"It may well amaze us that a State Senator could be an assassin and the leader of a conspiracy to put away a man who was surely cutting down the elaborate superstructure of wickedness, which for years he had with unceasing care erected. The judgment of many that would lead the bad element over which he had so great an influence in such a business as expressed often by friends to Gambrell, has been realized.

"This is Mississippi's disgrace, and will be till the strong hand of the law shall wipe it away. That cry 'Murder!' ringing out on the night air and from the lips of the truth-telling editor, will ever vibrate and reverberate through all the hearts of the chivalrous people of Mississippi, and by it they will be awakened from their slumbers to finish the work of their fellow-citizen who has laid down his pen forever."

Miss Mary Harden, daughter of Gen. Harden, of Savannah, died recently at Athens, Ga. John Howard Payne, author of "Home, Sweet Home," often courted her but she refused him. He dedicated his heart lyric to her. A dispatch to the New York Times says:

REGATTA.

The Programme and Course for the Race on the River To-Morrow.

The Regatta Committee of the Carolina Yacht Club have decided upon the programme and course for the race to take place on the river to-morrow.

The course to be sailed is as follows: From the Custom House wharf to a black buoy placed in the river below the Dram Tree; rounding the buoy from west to east. Then up the river to the stake boat anchored opposite the Champion Cotton Compress; rounding the stake boat from east to west. Then to Market street dock. The first vacht passing the northern edge of Market dock to be the winner.

The first gun, giving notice of the regatta, will be fired at 2.30 p. m. The second and starting gun will be fired at 8 p. m., at which time the first yacht must go. The other yachts will follow, in order, at each successive blast of the whistle from the Commodore's boat.

The Commodore's steamer will take position on the west side of the river opposite the Custom House, by 2.45 p. m., and after starting the yachts, will, if practicable, steam to the buoy, in order to take the time of the yachts as they round it, and will then proceed to the wharf at the foot of Market street north side in order to take the time at the finish.

The Marie will take her position on the west side of the river behind the Commodore's boat, followed by the Navassa and Vertner. The Passport will follow from her wharf at the foot of Market street (south side) and the Cape Fear will follow the procession from her wharf.

All steamers and steamboats except the Commodore's boat, following the contesting yachts, are requested to keep astern of the Marie, and when passing yachts to run under one bell.

A telegram received by Col. Jones yesterday evening, from Major Campbell, commanding the Fayetteville Independent Light Infantry, stated that the company will leave Fayetteville on the steamer Cape Fear at seven o'clock this morning, and will reach Wilmington at eight or nine o'clock this evening. The Maxton Guards will arrive by train on the Carolina Central Railroad at five minutes past nine o'clock this evening. The Wilmington Light Infantry and the Cornet Concert Club will meet these companies on arrival and escort them up Market street to Camp MacRae, where the battalion will go into camp for the night. The Sampson Light Infantry will arrive at ten o'clock to-morrow morning, and will be met at the depot on Front street by the battalion. The regiment will then be formed and march to the City Hall where the reception ceremonies will take place.

Miss Cora Van Tassel with her company presented "Gyp" last night, and the way that each one adapted himself or herself to their parts showed a thorough knowledge of the play and most efficient training. The company one and all did well and added fresh laurels to their reputation.

To-night "Esmeralda," or "Life in Old North Carolina," will be produced. This beautiful comedy-drams, by Mrs. Burnett, is a simple little love story but beautifully told and admirably acted by Miss Van Tassel and her company. The ladies especially will enjoy this piece, as it appeals strongly to the tender passion. "Esmeralda" will furnish an evening of rare enjoyment; don't miss it.

Magistrate and Sheriff's Deputies Fined by the Mayor.

Mr. J. C. Millis, a justice of the peace for New Hanover county, and two of Sheriff Manning's colored deputies-W. H. Brewington and Richard Holmes-were each fined fifty dollars by Mayor Fowler, in the City Court yesterday, for resisting a policeman and attempting to rescue a prisoner. The magistrate and the sheriff's deputies were tried separately. All appealed from the decision of the Mayor to the Criminal Court, and gave the bonds required. The case grew out of the arrest of three young men who were engaged in a fight Saturday evening last in Mr. A. G. Hankins' store on Second street. The two deputies entered the store and commanded the peace, when one of them was attacked by one of the young men engaged in the disturbance. The other deputy went to his assistance, and while thus engaged Sergt. Pugh of the city police force entered the store and separated the other two young men who were fighting behind the counter, and placed them under arrest. The police officer, the prisoners and the deputies then left the store and went in the direction of the City Hall, but when the party reached Justice Millis' office, the deputies seized the prisoners and endeavored to take them into the justice's office, claiming that they had first arrested the men. During the struggle that ensued it was charged that the magistrate seized one of the arrested men and assisted in drag ging him into his office, with the deputies, and despite the resistance of the police sergeant. At this juncture the Chief of Police came up and advised the policeman to
