OUTLINES.

Four cotton mills at Woodbury, Md., are making arrangements to go to work on full time, giving employment to 2,000 operatives. Cholera deaths in Spain Monday 1,190; new cases 3,669. Eight cholera deaths in Toulon Monday. A Spanish steamer with several cases of cholera is quarantined at Leith, Scotland. The glass bores strike at Baltimore, Md., has been settled, and work will be resumed next week. The Sportsmen's Shot Works, Cincinnati, O., damaged by fire $15,000. Barney Conner, a local desperado of Greensburg, Ind., was killed by an officer who was trying to arrest him. M. T. Hitchcock has been arrested in New Haven, Conn., for passing worthless checks; Hitchcock was in the employ of the law firm of J. F. Manning & Co., at Boston. The Emperor and Empress of Germany returned to Berlin to participate in the celebration of the anniversary of the victory of Sedan. The drug-gist of Hoboken, N. J., whose mistake killed two young ladies, took poison, but will recover. Two section hands killed on the Rock Island R. R., near Chicago, Ill.; two others were seriously injured. Six buildings burned at Cameron, N. C.; losses $14,500.

Bismarck is in favor of Protection. Sis John Roach.

The Salmon fisheries have fallen off very greatly in the catches.

The Iowa Republican platform is more dry-rot than that of Ohio, which was very bad.

The price of phosphate rock in South Carolina has fallen from $6.30 per ton to $4.80 per ton.

Mr. J. Emerson Wing, a fast young man of Columbia, ended his life by taking a large dose of arsenic.

Sullivan's blood is up. He is anxious to fight McCaffrey with bare knuckles for $5,000 against $3,000.

Pugilist McCaffrey's tactics consisted in dodging. He got away from the wind of Sullivan's sledgehammer.

Representative Hill, of Ohio, has answered John Sherman's bloody-shirt harangue. He warmly defended the Administration.

An English Cricket company is to visit New York. It takes some times two days to end one game. This is too slow for Americans.

A son of Gen. O. O. Howard, of Freedman's Bureau odor, attempted suicide on account of disappointed love. He is but 19. Poor boy!

The North is boastful and confident over the success of the Boston yacht Puritan. But if the English boat should beat "what a fall was there, my countrymen."

Mrs. Argles, the real "Duchess," is Irish. We notice that the Philadelphia American spells it Argelles. We give the spelling above of Mr. Henry Morley, an English man of letters.

Galveston came very near having a very serious riot on 30th ult., between soldiers and citizens on the one side and railroad strikers on the other. It was finally settled by arbitration. Sensible, that!

Our gifted Southern woman of genius, Miss Murfree, is reported to be hard at work. She is perhaps producing too rapidly, but we can bear witness to the excellence of three of her four published works.

The Chicago Current was forced to make an assignment, but A. E. Davis, a publisher, will continue it, and we hope permanently if it is kept up to its old standard. It is about the best literary weekly in America. The country ought to support one snob paper.

Is Gen. Gordon alive? The belief exists among his military and other friends that he really escaped from Khartoum and succeeded in reaching the Equator. This belief is so strong that a mission for his relief has been organized and is now nearly completed.

That blind Protection paper, the Philadelphia Press, professes to have information that the Administration favors a cutting down of Tariff revenue from thirty to forty million dollars. This might do for a beginning. We hope reduction once begun will not stop until prime necessities shall be put on the free list, or bear the smallest possible tax.

THE MORNING STAR.

VOL. XXXVI.—NO. 139. WILMINGTON, N. C., WEDNESDAY, SEPT. 2, 1885. WHOLE NO. 5914

According to the Popular Science Monthly there is a sad deterioration in human eye-sight. It is claimed that white paper and black letters are doing it. According to this authority:

"Lord Bacon long ago said that the rays of the sun are reflected by a white body and absorbed by a black one, hence the slayer of the letters in an ordinary printed book are not received on the retina by a spontaneous direct action of that organ. The white surface of the paper is reflected, and the letters are detected only by a discriminating effort of the optic nerve. This effort annoys the nerve, and a long continued destroys its susceptibility."

At Ocean Grove, N. J., there is a great Methodist meeting progressing. Up to last Saturday there had been five hundred conversions. This camp ground was first opened in 1870. A special to the Baltimore American says:

"At the suggestion of George W. Childs, Esq., editor of the Philadelphia Ledger, it was proposed that there be erected here a memorial of General Grant, who made his last public address on this platform, and his last appearance in a public assembly. His sister has been active in religious work at the camp. A meeting was convened for the consideration of the subject."

The "Bell Farm" in Canada is said to be the largest in the world. The New York Commercial Bulletin says:

"This farm consists of 54,000 acres, of which some 18,000 are under active cultivation. The average yield of the whole 13,000 acres is 25 to 30 bushels of wheat per acre. On one of the best sections of 1,000 acres the yield is 35,000 bushels of wheat. Every 200 acres has upon it a cottage with a living in it, rent free, having charge of three horses."

The Chinese "don't go."

Spirits Turpentine.

Goldboro has raised over $40 thus far for the Shotwell Fund.

There has not been a case of fever at Webster, Jackson county, for over thirty years.

Miss Mary J. Powell, of Richmond county, recently died, left a legacy of $600 to Wake Forest College.

On the Carolina Central a negro section hand was run over by a hand-car and was badly hurt. His name is Thomas Gibbs.

Murfreesboro Index: Bags are damaging the cotton crop in this section very much. Many of the farmers think that clover produces them.

Raleigh Chronicle: That good fellow and public spirited North Carolinian, T. K. Bruner, will hereafter write up the Weekly Mining News for the Baltimore Manufacturers' Record. What he writes can be relied on.

Durham Reporter: We learn from exchanges that Ben Sam Jones has an appointment for Durham. Well, you must go from home to hear the news. We hope it is true, but can't draw so much on our imagination as to state it as a fact.

Lexington Dispatch: Corn in the bottoms in upper Davidson is very good, but upland corn is now suffering from the dry weather.

A Methodist church is being built about three miles from Clemensville. The frame was erected last week.

Goldboro Messenger: Dr. M. E. Robinson has a ten acre field of rice near this city as fine as any to be seen. He expects to make about 400 bushels of the ten acres.

Mr. Blaney Williams, who had many friends in this city, died of heart disease Saturday morning at the residence of his brother in Sampson county.

Beaufort Telephone: We are sorry to learn that Captain Appleton Oaksmith has again suffered from an attack of apoplexy, having been seized with it at his residence in New Bern on Saturday night last. This is the second attack this summer, the first being at Morehead in June. We are, however, pleased to announce that he is rapidly recovering.

Greenville Reflector: Caroline Randolph, colored, was accidentally killed by her husband, Wilson Randolph, at the Windham place, about fifteen miles from town, on Saturday evening. Wilson was preparing to go hunting and while getting down his gun (an old fashioned one) from behind the bed it was accidentally discharged, the load striking his wife in the shoulder, killing her almost instantly.

New Bern Journal: August of 1885 will be remembered as a hot one. About eight years ago Mr. D. Stimson, of this city, loaned a colored man, whom he had employed, ten dollars to help him get to New York, he promising to return the money. Some time passed and Mr. Stimson ceased to look for any return of that ten dollars, but on Friday night the mail brought him a postoffice order for the amount.

Concord Times: Samuel Lilly, Esq., of Stanly county, was in Concord Tuesday. He says that the crops in Stanly are looking well, considering the drought.

Rev. J. B. Helleg, for a long time a resident of this place, died at Harper's Ferry, West Va. — Sheriff M. B. Lassiter, of Mt. Giles, Montgomery county, had his store and entire stock of goods destroyed by fire on the 15th ult. Loss about $5,000; insurance $3,500. Supposed incendiary.

Shelby Aurora: During an intermission in the church services on last Sunday, in the upper part of Cleveland, George Herbert and family were eating a cold dinner, while Nettie, a bright little girl of four summers, was playing near them. She went too near a mule, which kicked her on the head, and she died instantly. The grief-stricken father rushed to the rescue of his child, when he too was kicked in the head by the mule and was insensible for some time.

Raleigh Visitor: Forty convicts were sent from the penitentiary this afternoon to Greensboro to work on the Cape Fear & Yadkin Valley Railroad.

Mr. Blue Run Upchurch, who lives near Apex, shot and seriously wounded Mr. T. M. Jenkins last week. Jenkins was attempting to erect the county fence on the land of Upchurch. After being forbidden, Jenkins attempted to build the fence and was shot by Upchurch. This is the first blood shed here since the no fence law.

Charlotte Observer: The Richmond & Danville Railroad Company is still spending money on the improvement of its party, and arrangements have now been made to erect a new iron bridge over the Yadkin river, above Salisbury. — Dr. J. R. Zearing, of Chicago, Illinois, arrived in Charlotte yesterday for the purpose of building and equipping a line of street railways in this city. Dr. Zearing means business, does not ask the town or people to give one cent of money, but he asks permission to lay his lines and put his cars to running. Raleigh wants Dr. Zearing to build his street car lines there, and a chartered company, as an inducement, offered to make him a present of the charter.

New Bern Journal: Souper-nong grapes have appeared in the market. They are held at ten cents per quart, retail. — Some of our farmers near the city sowed their potato seeds to German millet and it is yielding handsomely. Mr. Nat. Tiedale is getting three tons per acre and he says it is worth $15 per ton. Forty-five dollars per acre after a good crop of potatoes seems to be pretty good farming.

Judge C. was lately crossing the street with a lamp in his hand, going to an oil store to have it filled. A legal friend who saw him called out, "Hey, Judge, I see you in the street at mid-day with a lamp in your hand. I suppose that like Diogenes, you are seeking for an honest man."

"Quite right," replied the wispy Judge, "and I beg you to observe, pass you by."

Raleigh News Observer: Yesterday there was a rather strange sight to be seen at the Agricultural building. Stretching a distance of 108 feet was a distinctive exhibit of North Carolina's varied resources, in the most compact form imaginable. The exhibit is to go to fourteen Northern fairs, to compete for gold medals offered for the largest variety of field crops, woods, timbers and minerals exhibited by Southern and Western States seeking immigration. The idea is Mr. Patrick's own and struck the observer as being just the thing to hit the popular fancy. There was a strip of cloth, plaid goods, forty feet long, upon which was painted "North Carolina Mills Manufacture a Fine and Durable Grade of Cloth." Then came a map of the State, and on a white strip of cloth twenty feet long the words "North Carolina." Another map followed, after which was another strip of cloth, on which were the words "North Carolina Plaid." Thomas M. Holt, Raw River Mills, below these inscriptions and maps hung cases made of all the woods found in the State, and divided into little compartments. There are no less than twenty-one of these cases. The compartments, each four inches square, are covered with mica or glass, and they contain eighteen kinds of corn, as well as every grain or grass in the State, beans, wild nuts and peanuts (31 kinds), cotton seed and meal, tea seed, silk cocoons, etc., wines, oils of various kinds, dried fruit, 71 varieties and medicinal herbs, 162 kinds of minerals, as well as grain and grasses in the sheaf, and hundreds of other things which illustrate North Carolina. The compactness of all this may be understood when it is stated that the cases are 2 1/2 feet in size and an inch thick, together with the cloth, etc., go neatly in the special packing boxes about 3 1/2 feet in size. All the work was done in the agricultural building.

Monthly Mortuary Report.

Following is a statement of the deaths in the city of Wilmington during the month of August, as gleaned from the report of Dr. F. W. Potter, Superintendent of Health.

Whites.—Males, 4; females, 4; adults, 6; children, 2. Total, 8.

Colored.—Males, 21; females, 10; adults, 18; children, 18. Total, 51.

Total white and colored 59. Of this number 1 (col.) was drowned; 1 (col.) died of old age, and 5 (col.) were still-born infants, which leaves only 53 deaths from actual disease, and only 8 consecutive upon diseases peculiar to our locality. These were 56 deaths during last August, of which 4 were still-born, showing a difference of 26 in favor of the month just past.

The Railroads All Right Again.

The Charleston News & Courier of Saturday says: "Mr. John F. Divine, General Superintendent of the Atlantic Coast Line, was in the city yesterday, and said that the storm had not damaged any of the property of that line, except at Charlotte, and that almost all of the injury which was sustained by the roads here had been repaired. The work of the North Eastern Railroad track has been completed and all of the trains are running over the road as usual. A large supply of tin and several others were brought from Wilmington yesterday and immediately set to work repairing the roof of the business offices."

Death of a Well Known Lady.

We find in the Mobile Register of the 23rd inst., the announcement of the death of Mrs. S. A. Clitherall, wife of Maj. Geo. Burgwyn Clitherall, formerly of this State, in the 72nd year of her age. Deceased was a native of Newbern, being a sister of Rev. E. M. Fookes, and related through marriage to several of our citizens. The Register says of her: "She was a woman noted for her energy, her constant attention to the duties of life, her cheerful disposition, her charity and her devotion to religious matters. She was confirmed into the Episcopal Church many years ago."

Personal.

Our friend General H. H. Munson is now North getting his fall stock of cloths and clothing.

We had a pleasant call yesterday from Mr. R. W. Fuller, local editor of the Southern Florida Argus, published at Sanford, Orange county, Fla. Mr. Fuller is on his way to visit relatives at Lumberton, where he once resided.

Mr. W. H. Malloy has just returned from a trip up the Carolina Central, and reports the crops in most instances better than last year, and in none worse. The confidence of the farmers is displayed in the fact that they are buying more largely than at the same time last year.

A Lunatic at Large.

A colored man, who goes by the name of H. H. Holmes, who is alleged, burned several small houses in Brunswick county a year or two ago, while laboring under a fit of insanity, and who was afterwards sent to the asylum, was arrested and carried to the guard house yesterday, his actions on the streets being such as to show that it is not safe for him to be at large. He says he was discharged from the asylum. He says he doesn't want to go home to Brunswick, and defies any power or authority to make him do so.

The Barque Bomerang sailed for Liverpool for this port August 31st.

OPERA HOUSE.

Standard Dramatic Company in "My Partner."

The Opera House was crowded last night to see "My Partner," and the reception accorded to the Standard Dramatic Company was most cordial.

The play was divided into four acts and everything went off smoothly and satisfactorily. The Company has many good points, and far surpasses many troupes who have more pretensions and not half the merit.

Mr. S. B. McElreth was the centre of attraction last night, and his rendition of Wing Lee was such as to bring from the audience many manifestations of pleasure. All of the different characters were sustained, and no one who took part in the performance has caused to regret it, for all did well, and extremely well.

"The Two Orphans" will be presented to-night, and we have no doubt will give entire satisfaction.

Fortis of a Light Keeper.

One of the incidents of the late storm has not yet been related. The keeper of Oak Island (Fort Caswell) Light, Mr. Geo. Walker, finding that his house was rocking very severely, during the height of the gale, took his wife and went to an out-building, which was thought to be more secure. His change had not been made long, however, when the house to which they had retreated succumbed to the violence of the hurricane and became partially demolished. There was no alternative now left but to return to the house they had abandoned. On the front, facing the ocean, these washed up against the building to such an extent, before they left, that ingress and egress would have been next to impossible; now, on their return, they found to their consternation that the high steps at the rear of the house had been washed away during their absence, and there was no means of entrance. All they could do was to select the least exposed location and patiently endure the peltings of the pitiless storm until peace had once more been restored to the warring elements. Fortunately, though fairly plastered by sand, they received no serious injuries.
