OUTLINES.

Count Herbert Bismarck has been appointed German Secretary of State. The greatest flood for five years on the western end of the Richmond & Allegheny Railroad; train wrecked and fireman killed. Flour mills of Bliss & Co., Seymour, Ind., burned; loss $100,000. Heavy snow storm near White Hall, N. Y. The switchmen's strike on the Illinois Central Railroad has ended. A man shot and killed his divorced wife in Wausau, Wis. Several girls were badly scalded in a steam laundry in New York city. Gov. Miller hanged at Grand Forks, Dakota, for the murder of a woman and her child. The funeral of Gen. McClellan will take place Monday; there will be no military demonstration. Bulgarian forces have blockaded the Serbian frontier. Secretary Manning rejects an important decision in regard to Civil Service Commissioners. Total receipts of cotton at all U. S. ports 1,885,337 bales. Steamer Ariel cleared from Charleston yesterday with 7,810 bales of cotton, the largest cargo ever taken from that port. New York markets: Heavy 20¢ per cent; cotton quiet at 9 1/2 @ 13-16; wheat, ungraded red 75 @ 80c; corn, ungraded 40 @ 42c; southern flour quiet and heavy; spirits turpentine steady at 38 1/2; rosin quiet at $1 03 1/2 @ 1 15.

The Democrats in Virginia are in fine spirits, we are pleased to know. John E. Owens, the well known comedian, who has been so sick, is now slowly improving. The Genesta made the trip home in 30 days and 10 hours. This is believed to be the quickest yacht run on record. The best cooks in the North receive $4,000 a year. That is because they love their appetites better than they do higher things. Sam Jones is at Birmingham, Ala. His first meeting was attended by 3,500 people, and the second 4,500. Sam Small is with him. Black Jack Logan had a big welcome in Philadelphia. He orated and flapped his bloody garment in the breeze. He did the usual damage to the Queen's English. The Irish had a grand meeting in Philadelphia. Ex-Minister Keiley met with a most enthusiastic welcome from the friends of Irish freedom. Gov. Pattison sent a letter and Mr. Keiley spoke. Will not Canon Farrar look in upon the South? He will find the educated people more like his own than and he is likely to see in the North. That is the judgment of closely observing travellers in the past? John Thompson murdered James C. White, a merchant of Rowan county, Tennessee, in order to obtain money with which to meet his approaching wedding expenses. He got $80. Thompson was lynched on the 27th inst. John Sherman has appeared in Virginia. Every Southerner must regard this as a ruthless invasion of States' Rights.—Phil. Press, Rep. Only a manifestation of infinite cheek and a degree of hardihood worthy of a General on the peace establishment. The Chinese in Augusta, Ga., have become so numerous that the people have asked the common council to issue an order to prevent further immigration. They have prospered very much, some have grown rich, and many others have wholesale and retail groceries. The Knights of Labor at Schenectady, N. Y., are squarely exacting to the various mills there as to what they shall pay, whom they shall employ and so on. The manufacturers are indignant and resolute, and say that they will not submit, but will shut down their mills. A lie has been started that Attorney General Garland will retire, and that Don M. Dickinson, of Michigan, will take his place. Who is this Dickinson? If Mr. Garland should retire, which is not probable, the President will hardly go to Michigan for an obscure lawyer, or deprive the fourteen Southern States of one of their two representatives in the Cabinet. Think of a foolish female pedagogue in Connecticut thrashing a obid because it had been eating onions. Why onions in the State dish of Connecticut. They live on onions—pronounced on-ions—all the year round. They are breakfast dish, dinner dish and supper dish. To flog a child for eating onions in Connecticut is as ridiculous as to whip an Irish boy for eating potatoes, a Tar Heel boy for eating persimmons and roe herrings or an Italian for eating macaroni.

Gov. Lowry was escorted by ex-Senator Bruce, among others, to the grounds of the Mississippi Colored State Fair. A dispatch says: "He paid a high compliment to the progress of the colored people, and was freely complimentary. His words of praise of B. K. Bruce, United States Senator, were loudly applauded by the large audience, as was his allusion to the peaceful and happy relations existing between the two races in Mississippi."

Gen. John Sherman, Major Hoar and Ensign Miller should make a note of this and cease maligning and abusing the South.

It shines brighter and brighter. Fayetteville Sun. The Wilmington Star, the brightest star in the firmament of North Carolina journalism, has stood the test of 18 years, without any shooting except at a constantly elevated mark. It shines brighter as years add their improvements to it, and as a news-paper stands to-day at the head of the Press of our State. Long may it shine, an honor to our State and to Wilmington.

Spirits Turpentine. There are 156 students at Wake Forest College. Goldsboro Argus: During the Fair there will be a match race between two Northern horses. Purse $1,100. Chadbourn Times: Mr. Eli Powell, who lives near Whiteville, made 51 gallons of syrup from cane raised on one third of an acre of land. Hickory Carolinians: Several handsome private residences are now being built on Broad street, Newton, and also several substantial stores have gone up recently. Fayetteville Sun: Mr. Warren Decker, who was in the employ of this office for a number of months, and then with the Observer and Gazette, has accepted a position on the Bennettsville Chronicle. New Berns Journal: The Atlantic Baptist Association is in session this week at Morehead City. The "Lent" "moonshiners" had their cases disposed of yesterday, and they were engaged in arranging the cost, which was doubtless more than they had made out of the business of illicit distilling. Hickory Press: From herds of Short Horns and Jerseys, Mr. Richardson of Morehead City, has secured from several splendid sales last week. Each sold a number of cattle of all ages, ranging in prices from $40 to $100 per head. The most fancy prize realized was by Mrs. S. for the Ekerd cow, "Lady Autin"—$100. We noted the change made in the property of the Fayetteville Observer. It is our pleasant duty now to note its new and elegant attire. Its last issue is a daisy. There are only two of three papers in the State that are as sightly, and it is decidedly the neatest and most attractive that is published in Fayetteville. We congratulate brother Myrover, who does know how to get up a paper. Fayetteville Observer-Gazette: Merchants in every branch of trade speak in gratified terms of what has been done so far, and are full of sanguine expectation of what is to come. Last Tuesday afternoon, while a gang of women were working at a party of the Wilson Railroad Bridge over Cape Fear River, a portion of the gearing broke, and there was a general crash of rock, machinery, wood-work, &c. The workmen fortunately saved themselves by leaping precipitately in every direction, but fragments of iron were thrown across the river to the distance of one hundred and fifty yards. Raleigh Visitor: A party of three persons went out hunting near Morrisville late after a hunt of two days ended with the capture of a rabbit and two squirrels. Pretty good. The people of our sister town, Durham, have good reason to feel proud of the success which has attended their efforts in the horse racing line. There was a large crowd present yesterday, and everything passed off in the happiest style. The grounds are well arranged and admirably located. It is conceded to be one of the finest race tracks in the South. The fastest time made yesterday was 2:30, which is said to have been the best ever made in North Carolina. Salisbury Watchman: The Watchman thanks the Wilmington Star for an exceedingly flattering compliment paid it recently. To say that the Watchman is "wisely and judiciously edited" is high praise, and is appreciated, especially when it emanates from the best paper in the State. There is a decided and beneficial effort being made here for the establishment of a cotton factory. There is not an idle carpenter in Salisbury. There is a demand for carpenters just now. The progress of some of the building now going on in town is hindered from this cause. The unusual demand for hands to work on the extension of the Carolina Central Railroad, and the high price (for that section) of one dollar per day, has almost entirely drawn away the men now working in Burke, McDowell and Rutherford counties. It is doubtful if a third of the customary returns from this source is probable. Charlotte Observer: The woman who came so near dying from gas inhalation at the Central Hotel Monday night, is slowly improving, and is now conscious, but is not able to talk much. The smoke that entered the room was heavy rain commenced falling. It is estimated that 8,000 people were present. All were delighted at the success of the fair and pronounced it a credit not only to the State but to the South. Washington items: Mr. Charles N. Vance has been appointed to a position in the Internal Revenue Bureau which will pay him $4 and expenses. He will travel and report to the office here. There is a young man here from Fernandina, Fla., a candidate for the collection of customs at that place, who left Wilmington, N. C., twelve years ago. His name is Mr. Clayton, and he is a son of Rev. Mr. Mahoney, of the Methodist conference. Greensboro Workman: Mr. Wesley Smith, a citizen of Waverlyville, and who furnishes the power that moves our printing press daily, says he was familiar, six years ago, with one Borkum, who lived near Mr. From Clayton, Johnston county. Borkum, he says, was 140 years old, and his eyes were dim, but when he wanted to see clearly his friends put pepper and salt in his eyes. Mr. Smith thinks Borkum is still living, at the ripe old age of 146 years. The Morning Star will take notice. (Yes, we have taken notice. This shows what a great State North Carolina is. While other States and countries struggle hard to produce once and awhile genuine geniuses, we produce them as a matter of course for North Carolina and have them at any time ranging from 100 to 100 years old. You pay your money and you take your choice. There is another remarkable thing: North Carolina never fails at all credit. They are able to believe any thing. Baron Munchausen's adventures are not at all improbable. Oh no.—STAR.) Raleigh News-Observer: Mr. Fred A. Watson has developed an industry here in the manufacture of picture frames, of all styles, window shades and cornices. He has purchased since September over 50,000 feet of moulding, in all styles. Mr. Willie R. Williams requests that the announcement be made that the State Grange will hold its annual meeting at Rocky Mount, December 2. James Spaulding died in Salem last Sunday, from eating chestnuts. The revival in the Methodist Church at Elizabeth City, under the direction of Rev. Mr. Willis, still continues. Twenty-five new members were admitted to the church last Sunday. Rev. E. R. Rich, lately the rector of the Church of the Good Shepherd, this city, has accepted a call to the church at Elk Landing, Maryland. Rev. Dr. George P. Easton now in the absence of Texas, has been invited by the vestry to the pastorate of Christ Church, Elizabeth City. Shaw University, colored, opened October 1. It now has over 200 students, male and female, in attendance. The Leonard medical school (which is a department of Shaw University), opens November 1. It will have six professors of all ability. Five of them are of this city, and among them are several large scale physicians. The school is connected with the University expected Nov. 1. The tables prepared by Messrs. Dancy and Battle are, as we are told in the brief preface, intended to meet a long felt want on the part of agricultural analytical chemists, and afford relief from laborious calculations incident to determining certain analyses. Their preparation required not only labor and industry, but skill and professional learning. The work has been admirably done, reflecting credit on the authors. It has received the commendation of the convention of agricultural chemists at Washington, of the Mitchell scientific society, and of all the professional men who have examined it. It is useful in the laboratories of the United States Department of Agriculture, of the Virginia Department of Agriculture, of the Michigan carbon works, of many companies manufacturing fertilizers, and of many private chemists.

JOEL HUTCHINS MUSE. At 29 minutes to 7 o'clock P. M., on 30th October, 1885, this good man died. We have never been called upon during a long journalistic experience to write a sketch of the life of but one other person with whom we have been associated. In all the years of our editorial life we have never been moved by profounder sympathy and sorrow as we take pencil in hand to pay a brief tribute to our departed friend. Naturally there was not a better man in Wilmington, and his relatives and friends have the sweet consolation of believing that he was fully prepared by the grace of God for the final summons. Although he had never connected himself with the church, those who knew him most intimately can testify to the great interest he took in religion and all that concerned the church, and that he reposed in the infinite mercy of God as vouchsafed in the death of his dear Son, the Redeemer of sinners. Mr. Muse was one of the most amiable men we have known. For over nine years the writer sat close to him in the Star office, working at separate tables, and in all that time we never saw him manifest any temper but once, and that of a very mild sort. He was very kindly, sympathetic, and genial in his relations with his fellow-men, and with those he loved he was all that husband, father and friend could possibly be. He was as gentle as a woman, confiding, unsuspecting, ready to hear good always, and reluctant to hear evil. A man of perfect honor, of strict veracity, of most obliging nature, he was esteemed by all and disliked by none. A man who could dislike him ought to examine his own heart and see the evil that is within. We do not believe in all his life he ever wantonly outraged the feelings of man or woman, or ever inflicted the slightest pain upon any designedly. In his early manhood he resided at New Bern, where he did good service for the Democratic party in publishing the Journal. At a later time he worked at Fayetteville, and after that at Raleigh. In 1865 he removed to Wilmington, and first worked on the Herald, edited by Thomas M. Cook. He next worked on the Journal, became foreman of the Dispatch, and finally became foreman of the Star. About the year 1870 he entered upon his duties as City Editor of the Star. In that capacity for more than fifteen years he has been a most faithful, obliging, diligent worker. All are familiar with the hundreds of local articles he has written through these years of severe trial. No man was more devoted to duty, and no man worked harder to fill his department on the paper with interest, usefulness and fidelity. He wrote with much facility, and had a clever knack at verse writing. Some of his occasional "Carrier's Addresses" on Christmas, which the readers of the Star have often admired, were pleasant efforts of that kind of writing. Some of his contributions to the local department of the Star within the last several years were unusual clever, and one or two impressed us as rising into no little elegance and even eloquence of expression. A good man has fallen. Last Sunday he pulled his pencil from his pocket and said with melancholy cadence to a friend and neighbor, as he looked at it, "I reckon my work is about done." Yes, the labor is ended and now it is rest. At home at last with the good and the glorified, the tolling editor rests from his labors, and the memory of a good name remains to cheer and console his friends. He passed away at his own home, surrounded by some of his own family and two friends, in the 54th year of his age. How painful it is to see a friend die. How small, how powerless man appears in the presence of kingly, mighty Death! How dumb the soul is in the agony of such a supreme moment! But when the struggle is ended, and the spirit of man returns to the God and Father who gave it, and all is well, how the soul then reposes safely upon the mercy and goodness of God as manifested in the redemption wrought by the Divine Redeemer. Mr. Muse leaves a devoted wife, three sons and two daughters, to mourn his departure and to treasure his rare merits. He was born on the 4th of April, 1831, in that part of Craven county that has been erected into the county of Pamlico. The Star is now in its nineteenth year, and Mr. Muse is the first person to die while connected with it, of the many who have served it from time to time. This is remarkable. Whose time is it next? Be ye also ready.

LOCAL NEWS.

Receipts of cotton yesterday 707 bales. To-morrow is the first day of the last fall month. The city seems to be on its good behavior; not a single case for the Mayor's Court in three days. Three tramps, two white and one colored, applied for lodging at the station house Thursday night. Criminal Court for New Hanover county meets in this city on Monday, Nov. 16th. The jurors were being summoned yesterday. The following was received at the Signal office yesterday, about 11 o'clock: Hoist off-shore signals, Wilmington and Wilmington section. Storm central east of Jersey coast, dangerous northwest winds. Blackbird Targets. The New Hanover Gun Club have ordered from Knoxville, Tenn., a trap and 3,000 blackbird targets, and they are expected to arrive here Monday. These targets are made of clay—the shells being very thin—and are so constructed that when thrown from the trap into the air and fired at, if struck only by a single shot, they will fall to pieces, leaving no doubt as to whether or not the marksman has missed his "bird." The Club will have their first practice during the approaching week. The "boys" are anticipating fine fun; and as the "goose-egg medals" is to be won by the most inferior marksman in the Club, some excellent shooting may be expected, for no member is desirous of being the possessor of this "honor." Flugs for the Roger Moore. The schooner Roger Moore, which is now owned by Capt. R. H. Beery, was presented yesterday with three flags by Col. Roger Moore, in whose honor the vessel is named. She was formerly the Isaac L. Clark, and was blown ashore on Stump Sound some time ago, and afterwards towed into this port, where she was purchased by Capt. Beery, and her name changed to Roger Moore. The colors were ordered through Mr. Geo. A. Peck, and consist of a National flag, regulation size; a "Barger" of white ground, with red border, and the name "Roger Moore," in blue letters; and the Union Jack, also regulation size.
