H. Watson, of Chapel Hill is in town this afternoon and has given us the following facts respecting a sensational affair which occurred at Chapel Hill: It appears that some four years ago one Thomas H. Wade. a man about 35 years of age, and claiming to hail from Texas, entered the cellege as a student. Since then the students have, from time to time, been missing valuable articles of property such as clothing, jew-elry, watches, &c. When Prof. Toy returned to Chapel Hill a few days ago and unlocked his room, he also discovered that various articles which he had left there were gone. A student told the Professor that he had seen Wade wearing a coat and vest of his (Toy's), whereupon the Professor took out a search warrant. When Wade's rooms were opened (he occupied two, into one of which no one was ever permitted to go) the students were dumbfounded. There they found every con-ceivable sort of thing, siolen and secreted by Wade.

Monster green turtles, some weighing as much as 1,500 pounds each, frequent the beach all the way down to Fort Caswell, four miles below the town. People eat their eggs, but do not eat the turtles. Beach parties of young folks go down there, gather beautiful shells, have dances on the hard sand in the moonlight, roast oysters and have fun with the turtles. When a female turtle wishes to lay her eggs she crawls up the sand beach to a place that suits her fancy, digs with her flippers a big hole in the sand and then lays in the hole 200 or 300 eggs. The eggs are not dumped in a pile but laid out smoothly and neatly in rows. When she commences laying it makes no odds to her how big a beach party stands around superintending the process She attends strictly to business, and even if the eggs are taken from the hole as fast as she lays them it does not all discourage or frighten her. When she gets through she scrapes the sand back into the hole whether the eggs are there or not and then starts back to the water. That is the time for the beach party to have fun with her. As many of them as can mount her big domelick do so and she carries them right down

INTER-STATE COMMERCE.

Another Meeting at the Produce Exchange-The Long and Short Haul Clause-Action of the Previous Meeting Rescinded.

The joint meeting of the Chamber of Commerce and Produce Exchange, held yesterday, was more largely attended than the meeting on Wednesday last. Mr. F. W. Kerchuer, President of the Chamber of Commerce, presided, with Col. Jno. L. Cantwell secretary.

Mr. J. H. Currie moved a reconsideration of the resolution adopted at the former meeting, authorizing the President to appoint a committee to attend the session of the Inter-State Commerce Commission at Atlanta on the 26th inst.

Mr. A. L. DeRosset asked if there was any good reason why the action of the previous meeting should be rescinded. He thought it important that Wilmington should be represented at Atlanta.

Mr. Currie said if a committee was sent, it ought to carry the impression of the community, which he thought was in favor of the long and short haul clause of the law being enforced.

Mr. D. L. Gore thought it was unnecessary to send a committee. We had tried the old order of things, now let us try the

After further discussion a motion to reconsider the action of the last meeting was adopted, and the chair announced that the question was now on rescinding the resolution as moved by Mr. Currie.

Mr. Calder said that the Committee on Railroad Freights of the Board of Trade had directed him to offer a resolution as a substitute for the one adopted at the former meeting. He regretted that Mr. Emerson. who represented the railroad interest, was not present. There could be no doubt that Wilmington had been grievously discriminated against in the making of freight rates. Mr. Emerson had said that if the fourth clause of the law were abrogated it would leave us where we are now. This we did not want. Mr. Calder cited a book "How to Ship," and called attention to the fact that no rates are given in this book from Norfolk, from which he argued that there was some secret rate which the railroads did not care to divulge. To show the discri mination against Wilmington he instanced the fact that while rates on first-class goods from New York and Boston to Jack sonville are seventy-three cents, the rates from New York to Wilmington is seventyseven cents, and from Boston eighty-two cents, on the same class of goods, while the distance from Boston to Wilmington is 823 miles and to Jacksonville 1,322. On goods in the fifth class, he said, the rate from Baltimore to Wilmington, 403 miles, 18 thirty cents per hundred pounds, from Baltimore to Charleston, 615 miles, twentyfive cents. The difference, Mr. Calder said, diminishes from the first class, and in some few instances the rate is a fair one to Wilmington, but the thriff is irregular and in the main very much against Wilmington. Showing how the business of other ports is protected Mr. Calder said the rate on first class goods to Wilmington and thence to a point 110 miles in the interior amounts to $1 05 per hundred, while the rate to Charleston and the same distance in the interior amounts to 82 cents per hundred, and to Savannah and 110 miles in the interior the rate is 75 cents per hundred—a conjunction of local with through rates by which the trade of these cities is protected, while that of Wilmington is not. With all these facts Mr. Calder thought it was the duty of the merchants here to urge that the long and short haul clause should be enforced. It would be stultifying them selves, after having faught the railroads as they had, to now ask that the same rates should be continued. No doubt if the law is enforced, the seaport towns will get the proportion of trade that belongs to them by virtue of their geographical situation. If a committee is sent to Atlanta it should be instructed to advocate the enforcement of the law. This was the position the railroad freight committee of the Exchange took. So far as the implied threat of Mr. Emerson was concerned, that his people would be willing to exempt Wilmington from the

the following resolution as a substitute for the resolution adopted at the former meet-Believing that great irregularities exist in the management of the railroad traffic of the country, which can only be regu-lated and adjusted by legal restrictions, and having every confidence in the wis-dom and conservatism of the Inter-State Commerce Commission, it is the sense of this Chamber that the law under which they were appointed, having been carefully considered and wisely framed, should be given a fair and impartial trial, in order suspension of the law, he did not believe that the Commission would be guilty of any such discrimination. He introduced that the country may know the precise truth about its operations.

We are further of the opinion that there should be no prolonged suspension of the "long and short haul clause," but that its operations should be made uniform to all points and on all lines; and we appeal to railroad managers to meet the efforts of the commission in a fair and equitable spirit, believing that to "bring back the business of common carriers to the well-settled principles of the common law" will result in increased profits to themselves, while benefitting the country and allaying the widespread dissatisfaction now existing.

Resolved, That a copy of these proceedings be sent to the Commissioners, at their meeting to be held in Atlanta on the 26th Further discussion was had. It was proposed to amend by a resolution instructing the chairman of the committee on railroad freights Mr. Calder to go to Atlanta and present the resolutions. Col. W. L. DeRosset asked if the Boards bales.

of Trade in Charleston and Savannah had not instructed their committees to ask a suspension of the fourth clause of the law. The chair announced that they had. Then, Col. De Rosset continued, we had better be careful how we act, and take another day

The Chair said that it was his duty to say that the railroad officials had told him that they would not send a representative to the meeting. They wanted the merchants to decide the matter themselves, and they would agree to their wishes.

In reply to Col. DeRosset Mr. Calder said that Charleston and Savannah might make a mistake; Wilmington had to take care of itself. He did not believe that the Commission would mete out injustice to us if they regulated matters for the advantage of Charleston and Savannah and Nor-

The question on the adoption of Mr Calder's resolution was put and carried with only one or two dissenting voices.

The motion that the chairman of the railroad committee be instructed to present the resolutions to the commission (offered by Mr. G. J. Boney) was put and carried, after being amended so as to empower Mr. Calder to select one or more members of the same committee to accompany him.

The Tileston Entertainment.

On last evening a large and delighted audience assembled in the capacious and fine hall of the Tileston Normal School to witness the presentation of the "Shakes" perean Forfeit Party." It was decidedly entertaining throughout. A large number of both sexes were on the stage in costume which gave a very picturesque and striking effect. There were instrumental music and songs, and there was a striking and happy variety, all in the language of the immortal dramatist. A large number of characters were called out in succession, each rendering fine passages with more or less excellence. Portia, Jessica, Othello, Desdemona, Juliet, Queen Hermione, Henry V, Dogberry, Miranda, Annie Bullen, Hecate, Shylock, Mrs. Quickly, Ophelia, Lady Macbeth and Queen Katherine were all presented. Admirable short selections, a few lines, taken from the great dramatist's many plays were used as connecting links between the various recitations in character, and were generally very well rendered by many of the pupils. It was altogether a very unique and agreeable entertainment. Several of the players or reciters were applauded. There were pretty girls on and off the stage. Miss Bradley and her teachers have done admirably well in the entertainments and deserve the thanks of the community. An evening in Tileston Hall is well spent, and the fine audiences indicate a high appreciation.

The French Visitors. Capt. Boutel, of the French war ship Duconedic, and three of his officers, came up to the city yesterday and were the recipients of many courteous attentions. A portion of the day they were the guests of the Cape Fear Club, and in the afternoon in company with some of their entertainers enjoyed a pleasant drive around the city. Last night they were entertained at the Orton, where a banquet was given by citizens in their honor, and were serenaded by the Cornet Concert Club.

In the morning a called meeting of the Board of Aldermen and Board of Audit and Finance the following resolutions were

The Black River Disaster.

Capt. C. P. Moore, Jr., of the steamer Enterprise, in a letter dated the 21st, gives the following particulars concerning the blowing up of the steamer Delta: I have just returned from Delta, where I was called to aid the suffering craw of the steamer Delta. I regret to say on her return trip her boiler burst about 4 miles above Point Caswell on the morning of the 19th, at half-past 2 o'clock, causing almost a complete wreck of the boat. Mr. J. D. Kerr's right leg was broken and his head bruised. Mr. Franklin Anders had his left arm broken and his hands badly bruised Lloyd Spearman, fireman, was blown 60 yards distant in the swamp and found dead. Kelly Newkirk, a deck hand, standing on the bow of the boat, was badly scalded and blown about eighty yards into the swamp, and strange to say was found alive. The engineer escaped unhurt. Au gustus Moore, the pilot, was blown in the air and struck by a barrel of flour, but received no serious injury.

The steamer had two flats in tow at the time. Willie Sherman was standing on the upper deck and was blown into the air, but received no serious injury. Mr. French Johnson and Stephen Cromartie were on the flats towed by the Delta, and succeeded in saving the wounded. They were taken to Mr. William Sherman's house and Doctors Thompson and Kerr summoned to their assistance The wounded were not con scious of what had happened and cannot account for the cause of the accident. The Delta's cargo consisted of hardware, bacon, corn, meal, flour and general merchandise, and was valued at about four hundred dol-lars. A part was saved, but badly damaged. The wounded were landed safely at home and are all doing as well as could be expected, except Kelly Newkirk, colored, who died from his injuries this morning about two o'clock before my departure
