and meets all requirements, and will stand in-spection by the Medical Fraternity. We call at-tention to the following article.

DANGER IN ICE —In an article on "The Number of Bacteria in Ice" in the American Journal of Pharmacy for December, 1886, the author concludes that "the common 'raw' ice, till lately almost exclusively used, on account of the large number of bacteria, capable of development which it contains, should not be taken with food which it contains, should not be taken with food, in drinks, or for medicinal purposes. It should never be used in the treatment of wounds. In these connections, artificial ice, made from distilled water, should be employed. The use of raw ice in contact with food, which is afterwards to be cooked, is permissible, but artificial ice is to be preferred. Raw ice may be freely used where it does not come into direct contact with food."

We have both natural and manufactured Ice, and can supply which ever is preferred. We have unequaled facilities for shipping Ice by the barrel and in car load lots.

Prices given upon application. We solicit your patronage and guarantee fair treatment.

WILMINGTON'S POPULATION. We mentioned recently that we believe the rule in the Northern cities in estimating population was to multiply the registered voters by 41. In 1884, the registered vote of Wilmington was as follows: Whites, 2,182; blacks, 2,977; total,5,159. This would give 23,215 as the population upon a basis of 41. But two points are to be considered: first, the population has no doubt increased in two and a half years; second, the negroes are more prolific than whites, and as there are so many negroes in Wilmington the average among them is probably more than among the whites, that mainly constitute the population in the Northern cities. Probably among the negroes 5 or 51 would not be too much. If then you put the increase in two and a half years at only 1,000, and estimate at 5 for the negroes, there must be very near or quite 25,000 people. This

SECOND REGIMENT. The Soldiers Resting Quietly in Camp -Afternoon Parade and Drill-Special Services for the Command at St. John's Church To-day. With the exception of guard mounting and other ordinary duties pertaining to the camp, there was little to engage the attention of the soldiers yesterday until the time for battalion drill and dress parade in the afternoon. The grand military ball the night before kept the soldiers up until two or three o'clock in the morning, and many of them were content enough to pass the forenoon quietly in their tents, seeking much needed rest from the fatigue of drill and parade and the rounds of amusement that they had gone through with. There were enough of the boys, however, who were not "tired out" to make the camp lively, and visitors to the place were well taken care of. During the day some of the men took a trip on the Passport to Carolina Beach, and others enjoyed a drive over the turnpike to the Sound. At both places the visitors spent the time very pleasantly. The parade of the regiment at the camp in the afternoon again attracted a large number of spectators, the streets leading to the grounds being filled with vehicles and pedestrians. A number of the lady visitors inspected the mess hall and kitchen, which they declared was admirably arranged and managed. Mr. James Lewis caters for this department and has a corps of sable cooks and attendants who are seemingly well fitted for their duties and keep everything in excellent order. The large cookingrange in the kitchen in rear of the mess hall seems capable of doing the cooking for the entire State Guard. To-day the men will rest quietly in camp until 4 p. m. when the battalion will be formed and march to St. John's Church, where special services will be held by the Chaplain of the Second Regiment, Rev. Dr. Carmichael. The services will begin at 4.45 o'clock. After returning to camp there will be dress parade at 7 o'clock. The encampment will be broken up to-

morning train on the Carolina Central tomorrow, and the Fayetteville Light Infantry on the steamer Cape Fear at 2 o'clock. The Fayetteville Independent Light Infantry, unanimously accorded the honor by their fellow soldiers of being the best drilled and most handsomely uniformed company in the regiment-if not in the State Guard-deserve more than a passing mention. It is the oldest military organization in the South, having been formed August 23d, 1793 Its origin was caused by apprehensions which existed at the time of the French revolution "He that hath no stomach for the fight, let him depart,' was the motto adopted by the command. gust 231, 1793, were Robert Adam, captain; John Winslow, lieutenant; Robert Graham, ensign. Captain Adam died at 1801. He was in command of the company In 1807, when war was threatened with Great Britain the company met and adopted resolutions tendering their services to the President of the United States. In 1813, when the State was threatened with invasion, the company tendered their services to Brig. Gen. Davis and received orders from him to march to Wilmington. The company numbered 37, and under the command of Lieut. Wm. Barry Grove (John Winslow was captain) left Fayetteville for Wilmington July 21, 1813. The records say that the company remained in Wilmington about one month, partsking largely of the well known kindness and hospitality of the citizens of the place, particularly that of Robert Cochran, who was the first ensign of the company, but had subsequently removed from Fayetteville to Wilmington. The Governor of the State was present during the time when rumors were rife that the enemy were hovering along the coast, and the troops were kept in readiness. The Fayetteville Independent Company acted as his body-guard. In 1819 John W. Wright was elected captain. At the session of the Legislature of the State in that year, on motion of John Stanly, it was resolved that the Governor be authorized and empowered to commission the officers of the Independent Company with the following rank: The captain with the rank of major, and the lieutenants and ensign with the rank of captain so long as the corps shall continue to hold itself armed and equipped agreeably to the tenor of its rules and regulations. Mr. Stanly prefaced the resolutions with explanations, and claimed that the post of honor should be accorded the corps "every man of whom was fit to stand by Cassar and give direction." From that time the commander of the company has been distinguished by the title of major and the other commissioned officers captain.
