WHOLE NO. 5922

The amenities of the Virginia campaign are being exhibited. Mr. R. R. Henry made a speech and referred to Wise as the "trick mule in the Danville circus," Wise retaliated by saying he "considered a man a jackass who could find no better argument than that for a political discussion, and that, like the jackass, his voice was the greatest part of him, and that people who talked that way were careful enough to keep out of the way of the heels of the mule." This led Henry to write to know if he meant "to impugn his personal courage." To this Wise replied that he did not, for he knew nothing of his courage, but meant "to be just as rude and unparliamentary in my allusion to you as you had, unprovokedly, been in reference to me." Henry replied by saying: "As you considered what I said about you as offensive, I might reasonably have expected you to pursue a different course than to retaliate in kind, and I decline to bandy epithets with you." farther said as his courage was not questioned he was satisfied.

The Raleigh News-Observer, 're ferring to what the STAR said about the negroes of Wilmington saying "poor barker," says:

"The writer was born on a rice planta tion within five miles of Wilmington, and lived twenty-five years in the city men-tioned, and he never heard the word 'buckra,' which is daily used, as the STAR says, pronounced otherwise than bokra-not quite buckra, but beckra. 'Poor bockra,' or, to be exact, 'po' bockra,' we think the Wilmington people will agree with us in the ordinary pronunciation.

The writer has been here nine years. He does not remember to have heard it used by the old negroes, but by negroes who have grown up or been born since the war. To his ears the sound has always been "barker." We referred to three gentlemen. One agreed with the News-Observer, and the other two thought it was not bockra, but bocker. We still think that it has more of the sound-"po'

John Sherman is a fraud. He wishes to so reduce the Southern representation in the Congress as to get rid of the colored vote. The negro has been long used, but as it is impossible any longer to hold the Southern States bound to the Radical Car of Juggernaut, the plan of Sherman is to deprive the negro vote of representation. He bases his charges against the South upon the statement of Cable, the traitor, who is now engaged in traducing the Southern people.

It looks absurd to be trying editor Stead for the very offence or crime he has so vigorously exposed in his paper, the Pall Mall Gazette. We agree with this from the Philadelphia News as to the charge of abduc-

"It is absolutely certain, that there was no criminal intention on the part of Mr. Stead, and his trial for a crime of which he is morally and physically innocent, though perhaps technically guilty, shows that the charge is the veriest farce, instituted only to discount the effect of his terrible revelations."

Proper names are hard things to tackle. Cleveland was too much for many editors, as was Stedman in the last State campaign. Many leading papers spell it Hoadley, and now and then we see the name of the British Premier spelled Saulsbury. Herbert Spencer spells it with a c, but the great poet Edmund spelled it Spenser.

The Richmond State calls Johnny Wise "the ranting demagogue."

"His speeches are nothing more than demagogical slush of a most incoherent and rambling character, proving nothing except that his mode of thinking and expression are unstatesmanlike, un Virginian and undignified."

Spirits Turpentine

- Bishop Lyman confirmed nine whites and twenty negroes at Asheville. - Greenville Standard: Our college is doing well. It now has over students.

- The first man who grows tobacco in a new county makes the best crop that was ever seen. There are as many actual grades of tobacco as there are dif-ferent grades in men.

- Asheville Citizen: Yesterday morning, as the train from the east was coming in, about one mile this side of Cooper's station, some one threw a stone at it, which crashed through the window of the sleeper. Fortunately it did no damage to a passenger.

- Greenville Reflector: Capt.F.W. Bond, of Edenton, died at his fishery, in out. The papers urge that if they are too filthy to be endured in the United States that Mexico cannot stand them. The Roman Catholic priests are also active in the crusade.

Bond, of Edenton, died at his fishery, in Perquimans county, on last Sunday, in his 45th year. He was Captain of Co. A, 1st N. C. Regiment (Maj. Latham's), and was badly wounded in the right shoulder at Malvern Hill in 1862. It was from the effects of this wound that he died. Capt. Bond was an exemplary man in all the relations of life.

- Hickory Press: The editor has just returned from Blowing Rock, Watau-ga county, which has become one of the most popular summer resorts of Western North Carolina. This place has an alti-North Carolina. This place has an att-tude of 4,000 feet and is surrounded by Grandfather, Table Rock, Blowing Rock Gap, Fairview, Greene's Hill, Hawk Bill, Elk Knob, and other noted mountains, making it one of the most grand and pic-turesque of all the resorts in the State.

- Morganton Blade: The doctors put their heads together Thursday morning and decided not to amputate Engineer Low's foot, fractured in the recent accident on the W. N. C. Railroad. — A Salisbury subscriber to the late Enterprise requests the correction of a statement inadvertantly made by the editor of that paper to the effect that Mrs. G. A. Bingham had died at the Western Asylum, when in fact it was a Miss Connaughey, of the same

Charlotte Observer: Rev. L. Me-Kinnon, the new President of Davidson College, was in the city yesterday; and was elated at the bright prospects ahead for that institution. — A few days ago the Reporter, a small small daily paper published at Durham, made some comment upon the purchase of the property near Blowing Rock by Mr. R. A. T. Robertson, which displeased that gentleman, and gave sufficient ground, in his opinion for a libel suit.

— Lenoir Topic: On Friday Mrs. Kirby, widow of Enoch Kirby, living one mile from Nelson's, near the turnpike, lost mile from Nelson's, near the turnpike, lost her dwelling house, together with all of her furniture, by a fire. —— Mrs. Susan Phillips, widow of Joseph Phillips, died on Wilson's Creek, July 1, aged 96 years. Up to within two years of her death this aged lady was in good health and had good eyesight. She died in the sure hope of a joyful resurrection. She had 13 children 63 grand children, and 60 great grand-children, most of whom are living, many of them being males and all of them Dem-

- Rockingham Rocket: Mr. J. S Tomlinson expects at an early day to begin the publication, at Asheville, N. C., of a twenty-four page paper called "Country Homes." — Rev. Robert Fletcher and Aunt Charlotte Leak, venerable and highly respected colored persons, died the past week, the former about 75 and the latter probably 80 years of age. — Rev. Geo. Carson, the colored Presbyterian minister of Lumberton, who preached a very creditable sermon in the court house here last Sunday a week, will organize a Presbyte-rian church here on the first Sunday in Oc tober, with some 16 members as a nucleus

- Murphy Bulletin: The High lander says the town of Franklin, in Macon county, was the scene of a little excitement last Tuesday evening about 7 o'clock, the prisoners in the gaol having broken out. Lombard and a mulatto named Jim Siler, in prison for poisoning a family with "Rough on Rats," were soon overtaken and brought back, but Martiu, a moonshiner, escaped. — We learned yesterday of a serious cutting affair which took place a few days since at Joshua Whitaker's still house at Taylor's Ferry, on Hiwassee river Lee Taylor's son cut one of Tom Taylor's sons across the neck and in one shoulder, also breaking three of his ribs. It is reported that both were drunk. They are

- New Berne Journal: The rice crop in Hyde county is thought to be a failure. — Potatoes are plentiful, and sell at thirty five to forty cents per bushel, wholesale. — Dick Bryan and Anthony Green, two colored men, got into a quarre up town, near Mr. Rhem's farm, yesterd ay evening, when Bryan seized a hoe and struck Green on the head, inflicting a serious wound which it is feared will prove fatal. When Bryan learned the extent of the damage he had done he fled towards Mr. Rhem's farm, pursued by Deputy Sheriff J. L. Hahn, who took him to jail. — La Grange dot: Col. Davis tells us that the opening at his school was very satisfactory, and we learn that Collegiate Institute is getting good patronage and doing firstrate. - Jones county items: We have a fine crop of sweet potatoes and grapes. - The corn crop in our county will not begin to compare with last year's crop, and cotton is said to be a great deal shorter than it has been for several years, -Trenton is fast filling up; every dwelling is filled, while several more families are anxious to move in to send their children to school, but are unable to rent a house.

Raleigh News-Observer: There have been few losses of tobacco barns by fire this season, and this is a matter of congratulation. Mr. Nick Denton lost a barn this city Friday, and Monday Mr. N. R. Mitchener lost another at Wilson's Mills, Johnston county. — The delivery of the stone, in the shape of dressed granite blocks, for the curbing of the sidewalks on Fayette-ville street is being made. It is from Henderson and is a very hard stone. - Three illicit distillers came in of their own free will and accord, submitted their cases and were bound over to the December term of the U. S. Court. — Travel on the Ra-leigh & Gaston Road is very heavy now, both northern and southern bound. larger than any previous season. The Louisburg road is proving of special value. Arrangements have been for double daily mails over that line.

Mr. D. M. Renno, the veteran bridgebuilder, is putting safety rails and sills on the bridges on the Raleigh &
Gaston and Raleigh & Augusta roads. Yesterday a reporter interviewed Capt.
William Smith, Superintendent of the Raleigh & Gaston Railroad, and was glad to hear his good reports of the condition of things on that line. There is a regular boom, and Henderson, Warrenton, Franklinton, Littleton, and other places are all enjoying it. The people are full of energy and all are at work, steadily and earnestly. The towns are going up like magic. —A reward of $150 was offered for William Petteway, a negro who stands charged with the crime of murdering his wife, in Carteret county. He made a pretence of taking the woman to New Berne, but instead killed her and buried her under a stump. It was a brutal murder, and its author is a fugitive from justice. Gov. Jarvis, about a year or eighteen months ago, offered a reward of $300 for the capture of John Bracksville, an escaped murderer of Richmond county. Recently Gov. Scales paid the reward, Bracksville having been apprehended. Right on the beels of this comes the news that Bracksville has again escaped from the lie an expensive luxury anyway. jail. He is an expensive luxury, anyway.

Capt. Butts Everitt (as he is familiarly called) was the innocent cause of quite a sensation at the Central Hotel in Charlotte on Tuesday morning, according to the Oberver. It seems that he had a pistol in his trunk, all the chambers of which he supposed to be empty, having shot out all the cartridges at the Sound. In the privacy of his room he came across the weapon. The sequel is told by the Observer:

"He took it out, looked at it and did not see any cartridges in it, and commenced amusing himself by pointing the weapon at an imaginary bird and snapping it. The bird was supposed to be stationed at the upper corner of a window in his room, and each time the pistol snapped the Captain could imagine the bird falling to the ground, neatly shot through the head. He had snapped four times, and at the fifth snap the crash came. The weapon exploded with a great noise, and the bullet crashed through the window. Capt. Everitt thinks that during his absence from home the pis-tol was extracted from his trunk, used, and then returned by one of his friends, un-

He suggested to this rather suspicious sentinel upon the watch-tower that it was a dangerous business for him to roost so high, especially it that particular locality, and that he (Mr. R.) might consider himself called upon to administer a dose of leaden pills to protect him from the malaria if he should persist in thus exposing himself to the poisonous atmosphere so rife at that late hour of the evening. The colored individual evidently thought he wouldn't relish Mr. Russell's prescription, and therefore slid out of his perch and vamosed. The man was no

A DOWN TOWN MERCHANT, having passed several sleepless nights, disturbed by the agonies and ories of a suffering child, and becoming convinced that Mrs. Winslow's Soothing Syrup was just the article needed, procured a supply for the child. On reaching home and acquainting his wife with what he had done, she refused to have it administered to the child, as she was strongly in favor of Homesopathy. That night the child passed in suffering, and the parents without sleep. Returning home the day following, the father found the baby still suffering; and while contemplating another sleepless night, the mother stepped from the room to attend to some domestic duties and left the father with the child. During her absence he administered a portion of the Soothing Syrup to the baby, and said nothing. That night all hands slept well, and the little fellow awoke in the morning bright and happy! The mother was delighted with the wonderful change, and although at first offended at the deception practiced upon ber, has continued to use the Syrup, and suffering crying babies and restless nights have disappeared. A single trial of the Syrup never yet failed to relieve the baby, and oversome the prejudices of the mother. Sold by all Druggists. 25 cents a bottle.
