Gibson, lost on Thursday night his flour and corn mills, and his cotton house, six miles south of Shelby. This $1,500 loss falls heavily upon Mr. Gibson, as there was no insurance. John Duncan and his son, Lee Duncan, were arrested on the charge of burning the property. The evidence was entirely cirumstantial. — The Sidney Elliott bridge over Broad river, at the old Smith mill, fell on Tuesday at midnight. On Tuesday many loaded wagons passed over the bridge in safety. It was fortunate that the accident happened at night when no one was crossing. —Shelby continues on a boom. We have the railroad boom and the building boom, and now cotton is booming things Shelby wants two more railroads; and is now building over forty nouses, besides the dwellings already completed this summer. Shelby will ship this year at least 15,000 bales of cotton.

- Charlotte Observer: A colored man named Bob Mack, employed at the Carolina Central depot as a trucker, had one of his legs broken by a bale of cotton falling on him. — Mr. George Setzer, whose death at Newton was mentioned in our Sunday's issue, was one of the most prominent men in the western section of our State. He was a member of the convention of 1860, and for many years was a leader among his people, filling many important positions. — As a sample of the sort of fruit that grows in Mecklenburg county, and an evidence of how it grows, Mr. T. F. Walker, of Berryhill township, yesterday brought to our office a bough cut from an apple tree in his orchard, that was remarkably fruit laden. The bough was two feet long, yet it contained 21-large and fully matured apples, 18 of them growing in one cluster. — The news that Charlotte was to have a first-class line of street cars was too good for many of our people to believe; and when they hear that the street cars are actually to be established, and that they are to be propelled by elec tricity instead of horses, they will be likely to hoot at the idea of such a thing. But it seems that electric street cars are just what Charlotte is destined to have, if Dr. J. R.

A pamphlet published by the Department of State in relation to the pounding and polishing of rice in England and Germany, embracing consular reports from London. Bremen and Hamburg, says that the most important processes in polishing rice are kept secret. Sometimes it is subjected to an infusion of indigo, that gives the rice a bluish tint, that is liked better in England than the natural creamy whiteness of the grain itself. Oil is also used, to give it smoother and glossier surface.

Embraced in the report from London is

"It is interesting to notice that in a pam-phlet published in London in 1701, 'On the mportance of British plantations in Ameri ca, it is mentioned as a recent circum that a brigantine from the island of Mada gascar happened to put into Charleston, S. C., having a little rice seed left, which the captain gave to a gentleman named Wood-ward. From part of this he had a very good crop, but he was ignorant for some years how to clean it. It was soon dispersed over this province, and by frequent experiments and observations they found out ways of producing and manufacturing t to so great perfection that it is thought to exceed any value.' The seed of which the pamphlet speaks soon became famous. It was exported to Java, Italy, Spain, and other countries, and now the finest East Indian rice is grown from this seed.

"In the early part of the present century Great Britain was principally supplied with this grain from the States of South Carolina

"This trade, for a variety of reasons, has practically ceased, and now England exports to the United States about 250,000 wts. of rice annually.

- Ger. barque C. Rodbertus, Schultz, cleared at London Sept. 28th for this port. TO THE TAXPAYERS OF WILMINGTON.

The subject of a proper fire alarm for the city of Wilmington has been before our City Council sometime, but it is believed our citizens are not acquainted with the character of the plan offered and that now in use in the city. We are now paying eight hundred and eighty-five dollars per annum for giving alarms and for tapping the bell in the tower near the Adrian Engine house, which represents the sum of fourteen thousand seven hundred and fifty dollars when capitalized at six per cent. As to the efficiency of the system now used the firemen and citizens can judge. The other system which has its estimates before the Council is known as the Gamewell Fire Alarm Telegraph, and is in use in over one hundred and eighty cities in the United States. Their proposition is for fifteen alarm stations, to be placed on the streets, and alarm gongs in each en-gine house, with a small gong at the house of the chief of the department and one at the water-works; all work to be guaranteed first-class and satisfactory to the city. The bell on the tower will be struck with a force sufficient to develop its full tone.

The cost of this system will be four thousand two hundred and forty-eight dollars, and it can be kept in condition for two hundred and fifty dollars per annum, or less. Now the company offer to put the system in operation, and if the city prefers time to pay, they can have it for one or two years at six per cent. on the amount, and two hundred and fifty dollars per annum for keeping in repair, which would represent a yearly expense of five hundred and four dollars.

The Gamewell system is in use in New York, Philadelphia, Baltimore, Washington, Richmond, Charleston, Augusta and Petersburg, and has recently been put up in Danville, Virginia, and nearly every city having a population of over fifteen thousand. Taking a plain business view of the case, is there a business man in Wil-mington who would pay eight hundred and eighty-five dollars rent for a house when he could purchase one much larger and better for four thousand two hundred and forty-eight dollars, and only costing two hundred and fifty dollars yearly to keep in good condition. A man would hardly do it, especially when his bond would be taken at six per cent. for ten years in payment. Now this is about the condition of the city of Wilmington, and there seems no good reason why we should not act as other cities have done in this
