

MORNING EDITION. OUTLINES.

Did not receipts of cotton at the ports 2,500,000 bales. Harper and Hopkins of the Fidelity National Bank, are in full of Cincinnati, O. Secretary Fairchild has arranged to take necessary steps to avert a panic in the money market if occasion should require.

road Attorney General Garland's opinion and, therefore, could not know that he referred to the rebels and the rebellion.

The Richmond State says of a North Carolina volume of verse: "The Hon. R. B. Vance, of North Carolina is the author of a newly published book of poems entitled 'Heart-Throbs from the Mountains'."

It is published by the Methodist Publishing House, Nashville, Tenn. Price 75 cents.

Our esteemed contemporary, the Clinton Caucasian, copies a paragraph from the Star relative to "first class dailies," and adds:

"There is a rooted conviction in the minds of a great many that publishing a newspaper is the funniest thing in the world and nothing but fun. Such is not the case."

At Greenville, S. C., lightning caused a $50,000 fire.

Mr. Blaine has been invited to the state ball of the Jubilee week.

The big wheat deal in Chicago is said to have cost the clique $4,000,000.

Civilization has struck Canada. Train robbers have been trying their hand.

A Northern paper thinks Mr. Cleveland saves $35,000 annually as he does not entertain much.

The Harpers have "A Pictorial History of the Rebellion." Keep it out of Southern homes and schools.

The College of Charleston, of which Dr. Henry E. Shepherd is President, has a faculty consisting of eight professors.

San Jones calls them "those nasty, slinking papers." But for the papers San's fame and shekels would be small. San is ungrateful.

The Savannah News issues a sixteen page weekly, and it is probably the largest in the whole South. Some of the New Orleans weeklies are very lurid.

There is a scheme afoot in New York to annex Canada. The organization is known as the "American Annexation League." There are Canadian members.

A harmony is to be conferred upon Sir Algernon Northwick, editor and proprietor of the London Morning Post, and Knighthood upon Mr. Lang, editor of the Sheffield Telegraph.

Gen. Early is out in a very severe reply to Rosser. He says he is "a faithful of history and a consummate ass." The reply appears in the Richmond State and would make more than two columns of the Star.

The Oxford Torchlight copies an article on Granville county in the past and credits it to "Exchange." We remind it that it was part of an editorial in the Star and why not say so. If worth copying it is worth crediting.

Clinton Caucasian: No fruit. What will the cider lovers do? Live foxes are fetching 10 cents a piece in the Clinton market, we are informed.

We are pained to know that the hand of affliction is resting heavily upon the family of Mr. Haywood Boykin, of Lisbon.

Fayetteville Observer: The reaper death has again put its sickle into the harvest, and this time removes hence D. S. Maulsby, Sr., and old and much respected citizen of our community.

There is a North Carolina, and wish to see our North Carolina ports built up, and we do not see why, although the C. F. & Y. V. Railroad does not extend to that city, that shipments of this kind might not be made via C. F. & Y. V. Railroad to Maxton and thence to Wilmington via Carolina Central.

Rockingham Rocket: All inquiries among our country friends for fruit elicits the reply that there is none—except blackberries.

Durham Recorder: The Durham Morning News, for the second time, has suspended publication.

Charlotte Chronicle: There will be big times at Mt. Holly on August 10th, 11th, 12th and 13th, on which days will be held the grandest concert, farmers' institute, and grain, grass, fruit and cattle fair.

Asheville Citizen: Yesterday the jury in the case of the administrator of Sumner against the Western North Carolina Railroad Company—(suit for damages, Sumner having been killed at Swannanoa Junction several years ago while attempting to couple cars)—returned a verdict in favor of the defendant company.

Raleigh Visitor: Night before last, in the county, there was a severe storm of thunder and lightning. A house was struck near Bear Creek and a negro child was killed.

Washington Progress: We publish a short note from Mrs. Lincke: In Jail, Washington, N. C., June 19.—To the Editor of the Progress—I am a forlorn, helpless woman and confined in jail; may I ask through you that the generous and fair minded people of Beaufort county will not condemn me before I am tried?

Charlotte Observer: The ninth annual commencement at St. Mary's, at Belmont, N. C., College took place yesterday in the Senior Hall. Indeed, it was a grand success.

Charlotte Observer: The ninth annual commencement at St. Mary's, at Belmont, N. C., College took place yesterday in the Senior Hall.

One man cannot see everything in newspapers and cannot read every opinion that is printed. We did not Opera House. The Soiree and Concert Last Night. A large audience attended the soiree and concert given at the Opera House last night for the benefit of the Wilmington Light Infantry.

The concert opened with Sanderson's "Electric Poika," which was played with dash and spirit, and excellent shading.

The first vocal selection, Schubert's popular "Serenade," sung by Miss A. DeRosset and Mr. D. Mitchell, met with the hearty approval of the audience.

The third number, "Pauer's Cascade," was played with considerable fluency by Miss E. Adrian.

The choros, "Wanderer's Joy," rendered by members of the new society formed by Mr. Thorpe, did themselves credit on their first appearance.

The difficult arrangement of "Bellissima" as played by two pianos by Miss C. R. French and Mr. Alec. Adrian, showed plainly that both players can lay claims to being the pianists.

"Chromatique Galop," by Liszt, closed the instrumental part of the entertainment. It is hardly necessary to add that this difficult composition of Liszt was finely rendered by these young players.

The concert was under the management of Prof. E. Van Lear and Mr. E. J. Thorpe, and was a success in every particular.

Magistrate's Court. C. O. Marshall, arrested on the charge of "peddling without license," was arraigned before Justice Mills yesterday.

The old "Cape Fear" steam fire engine was put on board the New York steamer yesterday for shipment to Seneca Falls, N. Y., for the Silbey Manufacturing Co., who take it in part payment for the new engine recently purchased by the city.

Target shooting. The Wilmington Light Infantry went down to Carolina Beach yesterday afternoon for their annual target shooting contest.
