The rush for Europe is great now. Every New York steamer is crowded with Americans dying of ennui and too plethoric purses.

Mrs. Cleveland is worth $75,000; the Vice President is put down at another $75,000. They have enough to begin life with if they are economical and industrious.

A Virginian has signified his wil linguess to to take up Maj. Bird's gauntlet and try him with Winchester rifles. He is the Bird who wanted to shoot Captain Saunders for toasting Jeff. Davis.

Mr. Gladstone at Edinboro went into the country and returning got out of his vehicle a mile without. But the people saw him and 2,000 gathered and followed him to the hotel cheering and yelling.

A daughter of Robert Burns has just died at Moffat, Scotland. Her name was Helen Armstrong. She was 97 years old. Her mother was said to have been very handsome. Helen died in the same little back street in which she was born.

Bradlaugh has issued a powerful manifesto to his constituents. He is for Home Rule. Chamberlain has been indorsed by his constituents at Birmingham. Justin McCarthey will contest at Londonderry. He was defeated there before by 29 votes only, and he thinks he can carry it this time.

"Talcott's" last letter from Germany, dated the 14th of May, in the North Carolina Presbyterian, is decidedly interesting biographically and historically. It is all about Wartburg Castle, Martin Luther, and the Devil. "Talcott" writes from Eisnach, Thuringia, which is close to the famous Wartburg which he visited and describes. "Ta'cott" has a clever vein of humor that is worth cultivating.

The Philadelphia Times is a very remarkable paper. It is a Protection paper pretending to advocate Tariff reform and still denounces Speaker | Thursday morning to return to Philadel-Carlisle and Mr. Morrison as "Free very rapid. Two arrived in the Quaker Traders," and says the bill before the | city at 6.80 p. m., thirteen and a half hours House is a "Free Trade bill," The Times knows better. Congress ought to send for the staff of that paper and let them fix a reform 'fariff bill to suit themselves. What says the country?

Dr. Holmes has been honored with a degree by Cambridge, England. A public orator presented the degree in Latin. Of course the witty and gifted Bostonian understood it. From statement of the number of cases on all the perty.

"Several felicithus references were made to 'The Autocrat of the Breakfast Table' and other of Dr. Holmes's works. The orator told a story of a party of English travellers deliberately taking 'The Auto-crat' with them as their sole literary resource during a long holiday in a remote district of Norway. He remarked that today was the anniversary of the battle of Bunker Hill, and also of the death of Addison. The language of eulogy once applied to Addison might fittingly be transferred to Holmes Addison, however, died at the age of 47, whereas Holmes was near y 50 when his fame as a writer burst into brightness like Indian summer.

"His first literary work that attracted public notice was an essay on Macaulay, published in the Boston Miscellany for February, 1843. He was then but 24 years old, but the judgment evinced in this essay was of so high an order that it called forth an appreciative letter from the famous historian himself to the youthful author. * * All Mr. Whipple's lectures, and most of his essays and contributions to periodical literature, have been collected and pub-lished in volumes. Two of these bear the title 'Essays and Reviews,' a third is called 'Literature and Life,' and the others are 'Success and its Conditions" and 'Character and Characteristic Men.'"

— A few days ago Sheriff Brewer, of Chatham, received a letter from the sheriff of a county in Texas, stating that a man was in jail there, whose name was Dixon, and who said he was from Chatham county. The letter also stated that Dixon was insane and having epileptic fits, and was confined in jail for safe keeping. The Pittsboro Record says that the man is no doubt John A. Dixon, of Baldwin township, who disappeared so mysteriously two months ago.

This does not speak a great deal for President Bryan's administration.—Wilson Advance. Are you not mistaken? Heretofore there has been no demand for the stock whatever, but now the justices of Lenoir seem to think there is a chance of getting something for it.

- Raleigh News Observer: The Governor's Guards now number over fifty members. - Rev. J. J. White, who will serve three months as pastor of the First Baptist Church, began his duties there on Sunday. — A paper prepared by Col. Pardee was read before the Press Association, with the view of obtaining concurrent action in bringing about a meeting of all the Northern settlers in North Carolina at the next State Fair. This is a very com mendable idea. - MORRHEAD CITY, June 18 —This morning, the poem, by Mr. H. C. Wall, of the Rockingham Rocket, was read in the Press Convention. Its theme was. "Intemperance." The Massachusetts and Southern Construction Company promises to have trains running to Shelby before September. The force has been increased. The Carolina Central authorities are working day and night on their line westward. A costly iron bridge is now being constructed, as soon as finished track laying will begin.

— The Chief Justice has endorsed a letter

a cablegram to the New York Times | dockets of the U. S. Court here and to transmit it under the direction of Judge Dick to the Committee on Public Buildings in Congress, in order that the necessity of a Federal Court house in Charlotte may be shown to that body. It is now certain that all the Judges from Judge Dick up to the judicial head of the county are in favor of the appropriation, and will do all in their power to have the bill passed giving Charlotte a $100,000 court house.

- Charlotte Observer: Three hundred tickets have been sold for the Hornet's excursion to Wilmington on the 23rd. -Mr. Fabius H. Busbee, of Raleigh, arrived at the Belmont yesterday, on his return to Raleigh from Greenville, S. C., at which place he delivered the annual oration at the Furman University Commencement.

Dr. 8 A. Richmond, who shot and killed Col. J. W. Strong, in St. Joseph, the details of which were given in our telegraphic dispatches yesterday, was a graduate of the North Carolina State University. He was a native of South Carolina. - A force of street hands are at present engaged in grading Poplar street in this city, and yesterday, James Tucker, one of the laborers, turned up some human bones with his pick. - Some of our patriotic citizens have succeeded in getting up a match game of baseball between the fat and lean men of the city. The game is to be played next Friday. - An Observer reporter recently took a turn through the country, and took particular pains to gather crop from the farmers. Cotton is considerably backward, is of a poor growth and the plants generally have a yellow tinge that shows a bad condition. Nearly all the wheat crop has been harvested and the farmers report that it turned out "only tolerably" well, not so good by far as last year and the year previous. The average condition of the corn crop is a hard matter to strike. The farmers agree in the opinion that crops of all kinds, except mort gages, will be short this year. — STAN-BACK'S FERRY, N. C., June 18.—The valley along the great Pee Dee is still a scene of desolation. The continued rains have kept the big river level with its banks. Water still covers a large area of its rich bottoms. The ditches have filled up and the high floods prevent the water from receding into the Pee Dee river. The "frost bottoms" are yet too wet to plough. The corn near both banks of the river is about all destroyed and the standing waters have kept the ranchers from replanting their crops. The outlook for the Pee Dee planters is gloomy, but if the raine will sten and let the betbut if the rains will stop and let the bottoms dry up a crop can yet be raised. The cotton along the river has stood the late freshets better than the young corn.

Storm Warnings. The storm signal was displayed at the Wilmington station yesterday for the first time in several months. The disturbance was reported to be central west of Cedar Keys, Fla., moving northeasterly, strong easterly winds shifting to westerly accompanying the storm centre, with rain. The new signals recently adopted were displayed for the first time; indicating north easterly winds-two flags being used. The lower flag-red with a black centre-is the well known storm signal. "The object in putting the new train on the C., C. & A. will be to secure the Northern travel, as the Piedmont Air Line will be enabled to make the run between Washington and Savannah at least six hours quicker than can be done by the Coast

Look into the matter again, Wade. What sort of a joke do you call this, anyway? Isn't the distance between Washington and Savannah shorter by the Coast Line than by the Piedmont Air Line? Then, what about the grades, the curves and the general condition of the property of the two systems?

The person who gave friend Harris this information must be "long" of R. & D. stock, and short in calculating time between Washington and Savannah via
