WILMIN'GTON, N. C.

By WILLIAM H. BERNARD.

THURSDAY EVENING, Oct. 8, 1885.

EVENING EDITION

CLEVELAND, MUGWUMPS, THE CONGRESS.

The Massachusetts Democrats in their platform warmly indorse the Administration and of course favor the continuance of the Civil Service humbug. This is as was to be expeeted. The East is always warm for some new fangled ism or doctrine or principle. But Massachusetts never helps to elect a Democratic President, and its Hoars and Daweses are a standing menace to the South.

The President is no doubt aiming to give the country a pure and honest government of the country. He is also doing excellent work in trying to ignore all sectionalism and to know no North or South. His mis takes in some of the appointments were inevitable under the circumstances. How could he know the character of men throughout the country. How could he know who were the proper men fo a Reform Administration to ap point? He was forced to rely upon members of Congress and they deceived him egregiously. Whilst he has selected some men who are not fit to hold office under even a corrupt Administration, much less under one pledged to Reform the President should not be held responsible for them. He is responsible for appointing a Republican like Pearson to the New York postoffice, but he is no responsible for the selection of many persons who could under an Administration that aimed to elevate the public service and to inaugurate those needed reforms that would secure fidelity, honesty and

Mr. Cleveland has a hard road to travel. He may yet satisfy his party. His evil genius has been Mugwumpery. Fortunately for him and his active and even fierce. Parties are party the New York Mugwumps have returned, like the dog "to his | yet it is very uncertain as to the revomit." He is freed from their dictatorship, and if he is really a man of wisdom he will lend his ear to the advice of such wise men as Allen G. Thurman, Horatio Seymour, and Samuel J. Tilden and cease to lean upon the New York Times, and papers of that kind, that caused the Democrats to lose more votes in New York than they gained from the Mugwump alliance.

When the Congress meets it will be seen where the President stands -whether he is indeed a Democrat with Democratic ideas, or only a sentimental reformer, with great tenacity of will and intense egotism and self-sufficiency. His Message to the Congress and the debates that follow will show whether the Democrats are united, or whether a large with, and it is almost certain that on all there will be a division of opinion and action among the Democratic members of Congress, and especially among Southern members.

DR. CURRY.

The nomination of Rev. Dr. Curry, of the Baptist Church, as Minister to Spain, is a deserved compliment to a man of superior gifts. Dr. Curry was long in politics before he entered the ministry. He was probably the ablest man in the Confederate Congress, and before the war was regarded as the coming man in the South. He is from Alabama. He is a man of high character every way, is a fine speaker and writer, and is really one of the best appointed men in the South. He has a genius for politics, and in spite of his sacred calling he has probably some craving for political distinction. He has, we believe, entered the field of political discussion since he entered the sacred office and became an Ambassador for Christ Jesus, Lord of lords and King of kings. He is well equipped to be an Ambassador for an earthly government if he can reconcile such a course with his sense of obligation and duty. Some one has said that the Devil keeps close behind the political parson. We have the pleasure of an acquaintance with him and hold him in high esteem. The only political opinion of his we remember to have heard with which we could not agree is his advocacy of the dangerous and unconstitutional Blair educational bill. He is the only minister of the Gospel of whom we have knowledge in whose political wisdom and sagacity we have confidence. We suppose he will accept the appointment to Spain as the President would hardly have called upon a distinguished preacher of the Gospel to lay aside his sacred office and become a politician again if he had not previously consulted his wishes. That Dr. Curry will make a most accomplished diplomat we may not doubt. He will reflect credit upon his country and his party for he is a gentleman in its highest sense, of polished manners and superior accomplishments, and with those qualities of mind-vigor, quickness, well balanced, discretion, judgment-that give guarantee of success.

A writer in the Washington City Gazette is of the opinion that the old parties are disintegrating, and he thinks that out of them will come new organizations or one new party, and that of this party Cleveland will be the leader. The corner stone of it will be Civil Service. This is a dream. It is absurd to think of building a party upon a foundation of that kind, and why? Because Civil Service is intended to reform the instruments of Government, and not to give motive power to it. Great principles must constitute the fundamentals, and not a mere theory as to how public servants shall be selected and trained to make efficient those grand principles. The Civil Service that the South favors is to put honest, faithful, qualified men in office, and to select them every time from the Democrats. If that is Mr. Cleveland's theory he and the Democrats will pull together.

The English Government seems to have a sort of political Jumbo on its hands. The new law extending the elective franchise to some two millions of voters who have never bebe named that had no right to a place | fore been clothed with that power, requires an enormous registration and, therefore, requires an extended time for adjustment and so on. It is because of this, it is said, that the election is postponed and the dissolution of Parliament will not occur until the 7th December. The contest promises to be extraordinarily very much mixed and split up, and as

> The Tories are compelled to execute the laws just as the Liberals were. They are compelled to have laws to execute just as the Liberals were. Lord Salisbury, the Prime Minister, admits that the law against boycotting is being vigorously pushed and that thirty-five prosecutions have been started. Others will follow. As long as Ireland is under British control the party in power must deal with it, and it is all demagogism for Tories to promise more than they can fulfil.

The New York Times, Republican organ, is swift to believe evil against Gov. Hill or any Democrat, but it cannot believe Rev. Dr. Hull's story about Ira Davenport's running a big section of the party in the South is | wine company. Oh no! Ira, you to antagonize him. The Tariff, the see, is the Republican candidate for Silver question, the Civil Service, Governor, and the Times is now and the Blair bill are all to be dealt | training with that political party and | ed across a cotton field. He hadn't keeping step to the tune of the old Harpers. Ira might lose some Republican temperance votes.

> The two meanest men we have heard of was the two Maryland husbands who conspired to evade the law that punishes wife-beaters with whipping. They swapped wives for the time, each whipping the others better half. Infamous. They ought to be jailed for a year. Laws were made for rascals but they are the ones to evade it. Now let the Maryland law be amended making the swapping of wives a penitentiary offence in addition to whipping,

We like Secretary Endicott's firmness and consistency. He issued an order as Secretary of War, and he is urged by Gen. Sheridan, head of the army, and other Generals to make an exception in their favor, but the Secretary is firm and refuses to discriminate. Why should he do so? It becomes the highest officers to set a good example by promptly obeying all orders issued by superior autho-

CURRENT COMMENT.

-- Envy no one till you know all the bitterness of each unspoken and individual history. The man who complained to Jupiter of his own intolerable burden, and begged to exchange loads, was glad to shoulder again his own luggage of trouble, when he saw the heaps of woes other men unstrapped from their backs, ready to swap. Human life is nearer equality in happiness or vexations than men conjecture. The bone and rag-picker rubs through his hard life, and grows old in fair content. A capitalist of New York, with no employment but to cut off and collect coupons, is found dead, murdered by his own hands. Life had become unendurable. There are conditions of the blood when the bite of an invisible and insignificant chigre starts an ill humor in the veins, ending in vital decay. So small disappointments in business or nettling domestic annoyances poison pleasure and curdle the sweets of existence.—Richmond Advocate.

-- Senator Hoar stated in his speech at Springfield that in the great department of justice every old and faithful servant, from the law clerk down to the charwoman. is turned out to made places for political adherents, and the President neither interferes nor remonstrates." In saying this, Mr. Hoar uttered an untruth. One of the Attorney General's two assistants, the chief clerk, the law clerk, the examiner of titles, two of the four examiners, and about forty of the other employes of the department have not been removed. Mr. Hoar ought to blush if he cannot perhaps at his mendacity, but because he has been so quickly found out.-Boston Post, Dem.

A SOUTH CAROLINA SENTI-

Detroit Free Press.

As we sat on the veranda a dog came out of his lair back of the house and ascended the steps and took a long look at me before lying down at the Major's feet. He had the eyes of a tiger, and such a cruel expression as I had never observed in a dog before. As to size, he was the equal of any lion you ever saw in a menagerie.

"What breed is he?"-I asked. "A cross between the Russian and American bloodhound. He cost me $300 in gold."

"What is he good for?"

"Come out here and I'll show you." He led the way to the smokehouse, just then empty of meat, and I saw two negroes locked safely within.

"He brought them in last night," said the Colonel. "He found them prowling around the plantation and walked them up here and my overseer locked them up. They had to come. If they had made a fight for it he would have killed them both in no time," "Are these his first arrests?" "Oh, no. There is hardly a night that he doesn't bring in one, and I've known of his capturing 20 in a week. I keep 'em locked up for a day and then turn 'em loose. Then he goes after another." The dog uttered a low growl and rushed off in the direction of the bayou. Next moment a negro, who made 10 jumps before the dog made a long spring, alighted on his shoulders, and had him down in two seconds. He then backed off to let the fellow get up, and, fastening his teeth in the negro's coat, led him up to be placed with the others. The man was in a perfect tremble, and so weak that he could scarcely stand. It was an act of mercy to turn the key on him, and this had only been done when he fainted dead away.

SULLIVAN AS A STATUE.

CHICAGO, Oct. 5. - John L. Sullivan posed to-night at the Columbia Theatre in attitudes copied from famous statues as the tail end of a minstrel show. There was a good house and no end of guying, "Ajax defying the lightning," nounced Sullivan's manager. "Whaat?" piped a small voice in the top gallery.

"Kape quiet, ye blackguard," anwered a voice in another part of the gallery. "Ajax refusin' a drink. Can't ye see at all."

Ajax grinned until the powder on his cheeks broke into seams like a lava bed. In his Apollos he looked like a Durham bull masquerading as an antelope. His fighting gladiator was better, although he seemed to have mistaken his shield for a liver pad. In the last tableau Sullivan appeared as a pugilist and roused great excitement. There were whistlings and cries of "Wance more. darlin'," and "Come again" when he retired. He reappeared wrapped in a sheet, and bowed in a confused kind of way.

THE POWER OF PERFUMES.

London Times.

It has been shown that the odoriferous molecule of musk is infinitesimally small. No power has yet been conceived to enable the human eve to see one of the atoms of musk, yet the organs of smell have the sensitiveness to detect them. Their smallness cannot even be imagined, and the same grain of musk undergoes absolutely no diminution in weight. A single drop of the oil of thyme, ground down with a piece of sugar and a little alcohol, will communicate its odor to 25 gallons of water. Haller kept for 40 years papers pertumed with one grain of ambergris. After this time the odor was as strong as ever. Bordenave has evalnated a molecule of camphor sensible to the smell to 2,262,584,000th of a grain. Boyle has observed that one dram of asafætida exposed to the open air had lost in six days the eighth part of a grain, from which Keill concludes that in one minute it had lost 1-69, 120th of a grain.

must Call Louder. New York Times.

Deacon Jones (from out of town:) am deputed to learn, Mr. Goodman, if a "call" from our church would likely be favorably entertained Minister: H'm. It would depend somewhat, I think, Mr. Jones, upon -er-circumstances-

Deacon: Ah, yes, I see. We discussed the matter in rather an informal way, and the sense of the majority seemed to be that-er-about Minister: H'm, yes. I am afraid Mr. Jones, that the good people whom you represent will have to "call" a little louder than that.

They'd Rather Dance. Cincinnati Enquirer.

Jackson is torn up with a big church sensation. Rev. Guilford Jones, one of the most able and popular pastors in West Tennessee, pastor of the Methodist Church at Jackson, preached two sermons on dancing, in which he roundly scored the members of his flock who were much given to attending the fashionable germans there in vogue. He said plainly that they must quit dancing or quit church. The congregation have taken almost united action, and nearly the whole membership given him notice to erase their names from the church books.

Destructive Fire in London - Loss £3.000.000-Many Narrow Escapes Reported-Matters in Ireland-The Earl of Shaftesbury's Funeral-Impressive Services. By Cable to the Morning Star.

London, October 8 .- A fire broke out at o'clock this morning, in the Charter House buildings, a row of thirteen eight-story warehouses, on Aldersgate street, this city The flames spread with such rapidity that in few hours all of the buildings, including their contents, were almost totally destroyed. The origin of the fire is unknown. The row was lately occupied by fancy goods dealers, furriers, toy stores and printing offices. One bank was also in the buildings. This institution was the only one that escaped being burned completely out. It was badly damaged, but not destroyed. The firemen had great difficulty in getting streams from engines to play on the upper stories of the buildings. Many narrow escapes were reported, owing to the desperate attempts of the firemen to get at the flames. The damage is estimated at £3,000,000.

DUBLIN, October 8.-The Nationalists have decided to contest every Irish Parliamentary seat except twelve. The Roman Catholic Bishops of Ireland have passed resolutions condemning all acts of violence and intimidations, and warning their respective flocks against indulging in illegal excesses. Such acts, they say, are certain to bring the anger of God upon the evil doers and their families, besides disgracing the Irish people in the eyes of the civilized world. London, Oct. 8.—The funeral of the Earl of Shaftsbury took place to day. The religious services over the remains were conducted at. Westminster Abbey. Hun dreds of poor people stood outside the Abbey in a drenching rain during the entire services, being unable to get into the sacred edifice, so dense was the crowd which had gathered to pay their last mark of respect to the noble philanthropist. # Frightful Case

Of a Colored Man.

I contracted a fearful case of blood poison in 1883. I was treated by some of the best physicians in Atlanta. They used the old remedes of cians in Atlanta. They used the old remedits of Mercury and Potash, which brought on rheumatiem and impaired my digestive organs. Every joint in me was swollen and full of pain. I was up to die, my physicians, who had seen the workings of the medicine in other cases, thought in Swift's Specific. When I commenced taking 8. S. the physicians said I could not live two weeks under the ordinary treatment. He commenced to give me the medicine strictly according to directions, which I continued to weeks under the ordinary treatment. He commenced to give me the medicine strictly according to directions, which I continued for several months. I took nothing else, and commenced to improve from the first. Occasionally I would have a backset from imprudence. Soon the rheumatism left me, my appetite became all right, and the ulcers, which the doctor said were the most frightful he had ever seen began to heal, and by the first of October. 1884. I was a well man again. I am stronger now than I ever was before, and weigh more. I have not failed in the oil warehouse of Chess Carley Company. I have been, and still am, doing some of the sardest work any man ever did, and am ready to answer any question that may be asked concerning this case. Swiit's Specific has saved me from an early grave.

Lem McGlendon has been in the employ of the Chess Carley Company for some years, and I know the above statements to be true. At the time he began taking Swift's Specific he was in a horrible condition, and at my solicitation his treatment with S. S. S. was undertaken by a physician after several others had declared his case sician after several others had declared his case to be hopelessly incurable. He took nothing but S. S. S., and has been as sound as a new dollar for several months. I regard his cure almost mi W. B. CROSBY, Manager, Consumers should not confuse our Specific with the numerous imitations, substitutes, Potash and Mercury mixtures, which are gotten up to sell, not on their own merit, but on the merit of on remedy. An imitation is always a fraud and a cheat, and they thrive only as they can steal from the article imitated.
