FEDERAL AND STATE TAXES.

The tax-payer does not know how much tax he pays to the Federal Gov. ernment or he would kick. The State tax is heavy, he may think, but it is not HALF what a man who lives in town must pay as all know who have tried it. But the State, county and town tax all combined is a drop in the bucket compared with the tribate paid to the Federal Government through the custom houses. The Tariff Revenue System is a great burden. People ought to pay cheerfully all taxes levied by the State, as it is from the State that most of the privileges and benefits of citizenship come. Bear that in mind. The benefits come from North Carolina to each of its tax-payers, but the chief burdens are laid by the Federal Government. This may seem like a truism to all who have reflected, but it is necessary to repeat often and emphasize fundamental facts and fundamental principles. An able Georgian, Hon. Samuel Barrett, has published in the Atlanta Constitution aeseries of papers on "State and Federal Taxation." We have seen but one of his articles. In that he says:

"Between the relative cost and the relative benefits of the two governments there is a strange disparity. And this disparity is constantly growing. The exactions of the Federal Government rise as its benefits diminish until now it is known chiefly by its burdens. Within five years it has made rapid strides, unprecedented in our own history and in modern times. As now ad ministered, the Federal Government is a poor investment; its value has gone down, as its cost has gone up."

He shows that the people of hi State pay to the Federal Govern ment six times more tax than they pay to Georgia in all kinds of taxes. He estimates the tax paid to the U. S. Government annually at $12,000,-000. Think of that. This is not peculiar to Georgia. North Carolina pays in the same extraordinary proportion and disproportion. We ask intelligent readers to consider carefully the following. It is true every word of it and is worthy of the attention of every reflecting tax-payer in the State. Mr. Barrett says:

"Few citizens of Georgia ever appeal to the United States for protection in any way or form. Nearly all rights of person and property are under State protection, and administered by the State courts. So, too, is it with roads, bridges, ferries, and taxes and the necesseries none, if i be possible. Turn back and read again what Mr. Barrett says of the enormous burden of Federal Taxation, and then say if it is not just, humane, wise to relieve the people as far as possible of this burden? Is there any better or juster way under heaven than to tax the vices and liberate the absolute necessaries of the laboring millions of the United

should be made to raise most of the

When the poor man's medicinequinine-was taxed heavily it sold as high as $5 an ounce in Wilmington at one time. When the tax was lifted from this necessary, this universally used remedy, it fell in price, and now sells for but $1.25 an ounce. This shows very clearly what a curse a tax on necessaries is.

States?

The people should not place a bur den on themselves when they are so unwisely asking to wipe out the tax on whiskey and tobacco. It is better for all classes that there should be free quinine, free blankets, free crockery, free shoes, free hats, free trace chains, free cotton ties, than that there should be free drinks, free chews and free smokes. The STAR will never agree to any economical monstrosity of that kind.

It is worse than useless for North Carolina and one or two other Southern States to be bellowing for the abolition of the tax on the luxuries. Illinois produces ten or twelves times more articles that pay the internal tax than North Carolina pays, and yet no complaint comes from that State. And so with most of the States that produce most of the articles that swell the tax to some $112, 000,000.

On principle the STAR is opposed to abolishing the tax on luxuries. First, because it is necessary. Second, because the luxuries ought to be taxed. Third, the best way to relieve the people of the immense Tariff tax burden is to put it on drinks and smokes. Fourth, if the tax was abolished a deficit would occur in the Treasury. Fifth, if abolished the tax on the common necessaries of life must be continued to the crack of doom.

MR. CARLISLE AND THE COMMIT-

Mr. Carlisle knows what Demo eratic principles are. He knows much of the necessities of the country. He remembers the pledges of his party in the matter of reform and he will strive to do right.

JOAQUIN MILLER AND LIT-ERARY LIFE.

In these times, when the Goddess of Expediency is so widely and devotedly worshipped that the most blatant and big-mouthed of politicians addressing her will temper his loudness. and like Master Giles (in Reado's "Claister and Hearth") when beseeching a favor of the Majesty of Burgundy, will make his voice "as soft as honey," it is a wonderfully exhilarating thing to en-counter a man who really "has the courage of his opinions." Such a man emphatically is Joaquin Miller, the distinguished "Poet of the Sierras." Every true Southerner should honor, yes, love him. Although once he wore conscientiously "the blue," the South can point to no friend more generous and more genuine.

Mr. Miller has recently been travelling through various portions of the Southwest, and has visited also the South Atlantic States, and his impressions of our people, as given in letters to several Northern period icals, prove that he is as broad minded and unprejudiced as he i kind-hearted. Observe what he has written o

Beauvoir, of ex-President Davis: "Perhaps, the most notable resi dence along this warm sea bank is that of Jefferson Davis. They call him President Davis here; they speak of him with great affection. But he is not deified at all, as some writers foolishly affirm. Yet I repeat, he is greatly respected. And when you bear in mind that there is not one of thse ten million people who did not put some sort of sacrifie on the altar of Southern opinion, you cannot be surprised. "This man stands as a token to them. Personally, I think they see but little of him; these gray old mothers, whose sons went down in battle, these beautiful girls whose fathers never came back; but they have their memories and their tradi tions. They call him President Davis, and will continue to do so while he lives. A great many Northern people visit him, and not all with the noblest motives. * * Mr. Davis is a poor man, I am told. and cannot afford to keep his place * * *

"Of course the desire to see him now in the last days of his historical and tempestuous life, is irresistible. when one is almost within call. And system. - Phil. Record. Ind. Dem. The Government maintains a commodious establishment for the President, and that official receives a salary of $50,000 a year. But Republican Presidents were not content with the provision which the Government made for their comfort. They selected naval vessels for their individual pleasure and had them

"steam up" whenever they wished to take a trip. The Presidential junket became a feature of Republican Administrations. And when a Republican "ruler" grew tired of the White House he took up a temporary abode in the Presidential cottage at the Soldiers' Home. This cottage is an elegant structure and has been kept up in great style. By having two houses-the White House and the house at the Soldiers' Home-the Republican President was able to imitate the monarchs of Europe, who live first at one palace and then at another, as their fancy may dictate. But the Soldiers' Home cottage was never provided by law as a Presidential retreat; it was simply taken possession of, and custom gave it a quasi official character. But President Cleveland desires to have the Government return to Jeffersonian simplicity. He does not junket, and when he takes a trip he pays his fare like any other citizen. And as for the Soldiers' Home cottage, he has never occupied it, and he never will. He wishes to see it converted into an infirmary for the use of the soldiers, and this suggestion in this matter will be carried into effect .-Richmond State, Dem.

A South Carolina Tragedy.

CHARLESTON, S. C., Nov. 18 .- A terrible tragedy was enacted in Edgefield county to-day. A white man named Robert Jones occupied some land rented ay his connections, Charles and Edward Pressley. They notified him that they could no longer pay the rent, and that he must vacate to day. Jones went to the field where Edward Pressley, aged eighty, and his sons Charles and Edward were ploughing, and shot Charles dead. Edward started in pursuit, and Jones stabbed him mortally with a knife. Jones now reloaded his gun and killed the father, old Pressley, who is the grandfather of Jones's wife. Jones then came to the court house, entered the jail, and surrendered, remarking that he had killed three of the best men in the county. Jones is a Georgian, and I have invented a SIMPLE WATER CLOSET SEAT, for the cure of the above troublesome and paiuful malady, which I confidently place before the public as a came to this State about six years ago. This account is from a News and Courier correspondent, who visited the scene. Another account is that the Pressleys went to the field where Jones was working, and Jones killed them in selfdefence.

d recently on the far Poole, in Chester county, to furnish water for an engine. Miss Annie Poole, Frank Townsend, Edward Mackey and others drank of the water, and became terribly Miss Poole and Townsend died yesterday. Mackey and the others are slightly better. It is believed the water was impregnated with a deadly mineral poison.

HALF A CENTURY Career of this recognized leading Agricultural Journal of the world.

What it is To-Day.

Six months ago the American Agriculturist en tered upon a NEW CARRER OF PROSPERITY, and to-day it is far superior to any similar peri-odical ever produced in this or any other coun-try. Richer in editorial strength; richer in engra-vings; printed on finer paper, and presenting in every issue 100 columns of original reading mat-ter from the ablest writers, and nearly 100 llins-trations. Dr. George Thurber, for nearly quar-ter of a century the editor-in-chief of the Amer-ican Agriculturist, Joseph Harris, Byron D. Hal-sted, Col. M. C. Weld, and Andrew S. Fuller, the other long time Editors, together with the other other long time Editors, together with the other writers who have made the American Agricultu-rist what it is to-day, ARE STILL AT THEIR DOSTS
