MORNING EDITION. OUTLINES.

The funeral services of the late Cardinal McCloskey were held in New York yesterday; the sermon was preached by Archbishop Gibbons of Baltimore. Forkaker's plurality for Governor in Ohio is about 21,000. The President has decided not to attend the Fair at Richmond, Va., on the 21st.

Cholera is increasing in fatality at Palermo. Hanlan and Lee won the boat race yesterday, defeating Conly and Courtney. Serious labor troubles have occurred at Minnie, Wis. An earthquake shock felt in Palermo; a three-story house was demolished, and eight dead persons have been recovered from the ruins.

Capitalists from Iowa will start a private savings bank at Chattanooga, Tenn. Geo. E. Gillett was killed by a freight train at Chattanooga. New York markets: Money 2 1/4 per cent; cotton quiet at 9 13-16 @ 15-16; wheat, ungraded red 85c @ 91; corn, ungraded 5 1/2 @ 5 3/4; southern flour quiet; spirits turpentine steady at 36 1/2; rosin firm at $1.02 @ 1.10.

Boycotting is on the increase in Ireland. The sword in Europe is hanging suspended by a thread. The State Fair will be held at Richmond, Va., next week. Dr. Jabez Lamar Monroe Curry is a native of Lincoln county, Ga.

The Philadelphia Press says that Wise will carry Virginia. Not this year, Mr. Press. The Prohibitionists of Ohio did not poll as strong a vote this year as they thought they would. Harvard College has got to be a very big thing. It has 268 Freshmen and some 1,200 students.

Servia is on the warpath and is going to be hurt before the fun is over. Austria tells her to behave herself. Massachusetts has just completed its census. The population is 1,941,465--a gain of 158,380 since 1880.

The last selection under Current Comment, second page, should have been credited to the New York Star. It cost $20,000 to bury Victor Hugo. A man who is not a poet can be buried at less expense even in Paris.

The Homiletic Review says that preachers "are physically the laziest people in the world." But is this a true bill? Rev. Sam Jones had a great revival at St. Jo., and several hundred people professed conversion. Sam Small was with him.

The Democratic factions of New York are playing havoc again. Unless they can be united there will be trouble in the camp next month. The bloody shirt flaunts and plaps in the breeze triumphant. John Sherman and Black Jack Logan are happy. They now see that the war is not over in Ohio.

John Sherman will no doubt go back to the Senate and in 1888 perhaps he will be the bloody-shirt candidate for the Presidency. If he is things will be lively. Since the Senate adjourned 600 changes have been made in the post-offices by removals. Many changes will be made before the end of this year in the Presidential offices.

Gen. Sterling Price is to have a monument. There was a well known Confederate General who fought with Price who had a very poor opinion of both his courage and ability. Senator Ransom confidently predicted the election of Gov. Hoadly but, like many others, he was mistaken. It looks like 1885 might prove a bad year for the Democrats.

There is a meeting to be held at Savannah, Ga., for the purpose of combining Southern and Western interests in procuring larger appropriations for river and harbor improvements. The plan is to get a big appropriation in one lump for each year for an indefinite period. The Washington correspondent of the Baltimore Sun writes on the 13th inst: "Although it has so far attracted but little attention, the river and harbor convention, which will convene in Savannah next month, is intended to operate as a very material adjunct in the furtherance of this scheme. The purpose is a comprehensive one, and if it can be carried out it will be productive of influence. The object of the convention is to secure the co-operation of all the cities of the South Atlantic coast in asking appropriations, as above stated, sufficient to obtain without delay channel approaches of a depth and width accessible to the largest seagoing vessels. The State and municipal authorities, the merchants and importers and the Congressmen of all the South Atlantic States will be invited to attend. Delegations will be appointed, representing all the prominent localities interested, to proceed to Washington when Congress meets to press their views upon the two houses. Should the expected combination be made with Western interests, a tremendous haul on the treasury may be looked for. If Congress would abandon its habit of throwing away millions for rivulets and mudholes, and devote the money thus wasted to the improvement of rivers and harbors which are of commercial importance, it would be a question well worthy of consideration whether trade and commerce would not be benefited by the adoption of the plan to be outlined at Savannah."

The Southern Bivouac for November promises to be unusually interesting. It will contain among other papers a graphic article detailing the movements of Lee's arm from the time he crossed the Potomac, to the night before the Battle of Gettysburg. The writer, Wm. H. Swallow, was formerly Asst. Adjt. Gen'l of the Army of Northern Virginia. He presents some new facts concerning the orders under which General Stuart was marching, and contends that Lee's original plan was to march direct to Harrisburg, where the army was to be concentrated, and it was with this understanding that Stuart separated from his main army, and moved through Hanover towards Carlisle. Col. Swallow will follow this article by others describing the Battle of Gettysburg.

The Washington Post rebuked that the New York Sun was "among the news thieves." To this the Sun gave an emphatic "lie." The Post has come back at it and proved it beyond doubt. It adds that it is both a "clumsy thief" and "a very great liar." The Sun is Butler's organ but it remembered and tried to elect Jim Blaine, the vilest of politicians.

The New York papers damned handsome Mary Anderson with the faintest kind of praise. They admit her beauty, richness of voice, of almost unparalleled excellence, and her general neatness of acting, and so on, but still they say she cannot act. Rosalind, and this was about the criticism of the best English papers upon the same performance. There is an active rumor that Gov. Cameron will resign and let Lieutenant Governor Lewis succeed him. His motive is to vindicate himself from the charge brought against him by Mahone. It is said he will fight or in case that can not be done, he will bring a suit against his defamers. He has been on "the field of honor" and is not afraid.

The yield of corn for 1885 will be the largest ever known in the United States. The oat crop is also very large. The cotton crop will be probably 1,000,000 bales more than that of 1884. That statement is justified by the Agricultural Report for October. Atlanta has been awarded the championship pennant in the Southern Base Ball League. Atlanta's percentage is 650, Augusta's 653. The League has been reorganized for next year. An old negro in Atlanta, Ga., said to Edward Atkinson, of Boston, Mass.: "You can't put ignorance on top of knowledge and make it stay there." There is no wool-gathering in that opinion.

"By Far the Best One." Greenville Reflector. The Wilmington Star has completed its 18th year. It is the oldest daily paper in North Carolina, and by far the most able journal in the State.

The Salisbury Watchman has done new clothes. It is a good paper, wisely and judiciously edited. Its editor has had a long training in the newspaper business.

Spirits Turpentine

—G. G. Farabee, of Currituck county, is dead. —Mr. C. F. Crotcheff retires from the High Point Enterprise and Mr. R. D. Steele will continue its publication. —Salisbury Herald: Although the census is not completed, we are safe in saying our town will number 3,400 inhabitants. One fact to be remembered is that there are 175 more whites than blacks. —North Carolina Herald is the name of a new 32-column weekly just started by Burns and Barnes; price $1.50 a year. The first number promises well and we hope it will prosper. It is Democratic. —Aheboro Courier: The Wilmington Star last week entered its nineteenth year. It is a good paper in every sense and has succeeded by merit alone. We wish it a future of long life and even greater usefulness. —Dallas Current: Perry Rankin, a colored lad of fourteen, while feeding a cane mill for Mr. E. J. Abernathy, near Mr. R. M. Jenkins, in the neighborhood of Mt. Holly, got his hair caught in the cog and his arm crushed by its elbow.

—Elizabeth City Economist: Cotton is improving in price. It now brings three cents a pound in the seed. —The Brothers, one of our oldest citizens, is dead. —Mr. Edwin Sawyer, who went to Florida with Dr. Butt last year from this town, has returned to his home and intends staying.

—Raleigh News-Observer: The Yarnborough House now has, with its extension, ample capacity for 300 or 400 guests. —The Goldsboro band does the blowing for the fair, and a musical blower it is too. The scarlet uniforms of the members are simply splendid, for so say all the girls. —Augusta (Ga.) News: HENDERSONVILLE, Oct. 9.—I have just returned from Asheville, where I was several days since to see the beginning of the laying of the rails on the Asheville and Spartanburg Railroad. A prouder looking set of people than the citizens of that little city it would be difficult to imagine, and they certainly have just cause to be elated.

—Greensboro Workman: We are pleased to see Judge Rutin able to attend Federal Court in Raleigh, although he is laid up somewhat feeble. —In the case of T. D. Carter vs. A. B. Andrews, et al, for the ownership of the W. N. C. Railroad, which came up before Judge Bond in the Federal Court this morning for a hearing, Carter was not suited for the third time.

—Statesville Landmark: The tobacco barn of Mr. W. A. Summers, of Sharpshooters Township, was accidentally burned, with all its tobacco in it, last Saturday morning. —The distillery of Mr. J. R. Mayberry, of Gwaltney's township, Alexander county, was destroyed by fire on the morning of the 28th of September. The fire is believed to have been of incendiary origin.

—Asheville Citizen: There ought to be five hundred entries of Irish potatoes at the Fair. The premium is $5 for the best bushel. —Gen. R. B. Vance has purchased a residence in Washington City, paying therefor the sum of $7,500. —Our young friends Lawrence P. McLeod and Linton B. Robeson have for Emory College, Oxford, Ga., this evening. They go along with the seniors, and will graduate this term.

—Hickory Press: There was a slight frost throughout the Piedmont region on last Monday morning. Some damage was done to tobacco in certain localities, but we hear of no extensive injury to the crop. We learn that the tobacco crop in Alexander county is wonderful, and that the farmers have been quite successful in making bright cures. But little damage was done to the small quantity that was not cut before the frost on last Monday morning.

—Goldsboro Argus: Rev. E. L. Pell, of the Aurora circuit, passed through this city yesterday on his way to the bedside of his sister, Mrs. A. M. Pell, who is many here—who is quite ill at Mt. Olive. —Mr. Washington Ryan, President of the A. & N. C. R. R., passed through the city yesterday, en route for Raleigh, where he goes in answer to a telegram calling him to the bedside of his father, who is sorry to learn, is quite sick at the home of his father, Maj. Winder, in that city.

—Raleigh Visitor: Yesterday, as Master Sammy, son of D. S. Waitt, Esq., was crossing Hargett street at the intersection with Salisbury street, he was struck by one of the leading mules in a penitentiary wagon which had suddenly turned into Hargett street. He was knocked down, and the mule stepping on one of his legs, broke both bones at a point just above the ankle. —By 9 o'clock this morning the Fair grounds presented an animated appearance, and by 10 o'clock the buildings were filled with a large class of visitors and sight-seers. Up to the present moment there have been 1,527 entries made, with a likelihood of the list swelling up to 2,000. —The exhibition of stock is worthy of more than a passing notice. It is decidedly the best for years, and the Old North State is making rapid strides in the breeding of fine stock.

—Charlotte Observer: Information was brought to the city by passengers on the train from Shelby yesterday afternoon of a fatal affair between a Mr. Lineberger, white, and a colored man named Reinhardt, two miles from Iron Station, last Monday night. The affair occurred at the house of Dale Lineberger, about ten o'clock at night. From the reports, as given to us, it seems that Reinhardt visited Mr. Lineberger's plantation Monday evening and was very abusive and insulting to the colored people employed by Mr. Lineberger. The disturbance created by Reinhardt finally became so great that Mr. Lineberger went out and requested the boisterous darkey to leave. Reinhardt appeared to take the matter quietly and behaved himself until Mr. Lineberger returned to the house, and then he followed and called Mr. Lineberger out. His language was loud and threatening, and as Mr. Lineberger emerged from the house, Reinhardt drew a pistol on him and attempted to fire. He was not quick enough, however, for before he could put his intention into execution, Mr. Lineberger drew his own weapon and shot Reinhardt down. The bullet entered one of Reinhardt's eyes and killed him instantly. The slayer at once put out for Dallas in Gaston county, where he surrendered himself to the sheriff.

—Salisbury Watchman: Bishop Lyman visited St. Luke's Church, in this city, on Tuesday, and at night preached eight sermons. —The Old Long Creek mine in Gaston county is being opened up again by some gentlemen from the North. This property is well known and has been a famous producer in days gone by, but the days of 1861-65 left it like many others deserted. —On last Sunday evening, about two o'clock, the widow Thomson's house, at the village of Zeb (Franklin), in this county, was discovered to be on fire. The house was occupied by tenants, and it is supposed that the fire originated from a spark left in the broom after sweeping the hearth. The house was a good dwelling, and its contents were almost entirely destroyed. Three bales of cotton, besides the clothing and provisions of the tenants, are included in the loss. —Mr. W. E. Hidden, Mineralogist, has been engaged in mining for gems in Alexander county, this summer. Since the 26th of July he has had from twelve to fifteen hauls at work on the Emerald and Hiddenite Mining Co.'s lands, and on the land adjoining, now owned by Mrs. A. E. Morton, of Newark, N. J. He has had success at both localities. On the Company's lands has been found four fine emeralds within the last two weeks, and on the Morton land he has found, up to date, nine new pockets of hiddenite. Of the emeralds referred to, the largest was one and nine-sixteenths inches long, and seven-sixteenths of an inch in diameter. Its color was excellent for its size.

—Dallas Current: Perry Rankin, a colored lad of fourteen, while feeding a cane mill for Mr. E. J. Abernathy, near Mr. R. M. Jenkins, in the neighborhood of Mt. Holly, got his hair caught in the cog and his arm crushed by its elbow.

—Elizabeth City Economist: Cotton is improving in price. It now brings three cents a pound in the seed.

—We have received a premium list and rules and regulations for the First Annual Fair of the colored Eastern Stock and Industrial Society, to be held at Goldsboro on the 24th, 25th, 26th and 27th of November.

Arrived Safe. The steamer Gulf Stream arrived safely here yesterday, and Capt. Pennington tells us that he had a stormy passage. She sailed from New York on Saturday afternoon. On Monday morning, off Cape Hatteras, a gale from east south east struck her and she was headed to the wind and so remained until 11 o'clock Tuesday morning, when the gale moderated, and she was able to run in shore, sighting the land at Currituck Lighthouse about seventy miles north of Hatteras. So violent was the storm that a sea broke over the ship carrying away her round houses and staving in her pilot house, and we are glad to say she landed at her wharf without further damage. There were many who anxiously awaited the coming of the steamer, as she was due here several days ago, and it was with feelings of relief that they heard of her arrival. The following passengers were on board: Mrs. Wilkin Roddick and son, Mrs. E. Callahan, Miss Katie Brown, Mrs. Cansellos, Miss Jessie Cansellos, Miss Mary Cansellos, Miss Mary Glowry, F. Asiran, C. C. McKinney, John Cansellos, Joseph Cansellos, James Cansellos and J. B. Berry, colored, and wife.

Personal. Mrs. Oates, of Charlotte, who is in the city attending her mother, Mrs. J. W. Thompson, during her severe sickness, received the sad intelligence that her little daughter Ethel had died in Charlotte yesterday. —Mr. G. W. Hardwick, of the STAR, left this morning for Virginia, where he will spend a few days. Many friends were on the wharf yesterday to greet Mrs. Wilkin Roddick and son, who arrived on the Gulf Stream, and about whom great uneasiness has been felt. —Mr. Frank Borden, of Goldsboro, is registered at The Orion.

Mayor Hall will be absent in the North for a few days, and Alderman Bear is acting mayor during his absence. —Col. E. B. Short, of Lake Waccamaw, is registered at the Purcell House.

Rev. Robert Strange. Rev. Robert Strange, who was formerly a resident of this place, and who is so well known here, has received a call from the Church of the Good Shepherd, at Raleigh, N. C., and has accepted it. Mr. Strange is a young man of undoubted ability, and his pleasant and gentle manners will endear him not only to his own congregation but to all with whom he comes in contact.

Insolvent Sailors. Capt. Woodsen, of the Norwegian barque Stanley, arrived in this city yesterday, from Smithville, with three sailors, who had refused to go any further with the vessel. They were carried before the Norwegian Vice Consul, Mr. R. E. Heide, and were discharged from their ship. Others were secured in their places.

A Remedy for Croup. We copy the following, which may be of use to many: "Turpentine is almost a certain remedy for croup. Saturate a piece of flannel with it and place the flannel on the throat and chest, and in a very severe case three or four drops on a lump of sugar may be taken inwardly."
