MORNING EDITION. OUTLINES.

A family of negroes near Hempstead, Texas, were poisoned by eating the flesh of a stolen hog, which had been dosed with strychnine; several have died.

The Kansas women are dying to vote. Nothing but the ballot will keep them alive.

Will the Queen succeed in her efforts to shut Gladstone out of office? How long could a Liberal Cabinet live in such times without its head?

An Irish meeting in Philadelphia on Wednesday night raised nearly $6,000 for the Irish Parliament Fund.

The organs in New York of the bankers and bondholders are dreadfully upset because Senator Evarts has not spoken against silver.

The London Pall Mall Gazette recommends that Mr. Parnell go into the Liberal Cabinet.

Doubtless Lord Salisbury is glad he is defeated. He drew an elephant last year and for a few months his noddle has been greatly perplexed over the question of what to do with it.

The Democrats to a man in the Senate will stand by the President in his war with the Republican Senators.

The editor of the New York World is a member of the House of Representatives and is classed as a Protectionist.

The Montgomery (Ala.) Dispatch is a little over three months old and it has enlarged its borders and become an eight page daily.

What mighty change is that which has "come over the spirit" of Jim Blaine's "dreams"? He is said to be on the people's side in the silver fight, and now comes the news from Washington that he is opposed to the Republican plan of obstruction in the Senate of Presidential nominations.

The New York Sun was wont to publish its circulation. In 1884, by its treacherous course towards the Democrats, it fell off so greatly in circulation it discontinued the publication of the number of copies sold, and it has not regained enough to return to the old plan, although it is giving the Administration a quasi support.

The President put a lively flea in the Republican Senatorial ear by means of Attorney General Garland's letter. The Judiciary Committee have been furnished with such "papers" as they were entitled to receive. Others have been withheld because, in the judgment of the President, "the public interests will" not "be promoted" by furnishing them. What next?

David R. Atchison, a famous politician in ante bellum times, is dead, aged seventy-nine years. He was United States Senator from Missouri from 1843 to 1885 and was twice President of that body. He claimed the singular distinction of having been President of the United States for one day. He lived at St. Joseph, Missouri. When General Taylor died the office of President was vacant from Saturday night until 12 o'clock M. on Monday following. Senator Atchison was Chairman of the Senate but he refused to act as President as he was advised to do by Senators. He was a native of Kentucky. He was a leader of the pro-slavery party in Kansas.

Mr. Robert Louis Stevenson is an English novelist with whose writings we are not familiar, beyond one story we didn't feel interested enough in to finish. He has a fine reputation, however. Our New York namesake, the Star, has one of the best literary departments in its daily issues of Sunday and Wednesday of any American newspaper. Of Mr. Stevenson's latest—"Strange Case of Dr. Jekyll and Mr. Hyde," it says: "There are two noticeable qualities about the work of the clever author of this very successful romance. One is his delicious style; the other his passion for the abnormal. Taken together, they make a literary dish with an entirely new flavor."

The Star believes that officials deserve no special praise for doing their duty, and it has very rarely commended them for this. They would be very derelict and censurable if they did not do their duty. But of some officials more can be said than this. Of Judge Conner, of Wilson, who has just held a two weeks' term in Wilmington, it may be said without flattery, that by reason of ability, courtesy, patience and fairness in decisions he has made a very marked impression upon the bar and upon all citizens who have come in contact with him. Such men are indeed ornaments to a State and to the Judiciary.

We have written but two notices of performances in four years—the Theodore Thomas concert and the Kellogg concert. We believe that it is the duty of a critic to be fair, but to be truthful and candid. We "damned with faint praise" the prima donna's efforts, because she is a faded flower, a broken instrument, all "jangled and out of tune." Some of our exchanges so copied our article as to make us appear as praising highly her gifts. She is no longer a prima donna, but once she was superb. A Baltimore musical journal thinks she should retire, and Mr. Randall writes from Washington to his paper, the Augusta Chronicle, that "she lags superfluous on the stage," to quote a well known line. We liked her simple airs, but not her efforts to sing in a higher strain.

Spirits Turpentine. —Blue Ridge Baptist: Mr. Aiken, who was supposed to have frozen to death in Transylvania county, died of heart disease.

—It now appears to be almost certain that the peach crop in the Blue Ridge section was very seriously injured by the cold.

—Chadbourne Times: Mr. Jos. A. Brown, of this place, expects to sow about six acres in radishes and four in garden peas for the Northern market.

—Asheville Citizen: Thirteen tons of corundum from the Macon mines passed through Monday for the Northern market. Col. L. L. Polk will publish his Progressive Farmer at Winston.

—Greensboro Argus: The news reached this city yesterday of the death of the wife of Mr. Fred I. Becton, one of the justices of the peace of this county, which occurred yesterday morning.

—Greensboro Workman: Our community has again been called upon to mourn the death of one of its members in the person of Miss Matilda Hill, who has been sick for some time with pneumonia.

—Battleboro Headlight: Died, near Nashville, on Tuesday morning, December 31st, Mr. Josiah Vick, at the age of 64 years. Mrs. Wiley Bradley, of Edgecombe county, died at her home near this place, on last Friday night. She was a most estimable lady. —Whitaker note: A large smoking tobacco and snuff factory to be built soon. Farmers are preparing for another tobacco crop.

—Fayetteville News: Mrs. W. M. Faircloth, who is an expert in trapping hawks. Mrs. F. caught this one over the remains of a five pound chicken, with a steel trap. He measured five feet nine inches across, and weighed nearly four pounds. Up to this time she has caught six in the same trap. —We learn that Mr. Duncan Shaw of 71st township, had the misfortune to receive a severe fall on his door step, from which he is laid up.

—Rockingham Rocket: For the information of people in the sections applying for postal facilities, we reproduce Judge Bennett's letter. He says: "DEAR SIR—Send me petitions for the new offices from the persons who are to be benefited thereby—(neighborhood folks). I will get them for you, if it is practicable to do so. After getting these offices we will move up for routes. Your friend, R. T. BENNETT. Command me; I am here for the people."

—Raleigh Visitor: Died, at his residence, No. 209 South Person street, in this city, at 10:45 o'clock last night, Mr. John L. Terrell, in the 79th year of his age. —We do not profess to be a musical critic, but Miss Kellogg was not up to the reputation that she bears, and we think those who were present will endorse us in this, and we have heard many express themselves as disappointed. —Adolph Glose is a perfect master of the piano, and his performance on that instrument was highly endorsed by those who were capable of judging.

—Clinton Caucasian: There will be a public meeting at the courthouse Saturday, the 30th inst., for the purpose of discussing the proposed railroad tax. The village of Newton Grove shows many evidences of improvement. —We have heard of revenue officers getting into lots of scrapes of various sorts. —But the latest takes the cake. He got wedged fast in his bath tub and had to call his neighbors to his relief. Next? —A series of meetings are in progress at the Presbyterian church, conducted by the pastor, Rev. Dr. Marable, and Rev. Dr. J. B. Mack.

—Wilson Advance: W. A. James, Jr., a merchant at Beaufort, P. D., has made an assignment. Liabilities about $11,000. We learn that Mr. E. T. Bynum, of Tarboro, has been appointed trustee. —The new ticket office and freight depot at Battleboro is about completed. A very interesting protracted meeting is going on in the Baptist church at Tarboro, we learn. —Bob Rodgers, who killed a young man by the name of Eekles in North Carolina, and was tried once before and convicted of murders was being tried again last week. He took an appeal to the Supreme Court from the first trial and a new trial was granted.

—Weldon News: The Edenton Enquirer says it has been shown by Mr. T. F. White, a meteoric stone, which fell near Brinkleyville, in this county, about fifty years ago. —Roanoke river froze over in January 1887, and again January 5th, 1879, it was frozen solidly across, the ice being very rough and rugged, thrown up into heaps and ridges. —Married, at the post office at this city, about fifty years ago, John O'Brien, Wm. Cherry to Francis Pully. Both are inmates of the poor house and have been for several years. The groom is seventy-two years old, and sixty-five summers have passed lightly over the bride. —The conductors and baggage masters of passenger trains on the Atlantic Coast Line have all been put in uniform for their own and travellers convenience.

—Charlotte Observer: Mr. L. A. Potts, Sheriff of Mecklenburg county, has found it necessary to resign. The storehouse of Mrs. W. M. Boyd, in Steel Creek township, was sacked by robbers one night last week, and as our readers may remember, the barn of Mr. Caruthers in that neighborhood, was taken the night and two men and one horse were stolen. The animals were afterwards recovered. A negro named Mack Blake was arrested on suspicion and taken before Equester T. T. Youngblood for trial. The evidence was of a strong character and Blake was sent to jail. After finding himself in jail, Blake concluded to make a confession of the whole affair, and did so giving the name of an accomplice, and revealing the place where a lot of the stolen goods were secreted. —Washington note: Judge Bennett thinks the report that a tariff bill will not be reported until late in the session is incorrect. The House is stronger for tariff revision than ever before perhaps in the history of Congress. One does not hear much of the internal revenue question. —Junior Lieut. S. C. Lemly, of Salem, has been promoted to the grade of Lieutenant in the Navy.

—Col. L. L. Polk, who is the Commissioner of Assay, which meets in Philadelphia on February 10th.

THE CITY.

Local News. —Cotton receipts yesterday 263 bales.

—It is the duty of the authorities to protect the helpless, without fear or favor.

—The law provides for the punishment of criminals, but there should be provision made for their detection.

—Sarah Hall, colored, was fined five dollars for disorderly conduct on the streets in the Mayor's Court yesterday.

—If Wilmington succeeds in getting an appropriation from Congress for a public building suitable to her needs, it can only be secured through earnest, intelligent and continued presentation of her claims to the proper committees in Washington.

ANOTHER OUTRAGE.

Preliminary Examination of Tom Kane, the Negro Charged with a Brutal Assault on a White Girl. Tom Kane, the colored man charged with the crime of rape, was committed to jail yesterday, to await the action of the grand jury at the next term of the Criminal Court, to be held in this city the first Monday in March next.

The evidence elicited in the examination before the committing magistrate, Col. E. D. Hall, revealed one of the most horrible outrages ever perpetrated. The victim is little more than a child, about fifteen years of age, and lives with her aged mother and a brother younger than herself in a small house on Queen, between Fifth and Sixth streets. On Saturday night last, or rather Sunday morning—for it was between the hours of three and four o'clock—the little family were aroused by some one breaking open the door of the house. Mrs. Skipper was awakened by her daughter Florence, who told her there was a man in the room. The mother arose and tried to force the man out of the room. In the struggle that followed the negro got her hand in his mouth and bit it severely, and finally felled her with a terrible blow that cut her head to the bone. The children in the meantime were screaming murder. They all managed to make their escape from the house through a window of the room, the negro pursuing. Florence took refuge in the house of a colored woman named Clara Andrews, who lived in an adjoining house. The negro followed her, and despite the cries of the poor girl and the screams of the colored woman put a pistol to the girl's head, choked her, and with threats and curses dragged her back to her mother's house, where she was fearfully maltreated. Mrs. Skipper, in the meantime, ran shrieking through the streets in her night clothes, seeking help and succor. She went all the way to the City Hall before she could find a policeman. There she told her story and Policeman Capps was sent back with her to arrest the scoundrel. When the two reached the house it was in darkness, but the girl hearing her mother's voice cried out that the negro was still in the house. The door was open, but the policeman did not enter. He struck a match on the door-facing and peered within. The girl at that time was struggling hard to get free from the wretch who held her by the hair of the head and threatened to kill her if she betrayed him. Suddenly he threw the girl against the policeman, and dashed out and made his escape. This is a mere outline of the story told by the girl and her mother; both of whom were positive that Kane was their assailant. The colored woman, Clara Andrews, also testified that Kane was the man who pursued the girl into her house and dragged Florence out and into Mrs. Skipper's house. The policeman testified that he was unable to say whether Kane was the man who rushed by him at the door of the house or not.

The examination lasted all the forenoon, the hall being filled with spectators, mostly negro men. Kane, the accused negro, is a short thick set fellow, about thirty-five years of age. He is married, and lives in the neighborhood of the Skipper family. He was examined in his own behalf, and claimed to be innocent. He said that he was at home with his wife Saturday night, and did not know any member of the Skipper family.

Personal. Col. W. E. Hill, of Paison, was in the city yesterday. The Colonel has the tobacco fever, though in a mild form. Mr. David S. Cowan, special agent of the Treasury Department, has his office in the Custom House.

The following were among the arrivals at the Orton yesterday: Amos H. Shutz, Philadelphia; W. D. Deane, Atlanta, Ga.; S. Y. Tupper, Jr., Charleston, S. C.; J. J. Dorsey, Baltimore, A. R. Meek, Jr., Florida; J. A. Metts, South Carolina; Louis W. New, Baltimore; J. L. McLean, Shoe Heel; W. V. W. Lasley, Chattanooga, Tenn.; S. P. Child, New York; Joseph Willson, Baltimore; E. H. Fulton and wife, Long Branch; F. Wyatt, New York; D. Snyder, Saratoga, N. Y.; Gas-ton Meares, New York; Mrs. Kingsbury, New York.

Railroad Racket. The Eastern South Carolina Railroad Company has been incorporated at Conway, S. C., with B. G. Collins president, J. M. Johnson first vice president; C. S. McCall second vice president, and C. P. Quattlebaum secretary and treasurer. The object of the company is the building of a first-class railroad from Conway to the North Carolina State line in Marlboro county, S. C., via Marion and Bennettsville; from Conway to Smithville and Wilmington, N. C., and ultimately from Conway to Charleston, S. C. The company has roads, it is said, that as soon as this road is built to the N. C. State line in Marlboro county it will be extended to Bristol, Tenn., and thence connect with the Louisville & Nashville Railroad, in Kentucky.

Death by Drowning. Mr. Bryant Morse, a well known citizen of Smithville, was drowned in the Cape Fear river at that place Thursday evening last. Gentlemen who came up from Smithville yesterday say that Mr. Morse had been drinking, and while under the influence of liquor walked into the river. His hat was found floating on the water but his body had not been found at last accounts. Mr. Morse was about thirty-five years of age, was married, and leaves a family.

Weather Indications.

The following are the indications for today: For the Middle Atlantic States, local rains, generally followed by fair, colder weather, northwest to southwest winds and rising barometer.

For the South Atlantic States, light local rains during to-night, generally followed by fair colder weather, northwest to southwest winds and rising barometer.

Sugar from Pender County. Mr. W. F. Anders, of Pender county, left in the STAR office a sample of raw sugar made by Mr. S. A. Flynn, at Calin-tuck, about twenty seven miles from Wilmington, on the Cape Fear river. It was made from the true sugar cane—not sorghum—cultivated by Mr. Flynn last summer. Only a small "patch" of the cane was grown, from which about a barrel of sugar was made. The cane attained a height of about fifteen feet, and from three to five feet of its growth matured in due season. Mr. Anders thinks from this that Louisiana or West India cane can be profitably cultivated in this section. Maj. W. L. Young, of this city, who has for years past given this matter much attention and study, says that the true (or West India) sugar cane will not mature at a greater altitude than one hundred and fifty feet above sea level. His map of the "Sugar Belt of North Carolina" embraces an area of about seventy by forty miles, its northern boundary being about Kinston.

Taxidermy. A handsome specimen of the taxidermy art is displayed in a show window at Messrs. W. H. Green & Co.'s drug store, on Market street. It is a large Bald eagle, with its wings half expanded, as if in the act of taking flight. The bird, we understand, was shot by Mr. Andrew J. Flanner on Wrightsville Sound, about a month ago, and was mounted by Master E. G. Lewis, of this city.

A white quail (or partridge) is another curiosity in this line, exhibited in a window at Mr. Yates' book store. It was killed by Mr. Tom Alderman, in Union county some months ago. All kinds Preserves and Jellies and Minced Meat, Prunes, Dried Peaches and Apples. Picked Tripes and Pig's Feet. No. 1 Picked Mackerel.
