MORNING EDITION.

OUTLINES.

The Great Western Glass Works at St. Louis closed yesterday in consequence of the drinking habits of most of the workmen; the latter deny this and say that a strike was threatened. The new two dollar certificates will be ready for distribution about the end of the week. The revenue from the tax on oleomargarine will amount to about $400,000 for the present month. T. J. Morgan, one of the leaders of the United Labor party, has been arrested in Chicago, charged with criminal libel. Stove moulders at De Haven's foundry, Pittsburg, Pa., struck against a reduction of wages. Memphis water works sold to Bullock & Co., of New York, for $500,000. A postal clerk was killed in an accident on the Missouri Pacific Railroad near Kansas City. Track laying on the South Atlantic & Ohio Railroad began Friday; a proposition has been received to extend the road from Bristol, Tenn., to Statesville, N. C. Severe shocks of earthquake were felt yesterday in Smyrna and the Island of Chios. Several oyster boats were lost in Chesapeake Bay during the gale Thursday; some of the crews were drowned. The British government will prosecute Nationalist leaders in Ireland; troops already there will be reinforced by at least 4,000 men. Congressman Kelly of Pennsylvania says that the negro laborers of Alabama and Tennessee are as well paid as the white laborers of Pennsylvania. New York markets: Money 4 1/8 per cent; cotton quiet at 9 3/8-10 1/8; wheat 1 1/4 higher, closing firm; No. 2 red winter nominal at 84 cents; southern flour quiet and unchanged; corn 1/2 higher, closing firm and tame; No. 2 November nominal at 47c; rosin dull at 95c-110c; spirits turpentine dull at 87c.

Ex-Gov. Cheney has been appointed U. S. Senator in place of Pike, deceased.

The Massachusetts Blue Laws are being enforced vigorously. If they can stand it the outside world should be content.

Judge H. L. Lazarus, of New Orleans, is accused of nonfeasance and malfeasance in office, and a petition has been filed asking for his impeachment.

Rev. J. C. Cobb, pastor of West Grove M. E. Church, New Jersey, was assaulted by two roughs and two women and badly beaten. The men are in jail and the women ought to be.

It is not improbable that ex-Senator McDonald may get to the Senate in place of Harrison, Rep. The Democrats have two majorities. He will be as good a man as the Democrats can send, perhaps the best.

Prominent citizens of Buffalo, N. Y., are implicated in heavy thefts of grain. Thousands of bushels of grain have been stolen from elevators by merchants of high standing. There is a long account of it in the New York Times.

Washington dudes are much annoyed because of Attorney General Garland's bad fitting clothes and the way he wears his hat. This is a small matter, as fine clothes do not make a man and the important thing is to have brains under the hat.

Atlanta claims that in five years it has doubled its shops and factories and trebled its capital invested. Five years ago 3,665 employes were employed in the shops and factories; now there are 6,674. In 1880 the wages paid footed up $889,282; in 1885 they were $2,425,000.

A battle has occurred in Southeast Africa between Portuguese and friendly natives on one side and 30,000 hostiles on the other side. Loss 9,000 men. Taxation was the cause. The American people are more long suffering. They are taxed to death by the War Tariff, but they do not fight for deliverance or even vote for salvation.

The last Philadelphia News has a sketch and a wood cut of the negro tragedian, Ira Aldridge, who played the great parts that Charles Kean played all over Europe. He was no doubt a clever tragedian. He was born near Baltimore in 1810, and died in 1867. He received many honors from European crowned heads. A greater actor than Aldridge was also born near Baltimore, Edwin Booth.

No one is better entitled to an opinion among Southern editors as to the merits of metrical composition than Mr. Rysdall, of the Augusta Chronicle. He thus refers to Capt.

THE MORNING STAR.

VOL. XXXIX.—NO. 57.

WILMINGTON, N. C., SUNDAY, NOVEMBER 28, 1886.

WHOLE NO. 6298

Hope, editor of the Norfolk Landmark, who has written some genuine poetry:

"James Barron Hope, of Norfolk, is said to have recently written a better ode than that of Dr. Holmes at Harvard. This may be so, but Holmes has the reputation that makes amends for nodding. But when Miss Rose Elizabeth Cleveland gets $500 for a magazine poem, it is about time to surrender even Hope."

The Converse brothers, Revs. T. E. and F. B., of Louisville, Ky., and editors of the Christian Observer, have been tried before Louisville Presbytery, charged with lying, and have been acquitted. A dispatch says:

"The prosecution was conducted by the Rev. Eugene Daniels, W. E. Boggs, and T. L. Morton. After a three weeks' siege a verdict was reached in the Presbytery to-night, resulting in 22 against sustaining the indictment and 8 in favor of sustaining it. The 8 voting to sustain were all ministers, and the 22 against were ministers with the exception of six laymen. The result is in reality a hung jury and the case will in all probability now go before the Synod for trial. The question of evolution has taken a prominent part in the trial, and has almost become an issue. The lines have been drawn very tight between the prosecution and defence, and the feeling on both sides was intense almost to bitterness."

At the Arthur residence Mr. McMichael was doing the honors. Here is what occurred:

"I hardly need introduce you, gentlemen," exclaimed Mr. McMichael, when Senator Edmunds and Mr. Blaine confronted one another. The Senator frankly replied: "Certainly not, and with a courteous bow extended his right hand. Mr. Blaine uttered no reply whatever. He simply bowed low, very low indeed, and passed on without seeming to even notice the outstretched hand. I presume that was proper," he said sotto voce to Mr. McMichael, when he was beyond the Vermonter's hearing."

This is the version in the Times, doubtless furnished by Mr. McMichael.

Local News. Receipts of cotton yesterday were 1,222 bales.

The market is well supplied with fish, flesh and fowl; but game is scarce.

Three marriage licenses were issued the past week by the County Register; one for white and the other two for colored people.

Rev. T. J. Browning will preach in Brooklyn Methodist Chapel to-day, at 11 a. m., and Rev. P. J. Carraway will preach and administer the sacrament at 7.30 p. m.

Rev. Dr. Hoge will deliver a short address at the meeting of the Ladies' Benevolent Society, which will be held Tuesday, at 11 a. m., in the lecture room of the First Presbyterian Church.

Rev. F. W. E. Peschau, pastor of St. Paul's Lutheran Church, returned to the city yesterday. He will occupy his pulpit at the usual hours to day; preaching in German in the morning and in English at night.

Interments in the cemeteries of the city the past week were as follows: Oakdale two—one adult and a child; Pine Forest (colored) three—one adult and two children. There were no interments in Bellevue cemetery.

Receipts of cotton and naval stores this season continue to show a marked increase as compared with the same period in 1885. The net increase of cotton bale is 28,178; of spirits of turpentine, 1,801 casks; of rosin, 20,158 barrels.

The Howard Relief Fire Company will give a ball at the engine house of the Company Wednesday, the 1st of December. Messrs. M. G. Tiencken, M. Du-melandt, M. Rathjen, P. Fick and J. G. Oldenbute are the committee of arrangements.

A venerable billy goat, with the frosts of many winters upon his head, plagues people in the neighborhood of Water and Princess streets. A merchant who ventured to "remonstrate" with him for eating his peonies yesterday was unceremoniously knocked over into the gutter. There's no oleomargarine about that goat—he is a genuine butter.

Weather Indications. The following are the indications for to-day: For North Carolina and South Carolina, fair weather, no decided change in temperature and variable winds.

The Weather. The minimum temperature yesterday was 80 degrees, at 6 a. m. The maximum, at 2 p. m., was 58. At 10 o'clock last night the thermometer at the Signal Office registered 40 degrees.

Generally high barometer and cool weather prevailed in the South Atlantic and Gulf States. The barometer registered 30.25 inches and upward, except at Key West, Fla., where it recorded 30.11 inches, with the wind blowing from the northeast at the rate of twenty-eight miles an hour.

Fair and slightly warmer weather are indicated for to-day.

An Aged Lutheran Minister Dead. Rev. J. B. Anthony, the oldest Lutheran minister of the Synod of North Carolina, and one of the oldest Lutheran ministers in the United States, died in Cabarrus county a few days ago at the advanced age of seventy-eight years and twenty days. He had labored in the ministry fifty-four years, and led an exceedingly fruitful, excellent and influential life. He was pastor of some of the important churches in North Carolina, South Carolina and Pennsylvania, and was highly esteemed wherever he went. He was a native North Carolinian, having been born in Burke county. He was a man of fine scholarship, being especially good in history, philosophy and the languages. Although born in America, and amid exclusive American surroundings, he acquired German so as to be quite an acceptable German preacher. He was buried at Mt. Pleasant, his funeral being very largely attended. Rev. Dr. Davis, Rev. J. A. Lien, Rev. R. W. Petrea and Rev. F. W. E. Peschau took part in the funeral services; the last named officiating as President of the North Carolina Synod.

"Cotton Facts." The STAR is in receipt of a copy of the Fall edition of "Cotton Facts," a handbook of reliable information concerning cotton, published by Mr. A. B. Shepperson, of 18 William street, New York, and printed for the use of factors, buyers, spinners and planters. With our new matter, it contains statements, giving the methods of cotton culture in India, Egypt, Brazil and the United States; recent information as to cotton acreage of Egypt, India, the mills of India; National Cotton Exchange reports of acreage and crop condition monthly temperature and rainfall in U. S. cotton belt, weekly quotations and stocks of print cloths, weekly deliveries to British spinners, highest and lowest prices of cotton futures in New York since 1881, differences by 64ths of a penny on Liverpool cotton contracts, with equivalent differences on U. S. contracts, cost of raising cotton in Georgia and Alabama, date of close of picking for 1885-86 and previous seasons. It is probably the most complete book of the kind ever published.

"Crazy Patch" to-morrow night. Miss Kate Castleton, with her company of comedians will appear at the Opera House to-morrow night in her new farcical comedy called "Crazy Patch." The St. Louis Post says the play "compares favorably with all the farcical comedies which have gained success. It relies on its thorough absurdity to amuse, and is constructed for no other purpose. Its mission is a success, if the verdict of the large audience at the Grand last night may be accepted. It kept the house in a roar of laughter from beginning to end. The farce is an improvement over most of its kind, because it has more plot and more of genuine comedy in it than most of them. There is less dependence on mechanical devices and rough horse-play. Miss Castleton does her share with that cleverness, wit and quiet effectiveness which have made her so popular. The farce is unusually well cast, and is in the hands of competent people.

Amateur Entertainments. Amateur entertainments which promise to be of great beauty and attractiveness are in course of preparation and will be given in the Opera House this week. They will consist of pantomime, dramatic recitations, vocal music of a high order, illustrated poems and tableaux. In response to very general request the "Hanging of the Crane" will be once more presented, with some additional features, to make it if possible even more charming than before. Programmes will be printed in a few days and the box sheet will be opened on Wednesday, for those who wish to secure seats. The proceeds of the entertainment will be used for benevolent purposes.

Branswick Fires. Forest fires that have been burning in Branswick county for some time past broke out with renewed fury the past week, swept over a great extent of country, and caused no inconsiderable amount of damage to farmers. Barns and out-houses, and a great deal of fencing have been destroyed as well as much valuable timber. The prolonged drought has made everything as dry as tinder, and a fire once started spreads with astonishing rapidity. In some places where roots are thickly matted, fire is said to have eaten into the ground to a considerable depth.

NEW ADVERTISEMENTS.

WE PUT IN

Our Bid for Your Favor

TO SUPPLY YOU WITH

CLOTHING, HATS & FURNISHINGS,

FOR YOURSELF AND BOYS.

We do not send in our tender in a big closed envelope, with a big formal red seal on it, but prefer to give it openly, so everybody can read it—the more the better.

We base our claims on the following promises, which shall be faithfully fulfilled:

The best that the world produces for the least it can be consistently sold for.

No harrasing impertinently to buy if the goods don't suit you.

Polite, intelligent and experienced salesmen to wait on you—men who understand their business—whose advice and suggestions may be relied on.

CHEERFULLY TO EXCHANGE GOODS OR REFUND THE MONEY.

A careful avoidance of that cheapness and humbug so often practiced by second-rate Clothing houses, such as representing a $5 article to be worth $10, goods sold at cost and less, etc.

To sum up, everything, both in goods and personnel, that goes to make a first-class establishment—an institution that is here to stay and expand with the growth of the city.

Merchants, Clerks, Workmen, Heads of Families, this manifesto appeals to your good sense. We are prepared to carry it out to the very letter. The thousands that patronize us know it and appreciate it. We want thousands more to trade with us, and we know of no better means to gain confidence than to give all HONEST TREATMENT.

S. H. FISHBLATE,

King Clothier.

"I WISH I HAD."

A MAN AT SIXTY, WHO HAD ONCE ENJOYED a competence, and to whom the future was financially dark, was asked recently by a friend if he had not an endorsement policy to help him out. With a sigh and tone of deepest regret, he replied, "I wish I had." He then went on to say that he thought of it years ago, when he could have carried it; but there seemed to be no necessity for it, and the years slipped away, until it was too late. "Yes," he added sadly, "I WISH I HAD." He only needed the experience of thousands at his age.
