It is stated that Bishop Curtis will have his See in this city. This is mistake probably. We saw it Wilmington, Delaware.

The English press is not much "disgruntled" at the alleged talk of ex-Minister Lowell about the English. It pitches into Beecher for his views of England in a sarcastic and cutting way.

Mrs. Lucy C. Lilly, author of several books and a writer for Harper's Young Folks, lived in a big, fine rented house in style at St. Vincent's Retreat in Harrison. She has fled to parts unknown and her numerous creditors are in vain asking where.

Some ignorant and designing politicians are putting bad ideas in the heads of some of the negroes in connection with our State University. The Radicals ruined and closed that honored institution once, and they would do well to keep their hands off now.

From the Raleigh Biblical Recorder, the ably conducted organ of our Baptist friends, we learn that the Baptists connected with the State Convention now in session here (there is also a Western Convention) exdended in 1885 for all work $51,-373 44, and in 1886, $74,674 50. A big advance.

The Knights of Labor, it appears, have a great rival in the Trades Unions. They will hold a Convention on the 8th of December at Columbus, Ohio. The object is to extend these organizations in all the States "to influence State legislation in the interest of the working classes," and "to disseminate tracts and literature on the labor movement." One delegate is allowed from unions of less than 4,000 members; two for 4,000 or more; three for 8,000 or more and so on.

We would say that it is a burning shame that the grave of Ambrose P. Hill is unmarked by a fitting monument if we did not remember that such a grand hero as our own W. D. Pender slept also in an unmarked grave. There may be some others of our most distinguished dead sol diers without a monument. Anderson and Grimes have monuments, but what of Pettigrew, Daniel and others? Daniel is buried at Halifax and there is no monument to his memory.

The official vote gives Hewitt 22,-42 over Henry George. Roosevelt, Rep., got 60,435 votes. The World shows from the figures that although Judge Daniels, Dem., was elected to the Court of Appeals by 7,000 plurality, his Republican opponent received 18,373 votes more than the Republican candidate for Mayor. It, therefore, argues reasonably that the George candidacy elected Daniels and thereby helped the Democrats.
