EVENING EDITION.

THE NECESSI: Y OF EXECUTING LAW.

Through the years the STAR has favored a change with reference to pardons of criminals by the State Executive. In many articles the mat ter has been discussed. It is surely not democratic, not republican to in vest one man with absolute power over life and death. Nothing but the existence of such power could possibly reconcile freemen to its ex ercise. Custom, habit play havoc with our convictions sometimes. What happens day by day does not disturb or alarm us. Familiarity breeds sometimes contempt, but i oftener reconciles men to what is occurring. Upon the principle that vice which at first shocks is afterwards embraced, so people can be come so reconciled to any condition of things that they cease to wonder, complain or even reflect.

If there had never been the oneman power in North Carolina and it was for the first time gravely pro posed that henceforth the work of the courts in matters of life and death should be subject to the revi sion of one fallible mortal, with like prejudices and infirmities as his fel low men, and upon his will should depend the punishment of criminals or their pardon; thus negativing, destroying the findings of courts; if this proposition were to be seriously mile it would create such a revulawaken such fears and antagonisms on the part of reflecting and lawabiding citizens that the proposer would be scouted and derided as an unseemly, foolish and visionary innovator. And yet, because we have this power in full exercise and have been accustomed to it, everybody is quiet and satisfied, and when a murderer is tried and sentenced to be hanged after a fair and due process of law, and his sentence is commuted or he is pardoned and the gallows is robbed of its victim, all men accept this exercise of one-man power as very right and very proper.

We sincerely believe that the cause of so much crime is as much owing er as to any other thing. The law's delay of course is one cause and a great one; the technicalities of law and the ingemous dodges of advoeates constitute other causes; the imperfect jury system is still another cause; the puling, sickly, disgusting sentimentality that pervades communities and the outrageous sympathy offered to criminals, their hands recking with the blood of dead men, -these all combined constitute powerful reasons why crime should flourish and mob law should prevail.

But greater as an encouragement to crime and as incentive to lynch-one-man power. As long as Governors can set aside the findings of courts and turn judicial proceedings into unmeaning farces just so long will murderers and house breakers take the chances and communities will take the punishment of villains into their own hands.

There is no cure as long as the causes indicated exist. Crime should be sternly met at every turn. The peace of society; the safety of homes; the protection of human life all depend on the prompt, faithful, unbending execution of law. Improve the jury system; let the Judges do their full duty; let trials be speedy; let the prosecuting attorneys be faithful and active and capable; let communities cease to sign petitions asking for executive clemency, and let the Governors cease to hear such petitions only in the most rare, extraordinary cases that can seldom occur, and then there will be less crime, fewer murders will be committed, life will be safer, the sanctity of homes will be more rarely invaded, society will be more at to a greater extent than now. Why continue the obnoxious, offensive, dangerous and abused one-man power? Gov. Jarvis said this power gave him actually more trouble than all of the other duties of the Chief Executive. It is announced in the public prints that Gov. Scales has had already, in about a year and a half, to consider two hundred applications for pardons. What an abuse on the part of the people. Here are two hundred efforts made by different communities in behalf of different criminals to get the verdicts of the courts set aside.

ease, and law and order will prevail

It is most censurable this itching, this willingness to sign petitions asking for favor for crime. A few friends or relatives of criminals get up a petition and it is handed around and hundreds sign it not knowing or caring as to the actual merits of the petition. We have known men to sign all sorts of petitions presented them. They refused none; they would sign for two opposing applicants. As long as this abuse of privilege exists and the Governor is to be beseeched to favor criminals under sentence his time must be chiefly preoccupied by the consideration of petitions and crime will be increased because patronized or condoned. Let people stop this naughty business of asking the Governor to set aside the decision of courts. What are the courts for but to try crime? If Judges are capable and fair and the law is properly administered, why endeavor to prevent the due execution of verdicts? If Governors are to finally decide in cases of arson, rape, murder, &c., then do away with the courts and save all that expense. Let the courts decide. They have the facts, the law, the evidence all before them, and they ought to be able to render justice wisely, humanely, rightly.

But feeling of sympathy for criminals will always be potent in preventing justice so long as Governors bend the ear willingly to petitions for pardons. The dead sleep in their graves, sent there by the redhanded murderers who were as cruel and remorseless as fate, and this gushing sympathy for the villains who perpetrated the bloody deeds is reproach to civilization and an outrage upon humanity. How long shall these things prevail? How many more bloody villains shall escape punishment through a false sympathy and a false act? A life for a life was the Divine decree. The man who deliberately takes the life of another deserves to forfeit and should forfeit his own.

THE FIGHT ONLY BEGUN.

The Democratic papers generally in all sections, with the exception of a few Protective organs in the South, having got over the scare and now seeing the results in the States as they are and not as they feared, are insisting with renewed earnestness that the fight for Tariff reform has just begun and must be pushed with to the exercise of the pardoning pow- intense ardor and courage and hopefulness. We are glad to see this be cause the great question really before the country is this Tariff ques tion-how the taxes shall be raised. Every citizen is interested in it. Every man who spends $500 a year autually pays fully $100 tax under the infamous War Tariff. He will continue to pay it for all time and for the benefit of a comparatively few > rich manufacturers. In all the world there is nothing so absolutely devoid of fairness and justice and wisdom as the abominable Republican system of oppressing the many for the benefit of the few.

ings is the constant exercise of the No man who sincerely believes in the iniquity of the Tariff ought to tolerate for a moment any candidate who favors it. The War Tariff is the the tariff that the trouble with thi greatest curse the Republican party has entailed upon a long suffering people, and it should be so razeed and reconstructed and readjusted as to get rid of the most offensive and burdensome features.

The Boston Post, in its review of the recent elections, concludes as fol-

"The lesson of the elections is that the people are ready for tariff reform, and that it is only necessary to make it an issue and it will be sustained. The cause has not weakened; it has been strongly advanced wherever the people have been asked to pass upon its merits. There is also a certain ignificance in the fact that, of the thirtyfive Democrats who voted against the consideration of the Morrison tariff bill, only seventeen were able to secure a renomination, and only thirteen pulled through the

BE SOMETHING.

The Philadelphia Times rivals its Republican neighbor, the Press, in its jibes and crowing over what it thought was a Protection victory. We confess that we are unable to understand the Times. Some months ago it was ridiculing the Democrats who were seriously bent on improving and reducing the onerous and unequal Tariff. But only a few weeks ago we copied from it one or more articles that favored Tariff reduction and that insisted that the surplus in the Treasury must be reduced. This was before the election. But since the election the Times is fairly jubilant over the supposed misfortunes of the Democrats, and predicts that you will not hear again of Tariff reform in a full quarter of a century. But the Times is surely "a little too previous." It spoke without knowledge. It had an occasion to show its true colors and out they floated. But before a year passes editorials will appear in this very straddling, wavering Times that will talk of Tariff reduction as glibly as its able and consistent neighbor, the Record. A newspaper, if professedly independent, ought at least to have principles and to consistently maintain them.

We are loth to give up hope of having a savings bank for Wilmington. A business man of this town

"More banking capital is needed here, and especially a well conducted Savings Bank, where the poor could deposit and 'lay up for a rainy day.'"

Of course one is needed-a bank where every Saturday night the workers can go and deposit any sum whatever- from ten cents up. Asheville has one and it is the only one in the State. The building and loan associations cannot fully take the place of savings banks, and we hope our men of capital will see to it that proper steps are taken to give the toilers of Wilmington an opportunity to accumulate by weekly deposits a sum against the day of necessity.

CURRENT COMMENT.

--- Even while Messrs. Blaine and Sherman were weeping crocodile tears over the "suppression of the Republican vote" at the South, the members of that party were making a lively and unassisted fight in Tennessee, North Carolina, Virginia and West Virginia, the result of which is seen in considerable gains for their party in Congress. From not a single district has there come any complaint of intimidation or violence, and the cry of "fraud" is confined to two or three localities where divisions in the negro vote defeated the party that has so long made political serfs vive the chimes of the chestnut bells in the next campaign. - N. Y. World,

-- We print this morning an important interview with Representative Frank Hurd as to the lessons of the election and the future of revenue reform. He calls attention to the fact that the proportion of tariff reformers will be increased in the next Congress, and thinks the battle must be fought out before the Presidential election. It is a wholesome and intelligent expression from a soldier who has borne the brunt of the battle. - Wash. Post, Dem. --- The comment of the leading Mugwump journal of America on the result of the Congressional elections is here appended for the intormation of the curious in such matters: "The present Congress was in no sense a Cleveland Congress." We should like to have the Evening gress. What would it be? What would it do? In the opinion of our esteemed centemporary how would a Cleveland Congress differ from a Democratic Congress? Is the fiftieth Congress likely to fill the bill as a Cleveland Congress more likely than the forty-ninth does? -N. Y. Sun.

Tariff Reform in the West.

Chicago Herald, Dem. Instead of being afraid of this question, in its adoption and enthusiastic advocacy by the Democratic party lies the one chance of that organization to secure the much sought for labor vote. This vote is now practically aimless. The element which casts it knows that it has Morning.

the cause thereof. It can be proved to the satisfaction of every intelligent man who is not a beneficiary of country to-day is over-taxation and restricted markets. If the Democratic party would escape a hopeless fi ht in 1888 it must have a principle. The Labor party will have one by that time.

HIS EYES ARE ON THE FRONT ROW ONLY.

New York Sun As Mr. Cleveland has constantly differed from his party since his inauguration, so also there is a difference in the way in which he and the Democracy interpret the result of the recent election. Democrats look upon it as a virtual defeat, and they are not restrained in expressions of indignation at the executive conduct which has brought it down upon

On the other hand the Mugwumps are pleased, a natural accompaniment of Democratic dissatisfaction. Their hopes and eyes being centred on Cleveland alone, they care nothing for the reduction of Democratic power, and regard the defeat of every Democratic candidate for the Fiftieth Congress as an Administration victory, and are happy. They would have been happier, probably, if the Administration had achieved more such victories; and they greet the President with congratulation, and tell him to go on.

But Mr. Cleveland is like an actor who, from the solitude of the stage, hearing sounds of applause from the front row of seats, keeps his eyes on that only, and plays for its approval. It is there that the Mugwumps sit, and the President, knowing that they are his most ardent sympathisers, scarcely blinks in any other direction while they admire his poses. The play might be carried on in the humblest greenroom so far as the exigences of display and the size of the audience are concerned.

But if Mr. Cleveland would raise his eyes a minute, he would see that behind this reverential but vindictive little band for whom he specially walks and talks, the great audience look upon his performances with unmistakable disapproval.

Rejoicing Over Democratic Reverses. New Orleans Times-Democrat, so called Dem.

The district represented by that arch free trader, Bragg, who wanted to drive every protectionist out of the Democratic party, sees a majority of 5,000 swept away and a Republi can elected by 3,000. In the Toledo (Ohio) district, formerly reliably Democratic by a good majority, and which ought to have given an even larger one this year, Mr. Frank Hurd is so badly defeated that he has abandoned political life forever, and the Democracy has lost a very efficient and talented member. In Illinois, Mr. Morrison himself, leader of the free trade element in Congress, is defeated by the very tactics that the Courier Journal suggested, and in its own State the Democratic Speaker, Mr. Carlisle, and its own special candidate in the metropolitan, or Louisville district, slip in by the narrowest majorities. We might fill columns with this story were it necessary. Had this policy of "knifing" all Democrats who did not agree with one's own tariff views-and even among the Morrison faction there are sub factions-been adopted by every member of the party, the Republicens would have secured a large ma-

OUR STATE CONTEMPORARIES.

There are many kind-hearted creditors out "business is business," and the drift of trade is to go to the extent of the law; and the homestead exemption, while it has been the hiding place for many a rascal who has cheated his neighbor, has been a godsend to many an honest man whose nose was held to the grindstone by a hard shylock of a creditor The homestead exempcredit system, and it is difficult to tell whether the law redounds more to the advantage of the creditor or debtor class. Dealers upon a cash basis, whether buyers or sellers, are not bothered by this law. A refusal of credit is the creditor's means of avoiding loss in the case of a would-be ourchaser of doubtful character who is not worth anyting over the homestand. It is an open question whether the lebtor is not as much benefited by his lack of credit as the creditor himself. -Lenoir Topic.

What has produced the hard times, which have now begun to brighten up a little, but years, have been trying the country ever since the year 1878? They have not been confined to the United States. High tariff France and free trade England, only separance and free trade langiand, only separated by a body of water that you can see across, have suffered alike and at the same time, and still suffer side by side. In this country they can be ascribed to no change made by the Democratic party, for since that party took possession of the administration the tariff has not been touched or changed in a word, figure or letter. The tariff of to-day is the same Republican tariff that has been in active operation for fifteen years. And yet the Republicans tell you that their tariff is a sure guarantee of good prices for farm products and good wages for labor.—Greensboro Patriot.

THE CROPS.

Report of the Department of Agriculture-Cotton, Potatoes, Buckwheat, Ev Telegraph to the Morning Star.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 10 .- The report of the Department of Agriculture says:

Cotton returns for November attest rapid progress of picking, unusual cleanness of fibre, and shortness of the late crop on light uplands and districts most affected by drought. Light frosts, sufficient to arrest growth, have occurred in the northern districts and the centre of the cotton belt. In Arkansas and Tennessee a large yield is assured, and in Texas the yield is higher than in the census year, when the product was thirty-seven hundredths of a bale to the acre, and the October condition 65. On the Atlantic coast the effect of the excessive early rains and the long continued drought of the later season is apparent in the re-duced production. The following per-centages of the several States, indicating the probable product, are based on a full crop, unimpaired by injuries or losses from any cause, and the general average is two or three points lower than the result of the October returns: Virginia 71, North Carolina 74, South Carolina 72, Georgia 76, Florida 82, Alabama 75, Mississippi 77, Louisiana 78, Texas 71, Arkansas 86, Ten-

The yield of Corn, according to revised returns of the yield, is 22 bushels per acre, making a product, upon the present adjustment of acreage, of 1,668,000,000 bush els. This accords well with the recent returns of condition, and will not be materially changed in the final review of the work of the year. The yield of the great corn surplus States is variable, the lowest course in the region of the drought. Ohio 82.5, Indiana 32., Illineis 24.7, Iowa 24.5, Missouri 22.2, Kansas 21.3, Nebraska 27.5; New York and the Eastern States exceed 30 bushels, Pennsylvania nearly as much, and the Southern States generally a reduced rate of yield.

The potato product is nearly the same as last year, with higher yields in the East and lower in the West. The average is 78 oushels per acre, giving a product of 163,-000,000 bushels.

The Buckwheat crop makes a yield of about thirteen bushels per acre, promising a product exceeding 11,000,000 bushels. The apparent production of Tobacco is at a rate slightly exceeding an average of 700 pounds per acre, or about 485,000,000 pounds, which is equal to the average requirements of consumption and exporta-

The average rate of yield for the Hay crop is close at one and two-tenths tons per acre, and an apparent product of about 45,000,000 tons.
