Sam Jones has a rival in one respect. Rev. C. C. STATE ENCAMPMENT.

Preparations for the Grand Encamp ment of the State Guard at Ashe-

cave for Asheville on the morning of Tuesday, the 21st inst., and will reach that wide-awake mountain town on the morning of the 22nd, about 9 o'clock, when they will be marched directly to a table prepared for the troops generally by the generous people of Asheville. It is understood that provision will be made by them for 1,200 men, and it will be on a grand scale. All the white companies of the State Guard will be present, it is understood, expept the Smithville Guards and the La Fayette Light Infantry. A costly national fing will be presented to the regiment winning in the competitive battalion drill, and its Colonel will be given an exceedingly andsome sword and belt; these being preented by the people of Asheville. Two balls will be given the State Guard by the people of Asheville during the encampment. Col. Cameron, of the Asheville Citizen, went out to the camp ground Monday. He describes the situation thus: "The place selected is a magnificent rolling plane, inclining to the northeast, terminated inclose the valley of Beaver Dam creek, the view extending far down the opening down the French Broad valley, forming a andscape lovely and picturesque. Two sides of this open ground are bordered by forests, that on the south being thin, but giving ample shade: that on the west is in state of nature." Wilmington, as we have before intimated, should make the best possible showing in the encampment. The Light Infantry will represent her there, and the great number of visitors from all parts of the State who will be at Asheville at intervals during the nine day's encampment will be apt to form their impressions of our city by the number and character of her soldiery, If the number should be small our Western friends will naturally want to know if that is the best the leading commercial city of the State can do. Our cople, it would seem to us, should feel an nterest in the matter sufficient to prompt them to make some little sacrifice in order o swell the ranks of our company on this occasion. The trip, too, will be taken during one of the duliest seasons of the year, and the little recreation resulting from it will only make the boys more energetic, vigorous and ready for work when they come back and enter again upon their sev-

Our friends of the Newbern Steam Fire Engine Company No. 1 left for their homes on the 9.27 train yesterday morning, being escorted to the depot by our firemen. We hope they carried with them none but the most pleasant impressions of our city and its people. Some of our firemen know something about Newbern hospitality, and are aware that it is as difficult a matter to excel the Newbern firemen in that social virtue as it is to get the better of them in an engine trial; but our department know of a verity that they did their level best to make their visitors feel at home and to realize that they were among friends, who can never esteem it anything else than a favor to entertain them as guests. Our citizens generally wer: very favorably impressed by their fine appearance and gentlemanly deportment. By a telegram received by one of the "Little Giants," yesterday, we learn that the Newbern boys were received with open hearts by their brother firemen at Golds-

Base Ball.

The Raleigh team arrived last night, and will play the Seasides to-day on their grounds. They have brought two fine pitchers with them, who will perhaps strike out the Wilmington boys as Jacobs has just done. Housman will occupy the box to morrow, and show the skill with which he can toss the ball, and Cain will relieve him on Saturday.

The Raleigh club heads the list for the championship and are determined that no error to-morrow shall throw them back a game. The Seasides have played in bad luck lately, but they hope it has left them now. They intend to give Raleigh a warm time on the field and if they are beaten will die game. Let them have a good crowd and they will try to take care of the visitors.

Journalism's Wide Field. Our friend of the Payetteville Sun thus throws light upon the wide field of journalism: "During our wanderings we were ital prize, $25,000, sold in New York, Mem. quite surprised to see young ladies with phis. Tenn. Person, lows, and Wichita muslin belts on lined with newspapers, in one instance the Wilmington STAR. Advertisements in it were easily readable. We feel assured that an 'ad' in that edition of the STAR was peculiarly valuable. But few people realize the wide field that belongs to journalism. A newspaper furnishes the best food in the world for roats; a goat will chew a newspaper for hours and be perfectly contented. A newspaper makes the best bustle in existence, as well as the cheapest, and as we above stated, it is unrivalled as a lining for a belt. Verily progress is the motto of the day,"

[For the Star. MR. EDITOR:-We are just from a trip the very best portion of Eastern North Carolina, "Topsail Sound," where we had the pleasure of being present at one of those pleasant picnics such as the Topsail people know how to arrange to perfec-tion. We find these genial friends all in good spirits and happy; as a community presided over by such ladies as we meet on Topsail are compelled to be. There were a number of visitors from Duplin and Pender, and a couple of young ladies from Mooresville, Iredell county, among the attractions of the day. There was general outpouring of the Topsail people conspicuous among whom was that model pecimen of the ante-bellum gentleman he venerable Dougald McMillan and his estimable wife, whose dignified presence never fails to promote order among the oung folks.

After dinner Dr. Porter, of Rocky Point, vas called out and in a few well timed renarks congratulated the community upon the many evidences of their fine social relations, paying the ladies of Topsail a very high but deserved compliment. Later in the afternoon many of the young folks and others, over an hundred, repaired to the house of Mr. Geo. E. Shepard, than whom Topsail has no more genial spirit, where his accomplished lady and lovely daughters made it pleasant for all. Mr Shepard being always fully alive to the material interest of his community, and fully abreast with this progressive age, is now experimenting with tobacco, of which he has planted a large patch. The weed is the most luxuriant we have over seen, many of the leaves measuring about three feet long; of which I send you one which was plucked vithout special care—it measures 27x17 nches.
