The Morning Star. By WILLIAM H. BERNARD.

WILMINGTON, N. C.

WEDNESDAY EVENING Aug. 26, 1885

EVENING EDITION.

TWO RADICAL SPECIMENS.

A nice little newspaper controversy is being waged by Johnny Wise and D. H. Chamberlain. The latter showed John that he was ignorant when he insisted that the decision of the Supreme Court referred only to Democratic legislation. He tells John that "the decision to which he (Mr. Wise) refers is the case of Poindexter against Greenhow," and that "this decision turns, and turns only, on Readjuster legislation-namely, the act of the Virginia Readjuster Legislature of Jan. 26, 1882." Mr. Wise replies by personalities. Chamberlain is vulnerable for he was the Governor of South Carolina at the time so much pillaging was done by the Northern bummers and negro legislators. Wise does not meet the argument and cannot, but, like his more gifted father, he has edge and snap to his tongue and goes for the "ex-carpet-bag Governor." He tells him that he has been "struggling against oblivion by keeping himself before the public as the champion of sundry principles and sentiments which he was never suspected of practicing." He suggests that he "give us reminiscences of his own carpet-bag rule in South Carolina, where, when he finished, there was not 'five years good stealing left,' as was elegantly and forcibly expressed by one of his charming confreres; or let him explain how he left that State and gave Hampton the Governor's place, while Hayes took the electoral

All this is enjoyable enough. Chamberlain is an able, scholarly man, and a fine lawyer, but he is utterly unprincipled, we have no doubt. As to Wise, he is smart, sharp, bold, and even has talents, but he is not to be admired or followed.

"But Mr. John S. Wise is not wise. Caught in a palpable and wholly inexcusaisstatement of fact-I will use no aarsher term-a fact, too, which interests ne public, he attempts to meet the issue by st puerile fanfaronade of abuse of me. obbett said he did not realize how good a n he was till Addington abused Mr. Wise will pursue his congenial characteristic methods without comstates facts."

INCHINGS AND THE ADMINIS.

TRATION OF JUSTICE. The STAR would impress upon all concerned the necessity of punishing | American ever equalled him as a discrime. Nothing is more hurtful to the safety of society than the undue Northern people who have turned lenicacy of Judges. If they do not their backs upon the truth of history eyes the coal, the iron ore, and the are encouraging crime to that extent. It is because of the improper action of Judges and the low character of blistered, but he was peerless in his nany juries that crime is stimulated line. Judge Black was a Democrat and that mob law is invited. Pers truth and facts are facts.

ok at the statistics of crime. There over 8,000 murders reported in the newspapers as occurring in the United States in 1884. Of these 123 were hanged by the courts. But Judge Lynch had 193 executed. The first six months of 1885 show a worse condition, if possible, in the administration of justice. There were but 42 hangings, whilst mobs made way with 99. Here is a decrease of legal executions and an increase of lynchings. If the laws are not better executed than they have been mob law will increase and the courts will be held in less repute yearly. This is to be deplored by every good and order-loving citizen. The safety of human lives depends upon honest juries, a faithful and rigid execution of the laws, and the non-interference of the pardon ing power.

We regret that executions in th South by order of the mob abound. Of the 99 hangings for 1885 up to the 30th of June, 75 were in the South and nearly half in Texas alone, In that State a horse thief is in as much danger as a murderer. Any country is in a bad condition when the courts are superseded by mobs and men are hanged without judge, jury or benefit of clergy. We would be surprised to learn that in all Great Britain an execution by a mob had occurred in a half century. But in that country men can be hanged for murder and other crimes in spite of numerous influential friends on the outside. In this century noblemen as well as rich plebeians have been sent out of the world by the common hangman. The laws are enforced firmly, justly, and, for the most part, impartially.

THE HOP CROP. North Carolina is peculiarly well adapted to the cultivation of hops. That erop will grow in almost any section of the State, and in the Middle and Eastern section hops would flourish as they flourish in England. They could be made a most lucrative often followed by a storm from the crop. Why shall not our people try this as one of the crops on the farm? The papers cry out "diversify, diversify," and wisely enough. Here is a crop that can be made a paying one, and the production can be made

Col. Pardee, of Connecticut, told us of a section he was familiar with in Illinois or some other Northwestern State. In a little valley settled by New Englanders the hop crop business was engaged in, and by reason of a failure in England of this crop for one year this colony had actually all got rich. Prices ruled very high. In Connecticut this crop is much cultivated and is found very profitable.

The hop crop in New York is an important item. That State alone produces 70 per cent of the entire American supply. There are 44 hop growing counties. The growing crop is reported as very promising. In Bradstreet's the reports are not so favorable from the Pacific coast. In California and Oregon it is estimated there will be a heavy falling off, but in Washington Territory and British Columbia the crop will be an

The total yield of the hop crop in this country in 1879 was 26,546,578 pounds. There were 46,800 acres in cultivation, yielding an average of 567 pounds. England produces 41,-428,936 pounds, an average of 966 pounds to the acre in a good crop year. All of Europe, including England, makes 134,456,000 pounds. The total production of the world is 182,400,000 pounds. Stock on hand added makes the supply 211,400,000. But then it is estimated that there is a demand for 221,000,000 for this year. So there is a deficit. At present the market drags and prices rule low. The best fetch 10 cents; prime 8 and 9 cents; low grades 6 and 7 cents. From rich land that will pro-Chamberlain replies to Wise's screed | duce 700 pounds or more, as in England, and fertilizers will do it, there will be realized at even present low prices from $70 to $90 to the acre.

Judge Black's "Essays and Speeches" have been published in one octavo of 621 pages. We have not seen it as yet, but we are fa- al observation. He says that iron miliar with a portion of its contents, notably, his letter on Seward, in reply to Hoar on Stanton; his letter to Boutwell and reply to Ingersoll. No putant with the pen. Of course and the Constitution will not relish the piercing wit and corrosive irony and eloquent invective that burnt and of Democrats, and yet his father was sons may question or deny but truth a steady Whig and his grandfather was a Hamiltonian Federalist.

The Philadelphia American says of the late "H. H."

"Her poetry never was popular up to the level of its merits. To our thinking she was the only singer of the newer generation who moved on the same level with the poets who made their reputation before the

The STAR, in announcing the death of Mrs. H. H. Jackson, said it doubted if there was as accomplished a literary woman in America as she was. It omitted in summing up her gifts to note her highest qualityher poetical. The Chicago Current

"She was, in some respects, the most ac omplished of the women of the day who make a business of writing, for although she essayed a great variety of literary productions, she almost always distinguished berself by excellence."

The Philadelphia American is Republican weekly paper, devoted to literature, science and arts as well as politics. It has begun its sixth year. It is a very handsome journal, is ably conducted in its several departments, has a strong array of contributors but whose names do not usually accompany the articles, and is partisan to the very core. It never sees any thing in a Democrat to praise. Among the Southern contributors of the last six months are John B. Tabb, Md.; Eugene L. Didier, Baltimore; Prof. Carney, Oxford, Georgia; Paul H. Hayne, William H. Hayne, Georgia, and Walter H. Page, N. C.

August is the dangerous month on the Atlantic coast for heavy blows. It was on the 18th of August that the destructive gale came that did so much damage at Morehead accompanied by the loss of life. The storm of Tuesday was particularly destructive, and whilst Wilmington escaped with but little damage, Charleston suffered immensely, but fortunately there was no loss of life. There was a cold wave in the Northwest on Monday and storms in New England on Tuesday. Why is it that a storm in the Northwest is ocean in the South Atlantic States? Such is the fact we believe.

It seems that the woman who claims to be "The Duchess" is a daughter of Judge Cadwalader of Philadelphia. She calls herself Mrs. Charles Cornwall, and it is said that she has instituted proceedings to protect her rights as the author of "Molly Bawn" and the many other popular stories. This looks as if she meant business and really believed that she wrote the books under the well-known pseudonym of "The Duchess." So the reputed English author, Mrs. Argles, will have to fight for her rights if she has

The Burlington Hawkeye, cantankerous Republican, admits that the last Democratic State Convention of Iowa "was the most noteworthy ever held" in that State. The Washington Post professes to believe that the Democrats have good prospects in Iowa. It says:

"Though Mr. Cleveland received no ectoral votes west of Indiana, the Republicans are not sure of Michigan, Wisconsin, Iowa, or even Minnesota or Kansas when parties are fairly aligned on the issues now so rapidly being formed. If any scoffer feel disposed to sneer he is respectfully referred to the election returns of Iowa for the last four years."

The English wheat crop is good. The average per acre is put at twenty-nine bushels by as good an authority as the British Farmer. The barley crop is expected to be more than an average.

We wrote it plainly Black Mountain Pioneer. It appeared Review. We beg Mr. Warrock's pardon for changing the name of his neat and newsy paper.

CHEAP PIG IRON.

Phil. Record The attention of iron manufacturers is particularly invited to an articopied from the Indianapolis Freeman in to-day's Record, giving with great particularity and detail the cost of making pig iron in Alabama. The writer of the article is not a newspaper reporter or editor, but a gentleman engaged in the iron business in a Northern State, who has been at the pains to visit the iron region in Alabama, and who writes can be made in Alabama at a profit for eight dollars per ton, and in practically unlimited quantities. The mineral wealth of that region has been but barely touched. Some of the operating furnaces are so comforts. favorably situated that a man standing at the top of one of their limestone beds from which material is brought by gravity roads to the points desired for turning it into findollars per ton, to contend with these barred either by hostile tariffs or the cost of transportation. The tariff FROM ALL PARTS OF THE WORLD which protects Pennsylvania iron from foreign competition does not affect competitors in Alabama, and the cost of transportation is not sufficient to prevent the introduction of their iron in Philadelphia. It has been laid down here for less than three dollars per ton.

CURRENT COMMENT.

The utter selfishness of protectionists, who never appear able to see why the Tariff laws should not be made for their sole benefit, is well illustrated by a recent happening at Portland, Manne. It seems that some of the sugar planters of Cuba and Porto Rico are putting up their sugar in bags, instead of hogsheads as heretofore, and thereby lessening the demand for Maine shooks, hoops and staves, which, to the extent of $3,000,000 worth annually, have been shipped to those countries. The remedy proposed by the manufacturers in convention in Maine's chief city is to put a higher duty on sugar in bags than sugar in hogsheads. This is so palpable an absurdity that everybody except the shook men laugh at it, and yet it is in principle exactly like all other protective taxes and sustained by precisely the same arguments. There is just as much reason for protecting shook manufacturers against bag manufacturers, and at the consumers' expense, as for any protection in existence.-Wash. Post. Dem.

- It is pretty generally believed in New York that Tilden and Cleveland are out. It is well known that Mr. Tilden opposed the appointment of Postmaster Pearson at the start, and only acquiesced when it was un derstood to be a reward for Liberal Republican or Mugwump aid given to Mr. Cieveland. Since, however, the policy of the President has taken shape, and it is understood that he will remove no more Republicans on purely political grounds, the Sage of Greystone has concluded to let the Administration severely alone. Gov. Abbott is said to be in the same boat, holding to the old Democratic doctrine that a Democratic Administration should be officered by Demoerats. - Elizabeth (N. J.) Herald.

PAIN.

Hall's Journal of Health.

Pain being the result of too much blood in a part, as a very general rule, the remedy, in severe and pressing cases, is to apply a mustard-plaster near that part, which draws the blood away, which is seen by the reddening of the skin.

The most agonizing pains are often emoved in the twinkling of an eye by dipping a bit of cloth in a mixture of equal parts of sweet oil, chloroform and strong spirits of hartshorn just shaken together and pread over the spot, with a handkerchief wadded in the hand and held over the cloth so as to retain the more volatile ingredients; to be removed the moment the pain ceases.

The safest and most comfortable application in nature for the relief of all pain, especially that arising from inflammation, is a woolen cloth kept very warm, even hot, by the steady addition of hot water, or a stream of warm water, where the painful part admits it. When pair is severe, sharp or thrilling there is inflammation, and arises from there being too much blood in the arteries; if dull and heavy, it is caused from there being too much blood in the veins.

The pain of inflammation gives heat; hence, headache with a hot head is from too much blood in the arteries, and there is throbbing; draw it away by putting the feet in very hot water; this often removes pain in any of the body above the SOUND PHILOSOPHY.

There is a wide difference between splendid and a happy land. I was reading the other day how poor and miserable were the millions of common people in Russia and how rich were the nobility. It made me sick and sad. Our people know nothing about poverty. We think we are poor, but we are rich compared with the outside world. We live in a blessed land, and ought to be contented and happy, and we would be if we did'nt look over the fence too much. If our nabor buys a new carriage or paints his house or get a new carpet, we begin to lament our own inability to do the same thing. We look over the fence and come back discontented. The best way is to visit those who are worse off than we are. Roland says he is not nigh as poor as some folks, and he told me about an old blind man who actually plowed his cotton with a one-eyed mule, and made a pretty fair crop. What a kindness it was in our Creator to make the best things the cheapest things. The rich cannot buy up all the air nor the water nor our good health nor the love of wife and children. They can't keep us from planting corn and potatoes, and the sun will shine and the showers will come, and if we can't have the luxuries of life we can rejoice in the Democratic State Convention - Tem porary Organisation-Dynamite Explosion in Philadelphia-The Origin and Motive Unexplained. [By Telegraph to the Morning Star.]

HARRISBURG, Aug. 26.—The Democratic State Convention was called to order this morning at half-past 10 o'clock, the Opera House being packed, and over four hundred delegates present. R. P. Allen, of Lycoming, was elected temporary chairman by acclamation. On taking the chair he spoke of his party being in possession of the National administration, and said that they had a perfect right to present to the public utterances of importance. He eulogized President Cleveland, and said that the people were now having a higher, better and purer administration than has been known for many years. The fact that a public office was a public trust was being carried out in the State issues. He stated that the time was ripe for the presentation of living issues to the people. Referring to the new constitution, he said one of the great questions was the regulation of laws governing the great corporations. It was a duty to keep them within the bounds of the constitution. He charged the Republicans with allowing the laws to remain as a dead letter, when they had an opportunity to enforce them. Governor Pattison was highly complimented for his move on the South Pennsylvania Railroad, and the speaker requested that the Governor be fully endorsed and sustained in his course. Various com mittees were then appointed, after which the Convention took a recess until 1 o'clock. PHILADELPHIA, Aug. 26.-About 2 o'clock this morning an explosion occurred in the show window of James B. Rodgers' saloon, at the northeast corner of Nine teenth and Callowhill streets, which wrecked all of the windows in a dozen stores in the vicinity. The explosive package was placed on the outside of the window sill, the mark of the burned fuse being visible The contents of the window were wrecked and panes of glass broken. No other damage was done to the Rodgers premises. The window panes of the houses adjoining, to the eastward, were broken from No. 1839 to 1845 Callowhill street. On the opposite side of the street, the bulk of the windows of the saloon of E. J. Early, No. 1842 Callowhill street, were shattered by the force of the detonation and panes of glass in the front of his house were broken. There are no panes of glass left in the front windows of the house of J. B. Schloder, No. 1,844 Callowhill street, and on the south side of the street the window panes were broken in the buildings numbered from 1,834 to 1,846. The glass in the east front of the building at the northwest corner of Nineteenth and Callowhill streets was also broken. Several men who were playing cards in a neighboring saloon were thrown out of their chairs by the shock, but nobody is reported hurt. Mr. Rodgers is able to account for the act or motive. is not aware that he has any enemies. Policeman Rolherniel and special officer Stratton, who witnessed the explosion, and several other persons who were in the neighborhood at the time, are of the opinion that the explosive used was dynamite, as the de tonation was very loud and the destruction of glass sixty or seventy feet away was quite extensive. Gunpowder would have to be used in very large quantities to cause such a serious damage so far away from the spot where the cartridge was placed.
