EVENING EDITION

THE SUPREME COURT.

The nomination of the old Supreme Court was not a surprise to us. The trouble in defeating it was there was no efficient leadership, and there were too many obscure aspirants, none of whom was probably equal to the present Court. When we heard lawyers instituting unfavorable criticism as to the ability of the Court as compared with the Republican Court; and heard them say that it would not bear comparison with the Courts before the war, we were led to think this: is it possible to make a better Court out of the material now in the State? Not being of the bar we thought that it was possible in one sense, for we believe there are abler lawyers in the State than now compose the Supreme Bench. But there are lawyers who would tell us that we were mistaken in this. But it might have been impossible to secure a new Court that would have presented such high traits of character however superior in mere legal ability and learning.

The STAR has always most highly and sincerely esteemed the venerable Chief Justice. He is a man to be held in high reverence because of his virtues, learning and ability. He is an ornament to his profession, and but for age would be above all other North Carolinians the man for another eight years' term as Chief Justice. We heard a leading lawyer in another part of the State say in June, that Judge Ashe was the only member of the Court that was sustaining himself. He said that when he was raised to the Bench he was not much of a lawyer, but that he had been adily learning and growing. Judge Asie is in his 75th year, we believe. we never saw him. He is described to s as a man of fine presence, with a mind of the order of the late Gov. Grajam's but not so capacious and

Judge Merrimon is about 55 years old, we think. He is man of decided ability, and is industrious and studious. We learn that some of his opinions have given a portion of the bar dissatisfaction, and some have gone so far as to say they were not good law. Of this we know nothing. Judge Merrimon is a man of great purity and integrity. His naked statement with us would go as far as any man's. We hold him in very high personal esteem. It is the duty of the Democrats to see to it that the nominees are elected. We hope they will be elected by a very large 1895. The Governor will have the appointing power in case of vacancy and Governors are very human. They have "friends to reward," and they are quite apt to take "their set," irrespective of the fact that there may be better qualified men in the State. Of one thing North Carolina has great cause to be thankful. its Supreme Court Judges are men of the highest morality, of the most distinguished virtues. As long as the present members live there will be integrity and justice in the Court.

A FRIEND GONE.

In the death of Col. H. B. Short North Carolina has lost a very de voted and valuable citizen. He had served her faithfully and most intel ligently in the Legislature. As Trus tee of the University he was one of the truest, most active and most independent friends it had. He was in the best sense of the word a gentleman-genial, approachable, overflowing with good nature, fond of his pleasantries, generous, kindly, liberal, charitable, hospitable. We have known but few men who were so full of human sympathy and affability as our friend who has just passed away. A man of rare sociability he was held in high esteem by all who were so fortunate as to know him. The "genial currents of his soul" flowed deep and wide. We are surprised at the giving way of his vital forces so completely at an age not more advanced. He was so cheerful, so full of life and good nature, and so loved the humorous side of all things that we would have expected a very green old age for him and the slippers of the octogenarian.

But the gentle, kindly man is gone and Columbus county, and especially its poor, is bereaved. A State that loses such a citizen has cause for mourning. He was the benefactor of his race, and his hand was always "open as day to melting charity." No more in this life shall the "vanished hand" be "touched" in hearty again that soft and winsome voice as it told quiet jokes that would set the circle "in a roar." Alas! Alas!

· A GREATER OUTRAGE.

It may turn out that the kidnapping and murder of Francesco Arresures may be a more troublesome case than that of Cutting. It seems that he was murdered by Captain Francesco Mondragon, of the State Rangers of Coahuila. Consul Linn has sent his report to the State Department and it will awaken general attention. Arresures was a naturalized citizen of the United States. A sheriff in Texas, without any lega process or warrant of law, delivered him to Capt. Mondragon, who had him shot, while the American Consul was trying to have him legally extradited. Mr. Linn says:

"I believe the killing of Arresures to have been a brutal murder, perpetrated in defiance of law, and without any justifying causes. It was committed, too, when a demand for his return to the United States had been made by an officer fully authorized by the Government to make it. His brutal murder is then both a wrong done an American citizen and an insult to our Arresures was shot with bandaged eyes and pinioned arms and his body thrown into the grave uncoffined. What will be the plea of the Mexicans in justification we cannot anticipate. If the case is as represented, then an American citizen has been first kidnapped by a Texas sheriff and then murdered in Mexico by Mexican soldiers by the order of their captain. What will the United States do about it? Mr. Bayard will be apt to do what he ought to do. Here is probably a greater outrage than that perpetrated upon Cutting.

Both Mr. Gladstone and Mr. Par nell have spoken in the House of Commons on the Irish question. Mr. Parnell, the great Irish leader, made an elaborate, carfully prepared speech in which he set forth the policy of his followers. It made a decided impression and was well received by a majority of the Liberals. It is thought to be one of the ablest speeches Mr. Parnell has ever delivered. Mr. Gladstone made a speech also upon the policy of the Tory Government. He characterized it as sussed its land policy and showed it was loaded with a fatal proposition. Among other things the great statesman and orator said:

majority and that they will all live to serve out their term of eight years, however improbable such calculation may be.

We do not think it was wise to nominate two honored gentlemen whose places will in all human calculation have to be supplied before serve out their term of eight years, however improbable such calculation may be.

We do not think it was wise to nominate two honored gentlemen whose places will in all human calculation have to be supplied before supplied before ser—he did not care which—in any movement tending to make smooth the path of the people of Ireland, and encourage them to hope for a realization of their just rights. [Cheers.] He feared the policy now announced would increase the difficulties which the late Government had striven to diminish, because that policy meant the adjournment of Ireland's hopes; because it offered Ireland what she did not want, and postponed as long as possible a consummation which alone would give rest and repose to Ireland. [Cheers.]"

Objection was made to the genius of Mr. Valentine, the eminent Virginian sculptor, on account of his recumbent statue of Gen. Lee at Lexington. There are those who profess to have discovered defects in that statue, or in that kind of statue it may be. But it turns out that their criticism does Mr. Valentine signal injustice. He obeyed instructions. Professor White, of Washington and Lee University, has addressed a letter to the Richmond Dispatch in which the matter. Prof. White says: "Mrs. Lee, on learning that the Memorial Association had not determined on a de-sign, suggested to a member of the Executive Committe a recumbent figure as appropriate to the chapel, in the basement of which the remains of Gen Lee were interred; and, in the same interview, named Mr. Valentine as the artist, assigning two reasons for doing so-first, that he had modelled a bust of Gen. Lee, some time be-fore his death, and had gotten a faithful likeness; second that he was a Virginian."

he says the sculptor had no option in

The Richmond Committee would be wise to take a hint from the suggestions of Mrs. Lee and select Mr.

Valentine. he treatment of Prince Alexander is a great reproach to those concerned. He had shown himself a gallant and dashing hero in battle and at Tzaribrod and Slivitza won the day for Bulgarian armies. He had shown himself a leader and ruler to be trusted, and that he aimed at the independence of his people. This is why Russia plotted his destruction. This is why he is to-day a prisoner of Russia, while a powerful reaction in his favor has set in among Bulgarians. Both Bulgaria and Roumelia are greatly interested in the restoration of the Prince and it will be bad for them if it is not done. It is not probable, however, that Russia will agree to have Prince Alexander restored. Her ends are for aggrandizement, and she will not hesitate to outrage Bulgaria and Roumelia.

The increase of pig iron in the United States is marked. For the friendship. No more shall we hear | first six months of 1885, it was 2,150, 816 tons of 2,000 pounds; in the corresponding months for 1886, the production was 2,954,209. There was a gain of 28,000 tons in Alabama, of 16,000 in Tennessee, of 15,-000 in Georgia and 14,000 in West Tennessee. There was a smaller increase in Virginia, Kentucky and Maryland. North Carolina produced in the first six months of this year

Cutting is now out of jail and on American soil. Now let him subside and quit publishing libels upon Mexicans and attacks upon Mexico. The Government has charge of the matter and we have no doubt that Secretary Bayard will do what is right and proper. The country will sus tain him in that event although "gob bling up Mexico" should be the re-

CURRENT COMMENT

-Republicanism of the present day means simply the abridgement of individual rights and the concentration of unlimited power in the hands of the Government. It means the impoverishment of the masses and the building up of moneyed monopolies, for the few. It means the destruction of American commerce and the compulsion of the consumer to buy at a high price, of protected monopolies for his home supplies. It means an overflowing Umted States Treasury, with millions given to the North and hundreds to the South. It means the most unnecessary and burthensome taxation of the people to be squandered in chimerical schemes or jobbery of the most corrupt character. This is the theory now and was the practice of the Republican party when in power, and from the evil effects of which the country is now suffering. - Danville --- The people of the South are not coming forward to the support of Senator Blair's Education bill, as that hare brained political philanthropist was led to expect. The Democratic Convention in Texas eaned so far away from the Blair bill that it went too far in the other direction. It declared that "the education of the children is a matter of State right and duty, and that the Congress of the United States has no right to appropriate money to its aid." The right of Congress and the duty of the State in the matter of eminently complex and difficult. He both matters of disputation. While object of this extraordinary gatherthere is little doubt that Congressional action would be violative of to the New Ross Workhouse, where the Federal Constitution, the supapproved upon the plea that it is "He had been taunted with having become the leader of the Irish Nationalists, as if that was a charge against him. But he was delighted at having any share or part whatever in becoming a leader or a follower—he did not care which—in any movement, tending to make a mount to an improved condition of morals. Education has been admired to the prevention of crime, on the theory that the spread of knowledge is tanvanced and diffused by the public school system of the States, but there is no proof that morals have

NORTH CAROLINA DELIB-ERATIVE BODIES

Elizabeth City Economist. The convention of 1835 is usually considered the ablest convention of public men that ever met in North Carolins, and it was certainly an able body of men, as the electors were not confined to place in the selection of members and as all officers of the State Government were eligible to seat in the convention. Nat. Macon, Gaston, Daniel, Sewell, Grudup, Swain, Rayner, Wilson, Carson and others like them, are names that would give lustre to any deliberative body in the world.

But we think the General As sembly that met in the Governor's House in Raleigh at foot of Fayetteville street, in 1831, after the burning of the State House, was in no way inferior to the convention of '35. The debate in that body upon the "appropriation bill," which involved the question of the removal of the capital from Raleigh to Fayetteville or to some other place in the State, was one of the most interesting and able debates that ever took place in North Carolina. The speeches in that debate were collected and published by Western R. Gales and as an isolated discussion is unexcelled. Mr. Gas ton's speech in 1835 on the 32d article of the old Constitution in which the question of Catholic disability was considered, and which is gener ally thought to be his best effort, is in no wise superior to his second speech in favor of making Raleigh the permanent capital of North Carolina. We fear that publication can not now be found in the State. It should be obtained if possible and preserved in the State Library. It is an octavo volume of some 300 pages. The"caucus debate"of 1824, we believe it was, was an able discussion of an exciting issue of that stormy per iod, in which Iredell, John Stanly, Alfred Moore, Gaston and the other "giants of those days" took part The debate was published in an octavo volume and a copy of it may be Probable Upshot of the mexican Bord er Difficulties.

Under the present condition of things it is possible for any one liv ing along the Texan side of the Rio Grande to be hustled across the border by means of collusion on the part of local officers and murdered without even the form of trial. This was actually done in the case of Ar-Arresures, and can be done again. Secretary Bayard's action in calling the matter to the attention of the Governor of Texas is doubtles the preliminary step to further the proceedings on the part of our Government to make the repetition of such crimes impossible. If, as now seems probable, the Arresures and Cutting episodes shall result in a thorough revision of our relations with Mexico and an amicable arrangement by which the rights of American citizens shall be fully protected, Secretary Bayard will have done more to open up Mexico to American capital and enterprise and to cement the bonds of sympathy and good feeling between the two Republics than all his critics could accomplish in a generation by tamely submitting, as they proposed to do, to the outrages committed by Mexican officials of the Mondragon stamp along the Rio Grande.

LANDLORD OPPRESSION IN IRELAND.

Thousands of People Escort Evicted Tenants to the Workhouse. N. Y. World.

London, Aug. 24.-Following are particulars of the extraordinary eviction scene that took place at New Ross, Wexford, yesterday. At 4 o'clock an immense procession entered the town from Fethard, County Wexford. First came a Ross brass band, then three wagonettes, containing sixty-two persons, being the wife and children of thirteen small farmers evicted last week from their holdings on the Marquis of Ely's estates. The waggonettes were followed by 300 horsemen four deep, a number of priests on cars headed by Father Tom Doyle, the friend of Sir Charles Gavan Duffy. The procession was closed by a string of cars in single file said to be several miles in length. Some five or six bands accompanied the procession. A great number of men carspending money for education are ried green flags on gilded pikes. The was to escort the evicted families port of schools by the States has been | for their use. Notices had been previously posted about the town calling upon the people to assemble in their thousands to "witness the last resource of landlord oppression" and to "comfort the poor evicted on their way to the workhouse,"

there is no proof that morals have been improved at the same time. The grade of crime advances with the education of the criminal. There is no moral advance without moral teaching, and that the scholars in the public schools don't get. If the Texas Democrats had resolved "that"

CINCINNATI, Aug. 26 .- Allen O. Myers managing editor of the Enquirer, was arrested at the Enquirer office this morning and locked up on the charge of being a fugitive from justice. The arrest was made by order of Mayor Smith, who is in Columbus, and who telegraphed that Myers was wanted there on the charge of perjury, and that the marrent and officer were on the that the warrant and officer were on the way to Cincinnati. Myers was at the Co-lumbus Convention yesterday, and awore out a warrant before a magistrate charging ex-Auditor Cappellar, of this city, with bribery in connection with his election on the Republican State Committee yesterday. Myers then left for Cincinnati. Cappellar was arrested, and after being released caused a warrant to be issued for the arrest of Myers for perjury. Comptroller Eshelby, of this city, whose name was also mixed up in the charge of bribery, joined with Cappellar in the affidavit, declaring that they knew nothing of any briberyr Myers was released on bail about 8 o'clock.

COLUMBUS, August 26.-A collision oc-curred about midnight at the crossing of the Bee Line and Pan Handle railroads at Melford Center. The Pan Handle freight was standing on the track when the Bee Line through passenger train from Cincin-nati dashed into it at full speed. The Mar-shall of Milford Center and a citizen standing near by were struck by the debris and the marshal killed and the other seriously wounded. Two passengers are reported killed and several seriously wounded. The fireman of the passenger train is missing and is supposed to be buried in the wreck.

Falture to Make a Democratic Nomi nation in the Righth Congressional

[By Telegraph to the Morning Star.] ALEXANDRIA, . Aug. 26.-The Democratic Congressional Convention, after an all day and night session, adjourned at 5 o'clock this morning, after taking 205 ballots, without result. All efforts to effect compromise failed, as did also an attempt to make Hon. J. S. Barbour the candidate. The candidates had conferences, but could come to no agreement, and in despair an adjournment sine die was carried by a close vote, after the adoption of a resolution endorsing the Administration.

- The Gladstone candidates' election fund in the recent contest was less than fourteen thousand dollars. In some districts in this country that sum is spent to secure the election of one man. It would be a mere bagatelle to a national committee —Balt. American.

ECZEMA For the benefit of suffering humanity, and in heartfelt gratitude at the wonderful results, I deem it only my duty to give this unsolicited testimony'in favor of Swift's Specific. My wife has been afflicted with hereditary Eczema or Salt Rheum from her infancy; it has increased in intensity with each succeeding spring, and being omewhat skilled in medicine myself, I tried somewhat skilled in medicine myself, I tried every remedy I could think of for years—Sarsaparilla combined with every form of Potassiae, "Cuticura," pills of every kind, and hundreds of other remedies, lotions and alkali washes of every known kind, but they all gave only temporary relief. During the spring of 1884 her lower extremities became so inflamed and sore that she was obliged to keep them constantly coated with a covering of "Fuller's Earth." mixed wet and allowed to dry on. Among other things, she was afflicted with a periodical nervous headache, occurring regularly every seven days, sometimes followed by intermittent fever for weeks at a time, so that her life became a burden to her.

This spring I determined she should take S. S.
S. and follow strictly the directions in regard to dose, diet, etc. This was about seven weeks ago.

After taking the first large bottle the disease seemed to increase; the burning, itching and inflammation became unbearable. She, however, fiammation became unbearable. She, however, persevered in the use of the medicine. After taking the second bottle the inflammation began to subside. After the third bottle the inflammation disappeared, and sore spots dried up and turned white and scaly, and finally she brushed them off in an impalpable white powder resembling pure salt. She is now taking the sixth bottle, three tablespoonsful four times daily. Every appearance of the disease has gone, and her flesh is becoming soft, white and smooth again; and what is more, her periodical headaches have disappeared, and she is now, at 53 years of age, enjoying the only good health she has known for unwards of 40 years. No wonder she declares with emphasis that every bottle of S. S. S. is worth a thousand times its weight in gold.

weight in gold.

Any further information concerning her case will be cheerfully given by herself at her residence, 185 Mullett street, or by me.
