in their sad ereavement.

The John Dawson. Capt. Paddison, who was in the city yesterday, informs us that the hull of the steamer John Dawson was finally raised Wednesday evening, when it was discovered that it was broken in twain. Capt. P. is now uncertain whether it will be most advisable to build upon the old hull or build a new boat entire. He says his loss will exceed his insurance by about $2,000, to say nothing about the loss of time.

The entire time of the Superior Court yesterday was taken up with the case of Lemuel Williams vs. Anthony Dixon. Mr. W. B. McKov for the plaintiff: Messrs. F. H. Darby and A. G. Ricaud for the defendant. Judgment for the defendant. DIED.

LEE.—At Greensboro, W. C., yesterday morning, at 2.30 o'clock, of pneumonia, ROBERT RD-GAR, only son of Robert and F. A. Lee.

Deceased was a student in the Smithdeal Business College, and infone short week would have ness College, and injone short week would have completed his course and returned home to fond parents, but death has claimed him at the early age of not quite 18 summers. His remains arrived here last night. The funeral will take place at residence, No. 113½ Market street, between Front and Second, to-day (Friday) at 1 o'clock, and thence the remains will be taken to Bladen county for interment.
