The Raleigh Register pays Mr. Page, of the Chronicle, a compliment worth having. It considers him "the cleverest newspaper writer of North Carolina birth and bringing up." This may be so. He is a man of marked gifts which we recognized years ago. He is thoroughly educated and has a distinguished future before him, we may well believe. He is not more than twenty-eight or thirty, possibly of fewer years. The Register Bays:

"The trouble with him is only some little of the bumptiousness of youth and a slightly Bohemian nature, intensified by work on New York newspapers. Writing with great facility on any subject, and writing well on all, he has the dangerous faculty of writing as well on one side as the other, and puts his faculty to its uses."

Parnell and his followers will live to see the day when they will sorrow deeply over their recent foolish alliance with the Tories. The Philadelphia Times is right, we have no doubt when it says:

"All liberal-minded Irishmen in this country, as well as all humane Englishmen and every fair-minded American conscious of the signal services that Mr. Gladstone has rendered to Ireland for more than a eneration, will regret that Mr. Parnell and his friends should have joined hands with the Tories to damn and deride the one man in all England who has been and was still their best and ablest friend."

Hon. J. W. Reid's address at Chapel Hill was on "The True Glory of Young Men." A most suggestive and impressive theme. The Raleigh Register's report says:

"He claimed that the education of the heart, head and hand must be done conof mind, improve their physical man, never neglect the soul, and, always do hard, honest, earnest work—live not on the re-spectability of their fathers."

BASE BALL.

Meeting of the North Carolina Base Ball Association-The Late Game Between the Sonsides and Nation-

At a special meeting of the Association. held in Raleigh on Tuesday, at which al the clubs were represented but Goldsboro' Mr. A. M. Waddell, Jr., being the delegate from this city, the following action was taken in regard to revising and construing certain rules, etc., as we learn from the Visitor:

An arbitration committee, with power to settle all disputes, was appointed.

The American Association rules were changed so as to allow the pitcher to de-liver the ball in any manner he desires, as long as he keeps in the box. And also to require a four ball to be caught on the fly. These rules went into effect yesterday.

The arbitration committee was left to settle all contested games except the last Wilmington-Goldsboro game, which was given to Wilmington 9 to 0, because of the violation of the rule allowing the use of only two professionals.

In case of rain and no game (five innings) is played, that the visiting club be paid one-half the gate receipts, unless said division exceeds $35, or rain checks given or money refunded to spectators.

It is required that each club register and send to the Secretary the names of home players not to exceed fifty. From among them the home players to be selected. There was much discussion over a motion not to allow a club to employ over two professionals. The motion was finally The last Goldsboro Argus has the following: "The management of the Nationals feel themselves aggrieved at our remarks in regard to the recent game in Wilmington: They say that we were wrongly informed in regard to the whole affair—that the game was played with the approbation of the National Club, and that at a meeting of the Club held in this city on Monday, the man agement was unanimously sustained. This notice is official, and is intended to correct that portion of our article which stated that the Nationals did not approve of the game as played. The Nationals approve of the game. The Argus does not. Wilmington learn from the Raleigh News Observer that the game won at Wilmington Saturday doesn't count, as it has been ruled out."

The Visitor says it was given to Wilmington-9 to 0.

The Seasides Win-Score 1 to 0. About twelve hundred people assembled yesterday at the Sesside grounds to witness the game between Durham and Wilming ton. The fame of the visitors had preceded them, and Wilmington was eager to see on the diamond the nine that has made such a reputation for themselves and for their town. The moment the Durhaur boys entered the field for practice, those accustomed to ball playing could see hard work ahead for the club that encountered them. The Seasides were in good form, and while their admirers never lost heart. they knew they had met a club determined to contest every inch of ground and fight to the last for victory.

The game was called at half past four, with Durham at the bat. From then until five minutes to six the spectators were treated to as fine a game of ball as was ever played in North Carolina. There was nothing loose or ungainly about it. If a ball went in the air, a player was under it if hit to the ground, a player was before it. Blank after blank was drawn by either side until the fifth inning, when Robinson made a pretty base hit to right field, went to second on a close shave, stole third, and was brought home by a hot grounder by Waddell to short stop. He was the only man that traversed the square. From this inning on every attempt to reach home plate, only one hundred and twenty yards. with three places whereon one could rest was balked; the runners either died on the way or were left waiting at a station Drummey, though suffering from a sore thumb, manly stood behind the bat, and at critical moments caught as well as and could wish. Shaw pitched his "down out shoot," and deceived many who expected to reach first base by a long graceful hit. Gattis placed without an error. Green, at third, threw a look of astonishment on more than one face, by his sharp fielding and accurate throwing to first, and shut out some who confidently expected to reach that coveted bag. Koockogey caught in a manner that elicited the applause of all, and was honored with a bouquet at the close of the game. What pitcher has the same record Rosenthal, at first, put out fourteen men. and there is not an error against him. "Rugge" is a daisy. His stoppage and catching of some swift low balls was simply wonderful. The winning of the game with Durham puts the Seasides at present at the head of the N. C. Association. They have won nes out of eleven, Raleigh won seven out of eleven, lost three, and tied one. Durham has lost two out of seven. The Durham boys express themselves as highly pleased with the treatment they have received. Come again, boys, when the weather is good, and the Sessides will show you how much they appreciate you. Their intentions this time have been good, but the opportunity has not been given them to do what they desired.

Mr. Emerson's umpiring gave general satisfaction. This is the opinion of the visitors. When they are pleased, who has a right to "kick." Durham is gratified at the applause given them when they made a good play. One of them said, "It came so freely and sounded so much like it wa meant, I thought I was home on our own and say "oh, no; we would rather have the score as it is." A Lively Chase. A warrant was issued yesterday for the arrest of one Richard Smith, colored, charged with beating a colored woman, and placed in the hands of Constable Holmes The officer found Smith at the W. & W. R. R. depot, stated his business and was about to draw the warrant on him, when the alleged woman beater suddenly "lit out" and meandered through the vard, and then down the track and through the streets, with Holmes close at his heels. When the latter arrived at the C. C. R. R. depot Smith was still making good time and distancing the officer, who jumped upon an engine. Noticing that his pursuer had mounted the "iron horse," Smith redoubled his speed, and then the chase became lively indeed. When the constable got off the engine at Hilton bridge, however, Smith still had the advantage over his opponent and seemed determined to keep it. The chase was continued for the distance of about five miles, ending at the "Bluff," enlivened part of the time by the participation of John McKoy, the dog fancier, and six of his hounds, and still the woman beater kept the lead, finally escaping into Brunswick county, where he buried himself

The Germania Cornet Band and Their Excuraton. We are glad to hear that the excursion on Wednesday, under the auspices and for the benefit of the Germania Cornel Band. proved a success, notwithstanding the heavy rain that fell during the trip. This was the first time the new band had appeared in public, and the reception it received must have been very encouraging to the members. The excursionists, as well as those of our citizens who heard the pieces rendered at the wharf on the eye of the departure of the boat Wednesday morning, speak in the highest terms of the proficiency displayed by them after such brief practice. The gentlemen of the band have evidently a talent for music of a high order, which is being carefully developed under the efficient instruction of Prof. Herndon, who accompanied them on this

The most of the time off the boat, in consequence of the bad weather, was spent at Smithville, and we learn that the excursionists had a fine time there, and returned home in good spirits.
