VOL. XXXVI.--NO. 138.

WILMINGTON, N. C., TUESDAY, SEPT. 1, 1885.

WHOLE NO. 5913

The San Francisco Call tells of a terrible duel on horseback with rapiers between a Frenchman named Gascon and a German. They quarrelled about the relative merits of the French and German cavalry in the Franco-German war. The German was desperately wounded. An

"The referee then ordered the fourth advance and both men rode toward each other. The German's sword arm was wounded, but he held his sword up and spurred his horse on. But he had lost much of his strength, and as the two men came together Gascon whipped his rapier over the German's arm at the elbow, inflicting another wound. It is supposed that the weapon also struck the 'crazy bone,' for the German's arm fell helplessly by his side. Then the Frenchman made a desperate rush on his disarmed opponent and struck him first on the breast, cutting him from the left nipple to the third rib, laying open the flesh and exposing the ribs. Again he raised his rapier and again it whizzed through the sir in its descent and cut a gash on the German's arm. The weapon was again poised for another thrust when the referee rushed upon Gascon and dragged him from his horse. The Frenchman, enraged at this act of the referee, turned upon him. But the referee fled behind a buggy that was near the ground and saved himself. The duel was

A London special to the New York World says Miss Mary Anderson's impersonation of Rosalind at Stratford "was a grand success." The account says:

"She makes the character at first more masculine than Shakespeare drew it. She was apparelled like a man and her splendid height of figure gave vigor and emphasis to this rendering, so that at times it seemed as if the girl had been lost in the counterfeit Ganymede, In the scene, however, where Rosalind learns that Orlando has been wounded in his contest with the lionessthe finest situation in the play-Miss Anderson very cleverly allowed the entire masculinity of her part to disappear in her growing and womanly light as the recital proceeded. Her sudden physical terror and ultimate swoon were artistic and loudly cheered. Her reception was hearty from

A negro was killed in the spring at Sawyer's Mill, Ga., and a negro named Swain Prince was arrested and tried and acquitted for want of sufficient evidence. He was dying last Thursday and he thought of the horrible murder. An account says;

"The ghostly victim lay stretched upon the ground, and he could see the burning timbers of the shanty fall upon his upturned face. The sick man shrank from the awful spectacle, and in agonized tones "I have killed him once. Keep him off.

teep him off.' His death is said to have been an awful one. As his end drew near the remembrance of his crime became so fixed upon him that his eyes seemed to start from their sockets as he recalled the scene of the mur-

Bradstreet's reports 145 failures as against 180 last week. Among the Southern States Virginia alone is reported as furnishing two, and Alabama, Florida, Maryland and Tennessee, one each. - Asheville Advance : Gen. G. T. Beaureguard, of New Orleans, is in town. — Fifteen or twenty wagons are engaged every day in hauling what is said to be the finest poplar lumber even gotten out in this section of the State, from Sawyerville, on upper Reems, to Alexander, for shipment.

- Winston Daily: We hear much complaint from various sections of our county as to the dry hot weather. The farmers say, that if it does not rain soon, the tobacco will be cut off very materially and that the turnips already sown, are being killed by the hot sun. - From the number of loads of tobacco flues we have seen leave our city within a few days past, one would think that every hill top and valley would be decked with a barn. Thousands of feet are sent out every week.

- Beaufort Telephone: We learn that a project is on foot to cut a cana from the head of North river to South river, twenty feet wide and five feet deep, and if the assistance of the business men of Beaufort desire the trade of the rich section of country tributary to South river they can by leading a helping hand now obtain it. The lands along this projected canal can be cultivated and good farms and homes provided for hundreds of people, and the benefit to Beaufort would in a few years pay the whole expense of opening it

Kornegay, in this city, a novel, but simple and very effectual machine for lifting heavy or light bulk weights, which by reason of its great simplicity and easy handling, and at the same time its effectual work, bids fair to become very popular

Mr. Stith is a genius in the inventive line. - Wilson Mirror: Mr. J. E. Batts has invented a machine for lifting marl from a pit, and he claims that it has advantages which will be of great benefit to the farming interest. He claims that he can remove with ease marl from a twentyfive foot pit, and cen go down until all the marl has been exhausted. — Wednesday morning, about 9 o'clock, the entire roof of C, A. Young's large store fell in and made a complete wreck of the building. Mr. C. A. Young and his two clerks, Thad. and Earnest Young, and two negro men were in the store at the time. The two clerks. hearing the crash and being near the wall which was not entirely crushed in, man-aged to get out unhurt. But Mr. Young, who was in the centre of the building a the time, was caught by the falling timber when he had almost reached the door, and was buried completely out of sight under perfect mountain of wrecked timbers brick and mortar. The narrow escape of Mr. Young was truly miraculous. He was badly hurt, but it is hoped, at this writing, that his injuries are not of a serious or permanent nature. But the negro, Henry Lane, s we fear beyond all hope of recovery, and any moment may be his last.

Trial for Larceny.

Last spring the residence of Capt. S. W. Noble, corner of Ninth and Market streets. was entered and robbed of several articles of clothing belonging to himself and wife. No clue was found to the thief and the matter was forgotten. Yesterday morning colored girl named Lizzle Alexander called at the house, when it was discovered that she had on her person at that moment portion of one of the dresses stolen. Capt. Noble went to Justice Hall and got out a warrant for the girl's arrest, and she was taken into custody. Afterwards she was carried before the Mayor, in his capacity of a justice of the peace, when the girl stated that one Maria Nixon gave her the garment Maria Nixon was sent for and she confirmed the girl's story, stating that Amanda Suggs, colored, gave the dress to her for doing some washing for her. Amanda Suggs was next found and brought into Court, when she declared that sometime during last spring she found a bundle of clothing inside of a certain lot. She called the attention of a lady on the premises to the bundle, and she cautioned her not to touch it, as it might be infected with some disease. It lay there for two or three days, when the lady told Amanda to take the bundle out of the lot and throw it away. Instead of obeying the injunction of the lady, however, she took the bundle and kept it, disposing of the dress as stated. The three females were released on their own recognizance, while awaiting further developments.

Unfortunate Shooting Affair at Shoe Heel.

We regret to hear that there was a serious shooting affair at Shoe Heel, Robeson county, on the Carolina Central Railroad, on Saturday morning last. It seems that Mr. Charles McNair, a clerk at Plummersville, who was visiting Shoe Heel, got into a difficulty with Mr. O'Daniels, a merchant of the town, during which the latter slapped his antagonist in the face, when the parties were arrested and carried before the Mayor. Here it was thought the affair had been settled, but later the two men met and the difficulty was renewed, when, as is alleged Mr. O'Daniels picked up an axe helve and made for Mr. McNair, when the latter drew his revolver and fired upon his advancing foe. The ball struck Mr. O'Daniels in the abdomen, passed through his intes tines and was taken out of his back by the surgeons, three or four of whom were soon afterwards in attendance. The wounded man was alive when the train passed Sunday morning, but his condition was considered critical in the extreme.

Mr. O'Daniels has a wife and four children. Mr. McNair is a young man and un-

The unfortunate affair is greatly deplored by the citizens of Shoe Heel.

Exotic Grapes. At the office of Maj. W. D. Young, yes terday, we saw a cluster of California grapes from a vine that was grafted on the 16th of April last at the vineyard of Capt. S. W. Noble, near this city. The grape is dark in color, a little on the oval order in shape, the flavor being exceedingly agreeable. The vine, which came from a mere bud, is now over an inch in diameter and from ten to fifteen feet in length. Another peculiarity of the grape is that it has few seed, and another advantage is the unusual length of time in which it can be kept in a perfectly sound condition. Mr. Noble has about two hundred and fifty of these vines.

The "White Princess" is the name of another exotic grape which is being grown to perfection in the garden of Mr. W. A. French, in this city. It is considered as good as the Malaga, will readily keep a week after plucking and will remain sound on the vine three weeks after becoming thoroughly ripe. These instances are proof positive that exotic grapes can be cultivated to perfection in this latitude.

Capt. H. D. Gilbert and family, Mrs. H. M. Bowden, and Mrs. W. J. Kirkham are at Burton's Springs, Lincoln county.

The family of Captain John H. Sharp. who have been enjoying the cool nights of the Western counties for several weeks past, have returned.

Messrs. M. M. Katz and J. Taylor have gone North to purchase their fall stocks. Mr. J. D. Jamison, who was with Johnston's army when it surrendered, yesterday showed us his parole, dated May 2, 1865. In 1985 this document will be a curiosity. Dr. Julian A. Smith, a former resident of this city, left last evening for Winston, where he will locate for the practice of his profession. We were glad to see Capt. Brock out again yesterday. Mr. R. H. Pickett's family have been on a visit to Virginia for some weeks. Rev. W. H. Lewis was taken sick while conducting services at St. John's Church Sunday morning, and had to dismiss the congregation. He had been unwell for some days.

Fayetteville Items.

Messrs. J. & O. Evans, proprietors of the Fayetteville Sun, are also farmers, and had the honor of selling the first bale of new cotton in Fayetteville, for this season, on Friday, the 28th inst.

would help the late crops. The annual pic-nic will come off at Idaho, Cumberland county, on Friday. September 4th. Many of our Fayetteville friends expect to attend. The thanks of the STAR staff are tendered for an invitation to be present.

OPERA HOUSE.

The Standard Dramatic Company opened week's engagement here last night with "The Zingara," and though the weather was extremely threatening, still a very fair crowd assembled. The part of Oynthia, by Miss Alice Irving, was well acted and in many respects was far above the average.

Hattie Canady, colored, was arrested about 3 o'clock Sunday morning, in the "Hollow," charged with assault and battery upon one Ada Harris alias "Long Nine." The evidence was of a character to cause Justice Hall, before whom the case was tried, to view the difficulty in the light of an affray, and the parties were required to pay the costs between them. Hattie Canady, unable to comply with the conditions, was sent to jail. The witnesses, who were all colored and of the feminine gender, excited the sympathy of the spectators on account of the shock their modesty must have sustained in being required to testify in open court, which was evidenced by the shrinking timidity with which they gave in their testimony. His worship himself was evidently impressed with the degree of refinement exhibited by the dusky damsels, and took occasion to intimate as Badly Frightened.

A mail agent who runs between this city and Petersburg, Va., was in Wilmington during the prevalence of the storm on Tues. day evening of last week. This is the way he described it to a Petersburg reporter:

"A complete panic took possession of many people. The flashes of lightning were frequent and fearfully brilliant, the wind blew with appalling velocity and the scene of destruction was enough to shake the courage of the stoutest hearts. Many persons jumped into the river to secure proection from the wind and lightning. The rain fell in torrents. The roar of the tempest was terrible. For his part he did not think he would ever leave the town alive.'

Poor fellow. He must have been frightened, indeed, when his imagination could conjure up such terrible scenes not put down in the bills. Go away from home if you want to get the news from thereabouts.

Rase Ball.

The game given in honor of Mr. Harris will take place this afternoon, at the Seaside grounds, when Mr. Hamilton, a pitcher of some note, will occupy the box, with Harris as his catcher. Monroe and Moore will form the battery for the Seaside. The game will commence at 4.30 o'clock, and a spirited contest can be expected. We hope to see a large crowd in attendance, as it will be the last game of the season, and each visitor may expect an equivalent for his money in the shape of Scrimmage.

Freddie Gerhardt, a German sailor, and colored man named David Price, had a fight in the "Hollow" yesterday afternoon, about 6 o'clock, but the scrimmage was quickly brought to a close by Officer Gafford of the police force, who arrested the parties and took them to the guard house. They were afterwards carried before Mayor Hall, who opened his court and disposed of the case. Gerhardt, who started the disturbance, being fined $3 and the other dis-
