MORNING EDITION.

OUTLINES.

The strike at the Poplar Creek coal mines has ended; the miners were given an advance of 5 per cent.

On Monday night there was ice at Flat Rock, N. C.

Fitz Lee's canvass through Virginia seems to be one grand triumphant march.

Harpur's Weekly devotes its first page to a head of Mary Anderson in character. It is striking.

Judges Bond and Hughes have decided that Blind Tom shall remain in the charge of James Bethune.

The dry weather continues in Virginia and in many sections it has been impossible to prepare the land for wheat.

We have a new head for our "Twinklings" on third page.

If you wish to read poetry "as is copy," to copy the language of Capt'n Cattle, read the gem from a dead English poet in to-day's STAR.

Hon. J. L. M. Curry is some sixty years of age. He is the only really intellectual man we have ever known who parts his hair in the middle.

The British Tories are becoming rapidly reconstructed. The Salisbury platform is as pacific and conservative as the Gladstone platform.

The champion "mean man" has turned up in Georgia. He sent a Confederate bill as a contribution to the Grant monument.

A crank visited the White House on Tuesday. He wanted to run the Navy Department and astonish the civilized world with his wisdom.

"I want it distinctly understood that I am not a Mugwump. I am a Democrat. If I am placed in command of navy of the United States this afternoon, by to-morrow afternoon at this time there will not be a single Republican left in the service."

The Boston Post says the hill towns in Massachusetts are on the decline and deserted villages are not uncommon in the western part of the State.

Visitors to the western part of the State frequently come upon deserted hamlets, marked by falling buildings, and sometimes only by the stone foundations of what were once stores and dwellings and churches.

At Valdosta, Ga., a beautiful girl aged 17, Miss Lillie Bass, was about to marry Jacob Witherington, aged 66. Her parents did it. The hour was almost come when she would have been sold into slavery.

met her, and they slipped off and got married. Mr. Witherington declined to stay to the feast.

There is a new scheme reported for the blowing up of the Czar by the Nihilists. They are represented as being very active.

The police officials, after many inquiries, became convinced of the truthfulness of the stories, and begged the Czar to leave Russia and remain absent until the plotters are untraceable.

The name of the greatest of all men of genius is not an uncommon one in this country if we may judge by the fact that two of the name have just received office.
