The Health of the City.

The report of Dr. Potter, City Physician and Superintendent of Health, for the month of January, gives the total number of deaths occurring in the city during the month as 40-eleven white and twentynine colored. Of the 11 whites 9 were adults and 2 children; of the 29 colored, 18 were adults and 16 children. There were seven deaths from consumption-3 white and 4 colored : from pneumonia, 4 deaths-2 white and 2 colored

Dr. Potter, in his report to the Board of Aldermen, says: "I would most respectfully state that a good many of the deaths reported monthly are amongst those who are not strictly citizens-not having been here long enough to constitute them such -and who do not come under the purview of the city and county, but are nevertheless cared for. As regards sanitary matters, I can add very little more to what has been said. The filling up of the old mill pond as suggested by the Mayor would be a big lick in the right direction. It has been said that all pools of stagnant water of any size will induce sickness at least a mile off. The same might be said of rice fields, I suppose. It was said by Dr. James F. Mc-Ree that the reason the rice fields on the west side of the river did not cause sickness in our city was that the malaria arising therefrom was absorbed by the river, or blown off by the currents of air prevailing either up or down the stream."

The Doctor suggests that as the warm season is not far off it may be well to act in the matter of sanitation

Fourth Street Bridge.

The question as to whether there should be a better bridge across the railroad cut on Fourth street is one in which perhaps more people of Wilmington are interested than in any other one local improvement. There is an indictment pending in the Criminal Court against the Wilmington & Weldon Railread Company, both for the obstruction of the highway and for not keeping the bridge in order. This last has been continued from term to term for several terms of the Criminal Court, and why has it been so continued is the inquiry which was propounded to the Solicitor

He informs us that it is forbearance on the part of the prosecution, to give the city authorities and the Wilmington & Weldon Railroad Company time in which they can adjust certain financial arrangements pending between them.

It will be remembered that the railroad company has heretofore been prosecuted an account of the same bridge, and the case was taken to the Supreme Court. At that time it was shown in evidence that when the railroad company constructed its road where it now is, the northern limit of the city was Campbell street, and the court held that inasmuch as the defendant was indicted for the obstruction of a street in the city of Wilmington, and insemuch as the railroad company had constructed its road before the extension of the city limits to their present boundaries, they were not liable for obstructing a street in the city of Wilmington.

The present prosecution and indictment against the defendant company are founded upon a totally different statement of facts. The indictment is not for the obstruction of a street, but for the obstruction of a common highway which existed long ante rior to the date of the charter of the defendant company.

The Solicitor says that the Supreme Court have intimated in the case first prose cuted about the bridge that if the defendant company were required to keep up the bridge is would only be required to keep up such a bridge as was sufficient to accommodate the travel along the road as it was before the railroad was constructed, and this would be a bridge about the proportions and size as now exists. This is not what is needed. There should be a bridge as broad as the street with a roadway and a sidewalk, so that the cut can be spanned by a roadway and passway sufficient to accom modate the present demands of the public.

The Solicitor says that he has had conferences with the attorneys for the defendant company, with the Mayor of the city, and with some the members of the Board of Audit and Finance, from which he gathers that there is an understanding between the Board of Aldermen and the railroad company which will result in the building of a bridge such as above described. The railroad company has expressed its willingness to contribute liberally to this end. The Board of Aldermen have authorized the Mayor to secure plans and make estimates for such a bridge. The Board of Audit and Finance say that when the fiscal year ends, which will be in April, that they are willing to consider favorably and approve any recommendations which shall be made by the Board of Aldermon in reference to this bridge, and that the expenses of its construction shall be then included in their estimate of expenses of the city government for the current year. It is for these considerations, the Bolicitor says, that he has thus far forborne to prosecute the case, And in this, as in all other cases that he has prosecuted in the Court for the past ten years, he is acting from a sense of duty, and with a view to the hest interests of the public. From the Mayor it is learned that plans have been secured and estimates made for an iron bridge, that will cost about $13,000.

Cora Van Tassel Bramatic Company. This company will make its appearance at the Opera House in this city on Monday evening next in "Fanchon the Cricket." The Company has just completed a week's engagement in Raleigh where, the Finiter says, there has never been a company that has given more satisfaction to the public. The Norfolk Virginian says of a recent performance in that city

The five act drams entitled "Fanchen the Cricket," was presented at the Academy of Music last evening by the Cora Van Tassel Dramatic Company, with Miss Van Tassel in the title role. Miss Van Tassel is of the Maggie Mitchell school of actresses, and in many of her impersonations is not unlike that lady. As "Fanchon" she is particularly clever, and those who saw her last ovening in that character were loud in their praise of the rendition.

Reception at the Jail. A public reception will be held at the county jail to-day and to-morrow. Mr. Elder, the jailor, will open the doors at 10 a. m., and all persons who want to see the interior of the new building, the iron cages for prisoners and the place for executions, are invited to call between that hour and 4 o'clock in the afternoon. After the receptios to-morrow, which it is understood will be exclusively for colored people, the doors will be closed to the public. The county prisoners now in the Goldsboro jail, will be brought to Wilmington the first of next week.

Miss M. L. Hatchett, a young lady of Henderson, N.C., is at the Orton. She visits Wilmington, under the auspices of the Masonic fraternity, in the interest of the Oxford Orphan's Friend, and wil make a thorough canvass of the city. Capt. John H. Savage, superintendent of the County Poor House, was represented last night to be in a dying condition. He has been ill for some time with dropsy and

The Texas Tribune says: "The late atmospheric freshness has brought on many cases of cough, and cold, and Dr. Bull's Cough Symp is in great demand. "What wound did ever heal but by degrees ?" The thousand cases daily cured by Salvation Oil

A DOWN TOWN MERCHANT, having passed several sleepless nights, disturbed by the agonies and cries of a suffering child, and becoming convinced that Mrs. Winslow's Soothing Syrup was just the article needed, procured a supply for the child. On reaching home and acquainting his wife with what he had done, she refused to have it administered to the shild, as she was strongly in favor of Homosopathy. That night the child passed in suffering, and the parents without sleep. Returning home the day following, the father found the baby still suffering; and while contemplating; another sleepless night, the mother steepped from the room to attend to some domestic duties and left the father with the child. During her absence he administered a portion of the Soothing Syrup to the baby, and said nothing. That night all hands sleet well, and the little fellow awoke in the morning oright and happy! The mother was delighted with the wonderful change, and although at first offended at the deception practiced upon her, has continued to use the Syrup, and suffering crying babies and restless nights have disappeared. A single trial of the Syrup never yet falled to relieve the baby, and overcome the prejudices of the mother. Sold by all Druggists. So cents a bottle.
