We have had occasion to refer to "Don Miff" three or four times. We have not read it but our attention has twice been called to a handsome and richly deserved compliment the author, Mr. Junius Labney, of Virginia, pays to one of the bravest and best soldiers of Lee's army-the lamented Stephen D.Ramseur. The tribute occurs in connection with the battle of Winchester. In the author's description of that important and hotly contested fight, where Gen. Early with 15,000 soldiers confronted Sheridan, with an army of 45,000 men, he says:

"And what do you suppose we learned as we neared the field: That Ramseur with his twelve hundred men covering our front with hardly more than a skirmish line, had held in check the heavy masses of the ene-my all this time; we had marched twelve miles, and there they were still, Ramseur and his heroic little band of North Caro-linians. And I single out the North Caro-linians by name because of their modesty." We find "Don Miff" is being read and praised in Wilmington.

Miss Winnie Davis is in New York and the press duly chronicles her movements. She attended the Metropolitan Opera House and the Star. devotes a separate article to her from which we clip the following:

terprises here, and the mills are among the finest in the South. All the employes are colored. They gave no special reasons for striking, but Friday some of them were heard to say they wanted an increase of wages, and they also spoke of what a powerful organization the Knights of Labor was. There are about forty five men em ployed. The works at once shut down. - Condensed from Bill Arp in Sunny South; Hickory (N. C.) is not much of a name for a town. Nobody would tavern there with a sign swinging on a post and it said "Hickory Tavern. Entertain-ment for man and beast." There was a little grove of hickory trees around it, and hence the name. It is not a county seat and is only fourteen years old. In fact, it is only about five years old, for during the first nine years it was a little orphan, being raised on the bottle, and was puny. But i seems that two or three enterprising men saw something good in the child and adopt-ed it, and now Hickory has an enterprising population of twenty-five hundred, three-

It is mentioned as an amusing incident that on the occasion of a fire recently on Nutt street-which happily turned out to be a small affair-an attempt was made to give a general alarm through the telephone, instead of using the nearest fire-alarm box for the purpose. It has happened also, on more than one occasion, that the alarm has been given not from the nearest box, but from one several squares away, thus misleading the firemen, creating confusion and causing delay that might have chanced dis astrously. It is suggested, in view of these facts that the general public is not yet fully posted as to the working of the Gamewell Fire-Alarm now in use in the city. A DOWN TOWN MERCHANT, having passed several sleepless nights, disturbed by the agonies and cries of a suffering child, and becoming con-vinced that Mrs. Winslow's Soothing Syrup was just the article needed, procured a supply for the child. On reaching home and acquainting his wife with what he had done, she refused to have it administered to the child, as she was strongly in favor of Homeopathy. That night the child passed in suffering, and the parents without sleep. Return-ing home the day following, the father found the baby still suffering ; and while contemplating an-other sleepless night, the mother stepped from the room to attend to some domestic duties and left the father with the child. During her ab-sence he administered a portion of the Soothing Syrup to the baby, and said nothing. That night al hands slept well, and the little fellow awoke in the morning bright and happy. The mother was delighted with the offended at the deception prac-ticed upon her, has continued to use the Syrup, and suffering carving babies and restless nights them and you will continue to buy them. He is a bold Yankee who would write a novel and call it "Woodstock." And yet Clarence Winthrop Brown, Ph. D., is that Yankee. But perhaps he never read Scott's delightful story.

The Philadelphia News says the sanitary condition of many of the public schools in that city is very bad. At one of the schools drinking water is procured from a stagnant duck pond. What a shame!

Miss Fortescue is not sustaining herself on the New York boards. The Times says of her in "Frou-Fron":

"But the general performance, stupid as it was, was immeasurably superior to Miss Fortescue's impersonation of 'Frou-Frou,' which was formless and vapid, devoid of sense or sentiment, passion or pathos."

Gen. Gordon-we beg pardon, Gov. Gordon, in his recent inaugural address, declared that "the preservation of liberty depends upon the preservation by the States of all their rights, priviliges and powers." True, oh Chief Magistrate of a great State. Let the people learn that lesson.

If the following is not overdrawn, then Columbia as well as Charleston needs the sympathy of its neighbors. The Charlotte Chronicle says:

"A lady who is now attending the Co-lumbia Fair writes to a friend in this city and says she has heard nothing but earthquakes since her arrival. Merchants of that city talk despondently-never saw anything like it. Some of the citizens are in constant dread. That people come there from Charleston hopelessly insane, and a gloom seems to rest over the entire city."

Lord Salisbury, Tory Premier, in his speech at the Lord Mayor's banconcerning Russia. If he means fight will be held Wednesday of court week to quet in London, used strong language let him speak it out. He said:

"If England's individual interests only were affected England would ask no counsel and would seek no assistance, but would defend her interests with her own arm. But in this instance she would not accept the responsibility of isolated action. The Government's policy was shaped in harmo-ny with that of Austria. He trusted that the peace would not be disturbed."

The President's Civil Service order

house rested on her longer than perfect politeness would warrant. She was not beautiful, certainly; her photographs in the shop windows would not set men raving, because no photographer could catch the expression of her face. In repose she was full of hauteur, in conversation her amiability was tempered by a certain dignity. One had to look at her twice, and then he felt why Southern men and women love her, not alone for her father's sake, but for her own."

The Winston Sentinel announces that it will soon begin to publish a serial story by Mrs. L. E. Amis, of Granville. The price of the Sentinel is $1 50 a year, eight pages, or 5 cents a number. Mrs. Amis is a sister of the late Jas. G. Scott, of Onslew, a man of decided ability. She has literary talents and we have copled from the New York Star several poems by her as we had formerly copied from our neighbor, the Presbyterian. She ought to write an interesting story.

A meeting of citizens was held in Asheville last Tuesday, at which steps were taken to in-duce the managers of the Baltimore & Ohio Railroad to adopt the Asheville route South, and a committee was appointed to visit Baltimere in furtherance of Asheville's interest in the matter, and this committee is to hold an interview with the President, Robert Garret. - The darkey who assaulted policeman Joe Orr, Monday night, as noted in yesterday's Observer, was sent to jail by the mayor, in default of $80 bond, to await trial before Judge Meares. He says that he has been working on the

The colored man who went to Officer Orr's assistance received a gash on his leg that cut through the flesh to the bone.
