the new monument to John C. Calboun at Charleston, S. C., is to cust $40,000. The great statesman deserves to be honored.

The President does not turn out postalasters without inquiry. It remires something more than application or empty charges to oust one of the partisan "Radikils."

The great question now agitating the British mind is, shall the new Tory Government exist purely by sufferance or will it develop sufficient statesmanship to secure a majority?

The Marquis of Salisbury has called to his aid to form a Cabinet Sir Stafford Northcote, the Dake of Richmond, Lord Rawton, Rowland Winn, M. P. for North Lincolnshire, and Edward Stanhope, M. P. for Mid-Lincolnshire.

Judge Foraker was born in Ohio in 1846 He is not yet 40 years old. Ile was named after Joseph Benson, the English Methodist commentator, lle served in the war and was brevetted captain for efficient service in Georgia and North Carolina.

Cluverins, it is reported, will speak in his own defence when his case comes up for final hearing. There is another ugly rumor out in Richmond connecting his name with another ruined young woman, and the evi dence is very strong against him,

The Washington monument might be protected by crowding its summit with offensive partisans. Lightning doesn't strike in their vicinity this year .- Philodelphia Times. From the way they have been dying we supposed that they had been struck heavily by a bolt of Cleveland lightning.

age. - Graham Gleaner: The feed barn of Mr. Daniel Worth, at Company Shops, was burned Sunday morning, about 3 o'clock. In the barn were two horses, six head of hogs, a thorough bred Jersey bull and a calf, two wagons, two buggies, number of farming implements, and a quantity of feed, all of which were consumed. The fire is supposed to have been of incendiary origin. The loss sustained amounts to about $1,000, with no insurance. - Goldsboro Messenger: About 1,300 people made up the audience at the Opera House Friday night. — We re-gret to announce the death of Mrs. H. S. Hazell, which occurred at her home in this city on Friday night last at 11 o'clock, af-ter many months of declining health. With some exceptions our farmers gener-ally have a good stand of cotton. They are also getting the best of the grass. The surveying party on the Goldsboro, Snow Hill and Greenville road expect to reach Greenville during this week.

- Winston Daily: A colored boy about 7 years old, son of Smith Jeffreys of this place, fell into a well this morning woman who was washing near by went to draw some water and heard a faint voice from below, "please pull me out," and with much nerve and presence of mind she lay hold and soon landed the little fellow safely on the ground. Dr. Montague was summoned immediately, when it was found that the boy had received a severe cut on the back of the head, laying the skull bare, a considerable contusion of the forehead, and much abrasion of the back. Th doctor says his condition is a critical one - Plymouth Examiner: The jail at Columbia, Tyrrell county, was burned down on Wednesday morning, the 10th inst., about 2 o'clock. The citizens were aroused by the cry of fire proceeding from the jail, which held at the time only one prisoner, named James Ambrose, who was in confinement charged with homicide. The keys were quickly produced and the priso-ner released from his peril, when, taking States.

and many a fielder became blown before he reached the little globe that Herbert sent out to pay its respects to centre field fence. Pat Malloy looms up as a base runner of the first magnitude. His little by-play with Roland between second and third, when he calmly awaited death at the hands of the latter who was too kind-hearted to kill him, drew long and prolonged cries from the "Sea Gulls," and when he winged his way home safely the shricks were appalling and the birds were jubilant. "Sorter" Jones (kommonly kalled Bill) played with great effect on the grand stand, and frequently elicited its hearty applause by his brilliant caroms on the centre field and first base. Koockogey and Kurtz both concede that his marvellous pocketing of the "liver pad" and "canary bird cage" is uncousled in the record of any base ball nine, while his centre shot on Boney stands without a parallel in the history of field sports. C. B. Mallet girded up his loins and stood afar off looking at the balls as they went up into the air, seeming totally intent on calculating parabolic curves, and heaved a sigh of regret as they fell at his feet. We are not informed when the game will be concluded, but it will not be long, as many are anxiously waiting to see the end

Arrested for Embezziement.

William Harriss, colored, was arrested by Deputy Sheriff Strode, yesterday morning, charged with embezzlement. It appears that Harriss was in the employ of Mr. W. M. Hankins, and had been engaged in freighting wood from Mr. H.'s plantation below this city to the gas house. On Tuesday he brought up a flat load of wood and sold it to the gas house, receiving from the treasurer $45.62 for the same, of which amount he made no returns to Mr. Hankins, and circumstances indicated that he had no intention of doing so. The warrant was issued by Justice Millis and the arrest took place near the intersection of Front and Church streets, the officer having discovered him in the act of coming out of a store. When the warrant was read to him Harriss denied being the man, but there were those present at the time who fully identified him. He resisted manfully when told that he had to go to jail, and some of his colored acquaintances were summoned to assist in taking him to the lock-up, which they very readily did. Officer Strode recovered $20.20 of the amount embezzled. After the above was written, a search warrant was placed in the hands of Officer Strode, who succeeded in recovering a new suit of clothes purchased by the accused with part of the money, as supposed, but could fill an "appintment." He is said to hold forth to the "unbelievers" in one of two of the adjoining counties.

Minister Hale.

Capt. E. J. Hale, of Fayetteville, recently appointed Minister to Manchester, England, together with his family, were registered at the Purcell House yesterday.
