EVENING EDITION.

EDUCATION.

Teachers' Institutes are doubtless a source of improvement and interest to all who attend. They are steadily growing in favor. Many new ideas and hints must be imparted to teachers, and in this way no little good can be secured. Schools of technology are also attracting more attention and in the near future, we may suppose, will be established in all of the States. There is a positive need of trained workmen in every department. The workshops are needed to make skilled artisans, and industrial schools are the ones needed to this end. A skilled workman is capable of thought. He is not a mere machine without intelligence. He has something else in his head than a mere imitative faculty. The intelligent young men of the country will go into these schools of training, and in this way give variety to employment as well as dignity to labor. In Europe sons of poliemen sometimes Sarn mechanics, and even members of a royal family have had the hands trained as well as the mind.

Normal Schools and Teachers' In stitutes are to be commended and encouraged. There may be too much anxiety to seek novelty in methods of teaching, and new and plausible ideas that are revolutionary may tickle and startle, but when Normal Schools are conducted by our own teachers they cannot well fail in giving a new stimulus to teaching as well as communicating information that shall prove of genuine practical value afterwards.

The common school system of the State is admitted to be defective and is quite susceptible of improvement. If there was more money raised for school purposes, there could be longer school terms, more comfortable and standard of qualification for teachers. It seems to us that every true friend of education should recognize the importance of exciting a greater educacational enthusiasm and by arousing the more intelligent people to a highe the way for a larger expenditure | he is determined that mobs shall in that direction.

efficient school system. This means longer terms and better teachers. If you wish to obtain thoroughly qualified teachers you must pay a live and let live compensation.

THE FORESTRY CONGRESS.

In a few weeks the American Forestry Congress is to assemble in Boston. This is a very important gathering and we call attention to it that North Carolina may not be unrepresented. Mr. Montford Mo-Gehee, the excellent Commissioner of Agriculture, should be present if possible. He has shown a very in telligent appreciation of the necessity of preserving our forests and in his Monthly Bulletins has spread much instructive and needed information on the subject of forests and forestry before the people. We would be glad to know that he attends. By reason of very fine culture, elegant manners, excellent abilities, wide reading and observation, and good speaking powers he would be able to make a fine impression and represent admirably the State of North Caro-

It has been ascertained that the annual product of the forests of this country in dollars and cents amounted to the immense sum of $700,000, 000. Surely here is a vast source of wealth. But if the destruction of the great forests continue for a generation as it has since the beginning of the century it is not hard to see that a great part of this yearly pro duct will have disappeared. It is because of this that some States hav taken steps to prevent the wanton and universal destruction of the trees whilst tree planting has been prac ticed, fostered and extended in man

As the STAR has urged often, so i again repeats, it is the duty of ever person owning lands to plant trees every year. The trees on an acre of land, when well wooded, are worth more than the land is after it has been stripped. This is true in all cases unless it be lands that will produce more than North Carolina lands usually produce.

We are really gratified to know that the interest in forestry is steadily growing. The Forestry Congress was organized a few years since and it is growing in public favor, and the last meeting was much more largely attended than any before. It is doing a good and useful work. It is agitating in the right direction. It is announced that many distinguished specialists will attend the Boston session. We shall look with interest to its deliberations and hope to gather from it such facts and statistics as shall prove useful and instructive to our practical and wide-awake readers. In this way present Administration "the rebels public attention can be awakened and from it practical results will fol-

THE UNNATURAL ALLIANOR. We have expected and still expect that the unnatural alliance between the Tories and Irish Home Rulers will prove a failure in the end. It cannot last for many years, and for reasons we have already pointed out. There are indications that there will be disappointments before the year ends. Mr. Parnell, in a speech on Tuesday night, both admitted the perpetration of outrages in Ireland by the Irish and denounced them. And yet only two or three months ago it was claimed by the Parnellites and asserted by the Tories that there were no outrages, but all was peace and quiet, and that, therefore, coercion laws were useless, wrong and oppressive. With the Tories in power and Gladstone out all would be serene. But, behold, the Tory Viceroy, Lord Carnarvon, whose appointment in place of Earl Spencer was hailed with such demonstrations inviting school houses, and a higher of delight by the Irish, whose rule was to be so different from his predecessors, and whose journey in the island caused so much of enthusiasm, is already forced by circumstances to change his attitude and to sing a different strain. Owing to the outer appreciation of the advantages of rages he threatens the vengeance of a good common school system pre- the law upon all offenders and says

There if nothing stranger to us in British politics than the willingness of Ireland to form a partnership with the old Tory party that has always persecuted and wronged them, and against Mr. Gladstone, who is the best friend Ireland ever found among Englishmen.

LEE ON THE STUMP.

Gen. Fitz Lee made a speech on Monday at Accomack Courthouse to a large and enthusiastic crowd. The Virginia Democratic papers say the speech was brilliant and great enthusiasm prevailed. He took up Republican charges against the Democrats and refuted them. Carry the war into Africa, Gen. Lee. It is a bad way to get on the defensive. Force your antagonists to defend their own records. We are glad to see that Gen. Lee will not have a joint discussion. The Executive Committee refused to divide time with Mr. Blair. The Norfolk Landmark says, and it is precisely on the line favored by the STAR in 1884 in the canvass in this State:

"That orator (Blair) was left to grace just such a meeting as can be gathered in Eastern Virginia of the motley followers of the native bloody shirt party; and the contrast exercised a wholesome influence in several ways. It made public exhibition of the material of the two parties, and Mr. Blair must have felt this when he made the

The sentiment of the country at large is that the Tariff must be revised and reduced. There are sections in the South and Democrats who are being helped by bounties and a small class of editors who are Protectionists, but the great masses are opposed to this oppressive, onesided system. The manufacturers may kick but reform and readjustment are bound to come because they are necessary. The Washington Post discusses at some length the "very foolish manufacturers" in Rhode Island, and says this, which take to be the precise truth:

"If there be one thing settled it is that there will be speedily a revision of the tariff, which necessitates a reopening of tariff agitation. All parties admitted it, and none in their platforms undertook to decline the responsibility. To show how selfish they are and how eager to have their own little axes ground at the public expense for ever and ever, one of those resent—no less an official than Senator Aldrich-took occasion to caution the meeting against a schedule prepared by cotton manufacturers of Boston in 1878 which, he said, would have ruined nearly one-third of the cotton manufacturers of New England."

CUBBENT COMMENT.

- Since the report of Senator Sherman's speech reached us, we have been anxiously waiting for news from the great General of the same name. If what Brother John says of the South is true-that they are still lying in their trenches and waiting for a good shot at any Union man who passes; that under the are on top," and that "the South is held together in political friendship by crimes, violence and fraud"then Brother Tecumseh ought to buy a new whet-stone to sharpen his sword withal. Has he lost his patriotism, or does he receive what the Senator says with a few grains of salt? What sly dogs those Southerners must be to get ready for a new war while Confederate and Union Generals are arm and arm at Grant's funeral! Is Senator Sherman what would be called a very offensive partisan?-N. Y. Herald, Ind.

- The opposition to the appoint ment of Mr. Randall to the chairmanship of the Appropriations Committee will, from present indications. be very strong. He leads a small minority in the House, and it is charged that he uses his position so as to prevent harmony in the party. The opposition to him is not wholly confined to the fact that he is not in harmony with his party on the most important question with which it has to deal. Many of the members declare that he is dictatorial and overbearing, and they want him put where he will not be so prominent. Savannah News, Dem.

- We shall be considerably astonished if, in the light of Parnell's latest utterance, the grotesque alliance between him and the Churchillite Tories does not straightway collapse. The alliance has not yet had time to solidify, for the cementing elements were not of the strongst, and the wrench that the repeal declaration must have given cannot help but be fatal to that union. We expect, therefore, soon to hear that Salisbury formally and finally renounces connection with "Belial," and that Churchill and the few Conhis freak of "shooting Niagara," will make speedy tracks for safer and less questionable ground .- N. O. States,

A HINT FOR HUSBANDS.

Boston Transcript. Mr. W. is quite an elderly, wealthy gentleman, having for his second wife a lady many years his junior and much petted. Any expressed wish of hers he has at once gratified, if money could be the medium. One evening she remarked in her charming way, "I saw to day at -- store a lovely camel's hair shawl that I tance of his porter, he did bring nome and placed on the parlor fifteen hundred silver dol-At the site of this pile of metal, weighing nearly a hundred pounds, the wife exclaimed, "what are you going to do with all that money?" "Why! love, it's the money you wanted for the new "Good gracious! Does it shawl." take all that to make $1,500? Why I had no idea it meant so much. will do without the shawl and will put it all in the savings bank, if you will let me." And she did so, and has since added several sums to the deposit. Mr. W. affirms, on his honor, that since that event she has not asked for a quarter part so much money as before the meident. The above is not a fancy sketch. It all really happened.

AMUSEMENT OF THE PE-

N. Y. Times.

The melancholy Jaques that preathes in the present and lives in the past, comparing men and things as they are with men and things as they have been-and invariably to the disadvantage of the later period -would not be inclined to draw a flattering conclusion as to the taste of American amusement seekers from their momentary characteristics. Edmond About tells a story of a Parisian theatrical manager who, after numerous failures, caused mainly by the public's indifference to works of sterling merit but slight drawing power, summoned two of his favorite dramatists, and commissioned them to make ready a play of a quite different nature. Its success was to be secured by a throng of pretty women, by a panorama of brilliant scenes, by a succession of the most popular tunes of the day, and by no end of gorgeous dresses—when dresses were at all required. "None of your wit, none of your long speeches, were his commands; "something that will please the eye and the ear and leave the brain at rest." The play wrights carried out their employer's instructions and with the happiest results. The novelty was brought out while a World's Fair was in progress, and everybody hastened to see The very Esquimaux, according to About, witnessed it again and again out of sheer patriotism, as it abled them to go h to their own people how much more sensible they were than the modern Athenians. Most of the representations that now appeal to the public would, in truth, send an Esquimau visitor back to his icebergs in the same proud and happy frame of mind. It is questionable if at any period in its history dramatic and musical trash-trash that affords rare opportunities for shows of color, for jingling rhymes and inspiriting measures, and for exhibitions of pretty faces and shapely forms, but trash nevertheless-has ever had more complete control of the metropolitan torted the lady, with emphasis. "But I believe-" "Bah! What do your beliefs mount to?"

"But I think-" "Bah! You flatter yourself. What re your thoughts worth?"

"But, my dear, I know-" "Don't talk to me about what you know. What you don't know would fill an encyclopedia. Everybody knows you are a stupid, old, senseless, worthless dotard. You don't know enough to come in when it rains." "Who is that old gentleman over s the Chief Justice of the State Supreme Court."

Consider, Mr. Edmunds, Consider. Springfield Republican.

Senator Edmunds thinks Mr. Cleve and "has not about him the men who would help him in adhering to civil service reform," although his own intentions were good. Let us see who are in the Cabinet now in place of the last Cabinet:

Bayard in place of Frelinghuysen. Manning in place of McCulloch. Endicott in place of Lincoln. Whitney in place of Chandler. Vilas in place of Hatton. Lamar in place of Teller. Garland in place of Brewster.

Man for man, we submit that the cause of civil service reform stands as good a chance with the first col umn of names as with the second.

Quality of Southern Iron.

Pittsburg Dispatch. Possibly the furnaces of Alabama can produce pig at $10 a ton, but positively the owners have not shipped largely to the Northern market, and that which they have shipped has been in competition with Scotch pig, which is imported by stove-plate servatives who accompanied him in founders. The quality of the cheap iron, so far as mills' wants are concerned, is as far behind Pennsplvania iron as is the stated cost of production.

White Operatives-Many of them Killed and their Quarters Burned-A Thorough Clean-Out of the Tawny

[By Telegraph to the Morning Star.] CHEVENNE, Sept. 8.—The Leader has he following special from Rock Springs,

"The largest coal mines in the entire Union Pacific system are at Rock Springs, 250 miles west of Cheyenne. The company recently imported a large number of Chinese to take the places of the white men employed. Yesterday afternoon the entire force of white miners, about 150 strong, organized, and arming themselves with shot-guns marched to China town. After firing a volley into the air they reloaded and ordered the Chinamen to leave. The order was obeyed at once, the Chinamen fleeing to the hills closely pursued by the miners, who fired several volleys at the fugitives with fatal effect. The Chinese quarter was then set on fire, and thirty-nine houses, which were owned by the company, were destroyed together with their contents. The miners next visited the various mines in the camp, unearthed all of the Chinamen at work there in, and bade them fice. Of four hundred Chinamen here yesterday morning not one remains. All are in the hills, heading for Green River, fourteen miles west of here. Seven were killed outright by shots fired by the miners and many were wounded It is said that several, who were feeble and helpless from disease, perished in the

By Cable to the Morning Star. Tucson, Arizona, Sept. 8. - A Fort Bowie special says: Lt. Guy E. Huse has just returned from Mexico, with thirty-two men, having made one thousand miles since May 19th. He has in charge fifteen of Geronimo's squaws and children as prisoners. He reports that in the late light Geronimo picked up his favorite child and rushed out of camp. Then he was surprised and had to run the gauntlet of fifty rifles, the best shots of the Chericahuas and San Carlos tribes. He was shot twice and dropped the boy, and ran cover-ed with blood and with his left arm shattered. His squaws, who are among the prisoners, say he was shot through the body. Some of them say he is dead.

ECZEMA.

For the benefit of suffering humanity, and in peartfelt gratitude at the wonderful result, I seem it only my duty to give this unsolicited tes timony in favor of Swift's Specific. My wife has been afflicted with hereditary Eczema or Salt Rheum from her infancy. It has increased in intensity with each succeeding spring, and being somewhat skilled in medicine myself, I tried er. ery remedy I could think of for years—sarsapa. rilla combined with every form of Po'assing "Cutionra," pills of every kind, and bundreds of other remedies, lotions, and alkali washes of ev ery known kind, but they all gave on'y temporary relief. Luring the spring of 1834 her lower extremities became so inflamed and sore that she was obliged to keep them constantly coated with a covering of "Fuller's Earth," mixed wat and allowed to dry on. Among other things she was afflicted with a periodical nervous headache, occurring regularly every seven days, sometimes tollowed by an intermittent fever to times followed by an intermittent fever for weeks at a time, so that her life became a burden to her.

This spring I determined she should take 8.8.8. and follow strictly the directions in regard to dose, diet, etc. This was about seven weeks ago. After taking the first large bottle the disease seemed to increase; the burning, itching and inflammation became unbearable. She, however, her become the medicine. After taking the second bottle the inflammation. flammation became unpearable. She, however, persevered in the use of the medicine. After taking the second bottle the inflammation became to subside. After the third bottle the inflammation disappeared, and sore spots dried up and turned white and sealy, and finally she brushed the control of the primary persons. them off in an impalpable white powder resemthem off in an impalpable white powder resembling pure salt. She is now taking the sixth bottle, three tablespoonsful four times dally. Every appearance of the disease has gone, and her fiesh is becoming soft, white and smooth again, and what is more, her periodical headaches have disappeared, and she is now, at 53 years of age, enjoying the only good health she has known for enjoying the only good health she has known for upwards of 40 years. No wonder she declares at housand times its weight in gold.

Any further information concerning her case will be cheerfully given by herself at her region dence, 135 Mullett Street or by me.
