Saw you not the scandal-monger As she sat,

Beaming brightly 'neath the roses On her hat? In her dainty gloves and dress wake.

Angel-like, and nothing less. Seemed she, casting smiles and pleasing words about. Once she shrugged and shook her head, Raised her eyes and nothing said, When you spoke of friends, and yet it left a doubt.

Did you watch the scandal-monger At the ball? Through the music, rythm, beauty,

Light, and all, Moving here and moving there, With a whisper light as air, Casting shadows on a sister woman's fame-Just a whispered word or glance, As she floated through the dance, And a doubt forever hangs upon a name.

You will find the scandal-mongers Everywhere:

Sometimes men, but often women, Young and fair: Yet their tongues drip foulest slime, And they spend their leisure time

Casting mud on those who climb by work and worth!

Shun them, shun them as you go-Shun them, whether high or low They are but the cursed serpents of the earth.

RELIGIOUS MISCELLANY.

- "I don't see why you can't keep awake in church," said the pastor. "I am there as long as you are, and I don't have to sleep half the time." "Oh, well," replied the deacon, "you just sit down in the pew and let me preach, and I'll bet a new organ you couldn't keep your eyes open ten minutes."-Burdette after listening patiently to the nine hundred and ninety-nine there would be some alleviation of editorial misery. But there is no such law, and one has to take off his hat to all such people and thank them for advice, even if it makes him sick .- Cor. Richmond Religious Herald. -A little Christian boy was dying.

He closed his eyes, and for the moment his mother thought he was dead. She asked: "Charlie, do you know me?" But there was no response, and closer still she pressed her tearful face upon his cold ear and asked with indescribable pathos: "Charlie, do you know your mother?" Charlie opened his eyes and said: "Why, call me back. mother, I was half way up stairs." And with that he fled away -Richmond Relig - ious Herald. - We often crave a consciousness of strength enough for some impending or imaginary evil. Wait until the evil comes; "as thy day, so thy strength." "Sufficient unto the day is the evil thereof." Sorrow borrowed, is a burden selfimposed. And the disquietitude that always looks out over the sea with an anx. ious eye and a perturbed spirit, besides the fact that it is apt to magnify the ripple into the wave, and the wave into the billow, and come to fear the sea when it is not half so rough as it seems to it; besides this, is steraly rebuked if it draws mournful conclusions about its own spiritual status from its timid and fearful glances into the future, for it is, "as thy day so shall be thy strength; as thy real time, as thy actual occasion, as thy present circumstances, so the amount of thy strength;" not as they to-morrow shall be, but as they to-day are!-Charlotte Church Messenger.

-- Just at present there is a strong movement in the Episcopal Church towards the union of American Christians in a single body. We fear the proposal is premature. American Christendom has not grace enough to make it safe for all the sects to be gathered into one body. Such a union would be followed by an era of clerical meddling in all sorts of matters with which churches and clergymen have no proper and direct concern. The present divisions save us from much by playing off one sect againgt another. But even now, the largest religious bodies are somewhat of a danger in politics, and are too often rep-resented in the Legislative lobbies by white necktics-as in two tecent cases in New York and New Jersey. Besides this reason, there is another for believing that the day day of union is still somewhat remote. It is that union at present would be the sacrifice of much that is precious in the existing religious bodies. Our divisions are not the mere unmeaning chaos that the friends of the union seem to assume. There is reason in them. A sect lives by the vitality of its half-truths .- Philadel-taken by the publishers of our new city directory is 9,856 for Winston-Salem inside the corporate limits.

-- Graham Gleaner: Mr. W. S. Caffey, while walking through his new ground near this place found a eurious collection of keys, which probably belonged to some burglar. The assortment, numbering about seventy-five, consisted of nearly all sizes and kinds, including skeleton keys and lock-picks.

Taking the population at 15,000, the death rate is 17.1 per thousand. The paving done with Belgian block cost $4.393 46. The tax collector reports that taxes and market rents have yielded $47,204.53. The city debt is $205,393.81 and the assets on hand amount to $88,562.78, leaving the net debt $116,831 03, which is $4,838.91 less than at last report.

OUR STATE CONTEMPORARIES.

Last week's Scotland Neck Democrat wa9 a spicy sheet. Brother Kitchin goes for civil service with gloves off. To our minds the most dangerous feature of the law is its tendency to create an office holding class with a tenure for life. The Cau-casian has persistently opposed the law because we regard it as undemocratic and dangerous but we have no fault to find with Cleveland for enforcing it. The law is on the Statute books, introduced and passed by Democrats and the President is bound to enforce it. - Clinton Caucasian.

We think Judge Connor among others is of the opinion that the number of smaller crimes is diminishing; a change, if it be so, that we have accounted for by the fact that it is easier to convict parties if accused of the smaller crimes than it is to meet the demands of justice against those accused of higher offences. We sgree with the STAR when it says: "We really think that it would be a proper and ecomonic step to close the penitentiary and return either to the whipping-post for stealing or devise some more deterring punishment for the smaller crimes." But it would be of no use to attempt to reason that a penitentiary organized on the system of solitary confinement like that maintained in Pennsylvania. Reporter.

But what shall we say of those who stand on the border-land, with one foot stepping into the domain of manhood and womanhood, and the other reluctantly quitting the realm of boyhood and girlhood? Will their future be as fancy painted it-teautiful and bright, and crowned with fortune and honor? Let us hope that most of those who are about to bid adieu to classic groves and academic halls, to walk the high ways of life, will reach the glittering goal that beckons them onward. But many will fail to attain the objects of their ambition. The sunlit summits of Fame blaze before the young like the bea-con lights of the gods; while the glaciers, the crags, the caverns and abysses, lie concealed beneath a glowing canopy. Some must fall; but none need utterly fail who, with educated minds, go forth with faith in God, their fellows, and themselves. Success in life is oftener won by the children of toll than by the sons of genius .--Wadesboro Messenger.
