MONDAY EVENING, DEC. 28, 1885

EVENING EDITION THE FINANCIAL QUESTION - IN CONGRESS.

The prospect is that when the Congress reassembles on the 5th of January that the debate on the silver question will open in earnest. We have heard that there were other Democratic Senators who were prepared to follow up Mr. Beck's blows imed at the President and Secretary Manning. If so, it may come to pass that the main defence of the President's policy on the coinage question shall be by Republicans. This will be a curious spectacle and will augur no good for the future of the Democratic party.

But the silver question is not the only question that promises to cause division among Democrats. The appropriations, Civil Service, the Blair bill, the readjusting and reduction of the Tariff, and perhaps others, may witness a divided party in one or both Houses. It is very certain that there is a majority of Democrats in Congress who are not with the President on the Silver, Civil Service and Tariff questions. It is bad for the Administration if it has not its party back of it to sustain it.

For some months the Chicago Current has been criticising sharply the financial operations of Mr. Manning. We confess we did not understand the point of objection it urged and thought it originated in partisan antagonism possibly. But we find the same objection presented by both Democrats and Republicans. Senator Beck seemed to regard the Secretary of the Treasury as merely the agent of the gold bugs and capitalists. Mr. Evarts, one of the Republican leaders, is said to approve of Mr. Beck's position and will fortify it by a speech of his own. The financial management of Secretary Manning is certain to be hauled. It is clear from his reort already submitted that he has truck out some novel methods of his on and that he has departed from plan of his predecessors in imant particulars in using the pubmey. The Philadelphia Ameria Republican paper that stands by the financial ideas of the gold men, has this view, and it is worth at- wheat market is depressed, and m because of the ability of the paper and its party affiliation. It buckwheat flour are barely sustained.

"The points of difference are first, and generally, the plan of holding a larger amount of cash in the Treasury, thus involving, (2) the suspension of calls for bonds, and permitting, (3) the increase of the amount of the gold item as part of the 'cash on hand.' Mr. Manning has set out with the idea, apparently, that there will be greater safety for the public interests in proportion as the amount of ready money in his hands is increased, and that Mr. Mc-Culloch and Mr. Folger did not lock up enough.

Heavy speculations have prevailed in wheat for future 'delivery. The jobbing trade in dry goods was light, but values are comparatively unchange.

"Thus, it appears that Mr. Manning has called no bonds at all. The interest-bearing public debt, which was $1,260,772,612 on the 4th of March, 1885, was $1,260,778,612, on the 1st of November, 1885,—there being actually a small net increase, caused ness and severity of Mr. Beck's speech in the Senate may have startled the Secretary, but he could hardly anticipate that his policy of increasing the vast sum of idle money should go unchalenged amongst the very men who had been complaining of what had been done in that direction by his predecessors. * * In it possible that Mr. Manning fails to comprehend any feature of his business except that of having a large sum of money lying in the vaults?"

BRITISH SPECULATIONS. Speculations in England are ad verse to the success of any plan to give Ireland a Parliament of its own. It is said that Mr. Gladstone would not be able to carry out the plan with which he was credited because of the incurable split in his party. But there are others who hold that he will be able to solidify the Liberals upon any plan he may propose. It is not probable, to say the least, that the Tories will be able to hold office many months longer. It wil then devolve upon the opposition to form a Ministry and it is almost certain that Mr. Gladstone will have to be invited to assume this grave responsibility. There will scarcely be any other alternative. The Tories will be almost certain to be defeated up on some measure and not necessarily Irish, for England has a complex policy and a great many interests to be consulted. The Irish may not find it to their interest to support the Tories in the domestic and foreign policy, and so a few of the Parnellites uniting with the Liberals would drive the Ministry from power. In that event it would be inevitable that Mr. Gladstone should be called upon to form a new Ministry, as he is the only man in opposition who could rally the forces and give a guarantee of anything like a success ful term of office.

In the meantime Mr. Parnell is "the uncrowned King of Ireland," and holds the balance of power in the British Parliament. He can kill and he can make alive. It is in his power to defeat the Tory Ministry and to give the Government to the Liberals or vice versa. He is an able, cautious, well-poised man, and will use his great influence for the prosperity and glory of his own people, no doubt.

What a tremendous State Texas is! It has territory enough to make half dozen North Carolinas. It contains 270,000 square miles. It has 46,000,000 acres of timber and 7,300 miles of railroad. Its crop capacities are simply marvellous. The estimate of her crops for 1885, has been made and it is put at 1,300,000 bales of cotton and 32,000,000 pounds of wool, 80,000,000 bushels of corn, 4,000,000 bushels of wheat. It has 383 varieties of grass, and grazes annually 12,000,000 head of cattle. Its population is now estimated at 2,500. 000. In 1870 its wealth was placed at $150,000,000; in 1885, it is now given at the enormous figure of $603,000,000. Each county has 20. 000 acres of land for school purposes, and each University has 220,000 acres. The school fund has already $7,000,000 in money and securities.

Truly a wonderful State. We have had the pleasure of read ing a graceful sketch of "Old Mansions of Cape Fear," and more especially of "The Hermitage," that was destroyed by fire a few years since. The copy we read had a photograph of "The Hermitage," the elegant home where hospitality was dispensed for generations and whence went out sons and daughters to adorn the State. From this ancestral home four gentlemen were sprung who served their country gloriously, two of whom fell upon the battle-field, namely, General George Burgwin Anderson and Colonel Harry King Burgwin. The sketch has been prepared by one who is familiar with the traditions, events and localities of this section of Carolina and who tells in felicitous English the story of the past-Col. James G. Burr, "native here and to the manner born."

There was a rapid rise in foreign exchange last week. The rise in loans of money was most marked the average being 4 per cent. This was brought about by the gold operators and will not last probably. The nces for rye nour, corn meal and

THE WHIPPING POST.

The people of North Carolina may be too much given to old ideas and old notions. Young America says so, and Young America, if a little "too previous" sometimes and a little too bumptious now and then, knows what is what. But the people of North Carolina, if old fogyish and backward, are conservative and safe. They never run wild after "isms" and made-easy plans, and are old-fash ioned enough to cling to the political institutions of the fathers and to reverence the Bible-the Book of books. That is going out of fashion in some sections where the Golden Calf is more generally worshipped. Well, North Carolina held on to the whipping post when it was laughed at and ridiculed by the "smart Alexs" in the North just as they are laughing at and ridiculing now the hanging of burglars. It is a great pity that the whipping post is not now the important "institution" it was before the war. But we merely wish now to copy a paragraph from Mr. Randall's letter to the Augusta Chronicle that concerns this very subject as well as our State. He

"A man at Goldsboro, N. C., was detected picking pockets. He was arrested and happened to be a Northern sharper. Entering into conversation with his captors he asked what the penalty was, and when informed that whipping happened to be one of the consequences, he said: 'Had I known that no North Carolinian would have lost his pocket book or watch. If this were generally known no pockets would be picked in this part of the coun-try.' He was well lashed and afterward imprisoned. Crimes would become scarce if this punishment were commonly adopted and impartially administered."

THE PERIODICALS.

St. Nicholas for January is certain to maintain the high reputation of the best of all magazines for the young folks. It is a gem in typography, paper, illustrations and reading matter. It has achieved a great success and it has richly deserved it. He is a fortunate boy who has the read ing of it for a year. Price $3. Address Century Company, Union Square, N. Y.

The Atlantic Monthly for January opens strongly for the new year. Miss Murfree begins her new novel, "In the Clouds." It has her most striking characteristics, but she is in danger of repeating herself. David Doge has a paper on "The Free Negroes of North Carolina" which we have not read. Who he is we do not know The editor, Thomas B. Aldrich, has an exquisitely neat and virile story with an unsatisfactory ending, witled 'Two Bites at a Cherry." John Fiske contributes a paper on the "Political Conse quences in England of Cornwallis's Sur render at Yorkstown." There is a clear and appreciative paper on Stedman's "Poet's of America." Henry James, Mrs. Oliphant and Dr. Holmes are the other story tellers of this number. Price $4 Houghton, Mifflin & Co., Boston

CURRENT COMMENT.

-- We regret to observe the un worthy spirit in which several of our contemporaries discuss the affair of Mr. Keiley's rejection by the court of Vienna. It is true that Mr. Bayard might have handled the case more moderately in his report, that Mr. Keiley burt his own cause by ac cepting the Italian mission when he must have known how unsuitable selection that was. But after all allowances have been made, it re mains true that Mr. Keiley's rejection at Vienna was an indignity which the State Department was right in resenting. If a reputable American citizen is not good enough for their European courts, we shall be obliged to go search ing the country for an assortment of diplomatic dudes, whose pedigree, marriages and manners are such as to furnish no ground for objection. The German courts are much the worst in this respect, and it is said that Mr. Pendleton's position at Berlin has been made very offensive by the disdainful treatment his wife has received from the wohl gebohrene madams of Prussia. A recent American minister to Copenhagen had a somewhat similar experience, and resigned the commission in consequence. Perhaps the best way would be to abolish our missions at every court where our ministers are treated with any want of courtesy, as we did the mission to the papal court, after the American chapel was closed. Russia and England are the only principal capitals at which our representatives are shown due consideration.—Philadelphia American, Rep.

-- This talk of wholesale war. or of any war at all, on the President's appointments is the most transparent rigmarole. It is possible that here and there an objection may be raised on purely personal grounds, but that is all. We credit the Republican Senators with too much buckwheat flour are barely sustained. Heavy speculations have prevailed in wheat for future delivery. The jobbing trade in dry goods was light, but values are comparatively unchange.

North Dakota is not satisfied. While South Dakota is hammering away at the door of Congress. North Dakota is exposed to being left out in the cold. It desires to go in as a part of the whole. This is natural, but it has much less population than the Southern part has. What will sense to suppose that they will fall into so egregious a folly. The President has gone carefully and deliberately about his appointments, and the country fully understands that he has acted in good faith and with patriotic purpose. There is no capital to be made for the Republicans by seeking to embarrass him. If his appointments are wise they would not be justified in rejecting them. If they are weak, the Republican Senators will help their cause most effectually by winking at them. There are no conceivable grounds for the course outlined in the sensational atterances alluded to.—N. Y. Star, Dem. sense to suppose that they will fall

The Librarian of the United Sta Coast and Geodetic Survey is an odd sort of person. The only name he personally cares anything about is Artemus Martin, but he has a half dozen prefixes and suffixes, all given him by learned societies. Mr. Mar-tin is one of the first mathematicians in the world. The problems of calculus are to him mere child's play. Nothing short of mathematical sophistries of the most abstruse and impractical sort have any fascination for him. Oddly enough, Mr. Martin was, until his appointment in the United States Government service, a market gardener. He owned a small piece of land on the south shore of Lake Erie, within a half dozen miles of the city of Erie, which he tilled, raising mostly kitchen truck for the city market. Twice every week he was to be found in his stall, as little known to his customers or people of the city as was the vendor of poultry or the seller of beads and buttons in the neighboring stalls. One day it was announced in the telegraphic news in the papers that a Mr. A. Martin, of Erie, Penn., had been elected an honorary member of one of the leading learned societies of Great Britain, the Royal Mathematical or something of that sort-I have forgotten just now what. Everybody said: "Who's Martin? Have we any such distinguished individual in our midst?" No one seemed to know. A few days later the University of Michigan conferred the degree of A. M. upon Mr. A. Martin, of Erie, Penn. Here was a fresh bit of news. Well, after awhile this learned but mysterious man was dis covered in the person of the garden er, who tended a stall in the city market. A man of perhaps 45, he was tall and ungainly, dressed as became his calling, looked as little like a Fellow of a royal British society as like British royalty itself. But fame made no change in the appearance or occupation of the market gardener.

A CONSISTENT TAX HATER.

N. Y. Star, Dem. Hatred of taxes sometimes becomes a monomania. It appears to have done so in the case of Henry Blocher, an old man living very humbly in Indiana. So intense is Bloch er's hatred of taxes that he will give his money away rather than pay taxes on it. He receives an incom on about $75,000, and does not own anything. Some time ago he began loaning money on thirty-three years' time, taking as security first mortgages, which provided that at the expiration of the time stated the borrower, if he had paid his interest promptly, should be released from any obligation to repay the princi-

Had the old man's desire been merely to assure himself a comforta-ble income for life, and had he enlarged his income by his peculiar methods, his course might be explicable. But such was not his aim. He lent, or gave away his money, for 6 per cent, interest on it, and lived on the smallest possible portion of the income of over $4,000 a year thus received. The remainder, saved from his income by penurious living, he reinvested in the same way. His only object was to escape the payment of taxes.

18 THIS PROTECTION?

Louisville Courier-Journal. Every large firm manufacturing sewing machines (the sewing machine is an American invention, and should be an American product for export,) has established shops in Scotland to supply foreign demand nstead of manufacturing in America. This is one of the results of protection. Workingmen, who is protected against the pauper labor of Scotland? Are you? Is the city of Elizabeth protected? What security have you against the pauper labor of Scotland? If the Singer company, in dispute with the city of Elizabeth over a tax bill of $20,000, can profitably close its shops in America and order its pauper laborers in Scotland to work double time, what assurance have you that in case you should ask little better wages, or should protest against a reduction, the same course would not be pursued?

Disturbances Among the Local Facmist on the Political Situation-Russia and Austria Secretly Arming.

By Cable to the Morning Star. DUBLIN, Dec. 27.—Evidences of more than ordinary bad feeling among the local factions in Ireland have forcibly shows themselves recently, and continue to give the municipal and police authorities very great concern. An example of the increas-ing irritation manifested itself yesterday, when a house in Creegh Lane, Limerick, occupied by a man named Blake, was besieged by his political opponents. The as-sault seems to have been expected, and the friends of Blake were not slow in rallying to his defence. They immediately engaged in a desperate conflict with the besieging party. Women as well as men took sides the battle, and sticks, stones, guns and pietols were handled with rnestness. It was fully two hours before the police, who were called upon to disperse the crowds and arrest the rioters, succeeded in restoring order. The latest accounts report at least twenty persons, including several women, dangerously wounded in the battle. The police, who were not at first able to command the peace, were reinforced as soon as that fact was evident, and with their aug-mented force succeeded in making a large number of arrests.

The following letter from a well known ladvexplains itself and is worthy reading:

"I wish to say to the sick and those what is all the vocabulary of medicines they the most virtue and the greatest less than the greatest less tha Parker's Tonic. I have been un invalie for an or six years past, and given up to die by the nost skilful physicians of Kausas and Colorado but Parker's Tonic has kept me alive, and raised me up atter everything else failed. I have organic heart disease, combined with spinal and great nervous debility, and have cold sinking spells with no pulse, and the only medicine that will bring on a reaction is Parker's Tonic. I have never known it to fall in curing a cold if taken in time, and it will relieve pain quicker than any remedy I have ever tried. I send you this because I would like for others to know how much good it has done me It is just as good for call-dran. Try it and be convinced."—MRS. D. SHULTZ, Louisville, Kansas. P. O.
