

ing and quiet is now reported on all sides in that city.

Henry Watterson, the brilliant editor of the Louisville Courier-Journal, is very low, and there is but little chance for him.

Herr Hanseur made a violent attack upon Bismarck's policy simed at the Poles, and which contemplates expelling them all from Prussia.

The Democratic party in the North is much poorer in leading men than it was a few months ago. Hendricks, McClellan; Hancock and Seymour make a big gap in the ranks.

In the called election Mr. John Morley was elected to Parliament. He forfeited his place by accepting the Irish Secretaryship. He was elected by an increased majority of 1,000.

There is a movement talked of to erect a national monument in honor of that stirling Democrat and patriot, the late Vice President Hendricks. We hope it will be done and that the South will have an active hand in its erection.

The subscription for the benefit of Gen. Hancock's widow grows. Sixteen Northern men have contributed nearly $17,000. George W. Childs, the philanthropist and friend of Gen. Grant, gives $1,000. He is a newspaper man.

The World and other papers that are fighting the battles of the Bell Telephone-Company are still pelting and misrepresenting Attorney General Garland. Their latest is that he has determined to get rid of his Pan Electric stock.

It is announced in the Virginia papers that Mr. W. C. Elam, a native of Fayetteville, this State, and the viogorous, slashing editor of the Richmond Whig under the Mahone regime, will go on the Baltimore American's staff at a $3,000 salary.

- Statesville Landmark: Mr. William P. Drake, son of Mr. E. B. Drake, was found dead by the latter gentleman at Statesville Wednesday night. His age was 46 years. — Judge James C. McRae slipped on the steps of a residence in States ville last Sunday and fell, He was crippled all the past week and continued the discharge of his judicial duties with difficulty. --- Warrenton Gazette: Mr. Stephen Daniel, of Warren county, lost his large frame barn and crop of tobacco last Saturday night. Insurance $1,500. - Dr. Joseph A. Drake, of Shocco Springs, Warren county, died Wednesday, aged 86 years. He was a native of Nash county and for many years represented that county in the State Senate. His body was taken to Nash for interment.

- A distressing calamity befell Capt. Joe Rose and wife at Engelhard, Hyde county. Mrs. Rose Beard the report of a pistol in her dwelling, and rushing in found her little girl Naomi, aged six years, in the agony of death, with a bullet-hole just above the eye and her brains protruding therefrom She was accidentally shot by another girl, twelve years old, named ulia Payne.

- Goldsboro Argus: The work of setting out trees upon the streets in various localities of onr city is being pushed with commendable application on the part of our city authorities. — There is quite a current rumor in this vicinity, we are told, to the effect that the escaped prisoner Braswell, got away from the guards. This is not true. He made his escape from the open window of the county jail, as we stated at the time.
