TURSDAY MORNING, JAN. 11, 1887.

FROM ALL PARTS OF THE WORLD FORTY-NINTH CONGRESS.

SECOND SESSION.

Contounies Colchration-Indiano-The Inter-State Commerce Hill Debated-Measures Introduced in the House. By Telegraph to the Morning Star.

SENATE. WASHINGTON, Jac. 10.-Mr. Hoar, from the select Committee on Centennial Calebestion, reported resolutions declaring it expedient that action be taken by Congress for the due celebration in Washington about April 80, 1880, of the adoption of the Constitution, and directing the committee to consider and propose the best mode of celebration. Adopted.

On motion of Mr. Dawes, the House amendments to the Senate bill to provide lauds for the Indians in severalty were non-concurred in, and a conference asked.

The Senate at 12.50 took up the inter-State Commerce bill, and Mr. Beck took the floor with a speech in favor of the conference report. That report, he said, (which must be either adopted or rejected as a whole,) presented the laure fairly between those who believed that great inter-State railways were and of right ought to be sub jest to law, and those who thought that they ought to be a law unto themselves. After a struggle of ten years, the commit-tee of the two houses had agreed upon a bill which they said was the best that could be had. They said that it was this bill or nothing. Of course the railroads wanted nothing; no bill could be framed which railroad advocates would not oppose. Because this bill was supposed to be imperfect and to have some shortcomings, they insisted that the railroads should continue to exereise unlimited control of inter-State commerce. The defeat of the present measure, either directly or by amend-ment, would accomplish their purposes. In support of the right and duty of Congress to legislate on the subject, he quoted the opinion of the United States Supreme Court last October, in the Wabsah case, and the still more recent decision of the Massachusetts Court in the case against the Housatonic Railroad Company. It must be apparent, he said, that the failure of Congress to pass a law to punish ratiroad officials guilty of discriminations and extortions, was simply to license them to continue the practice, and no Senator would attempt to justify that. He believed that the country would accept the bill as an nonest, earnest effort to break up the agatem of favoritism and extortion which bas besirvers had exercised and read from a book on Railroads of the Bepublic, by J F Hudson, a chapter upon the history of the Standard Oil Company, which is represented as having, in eighteen months, received from railroad companies rehales amounting to les million dollars and having thus crushed out all competition in the oil trade. He commended that chapter to the perusal of those boards of made and chambers of commercy that were now so enraestly protesting against the passage of this bill; and he asserted that, if the facts therein stated were laid before any commercial body in America, get one of them would vote for the contimusher of the system under which such mercy of a few railroad magnates. Yet Congress was told by boards of trade, professing to be the guardians of commerce, that is would rurn the country if it would backs. He knew of no higher evidence of the omnipotence of those railroad people an their ability to obtain from respecthe beards of trade such resolutions as were daily sent to Senators, urging them not to interfere with railroad despot-The great fundamental principle which the passage of this bill would establish was that Congress not only proposed hereafter to regulate inter-State commerce. "but proposed to regulate the carriers of it, and to compel them to do equal and exact justice to all persons dealing with them. The original bill had passed the Sunate last session, by a vote of 47 to 4, and had passed the House by a vote of 193 to 41; and now, when the conferees of both Houses had agreed upon this bill, it seemed to him that it ought to become a law No man could justify the conduct of many great railroad corporations in the treatment of the vast interests coufided to their care and management. He referred to the authracite coal pool as a specimen of the combination against public interests and stated that the aggregate capitalization of the companies engaged in it was $500. 000,000, while the actual cost was only $114,000,000. In conclusion, he said that he was not an enemy of railroads; they had flone more than all other agencies to develop the resources of the continent; but he would require them to do equal and exact fastics to all, believing that the bill would

The bill, he said. had stood remarkably well the test of the general and particular scrutiny to which it had been subjected by the press and railroad companies. Its general provisions had for the most part met with approval. while others were most strongly objected The fourth section was misuaderstood. if not misrepresented. He admitted that any measure that could be passed by Congress might prove ineffective and unsatisfactory in some respects, until supplement-ed by State legislation. Just as State legdution now in force had been found unsatisfactory in some respects because of the absence of national legislation. He be-lieved that if this legislation could be fairly tested if would prove beneficial both to railroads and the general public, when once fairly in operation and when business had adjusted tiself to the changed contrike of Employes of Street Car Com panies in Boston.

By Telegraph to the Morning Star. Bosrow, Jan. 10.-A general tie-up on the Consolidated Horse Railroad occurred this morning, pursuant to the action of a meeting of employes, which adjourned at 8.30 o'clock this morning. The road com-prises the Middlessex and Highland lines connection, Malden, Everett, Charlestown and Somerville, with the Boston and Boston Highlands district. All the employes, including conductors, drivers, hostlers, horseshoers, feeders and tow boys are participating in the strike. Patrons of the road were obliged either to walk into town or to use the nearest steamroad, stages or other conveyance. The exact grievances of the men are not known, but the trouble is believed to be caused by the failure of President Powers to keep his part on the agreement recently made with the men.

A Charlestown car was started from Charlestown Neck this morning. Several Shawment avenue cars passed over the line soon after, manned by non-Union drivers and conductors, protected by from four to six policemen on each car Crowds of people, in opposition to the "scabs," gathered in Adams square at the foot of Cornbill, along New Washington street, and in Haymarket square, through which portions of the city the Charlestown cars go in passing either way. Here the noisest demonstrations of the day were made by the largest crowd collected. The "scaba" were hooted at and tracks filled with people who obstructed the movements of the cars. Many teamsters lent aid to the strikers by driving teams in front of the cars and delaying them as much as possible. Three arrests were made here. The police succeeded in clearing the middle of New Washington street of people, who massed on the sidewalks on either side leading to the Boston The "scab" car, as it came along, was greeted with a storm of hisses and yells and a continuous snow balling, which reception continued along the line, despite the presence of police The Knights of Labor did not order the strike. The men took the responsibility on themselves, and claim that they have the promises of ample financial aid, and can hold out as long as the company does. The strikers remain very quiet and orderly. Most of the hooting is done by boys and

A German Ship Lost Off the Virginia Capes Not a Man Saved of the Crew and Several of the Life-Saving Crew Also Lost

By Telegraph to the Morning Star. NORPOLE Jan 9 - Later particulars from the wreck of the German ship Elizabeth, which went ashore yesterday morning on Virginia Beach, fourteen miles south of Cape Heary, put the number of the crew at twenty two, instead of fifteen, not a man of whom was saved. This fact is learned from two of the Life-Saving crew who survive. and who recovered consciousness to-day. The bodies of the five men of the Life-Saving crew, and four of the ship's crew, which were recovered yesterday, were in life-preservers, and three more of the ship's crew, without life preservers, were picked up lower down the coast this morning. A body, which has been identified as that of the captain, is among those recovered. On his person was a photograph marked Capt. F. Holberstadt, and letters addressed to Henry Kaulkmann, and several bills from Joseph Lamke & Co., Bremerhaven. This evening the masts of the ship were still standing, though the sea was breaking over violently. Superintendent Powner, of the Life-Saving service, will board her in the morning, if possible.

As reported last night not a word was spoken between the ship's crew and the ife saving men, when they boarded her in their desperate attempt at rescue, and the cause of the wreck can never be positively known, although it is supposed that, in attempting to make the Capea of Virginia under reefed sails sufficient allowance was not made for the strong currents which have caused several disastrous wrecks along the lower Virginia and North Caroline coasts during the last few years

Not Much Done in the senato-A Rush of Mills and Resolutions In the House - Republicane Show their Hands in Bebating the Bill to Repeal County Government-Another Scene between Pearson and Overman.

[Special Star Report.] RALBIGH, Jan. 10.—Not much was done in the Senate. A bill was introduced to amend sections 1, 2 and 4, Article 10, of the Constitution. (This reduces the personal property exemption from $500 to $200; the homestead from $1,000 to $300, and repeals all exemptions for work done by mechanics or laborers. In the latter respect it confers the right on laborers or me-chanics to enforce the collection of debts due them.) Mr. Pemberton introduced this

The Senate's message was received, announcing that that body had passed a bill providing that Gov. Scales be relieved from the duty of ordering an election in the Fifth Congressional district, to fill the vscancy caused by Reid's resignation. The Senate.

The bill to repeal county government introduced by Mr. Pinnix) was taken up and some debate followed, entirely on the question of making it a special order. Finally, it was made the special order for next Tuesday week, at noon. The Republicans showed their hands very clearly, Dr. York saying that people's minds were made up on the question. Finally the bill was by a vote of 54 to 58 made the special order as stated.

A bill to provide for steam-heating the capitol was taken up and was made the special order for to-morrow at noon. The discomfort of the houses is now very great and the members suffer greatly, as they do every winter.

There was another scene between Pearson and Overman. The latter said his remarks last Saturday, in which he characterized Pearson as a traitor, were to be taken in a political and not in a personal sense. He had a high regard for Pearson and only condemned his political course; as to that his remarks held good. Pearson spoke also, defending his course, and saying that he believed in the principles of the Democratic party. He asserted that in his view Webster was a better Democrat than Overman Overman again gave Pearson's course a severe rebuke. The Speaker told them to have the matter out and be done with it, saying be hoped it would be forever.

The Speaker announced the following committees: Claims, Brogden, Chairman; Counties, Cities and Towns, Wells; Fish Interests, White, of Perquimans; Banks and Currency. Holt; Deaf, Dumb and Blind Institution, Lindsay; Insane Asylums, Saunders; Agriculture, Fries; Penal Institutions, Pritchard.

At 10 o'clock the House adjourned, after referring to the Committee on Education Mr Sutten's resolution urging our Senators and Representatives to use every effort to secure the repeal of the internal revenue law It is thus referred because it carries with it the Blair bill.

Wreck on the Chesapeake & Ohio-Rumors of a Strike of Railroad Employes at Newport News-The Lost German Ship Elizabeth. By Telegraph to the Morning Star

NORFOLK, Jan. 10. - Thus far no trouble has occurred at this end of the line from the strike of the New York longshoremen. It was reported here to-day that a general strike of employes on the Newport News & Mississippi Valley Railroad had been ordered, but the report lacks confirms tion at this hour.

STAUNTON, Jan. 10 -A disastrous wreck occurred on the Chesapeake & Ohio Road this evening. The through freight, running at the rate of 40 miles an hour, collided with the way freight at Brand's Station. Both trains were completely wrecked. Chas Smalls, engineer, Jos. Newman, brakeman, and Geo. Howell, fireman, were severely hurt—the latter dangerously. The wrecking steamer Victoria J. Peed has been engaged in stripping the wreck of the German ship Elizabeth to-day, and it is ta ken for granted that the ship is bound to go to pieces. Thus far sixteen bodies of the lost crew have come ashore; the last one at 5 o'clock this evening. From the marked resemblance of one of the bodies recovered to that identified as Captain Hablerstadt, it is supposed to be a brother or a son. The remains of the five Life Saving men were buried to-day, and people came from many miles around to the services. An undertaker has, by direction of the German Vice Consul here, prepared the remains of the German sailors for burial, and they will be kept two or three days to enaworm in as Lieutenant Governor Despite Protests of the Democratic Members of the Legislature.

By Telegraph to the Morning Star. INDIANAPOLIS, Jan. 10.—The ways and corridors of the capitol were thronged by an immense crowd of people this morning to witness possible developments in the political struggle now in progress. All interest centered in the House, where the galleries were densely packed, while prom inent politicians were present and located in available positions for giving advice and assistance to their friends on the floor. Directly after prayer the Doorkeeper announced the presence of the Senate-the Senate consisting of 19 Republican members of that body. Kellison, Democrat, arose and called Mr. Speaker," but he was not recognized. The Republican Senators entered and took their seats to the right of the Speaker, Kellison, meanwhile, vainly claiming the Speaker's attention.

Speaker Sayre announced that the business of the convention was to canvass the vote for Lieutenant Governor, and Kellison again sought a hearing, but was promptly told he was out of order. Other Democratic members also asked the Speaker's attention; but all were refused recognition. The reading of the returns consumed half an hour, and at its close while the clerk was making his computations, Jewett, Democratic member, addresed the Speaker, but was told that nothing would be in order until the canvass was completed. The result of the vote was then announced as follows: Robertson 232,916; Nelson 229,593. Robertson's majority, 3.323. Upon this Robertson was then sworn in by Judge Walker, of the Superior Court. Said Speake: Sayre, "I declare Robert Robertson Lieut. Governor of the State of Indiana and he will now address you."

Robertson instantly advanced to the front of the Speaker's desk, and taking the gavel rapped for order. Gordon, Dem., raised his hand and called, "Mr. Speaker;" but no attention was given him. Jewett was treated in a similar manner; but both managed to exclaim, "Mr. Speaker. We do not recognize the legality of this joint convention, [pointing to the Republican Senators) where there is no representation of the Senate except the fag-end of that body. We protest against this usurpation of power; this disorganization, and overturning of precedent and law." This was the signal for all the Democrats to begin a noisy demonstration. The confusion was so great that the individual speakers could only be heard occasionally, and then in a disjointed, disconnected manner.

Robertson held his position at the desk, and kept up a vigorous rapping with the gavel. Notwithstanding the noise and tumult, he proceeded to deliver his inaugural address, but the noise was so great that it was heard by but very few. At its conclusion he declared the Joint Convention adjourned, to reassemble in the Senate hall Wednesday, the 19th, to vote for U. S. Senator Speaker Sayre then took possession of the gavel and the House ad-

CAKES WITHOUT EGGS.

In a little book just published by the Judson Printing Company, New York, a large number of practical, though novel. receipts are giving for making cakes of various kinds, from the informal griddle-cake to the stately bride-cake, without eggs, by the use of the Royal Baking Powder. Experienced housekeepers inform us that this custom has already obtained large precedence over old-fashioned methods in economical kitchens, and that the product is frequently superior to that where eggs are used, and that less butter is also required for shortening purposes. The advantage is not alone in the saving effected, but in the avoidance of the trouble attendant upon securing fresh eggs, and the annoyance of an occasional cake spoiled by the accidental introduction of an egg that has reached a little too nearly the incubatory period. The Royal Baking Powder also invariably insures perfectly light, sweet, and handsome cake, or when used for griddle-cakes to be eaten hot enables their production in the shortest possible space of time, and make them most tender and delicious, as well as entirely wholesome. There is no other preparation like it.

Now York Naval Stores Market. N. Y. Commercial Bulletin, Jan. 8. Receipts to-day 386 bbls rosin, 31 do spirits turpentine and 10 crude turpentine. While the price of spirits turpentine has not changed from 38c, the market is evidently losing strength, especially as advices from the South and abroad do not show in such good form as previously. In lots 150 bbls were reported on spot at 38c. Tar and pitch continue to move out in parcels at old rates. Trade in rosins is rather slow again, but desirable stocks are in good hands and buyers fail to secure any favorable terms.
