Attorney General Garland grieved. He has been accused of wearing a swallow-tailed coat on some occasion and he feels hurt about it, as he is perfectly innocent of such a performance. What will the Mugwumps say now?

Nature makes no announcement of her change of scenes .- Phila. Herald. The Herald man never was present in a tornado area when the fun was going on and Nature was on a lively bender. She announces "her change of scenes" with a vengeance on such occasions, you bet.

Gov. Cameron does not relish little Billy Mahone's attacks upon him, but will bide his time. A Richmond special to the N. Y. World savs:

"He has enough friends who will be in the next General Assembly to hold the bal-ance of power in the election of a United States Senator in case the Republicans carry the Assembly. Gov. Cameron claims that he has not left the Republican party."

The new typesetting and stereotyping machine recently exhibited in Washington is well thought of by prominent newspaper men. It is believed that it will eventually do away entirely with compositors. A dispatch to the N. Y. World says: "It is understood that through Mr. Hutchins's representations Richard Smith, of the lincinuati Gazette; Mr. Haldeman of the Louisville Courier Journal; William Henry Smith of the New York Associated Press; and Mr. Stone, of the News, of Chicago, have become investors. An Important Case. In the Superior Court for Richmond county, last weed, a case was heard that is of some interest here. It was the case of Wm. H. McLaurin vs. M. Cronly, involving about sixty thousand dollars for lands and improvements in Laurinburg. The case was heard before his Honor Judge J. C. MacRae, at Rockingham, beginning on Tuesday and ending on Friday afternoon last—the jury finding all the twelve issues ted to them in favor of the def The plaintiff was represented by Messrs. Shaw, McNeill and McNeill; the defendant by Measrs. Walker, Tillett and Neal. His Honor read the entire evidence in the case to the jury and applied the law in a clear, forcible and impartial manner. The junior counsel for the defendant, Messrs, Tillet and Neal, were highly complimented by all who heard them, while the able senior-Mr. Platt D. Walker-made one of the best arguments (so say those who know) ever heard within the ancient walls of that court house in these latter days, carrying home

Zozo, the Magic Queen. To-morrow night this piece will be presented in the Opera House here. It is said to be a spectacular production of unusual excellence. There are four acts and s great transformation scene, designed and painted by Henry E. Hoyt, with the assistance of other artists. The Louisville Courier Journal says: "The scenes are all beautiful, and the tranformation is the handsemest ever shown here. The scenery is all fresh and new, and is most elaborate in the designing as well as admirably painted. It seems to have been written for the purpose of amusing the audience with its fun and interesting them in a posity story, and has amusing the audience with its fun and interesting them in a pretty story, and has assuredly attained that object. There is nothing offensive in the language of the play to ears polite, and it is not loud in its incidents. The company is unusually large, and comprises many well-known people. These are all good in their respective lines, and the girls are all pretty and shapely. In this respect the female members of the company are exceptionally interesting; they seem to have been chosen with an eye to their beauty of face and figure. Their costumes, handsome and new, make fine effect in the stage grouping. A very large audience saw the play last night and applauded it warmly."

Helping the Poor. Some ladies and gentlemen of this city having heard that a poor woman was at the City Hall on Thursday afternoon offering to dispose of a quilt so as to procure some provisions and fuel, took the matter in hand and with the assistance of friends. carried her two well filled baskets of provisions on Friday night. A poor woman, suffering from asthma or some other disease, with four children, was found in a room; the oldest, a hoy about two-thirds grown, asserted that he was willing and ready to work, but had searched in vain for employment all over the city. Nothing to eat was found in the house, and the committee of ladies and gentlemen who had relieved their necessities, after hearing the woman-with her interruption of coughing-endeavor to return thanks, returned to their homes feeling the truth of the assertion that "it is more blessed to give than to receive," and that one-half of the people of this world know not how the other half manager to live.

Arrests Last Night. Wm. Howe, a colored man, who said he was foreman on a rice plantation near the city, was arrested last night in the circus tent. He was creating a disturbance and had a large clasp-kuife in his hand with which he was threatening a circus employed Policeman Piver approached to arrest him when Howe made a lunce at Piver with the kaife, splitting the breast of his coat open:

pers" on him, and carried him to the guard house, where he was locked up. Charley Harriss, a circus boy, got iuto a ow with a lot of colored mea near the corner of Brunswick street. He was knocked down and roughly handled. A cry was raised for the police, when two colored deputy sheriffs came up, arrested Harriss and carried him to the guard house. - Most of our churches have The colored men engaged in the affray es-

Cole's Circus. The parade through the streets vesterday morning attracted immense crowds to the main thoroughfares. The general opinion seemed to be that it was fully equal, if not superior, to the parade of any circus that has appeared here. There were some new features that were notable. The horses were in splendid condition and the riders handsomely costumed.

Two very creditable performances were given, in the afternoon and evening. The trapese acting and the riding was far above the average. The "human fly" was wonderful. The menageric contains many rare specimens of the animal kingdom. As whole, Cole's Circus and Menagerie are of the very best that have ever been in Wil-

Sheriff E. Murrill, of Onslow, was here vesterday. Couldn't resist the temptation to come to the circus.

Col. L. C. Jones, Superintendent of the Carolina Central, was in the city westerday. He is just from the "scene of operations" near Shelby, and reports the "K. S." moving westward with becoming speed. The Colonel has his hands full just now, but he knows how to build a railroad.

Mr. A. E. Richards, press agent of Cole's circus, gave us a call yesterday. In the language of Jumbo, he is immense.

Foreign Exports.
